We will draw a veil over the awaking of Laura from her stupor, and agonized joy of meeting with her husband. As soon as she had sufficiently recovered her self-possession, Cassinove, with his form dilated with pride, and his eyes beaming with joy, informed her that she was again the Baroness of Etheridge, and that the title came through him. That was the secret which Colonel Hastings had communicated to him. He was no longer Ferdinand Cassinove, but Ferdinand Etheridge, the son of the late baron and Mary Coke, the beautiful daughter of his gamekeeper, whom he had married before running away with her. After his second marriage (with Rose's mother) he had decided to own his son, but on his deathbed he had told the whole story to Colonel Hastings, placed the necessary documents in his hands to establish its truth, and requested him to see that his darling boy was put in possession of his rights. Hastings had betrayed his trust, for the sake of aggrandizing his son; but all his plans had been thwarted by Providence, and the terrible death of Albert had at last brought him to repentance.

"Will you value the rank and title the less because you must receive it from me?" inquired Cassinove of Laura, in a voice that was every moment becoming more agitated. "You gave me your hand in marriage when I was a poor prisoner in Newgate, with no fortune to endow my bride except sorrow, danger and innocence. And now, Laura, now, I come to you with vindicated honor and with the power of restoring on your brow the lost coronet of Swinburne! And oh! my Laura! this is a power for which I would have bartered the vain forgiveness I had nearly said my soul! For never did earthly saint love heavenly angel with a purer and more fervent love than that which my heart has lavished upon you from the first moment my eyes fell upon your face. From that moment, your welfare and happiness has been my one aspiration—my one prayer! And if fortune had offered me a choice of her best gifts, I would, above all others, have chosen this privilege of restoring you to your rank and title—this privilege that I would have purchased with my life! Oh, my dear Laura! say that you do not value the old barony less, now that you receive it from me, than when you believed it yours in your own right."

"No, no; I value it a thousand times more as your gift! I love to owe everything to you. But is this all true, beyond doubt?" inquired Laura.

"Beyond the possibility of doubt. I have the names and addresses of the minister who married my parents, the

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $20,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 50,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRINWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $15.00 per ton	$1,500.00

DIAGNOSIS

Let us prescribe for you if you have financial indigestion caused by unwise buying of mining stocks. Ours is the only firm in the world that puts mining investment on a BANKING basis and guarantees the return of YOUR MONEY ON DEMAND. Our clients have made big profits on money invested in Nevada mining stocks. We know the mines, the men who handle them; we know the market. Our company is responsible; has paid dividends of about 60 per cent. per annum for almost four years.

Let us serve you. Give us list of stocks you own and we will tell you if you have money-makers.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 600 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 2½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

VERY PREVALENT IN YOUNG WOMEN

A Confirm of "White-Bloodedness," Fast Increasing.

It is always associated with langour and sensitiveness to cold. All the mucous surfaces, such as the gums, lips and eyelids, are blanched and waxy looking, the skin is pallid and colorless.

The pulse becomes rapid and feeble; there is loss of appetite and enfeebled digestion, palpitation of the heart, breathlessness and tendency to faint. In extreme cases there is complete disappearance of the menstrual flow and dropsical swelling of the limbs.

Physicians know of no remedy so prompt in results as Ferrozone, which contains all the elements lacking in debilitated blood.

Ferrozone not only improves the present quality of the blood, but actually forms more blood—the rich, red kind that nourishes and feeds the organs that require assistance.

"About a year ago," writes Mrs. S. G. Stanhope, of Rothesay, "my daughter complained of feeling tired. She was very pale and listless, and kept losing strength until too weak to attend school.

"We read a similar case, that of Miss Descent, Stirling, Ont., being cured by Ferrozone, and this induced us to get it for Elaine. It took three boxes of Ferrozone to make any decided improvement, but when six boxes were used my daughter was beginning to be her old self again. It didn't take much longer to make a complete cure. It has made a new girl of Elaine. She has gained ten pounds in weight and looks the picture of perfect health. She is stronger and enjoys the best of spirits."

Every growing girl and young woman can make herself strong and healthy with Ferrozone. Price 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

Poor Cartridges Given the Police

Yesterday morning a fine collie dog belonging to an Antrim street citizen, had one of its legs broken by getting in the way of the Lakefield train. The owner, seeing his pet suffering, and possibly because the dog became very dangerous in its state of suffering, telephoned the police station, asking that an officer be detailed to give it the "coup de grace." P. C. Newhall, armed with a regulation police revolver went to the spot and got busy.

At a close range, he aimed carefully at, and his bullet struck immediately behind the left front leg, where it had been placed to strike the dog's heart and thus end its suffering. To his disgust (the officer's not the dog's) the bullet simply rebounded and fell on the ground. The dog got angry at this unauthorized use of its person as a target and displayed both its fangs and a determination to grapple with the officer. Newhall then, placing a chair between himself and his victim took careful aim at the base of the dog's skull, pulled the trigger and was, as a matter of "philanthropy" glad to see his work completed. The dog was dead.

Owing to his first well directed bullet dropping to the ground instead of seeking the dog's vitals, the officer examined the result of the fatal shot. To his surprise and disgust, although the bullet had done its work it had not penetrated one inch, and was easily removed by his thumb and finger, although only fired at perhaps four feet range. This is the kind of cartridge supplied the police with which at night, to protect their lives from possible, and most certainly, desperate burglars, etc. Better ammunition should be furnished the force.

Royal Bank Inspector Here

Mr. James W. Fulton of the inspector's department of the Royal Bank of Canada, is in the city arranging for a speedy opening of this, one of the strongest banks in the Dominion. As noted in a former issue of The Times, the Royal Bank has already secured premises in the city and will soon open a branch here that will doubtless secure a good share of Peterborough's banking business.

Major and Mrs. Langford Home.

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

Narrow Escape From Deer's Antlers

Mr. R. Tivey Attacked by Pet Buck at Balsam Lake.

A few days ago one of Peterborough's crack shots and a noted expert on trap shooting, had an experience he will remember; we refer to Mr. R. Tivey, the contractor of the east ward.

It seems that Mr. Tivey whilst on Laidlaw's Island in Balsam Lake, went from his canoe to the house, a distance of some one hundred yards. There were two men unloading potatoes from a scow at the wharf, and Mr. Tivey not suspecting any danger calmly walked ahead.

The first intimation of danger Mr. Tivey received, was hearing his dogs giving tongue as though after a deer. The next thing he knew was a well-horned buck charging him. Remembering that a pet deer was on the island, Mr. Tivey did not fire on the buck, but calmly awaiting its charge, grabbed the infuriated animal by its antlers. Here a tremendous struggle took place, during which the deer thrust one prong through Mr. Tivey's clothing and another was rammed into one of his legs. After a severe tussle Mr. Tivey managed to get control of the excited animal and whilst holding it, called to the men unloading potatoes who came to his aid and helped to frighten the buck away. Had Mr. Tivey not retained his presence of mind and made a plucky fight, it would either have been a matter of his shooting the buck or being severely injured, if not killed.

Is authorized to act as

Administrator, Executor, Trustee, Etc., Etc.

An eminent writer has said: "It is difficult, indeed, to see how any private individual would willingly accept the position of executor, unless it be the family solicitor, who makes his living out of such work. A man once an executor finds himself always a prisoner, because he is obliged to give much more time and attention to his trust work than to his own business, and the anxiety is unceasing. The danger of mistakes occurring owing to inexperience is considerable, the responsibilities are enormous, and the personal liability never ends. He may perform his duties conscientiously, but he will never be given any thanks for his trouble. On the other hand, he may find himself at loggerheads with the members of his family, and perhaps be involved in law suits and other worries. There is no more fruitful source of discord between relations and friends than is brought about over the administration of wills and trusts." Write for Manual.

BUCKINGHAM INQUEST

Evidence Showed That the Strikers Had Planned a Desperate Raid.

Buckingham, Oct. 31.—There was considerable evidence yesterday on the Belanger and Theriault inquest to show that the strikers were thinking about a desperate raid the forenoon preceding the riot. These are new witnesses summoned by the Macdonald Lareau, Charlie Johnston swore that Theophile Sheuer wanted to borrow a gun from him in the morning, and explained that it was to do some shooting in the afternoon. Johnson warned the fellow not to be foolish, and did not lend the firearm.

Mrs. William Baker testified that Robinson Ordeau, her stepfather, asked for his dinner early the day of the strike that he would have time to go home and get a gun. He said there was going to be bloodshed in the afternoon.

Alex Cunningham repeated his story told at the Warner inquest to the effect that Alexander and Albert MacLaren both used revolvers, and started the shooting. In addition to the fifty witnesses who were examined in this inquest before, thirty others have been summoned, but it is probable the investigation will conclude today.

Mr. F. E. Darcy Makes a Kindly Offer

Mr Fred E. Darcy, proprietor of the Palace Restaurant, which recently opened its doors, next to The Times office, is as many of our readers are aware a typical example of wide spread and successful reputation.

Mr. Darcy, for a number of years, occupied an enviable position with some of the best theatrical companies on the road. He has sung with such combinations as the Jas. J. Corbett Co., Primrose and Dockstader Minstrels and many others of equally high standing. This graduate of the stage has play bills, on which his name appears in large type, of such theatres as the Hamerstein, Victoria, Pain Keith's New York Roof Garden, Proctors and Pastors in New York city. In Chicago Mr. Darcy has sung in such noted dramatic theatres as Alhambra, Academy and Criterion and, in vaudeville at the Orpheum and Haymarket, as well as an eight weeks' engagement at Ferris Wheel Park.

Mr Darcy has authorized The Times to note that he is prepared when asked, to give his services gratis to churches, societies or others who may arrange concerts for charitable objects. This is a very kind offer for a busy man to make and will doubtless be eagerly taken advantage of.

Attack Home Rulers

Dublin, November 1.—Open warfare between the Nationalists and Devolutionists has begun in Galway city, where Captain Bowe-Taylor has decided to contest the candidacy of Stephen Gwynne. The former is supported by the Unionists, Devolutionists and Plunkettites. This is the first direct attack of the Devolutionists upon the Home Rule party.

Getting Ready for Eventualities.

Warsaw, November 1.—Up to noon this city has been perfectly quiet. The streets are patrolled by cavalry and detachments of artillery are posted at strategic points as a precaution against eventualities.

South Ward Citizens Complain That Spaulding's Bay is Being Made a Cesspool for the Whole City of Peterborough.

The Times has, within the past few days had many complaints from the residents of the southern part of the city regarding the conditions existing at Spaulding's Bay. These complaints are not brought in by irresponsible and chronic "kickers" but by well-to-do property owners.

These complaints are to the effect that Spaulding's Bay, just south of the C.P.R. station, is at present a dumping ground of the whole sewerage of the city.

Owing to the complaints made, a Times representative yesterday investigated the matter personally, and ascertained, beyond any chance of contradiction, that this practically dead body of water is being filled with the excreta and other sewerage of Peterborough. This, whilst an unsavory subject to discuss, is only too true; any one with ordinary eye sight can in a very few minutes verify the above statements, as foul matter is easily discernible floating on the water of this bay.

Those laying the complaints assert that this horrible condition is due to repairs being made on the sewers to the south of the city, and, whether rightly or undeservedly say that this is possibly due to defective work done on the sewers by the present system of day labor and consequent lack of proper inspection.

Whether this is the cause or not we are not prepared to say, but we do say that our informants are bitterly opposed to turning the sewerage of the city into a comparatively land locked body of water right in the center of a large residential portion of the city. They claim that, in all probability, should such conditions as exist, be not speedily changed when the hot weather of next summer comes along, that Spaulding's bay will be a hotbed for not only loud smelling nuisances, but for disease germs of all kinds.

The farmers of Monaghan protested against the sewerage of the city being taken by the constantly running, and consequently purifying water of the Otonabee, by that stream by their township how much more dangerous is it to have the excreta and filth of 15,000 people dumped into what is practically being made a "public cesspool surrounded by hundreds of residences. It is now up to those in authority to see that the present conditions are quickly changed before the city is made unsanitary.

Duke Created Field Marshal.

THE TURF.

The Peterborough Turf Club is now considering a race meet for Christmas Day, if they get sufficient encouragement and backing. It is not intended to hold an extensive affair, but just a small meet with moderate purses to provide amusement for the local lovers of the ponies on Christmas Day.

LEFT MOST ALL TO CHARITY

Estate of About Half a Million Has Been Probated.

Halifax, N. S., November 1.—One of the wills which the public of Halifax are praising more than any other for many years, is that of the late Jairus Hart, which was probated yesterday afternoon. It provides for the disposal of an estate probably worth half a million dollars, and the greater part of which goes to religious and benevolent purposes. Mount Allison University, the Methodist institution, will eventually receive about $160,000, and the Methodist church generally, in one way or another, $100,000. Besides this, the Halifax School for the Blind, the School for the Deaf, the Protestant Industrial School, and the Y. M. C. A. receive large bequests. To a man servant, who had been with Mr. Hart many years, is left $6,000, and a mortgage is to be released. The Halifax Public Library is to get $10,000 to purchase new books. Forty-eight nephews and nieces receive between them $25,000, and two other relatives, Mrs. Coleman, Halifax, and Mrs. Florence Black, Truro, expect to get a life interest in $40,000. The executors are J. Y. Payzant and his brother Levi.

Mrs. Wm. Baylis Has Passed Away

The many friends, especially among the congregation of the George street Methodist church of Mrs. W. Baylis, 45 Wescott street, will deeply regret to learn that this respected lady passed away yesterday morning, after several years' illness. The cause of her death was due to tuberculosis.

The late Mrs. Baylis was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davies of Otonabee, and was only 27 years of age. She was an active member of the George street Methodist church and was greatly interested in church work.

Her husband, one little girl Myrtle Evans, one brother Mr. A. Davies and two sisters, besides her father and mother, are left to mourn her loss. The sisters are Mrs. Joseph Bennett also of the West, and Mrs. Thomas Cooley, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place tomorrow from the family residence, 45 Wescott street to the Little Lake cemetery.

Will Try to Settle Lethbridge Strike

Regina, Sask., November 1.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture in the Saskatchewan government, goes to Calgary next week on business. He will there discuss with Hon. W. T. Finlay, of the Alberta government, a proposition that the two governments in an endeavor to secure a settlement of the strike in the Lethbridge mines. Settlement of the strike is absolutely necessary for relief of the coal situation here, and some drastic measures must be taken immediately. In one coal office in Regina there are 250 orders on file and no coal is available.

SHAREHOLDERS MEET IN TORONTO TODAY

Preliminary Meeting Which Will Outline a Plan and Engage Counsel to Prepare for General Meeting.

Toronto, Nov. 1—A preliminary meeting of the Ontario Bank shareholders, organized by Mr. Cepnas Goode, will be held in Toronto today, when a course of action will be decided on. This will include the selection of counsel, who will be instructed to prepare for the meeting of shareholders called for December 11th by Curator Stavert and the Advisory Committee. Mr. Goode and his colleagues are seeking to control at least 7,000 shares. With that number they think they could dominate the meeting of December 11th.

At present they have about 1,500, but the revised list of shareholders is now in the printers' hands, and when it is issued Mr. Goode will circularize each shareholder. The Ontario Bank stock list totals 15,000, but 2,300 shares are said to have been taken off the market, and, therefore, cannot be used at all. A bank cannot legally hold its own stock, so the 2,300 cannot take part in the shareholders' proceedings.

WHAT THE BOARD HOLDS.

The old Board of Directors represent a holding of 867 shares, and may control as many more. Lord Strathcona holds 410. As he is largely interested in the Bank of Montreal, his proxy is not likely to go to Mr. Goode.

Mr. Goode, by the way, recognizes that he and his associates have their work cut out for them. The stock list published in June credits Mr. McGill with 400 shares and "C. McGill in trust" with 714 1-3 shares. Opinion differs as to whether these can participate in the coming deliberations.

CALLED ON MR. STAVERT.

Mr Goode called on Curator Stavert yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bickerdike and General Manager Braithwaite were present at the conference. "I was there half an hour," said Mr. Goode "I was treated very courteously, but got no information. Mr. Stavert told me that he was not in a position to make a statement."

Mr. Bickerdike, counsel for the Bankers' Association, was asked regarding the shareholders' prospect of a surplus. He replied that he could not say definitely. If Ontario Bank loans, amounting to $12,000,000, should be realized on at par or near it there would be a surplus for the shareholders. He could not say that such would be the case. In fact, it would not be fair to give a statement on the subject. It would not be fair or wise to publish that such-and-such a firm owed the Ontario Bank so much. Something like an industrial crisis might result were such a course to be followed. Ontario Bank loans would be realized on as soon as possible, and as advantageously as possible.

"Will the Ontario Bank be wound up thoroughly and effectually?"

"Yes."

"Will there be a time limit?"

"Yes, that will be fixed. Everything will be done properly and systematically."

MCGILL'S DEFENCE.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., counsel for Charles McGill (James general manager of the Ontario Bank, says that so far, he is not possessed of all the material necessary for the defence. He does not think, however, that the case will occupy much time in the police court.

"The facts may be easily ascertained," said the lawyer, "but the legal aspect may not be so easily ascertained."

It is said that the defence will argue that Mr. McGill acted for the bank in all he did, and that a general manager has a free hand.

President Cockburn and General Manager McGill will receive the preliminary hearing on Monday, but the struggle is likely to be a threatened.

A NOVA SCOTIA MAN.

One of the chief shareholders to write Mr. Goode is a resident of Hubbard's Cove, Nova Scotia. His reference to Mr. McGill's speculations is candid, and he thinks that the directors should be held responsible for the losses thus incurred. Had the losses been of a commercial character, he says, it would be different. "What were the directors there for?" he asks. "To plead ignorance only goes to show their negligence. What were they paid for if not to watch the shareholders' interests?"

New directors are to be appointed on December 11th, and Curator Stavert feels that they should be the best business men available. They are likely to be five in number.

Tried to Obstruct Railway Track.

Kingston, November 1.—John Graham, who was caught piling obstructions on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway track, out of revenge for being put off a train for refusing to pay his fare, has been sent to the Central Prison for six months.

Emperor William to Visit Italy.

Rome, November 1.—It is believed in diplomatic circles here that Emperor William is planning a visit to Italy, and that it probably will occur on the occasion of the unveiling of the bust of Wagner, which he is presenting to the city of Venice.

CITIZEN AND STATE

Mr. R. L. Borden's Address Before the Canadian Club at Montreal.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—"The Citizen and the State" was the subject of an address by Mr. R. L. Borden, M.P., to the Canadian Club yesterday.

Mr Borden was optimistic. Replying to the oft-expressed criticism that politics often represented a clique rather than the nation, he declared that in our system "we are given more liberty, justice and hope than any institution ever organized within the ingenuity of man."

To prevent corruption in elections it was necessary to have the strong force of a vigilant and enlightened public opinion.

Mr Borden advocated the adoption of civil service reform as the remedy of the difficulties that beset party leaders in power when it comes to the question of appointments to office.

Former Local Man Commits Suicide

Mr. Geo. H. Jackson, Manager of the Bell Co. at Port Hope is Dead.

A despatch received yesterday from Port Hope, says, concerning a former employe in this city of the Bell Telephone Co:

"George F. Jackson, manager of the Bell Telephone Company here, is supposed to have committed suicide today by inhaling coal gas. He was found early this morning in the kitchen with the gas tube of the kitchen stove in his mouth. Dr. Forres and Dr. Clemesha were called in but nothing could be done. An inquest will be held by Dr. MacKinnon, the coroner. Mr. Jackson came to Port Hope about a year ago from Peterborough. He leaves a widow and three small children."

Hunters for the Woods per Lakefield

The following deer hunting parties have passed through Lakefield this week, en route for the deer country, Messrs. Ouchment, S. Fraser, E. Braverader, and T. A. Kilbourn started on Wednesday for Jack's Lake, where they will be joined by Mr. E. Wigg.

Messrs. G. Girvin, C. D. Crawford, H. Kidd, G. Ridpath, C. Blomfield, W. Adams, R. Cotton and A. J. Kidd went to Mortimer Lake, in Cardiff township.

Messrs. T. Eastland, C. Coons, J. W. Stuart, Fred Ray, C. Lauder, and H. G. Fairgrieve, a communed Chicago-Apsley-Peterborough and Lakefield party, will make their headquarters at Crab Lake, in Chandos township.

Calgary's Morality Seriously Questioned

Calgary, Oct. 31.—In the Baptist church Sunday night the pastor created a sensation by attacking the morality of the town, and impugning the honesty of the civic officials. Concluding his sermon, he said; "Will those of you who believe that the police authorities of the city should suppress all forms of crime, those of you who believe that gambling has been carried on in the city with the knowledge of and without any serious interference by the police, and those of you who believe that vile dens are practically unhindered in their operation within the city limits, and those of you who believe that some of the officials of the city are participators in the evil, please stand on your feet." More than half of the men present arose to their feet.

"This is sufficient," said the preacher. "I have made no positive charges in the matter; it is not necessary."

Six Men Killed by Hunters in Maine

Bangor, Maine, Nov. 1.—Six men killed is the record thus far in the present hunting season in Maine. Last week was the worst of the year, three deaths being reported, and scarcely a day passes without the report of one or more accidents due to careless handling of guns, or mistaking human beings for animals. In the forty-eight hours of Saturday and Sunday three such accidents were reported.

The game receipts are far below those of last year. Up to Saturday 822 deer, 56 moose, and 10 bears had been brought in, as against 1,376 deer, 70 moose, and 19 bears for the same period last year. The dry weather, which has made it difficult to stalk the game, and the number of leaves on the trees, obscuring vision, are said to be responsible for the falling off in receipts, although game is reported to be abundant.

The Japanese in California.

San Francisco, November 1.—When Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce and Labor arrives here tomorrow much of the data which he requires regarding the placing of children of Japanese parentage in a separate school will be ready for him to peruse. The Board of Education contends that its action was in conformity with the State law and until that law has been declared a violation of Japan's treaty rights it will adhere to its position.

GRAVE CORRUPTION

English Paper Fears the Nearness of U. S. to Canada.

London, Oct. 31.—The Standard says the revelations of political corruption in London, Ontario, can have only one effect, namely, that the practices disclosed will be universally condemned. It rejoices to note that the press of the colony "is on the side of the angels."

While in the face of the Worcester disclosures it does not wish to adopt a pharisaical attitude, it says that unless the manly attitude of the press reflects public opinion there will be rottenness at the root of the constitution.

The Standard cannot forget the nearness of the United States and trusts Laurier will not be slow to recognize the gravity of the appearance of this corruption, which is more grave from the hopeful effects likely to accrue from evil communications.

Conductors Appeal to Brotherhood

Grand Trunk Conductors Hold Meeting to Discuss the Recent Dismissals by the Company.

Montreal, November 1.—A number of conductors, among them being some of those most interested in the dismissals from the employment of the Grand Trunk Railway Company last week, met in Fraternity hall, Point St. Charles, Sunday, and discussed the advisability of placing the case before the International Brotherhood of Railway Conductors.

There is a general desire to keep quiet what happened at the meeting but it was admitted by one of their number today that the matter is to be placed before the officers of the Brotherhood, who will consider what action, if any, be taken.

Until this is done and all the facts thoroughly considered no action will be taken. Meanwhile men from local lines are taking the places of the old men and new men are being drafted into the local lines.

There is a feeling among railway employes generally, that those who have been laid off are not likely to suffer financially, as with a few exceptions they are all well off. In some cases they own blocks of property and have incomes in addition to this.

It was argued by some that the wholesale laying off of men was a desire on the part of the company to weed out the old men, but as against this there is no apparent intention of weeding out the old men among the engineers, firemen, or trainmen.

A large number of those who were requested to hand in their uniforms, handed in also their resignations.

CALIFORNIA AND JAPANESE

English Press Condemns Prejudice Against Yellow Men.

London, November 1.—The Times this morning prints an editorial on the United States and Japan, in which it recognizes the federal government's correct attitude and condemns California's petty, unreasoning prejudice against the Japanese. It adds: "Englishmen will extend to the federal government a sympathy that is all the more cordial because we may conceivably become involved in similar trouble by the headstrong action of a self-governing colony.

"Our position is stronger in certain respects, but the peril is the same in kind, if different in degree."

$5,000,000 OUTPUT OF SUGAR BEETS

MICHIGAN PRODUCES RICHEST HARVEST EVER KNOWN

FACTORIES WILL PRODUCE 240,000,000 POUNDS OF SUGAR.

Saginaw, Mich., November 1.—The Michigan beet sugar campaign has now progressed far enough to make it certain that the output this year will exceed all previous records. From reports received at the headquarters of the Michigan Association here, sugar men say the total output will be approximately 225,000,000 pounds, and some of the more enthusiastic piece it at as high as 240,000,000 pounds.

The average output of the 12 "standard" plants, which range in capacity from 500 to 650 tons per day, will be at least 13,000,000 pounds of sugar each. The three big factories, the 1,000-ton plant at Caro, and the 1,200-tonners at Owosso and Mycomines, are expected to produce 20,000,000 pounds each.

The farmers as well as the manufacturers are reaping a harvest. Thousands upon thousands of acres of beet lands are paying from $60 to $80 an acre. A conservative estimate of the sum that will be paid for beets by all the factories is about $5,000,000, not a bad return to beet raisers when it is considered that this money is the proceeds from not much over 100,000 acres. Placing the average beet farm at five acres, though 40 and 20-acre tracts are common, while there are a number that go into the hundreds of acres, about 20,000 farmers will profit from the season.

The big Prairie farm in Saginaw county will reap a small fortune. It has nearly 1,200 acres in beets, every acre of which will average as large a yield as ever grown in Michigan. Forty acres on this farm yielded over 20 tons to the acre, producing a net profit of $3,500. One farm claims to have raised 50 tons on two acres in Bay county, which would net him over $100 an acre, but these fields have been cultivated under extremely favorable conditions which could not be examined over a large area.

The market for Michigan sugar is widening and now covers the territory east to Cleveland, south to the Ohio river and west to the Missouri river; whereas a few years ago the demand was limited practically to Detroit and Chicago.

WOULD RESCUE GIRL

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Said to Have Gone to Montreal to Take Girl From Convent.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—Inspector W. W. McLaughlin, of the New York Police, has wired Chief Carpenter, of this city, asking the arrest of Edward A. Patterson, a boy of fifteen, who is alleged to have come to Montreal for the purpose of rescuing a young girl named O'Connor from the Notre Dame Convent of this city. Chief Carpenter's inquiries have failed so far to locate young Patterson, and he has not as yet been advised about the institution in question. The police are now watching the institution and the gallant youth will be "pinched" on sight.

Will Join International Union.

Ottawa, November 1.—At a meeting of the National Union of Musicians, it was finally decided to accept the inducements offered by the International Union, and the unification of the bodies will be completed next Sunday. It is a case of the smaller union amalgamating the larger, for, although the international body is only between thirty and forty strong, and other union has sixty-seven members.

Words of the Thoughtless Startle the Thoughtful

A Coffee advertisement says:

"First in weight, first in quality, and first in the hearts of the epicures."

There's a truth said thoughtlessly.

Coffee "in the hearts."

How many epicures and just common people have incipient or chronic heart trouble directly caused by coffee. You with weak hearts can prove for yourselves. Try leaving off coffee 10 days and use Postum Food Coffee. If you find the old smothering sensation and the weak fluttering disappear, you will have the truth in a nutshell and will have located an enemy that has been pushing you day by day towards the narrow lot 2 by 6.

All the flaming advertisements of importers trying to sell coffee and all the sneers of coffee topers cannot drive the truth from you, once you have tested and learned the exact facts from personal experience.

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when rounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored, and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 424 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism, which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound, and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

CANADA THE HAVEN

For thirty years London slum children have been exported by wholesale to Canada. It is generally known, or should be, that records are kept of these little emigrants at least until their majority. Of late there has grown another class of immigrants, adults many of them small capitalists. There is always a regret in noting the departure of her best workers because the motherland cannot find enough work, or secure peace and prosperity for those still employed. These do not always leave with enthusiasm for the land of unlimited elbow room. During the nine months of this year no fewer than 102,250 persons have sailed for Canada, as against 73,805 in the same nine months of the year before. Besides this loss, 117,648 sailed for the United States, which offers little if any better opportunities now than the old country.

ROWDY FEMALE SUFFRAGISTS

Not since the immortal invasion of the sacred halls of the British House of Parliament, some thirty odd years ago, by the enraged match-box making girls from the East end, has there been such an un-English, unladylike and unwomanly exhibition of feminine ferocity on so conspicuous a scale. The poor match girls were striking against the destruction of their sole livelihood by the Hon. Robert Lowe's proposed tax. These politic viragoes have no such excuse. When women plead for justice they have their cause half won, but when they borrow the bullying methods of illiterate rowdies, they invite the style of reply suited to the situation.

The arrest and, it is to be hoped the conviction and punishment, of these hundred shrieking sisters will have a double result. It will disgust good women and men with the "legitimate crusade for woman's suffrage, and this will be a public pity. While male roughs and rowdies are given the franchise it is hard to deny the claim of good women who own property and possess the highest qualifications for that privilege. These hundred frenzied females have done their worst to destroy this powerful argument in favor of their claim, by classing themselves among those who should be disfranchised if they are voters.

The other unfortunate consequence for their cause will be the withdrawal of the best women from it. The co-operation of the noble women in every rank of life, who are purifying imperial and municipal politics by their influence and invaluable aid, may be imperilled by the vulgar and futile burlesque performance of these fool-friends of woman suffrage. If the hibernaphic and womanly element retires from the field, the capers of this awkward squad will end the struggle with a Donnybrook Fair tableau, and extinguish its torch with a fool's cap of ridicule. This will be a pitiful suicide under temporary lunacy.

THE STEAM TURBINE

The subject of the best propelling power for war vessels is occupying the serious attention of the leading naval powers. England has gone out in favor of the steam turbine as the result of careful consideration of the matter, and it is urged that the turbine has the advantage of a saving in weight and reduction in number of working parts, liability to breakdown, in smooth working, ease of manipulation, saving in engine room complement, and also because of the increased protection which is provided for with this system, due to the engines being lower in the ships. The disadvantage seemed to be in the stopping and turning power which would be necessary for quick manoeuvring. The French Ministry of Marine, after investigating the tests being made in England, decided to adopt the turbine, and the first of such engines will be installed in three new battleships soon to be built by that government.

Dr. Guerin May Oppose His Party

Montreal, Oct. 31.—The political situation in St. Anne's Division, Montreal, rendered vacant by the disqualification of Ald. Gallery, has taken a curious turn, owing to the determination of Dr. J. J. Guerin to be a Liberal candidate for the division, no matter what may be the result of the Liberal convention. It was Dr. Guerin who supplied the money for the case against Ald. Gallery, which resulted in his disqualification, and he now claims he has a right to the nomination. Some of the Liberals of the district called on Hon. L. P. Brodeur, the organizer for the district, with regard to Dr. Guerin, but the minister stated that the doctor could not be considered, as his fight against Ald. Gallery had been simply a personal matter, and he had not considered the interests of his party. The contest would be a very difficult one for a convention. The nominee of the Liberal convention will have to run against Dr. Guerin and a Conservative candidate.

The claims of J. C. Walsh, advocate, are being advanced by a number of the Liberals.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventics are toothsome candy tablets. Preventics dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventics are thoroughly safe for children, and as effectual for adults. Sold and recommended in 5-cent and 25-cent boxes by J. D. Tully.

The Bohemian For November.

The Bohemian Magazine with its November number takes another big step forward. For the first time it contains a large amount of material besides fiction. The magazine opens with a most interesting department called "Here and There." It is devoted principally to little short stories about the leading writers, artists, players, illustrators, etc., and is accompanied by many full-page portraits heretofore unpublished. In "My Yesterdays," Margaret Anglin tells her own story of her struggle for success, a particularly charming paper. Another article is a study of that great English cartoonist, Leslie Ward, who is proudly better known as "Spy," by Arthur Goodrich. The article is profusely illustrated with many of the best cartoons of this talented man. Daniel Frohman writes an authoritative and especially timely sketch on that famous dramatist, Arthur Wing Pinero. Miles Bradford contributes "The Charm of Old-Fashioned Dishes," in which are given the favorite dishes of many of the leading public people. A new department has been added, devoted to "Little Travel Sketches." The first of these is a charming little story by Clayton Hamilton entitled, "The Road to Rome;" in the second, "Mr. Ruggles of New York Writes Home," an American business man gives his first impressions of London. The department of Bohemiana has been enlarged. Among the attractive features of this department are "The Fairies and the Fakir," by La Touche Hancock; the first of a series of satires entitled "Glimpses of Unnatural History," by Edward Marshall, this one dealing with love affairs of two lobsters, in which Mr. Marshall goes Ernest Seton Thompson and William J. Long one better.

The fiction is unusually clever—and there is plenty of it. Edwin L. Sabin writes a very humorous story entitled "The Doctor's Grizzly." One of the best stories of the number is "My Friend, the Rancher," by Cecil Whittier Tate. Especially appropriate for the November issue is a political story by Harry Newton Gardner. Other stories are contributed by W. A. Frost, Olin S. Lyman, B. W. Sinclair, etc. There is also the usual amount of verse, humorous drawings, etc., besides the guides to the newest books and the newest plays.

THE BEAR HYDRAULIC

Mr. Etienne Ritter, a Prominent Engineer of the United States, is Most Favorably Impressed With the Property Which He Has Just Returned from Examining.

Etienne A. Ritter, of Colorado Springs, came down from Caribou on Thursday's stage. His trip up into the Caribou was made principally to examine the Bear Hydraulic Mining Co.'s properties near Barkerville.

Mr. Ritter is one of the foremost mining engineers and geologists of the United States and his experience has been a very wide one. During the course of an interview in which he was questioned regarding the merits of the Bear Hydraulic property on Cunningham Creek, Mr. Ritter said:

"All that has been claimed by the Bear Hydraulic people regarding the value of their property is, in my opinion, well within the mark. I was deeply impressed with the property after examination and with dumping facilities are not of the best still this will be overcome by lengthening the flume and as the grade of the creek is greater than the grade of the flume they will get more and more dumping ground as the flume is extended. Besides they will be helped greatly by the spring freshets and because they have installed an over-head inclined cableway which will handle all the big boulders leaving only the gravel and lighter stones to be sluiced through the flume.

"Another very favorable point to be considered is the water. The company can provide a very large quantity, in fact they will be able to place on their ground water sufficient to move from a half to three-quarters of a million yards of gravel per year.

"The tests of the gravel which I have made convinced me that the estimate of the company of 10 1-2 cents per yard is as near the mark as it is possible to get without knowing the actual value of future cleanups. The results of the cleanups of previous years confirm this."

Speaking of the management, Mr. Ritter said: "In my opinion Mr. Loselle and Mr. Wendle are two of the best mining men I have met in all my experience.

"Let me give you no instance of their resourcefulness. They have a rock cut on Cunningham Creek property twenty feet of so deep about the same in width and extending for a couple of hundred feet. Instead of blasting this out in the ordinary way with drill and powder they have used the two monitors; the ground in the cut is easy and one giant throws its column of water against the edge of the formation loosening it up, while the other takes the loosened stuff and hurries it on through the flume, a very striking illustration of the tremendous force exercised by hydraulic machinery. It is certain that they have by using this novel device cut the time for making the cut in half and cheapened the cost fully four times.

"They are cleaning up now and within the next three weeks the cut will be finished and the flume laid down in the upper end and everything will be in readiness for a successful season next year."

Speaking of the Cariboo, Mr. Ritter said he was very greatly impressed with the country in a general way. Among mining men in the United States there is a feeling that the next decade will see an advance along mining lines in the north-west greater than the country has ever experienced before. As proof of this he pointed to the movements of such large operators as Heinze and the Guggenheims. Their example will surely be followed by others and the mineral resources of the country will receive all the money required for their development.

Mr. Ritter was also favorably impressed with the China Creek and Nugget Gulch hydraulic properties and while on his return to Barkerville visited the Waverly on Grouse Creek. He believes from what he was able to see that the claim of the company that they will be able to pay next year $10 a share in dividends as against $5 this year, is well founded.—Ashcroft, B. C. Journal.

Hanauer & Loselle, the operators of this mine, would be glad to send a copy of Mr. Ritter's report on this mine to anyone writing for it.

The Bear Hydraulic Mining Company, Ltd., is incorporated for 250,000 shares. This firm has an option on a 1-4 interest in this mine or 62,500 shares. Before offering them to the public it was agreed to send an engineer of prominence to examine the property, and confirm the statements made. Send for a copy of Mr. Ritter's report, which is free for the asking. HANAUER & LASELLE, Hydraulic Mine Operators, 504 Coleman Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

physician who attended my mother, the chaplain who baptized me, the nurse who took care of me, the guardian who succeeded her, and finally, I have the personal evidence of Colonel Hastings."

"Oh, how does Colonel Hastings justify his long silence as to your position and rights?"

"He does not even attempt to justify it. If ever I saw a man broken down by disappointment, sorrow and remorse, it is Hastings. He was not naturally a very bad man, but a very haughty and ambitious one, and he was tempted by the prospect of a great fortune, and the reversion of an old barony to his own family."

They were interrupted by a rap at the door. Cassinovo, or Lord Etheridge, as we must now call him, opened it.

Mrs. Maberly stood there in inquire whether "her ladyship," as she had never ceased to call Laura, would have breakfast served in her chamber, and whether Mr. Cassilhove would join the family at the breakfast table. He replied that he would breakfast with his lady, if they pleased; and soon after an elegant little breakfast was served in their room.

At noon that day Lord and Lady Etheridge sought an interview with the Duke and Duchess of Beresleigh. They met in the library, and when the doors were closed and they had seated themselves around the central writing-table, Lord Etheridge laid before the Duke of Beresleigh a packet of documents that he requested him to examine.

The duke, in some surprise, took up the packet, and looked over the papers carefully one by one. Rose, entirely ignorant of what was to come, awaited in perplexity the issue of the investigation.

Ferdinand and Laura anxiously watched the countenance of the duke, which, as he picked up and read one document after another, exhibited much astonishment, but not a shade of grief or displeasure. When he had finished and laid down the last one, he arose, with a cheerful smile, and extending his hand across the table to Cassinove, shook hands with him cordially, saying:

"Let me be the first to congratulate you upon your accession to yen title, Lord Etheridge." Then, turning to his astonished wife, he continued: "And let me congratulate you, also, my dearest Rose, for you have gained a brother. Ferdinand, embrace your sister, while I salute my dear sister-in-law."

And going around the table to Laura, he took her hand, and kissed her cheek, saying:

"I wish you a long enjoyment of your recovered possessions, my dear sister."

Rose, who had received the embrace of her brother, now turned and threw herself in the arms of Laura, exclaiming:

"Oh, my dearest, I am so happy! happier than I have ever been in my life before, for I always felt like the usurper of your rights." Then suddenly remembering that the vast estates gained by Ferdinand and Laura were lost to the Duke of Beresleigh, Rose turned pale, dropped the hand of her friend, and walked to the distant window.

The duke instinctively surmising the cause of her agitation, went after her, and putting his arm around her waist, drew her to his side, saying tenderly:

"How is this, my darling Rose? What distresses you?"

"Oh, Beresleigh, it is as I said; I always said that my possession of the Swinburne estates would be transient; and when Colonel Hastings threatened to produce the rightful heir, I more than half believed that he could do so; and even sometimes thought that the alleged heir might be the son of my father's first marriage with that beautiful girl that he took to the Continent. And even so you see it has provided."

"Well, sweet Rose, are you not very glad that this son proves to be our young friend Ferdinand, the husband of our dear Laura, who is by this means once more in possession of her rank and title?"

"Oh, yes! as far as I am concerned, I am, or should be very, very happy; but oh, Beresleigh, to think that you, when you supposed you had married a rich dowered baroness, had wedded only a penniless maiden!"

"But the very sweetest maiden that ever was made a wife, and the loveliest wife that ever man was blest with! Sweet Rose! dear Rose! could you believe that any circumstance could make me prize and love you less? No, darling of my heart and eyes, you are and ever must be to your husband a treasure beyond price," said the duke, with deep emotion.

Rose turned on him a smile radiant with gratitude and joy.

"Besides, dearest, you are very far from having been the penniless bride you described. You surely forget that you are, in the right of your mother, still the possessor of Laurel Hall, in Norfolk, and Forest Park, in Kent, two estates that, taken together, are quite equal in value to Swinburne."

"Oh, so I am! I had quite forgotten that my mother's estates must descend to me. I had taken it for granted that, as the inheritance came to me as a whole, it must go from me undivided. Oh, I am very glad I have my mother's fortune for you, dear Beresleigh; for now I can rejoice freely with dear Laura and Ferdinand."

"Then come and rejoice with them at once, dearest. And let us have some champagne, and drink the health of the new Baron and Baroness Etheridge," said the duke, drawing her arm within his, and leading her back to the table, where they rejoined Laura and Ferdinand.

One week from that day a large party was assembled in the sumptuous library at Beresleigh House. It consisted of the Duchess Dowager and the young Duke and Duchess of Beresleigh, the Baron and Baroness Etheridge, the widowed Lady Lester, and her son, Sir Ruthven, Colonel Hastings, and lastly, poor Ruth Russel.

They were brought together by a common interest in the confession of Robert Thugsen, through whose atrocious crimes nearly every one present had deeply suffered.

The confession of a notorious criminal is not a pleasant subject for review in detail. Yet it is due to the reader to throw some little light upon the early career of this man.

Robert Thugsen was the unacknowledged son of a nobleman in one of the central countries of England and had a legal right only to his mother's family name. His father had purchased him a commission in the army, where the hereditary vices of the young man rapidly developed themselves in a career of profligacy which ended in his dismissal from the service.

Disgraced and impoverished, but still handsome and fascinating, he eloped with the only daughter and heiress of a wealthy manufacturer in Leeds. The deeply-wronged father sent his erring daughter a thousand pounds, but refused ever afterward to see her or her profligate husband, and dying two years afterward, left the whole of his property to his patron, Colonel Hastings. Captain Thugsen having spent his wife's small dower, and being disappointed of the fortune, and weary of the woman whom he had married only for her money, soon abandoned his wife and children, leaving them in obscure lodgings in London, and betaking himself to the fashionable watering-places, where his handsome person, fascinating manners, and ready cunning, enabled him to get on in certain sets.

At these places he always passed as a single man, and upon occasion changed his name. It was at Brighton that his first real passion led him into his first great crime.

A Horse's Age.

The age of a horse cannot always be told by looking at its teeth. After the eighth year the horse gets no more new teeth, so that this method is useless for a horse more than eight years old. As soon as the set of teeth is complete, however, a wrinkle begins to appear on the edge of the lower eyelid, and another wrinkle is added each year, so that to get the age of a horse more than eight years old you must count the teeth plus the wrinkles.

Ins and Outs.

Bronzed by foreign suns, he entered the office of his colleague, but the cashier's chair was vacant.

"Is Mr. Smith out?" he asked anxiously. "I am an old friend of his."

"No, sir," returned the clerk. "Mr. Smith is not out. He won't be out for sixteen years."

Here the clerk smiled grimly.

"The firm is out, though," he went on, "one hundred thousand, just."

"Yes," said the gay Lothario, "I called on four ladies last night."

"Huh! You must be a quitter," snorted the poker friend. "I'd keep on raising all night if I had a hand like that." Exchange.

The mind is found most acute and most uneasy in the morning. Uneasiness is, indeed, a species of sagacity—a passive sagacity. Fools are never uneasy.—Goethe.

TRENT CANAL

TENDERS FOR WATER POWER

SEALED TENDERS addressed to undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Water Power," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Thursday, the 29th November, 1906, for the surplus Water Power at Dam No. 4, Peterboro, on the Trent Canal.

Parties tendering must understand that in developing the power, the discharge below, must in no wise interfere with navigation, and the Department reserves the right (without compensation to lessee) to raise Dam No. 6 two feet.

Lessees, as an evidence of good faith, will be required to expend in developing the power not less than $25,000 within 6 months and not less than $50,000 within 12 months from the date of the acceptance of the tender.

The term of lease shall be for 21 years, renewable for three like terms, but the rent to be charged shall be subject to adjustment at each renewal term.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000, must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into lease on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.

By order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 250,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 250 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Civic Officials in Toronto.

Mayor Best and Ald. Adams left for Toronto yesterday, in company with Mr T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., for the purpose of interviewing Hon. J. P. Whitney and other members of the Cabinet in connection with private legislation for the city.

Y. M. C. A. Debating Club Meet.

Last night the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Club held their regular meeting in the association club rooms. An interesting debate, "Resolved that annexation to the U.S. would be to the best interest of Canada," was well argued out, much logic and forcible arguments being in evidence.

Mr. Fulton to Be Manager.

It is said that Mr. J. W. Fultoood Montreal, who has been here for some days, will be local manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, soon to be opened here. Mr. Fulton is a practical banker, a skilled financier and very popular with the Bank's customers in Montreal.

Good Offer For Local Horse.

Messrs. J. Cottingham and Harry Nesbitt yesterday received an offer, in writing, from a prominent horseman of Oxbow, Sask., for the purchase of that well known race horse, Harry Direct. The party offered $1,000 cash, but the owners of the horse decided to keep him for the winter races.

Dr. Coughlin's Appointment Endorsed

The Toronto News reports that Hon. Dr. Pyne in discussing the recent appointment of Dr. Coughlin of this city to his new position, said; "Dr. Coughlin was appointed because the Department deemed him to be the best available person for the position. He has had considerable experience in teaching and has made a study of the very conditions with which he will be confronted in his new position.

"I have no doubt," added the Minister of Education, "that the choice will be universally endorsed when the doctor takes charge and his work at the institution is evidenced."

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—This is All Saints' Day.

—Did you find your gates yet?

—Tomorrow will be All Soul's Day.

—Mayor Best will not be a candidate for civic honors this winter.

—The civil service examinations will be held on Nov. 6th this year instead of on Nov. 13th.

—Wedding presents in large variety of fancy china, fancy and useful articles. Times Books ore.

—Three large parcels of old newspapers for 10 cents at Times Bookstore.

—Dress suits and dainty dimity were commonly seen last night. Hallowe'en.

—Only one case was before his Worship yesterday. Pavement, bicycle, $2.

—Call on Times Bookstore, when you want to renew subscription for any magazine or paper. We guarantee satisfaction.

—An American firm of capitalists are said to be about to operate a galena mine in Galway township.

—The graduating exercises of the Belleville General Hospital Training School for Nurses will be held tonight.

—Be sure and see the new colored souvenir cards just in at Times Bookstore. Views of all principal places.

—A meeting of the German Conversation Club met last night at the residence of Miss Morrow, Weller street.

—A number of men left Lakefield yesterday morning to work in the lumber camps of Holland & Graves at Bowmanan.

—On Saturday we will sell eight colored stereoscope views for only 25 cents. Hundreds to choose from Times Bookstore.

—The Royal Bank of Canada have secured premises in Bowmanville and will establish a branch there almost immediately under the management of Mr F. J. Mitchell.

—Some thirty men left the G.T.R. station yesterday morning for Cavendish and Anstruther townships, for the Cavendish Lumber Company. They were engaged by Mr. Ted. Carnaugh.

—Mr F. J. Sherwood is opening up a strictly up-to-date barber shop on George street, next to Carey's shoe shop formerly occupied by the late Mr. C. Wilhelmy. Everything included in this establishment will be first-class and only expert operators will be employed.

—The police force were out in full force last night watching for the festive small boy who thought it fun to decorate citizens' doors with ripe eggs or carry away gates at the expenditure of as much muscle, as would bring them in $1.75 if applied to legitimate work.

—Chief Bell of the fire and salvage department was more than pleased, not to say surprised, the other day, when he was handed a cheque for $10 by Mr. Geo. Matthews. This kindness on the part of Mr. Matthews, is due to the prompt and diligent way in which the fire brigade responded to and extinguished a small blaze at Mr. Matthew's house last week. Generosity like unto this is to be praised to the skies. —Lindsay Post.

When the tip of a dog's nose is cold and moist, that dog is not sick. A feverish dry nose means sickness with a dog. And so with the human lips. Dry, cracked and colorless lips mean feverishness, and are as well ill appearing. To have beautiful, pink, velvet-like lips, apply at bedtime a coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. It will soften and heal any skin ailment. Get a free trial box, at our store, and be convinced. Large nickel capped glass jars, 25 cents. J D Tully.

Mrs. McKee is Convalescent.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. McKee, who lives near the Roman Catholic cemetery is doing as well as could be expected after her accident. It will be remembered that this lady, whilst driving on Aylmer street a day or two ago on her way to the Cordage works, Her horse was frightened by a waggon high piled with grain, and in an attempt to run away caused Mrs. McKee to fall out of her buggy. Her face and one knee were badly injured.

DANGERS FROM DYSPEPSIA

Imperfect Digestion Most Prolific Cause of Serious Disease.

Few people seem to realize the real dangers in disturbed, deficient or defective digestion.

While health reports do not give indigestion as a cause of death, yet it is in reality often fatal, as it so weakens the stomach that one becomes readily susceptible to an attack of typhoid fever, kidney disease, nervous prostration or other serious or fatal disease.

At the first symptoms of indigestion, Mi-o-na stomach tablets should be used. If there is a feeling of heaviness in the stomach, distress after eating, nervousness, dizziness, nausea, headaches, sleeplessness, pains in the side and limbs, specks before the eyes, or a peevish, irritable condition, with debility and weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once.

It will build up the stomach and digestive organs so that you can eat anything at any time without fear of distress or indigestion.

A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na tablets will, in most cases, give prompt relief and cure, although in chronic and long-standing weakness of the stomach, two boxes or more are sometimes needed, but we guarantee Mi-o-na will cure, in all cases, no matter how chronic or serious, or money will be refunded. You run no risk whatever in buying Mi-o-na.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail, on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Old Time Social a Great Success

For lack of space in yesterday's issue, the very interesting tea and subsequent concert given Tuesday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Mark street Methodist church was omitted. The attendance was very large, and the "tea" involving a most enjoyable menu, thoroughly enjoyed.

A unique feature of the "tea" was that those present were divided into two sections—the past and the present. The ladies in charge of the "past" tables, assisted by other ladies of the congregation, were Mrs. Gamble Mrs. Cox and Mrs. A. Fowler, attired in old fashioned dresses and white caps. The ladies in charge of "the present" tables were Mrs. H. Gibbs Mrs. A. McCarthy and Mrs. Heathorne.

After tea an adjournment was was made to the town hall, where a fine program was rendered.

Mrs. J. G. Lewis in the chair welcomed those present and thanked them for their patronage. The ladies attired in their old fashioned garbs were seated on the stage.

The officers are:

Pres.—Mrs. J. H. Smith.
Sec.—Mrs. A. McCarthy.
Treas.—Mrs. H. Gibbs.

Rapid Tool Co. Pushing Matters

Things are booming at the Rapid Tool Company's fine new premises. The whole establishment being a hive of industry, matters being pushed as fast as money, muscle and "move-along" can hasten them.

Already the foundations for the three big hammers which are daily expected for the forge department, have been completed and are now ready. Two of the hammers strike a hundred ton blow at the rate of 450 revolutions per minute, and one hammer strikes a 800-pound blow at the rate of 600 revolutions per minute. The foundations are about seven feet square at the base and four by six feet at the top, and are over six feet deep.

At present the company has a number of machinists at work getting the machinery installed and dies made.

The buildings described in a former issue of The Times are completed and have ample room for turning out 1,000,000 auger bits per year.

Hospital Contest Was a Draw.

No prizes were awarded in the competition held at Nicholls Hospital, Tuesday night, between the nurses in bandaging. The work was so well and evenly done that the awarding of a prize would have been invidious. About seventy-five local citizens were present and enjoyed a splendid program of entertainment. The contestants in the senior class were Miss Berry and Miss Douglas and in the junior, Miss Ratcliff, Miss Mowry and Miss Steele. The judges for the senior class were Drs. McCullough, Eastwood and Scott, and for the junior class, Drs. Young and Morgan.

Havelock to Vote for Park Purchase

At the last meeting of Havelock Council it was moved and carried that a bylaw to raise $2600 by debentures for the purchase of a park be submitted to the property owners of the village.

It will require $130 to be raised annually for a period of 20 years to pay interest on said debt, and the sum of $87.31 to be raised annually during the said time to pay a sinking fund to pay the debt, making in all $217.31 to be raised annually.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black-Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

Miss B. Delaire Now Mrs. P. Murphy

Yesterday morning in St. Peter's cathedral, with Rev. Father Galvin officiating, Miss Blanche Delaire, the daughter of Mr. John Delaire of Peterborough, became the bride of Mr. Matthew Murphy of Whitby. The ceremony took place at 6.30 o'clock in the presence of a few immediate friends. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Josephine Delaire, and the groom was supported by Mr. Patrick Theady.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside in Peterborough.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

New Confectionery Store in E. Ward.

Mr W Wheeler has opened up a fine new confectionery store in the East Ward, occupying the store formerly used by Mr. Chas. Moore, as a grocery establishment on Hunter street east. Mr Wheeler has made many improvements to the premises, including the installation of a modern bake oven, and being a smart young man should secure a good share of patronage.

Good Luck With the Ducks.

Mr Dan Foley, who is an expert shot, yesterday got back from Rice Lake, after a couple of days duck shooting at Foley's Point. Mr. Foley had most excellent luck and brought back the goods to prove it in the shape of twenty-seven wild ducks, mostly "black" and "wood" duck. The birds seen by a Times representative were noble specimens of their kind.

TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS CORPORATION

Is authorized to act as

Administrator, Executor, Trustee, Etc., Etc.

An eminent writer has said: "It is difficult, indeed, to see how any private individual would willingly accept the position of executor, unless it be the family solicitor, who makes his living out of such work. A man once an executor finds himself always a prisoner, because he is obliged to give much more time and attention to his trust work than to his own business, and the anxiety is unceasing. The danger of mistakes occurring owing to inexperience is considerable, the responsibilities are enormous, and the personal liability never ends. He may perform his duties conscientiously, but he will never be given any thanks for his trouble. On the other hand, he may find himself at loggerheads with the members of his family, and perhaps be involved in law suits and other worries. There is no more fruitful source of discord between relations and friends than is brought about over the administration of wills and trusts." Write for Manual.

PARTICULARS OF THE ASSESSMENT VOTE

A BRUTAL MURDER

Man Enticed from Shack and His Money Taken.

Halifax, Nov. 1.—Queen's county is shocked by the brutal murder of Edward Way, a young man employed as a sectionman on the Halifax and South-Western Railway. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that Way met his death by wilful murder, and recommended the arrest of Clarence L. Spears of Sable River, a laborer in the Brownell lumber mill at Granite village. Spears was arrested.

Arthur Drury says the deceased had forty or fifty dollars in a bag tied about his neck. Money and bag were gone when the body was discovered It is believed he was enticed from his shack and killed on Saturday night. Way, who was 28 years old, was a native of Halifax, where his aged parents reside.

C. P. R. Officials Here Yesterday

Messrs. D. McNichol, vice-president and general manager of the C.P.R.; Mr. J. W. Leonard, assistant general manager; Mr. H. P. Timmerman, general superintendent; Mr. George Spencer, superintendent; Mr. D. Carmichael, train master; Mr. Fairbern, divisional engineer, Mr. Guetelle, chief engineer, and Mr. D. McDonnell, road master, passed through the city at noon yesterday on their annual tour of inspection. They arrived here about 12.10 in their special train, composed of three official cars, including dining car and baggage car.

They inspected the new addition to the station, the spur line, and other siddings. The train pulled out, at 12.25, for Burketon, and thence to Bobcaygeon.

A Lindsay despatch of yesterday says that the accident which occurred on the G.T.R. just to the west of Mariposa on Wednesday, was caused by an axle broken on a foreign car in the Whitby mixed which is due there at 8.45, derailing seven east cars and scattering the contents in every direction.

Slight Decrease In Customs Receipts

By courtesy of the local Customs House officials we are able to notice the receipts at the Peterborough Customs House for the month of October amount to $30,571.37. This is a slight decrease from the amount collected for the corresponding month last year, which was $30,961.16. However, the decrease is easily explained. On the last day of October, 1905, a cheque was received for $7,000, while yesterday there was a cheque for $2,000 which, if received the day before would have turned the decrease into a substantial increase.

Pleads "Not Guilty"

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Joseph Phillips, former president of the York Loan and Savings Company, appeared before Judge Winchester yesterday morning and pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of conspiracy in connection with the York Loan affairs. The case was traversed till the December General Session. The same bail stands for Mr. Phillips.

Meeting Held at Which it Was Decided What the Brinton Mfg. Co., and Sandstone Brick Company Will Ask For.

A matter that vitally affects both this city and the township of North Monaghan in the vote soon to be taken on inducements proposed to be granted the Brinton Manufacturing Company of Canada and also the the Sandstone Brick Company.

At a meeting held in Mr. G. W. Hatton's law offices, whereat Mr. Hatton represented the Brinton Co., and Messrs. W. S. Davidson and E. S. Clarry the Sandstone Brick Co., the bylaws to be submitted to the township councils of North Monaghan were read. It might be noted that the Brinton Manufacturing Company ask for a fixed assessment at $10,000. The city of Peterborough is quite willing to take into the city limits the Brinton Company property and fix their assessment at $5,000 for a term of 21 years. This company ask that the North Monaghan township shall fix their assessment at $10,000 for 10 years.

Several prominent residents of that township have openly expressed their intention to vote for granting the assessment asked by the company.

The Sandstone Brick Company ask the township to fix their assessment at $1,000.

At the meeting held in Mr. Hatton's office, however, a mutual arrement was attained whereby the assessment was fixed at $3,000 for 10 years.

It would not be out of place perhaps to point out to the ratepayers of North Monaghan and Peterborough that whilst the city is willing to take the Brinton Company's property into the city limits on the basis of a fixed assessment of $5,000 for 21 years, and this Sandstone Brick Company at an assessment not yet specified, that unless proper terms are agreed to that there are other townships, for instance, Douro and Otonabee, and it behoves the former municipalities to well consider the matter.

G. T. R. Accident Near Mariposa

The traffic was yesterday coming by way of Lorneville Junction as the track west of Mariposa, was blocked by derailed cars. The morning Peterborough train which left here at 9.15, went through to Mariposa, but had to back up to Lindsay and go around by Blackwater.

Mr Harry O'Brien, son of Mr. Michael O'Brien, butcher, on McDonel street, was a brakeman on that train His father received a telephone message from him yesterday stating that he escaped unhurt and that no lives were lost by the accident.

Had His Arm Torn From Shoulder.

Laprairie, Que., November 2.—A serious accident happened at the Laprairie Pressed Brick Company yesterday morning. A young married man, named Jules Charriot was oiling machinery, which was in movement, when one of his arms got caught and was torn off from the shoulder. The man stood the horrible pain without fainting and Doctors Longtin and Brossard attending hope to save his life.

Died Just Before Son was to Be Wedded

Rev. Dr. Hutt, a Prominent Presbyterian Minister, Dies Suddenly

Ingersoll, Nov. 1.—Shortly before six o'clock last night Rev. Dr. E. R. Hutt, for the past 17 years pastor of St Paul's Presbyterian church, was found dead seated in a chair in his study.

His sudden death is unusually sad in view of the fact that at seven o'clock he was to have performed the ceremony of the marriage of his second son, and wedding guests had already arrived.

Dr. Hutt was down town until about four o'clock. He had not enjoyed good health for the past couple of years but there was no outward sign that the end was so near. Death was due to heart disease.

The late Dr. Hutt was in his 55th year, and is survived by a widow and five children, three sons and two daughters. He was one of the best known Presbyterian ministers of Western Ontario, and was a very clever speaker. He was a staunch friend and a public-spirited citizen, having been a member of the Board of Education until recently. His sudden demise has cast a gloom over the whole town.

Further News of Mr. Jackson's Death

Yesterday's despatches from Port Hope say, concerning the generally regretted death of Mr. Jackson of that city, but formerly with the Bell Co. here, that the deceased arose about 7 o'clock, and shortly afterwards was discovered by his little daughter lying in an unconscious condition in the kitchen. The unfortunate man appears to have deliberately placed the rubber tube from the gas stove in his mouth and turned on the gas.

The child alarmed the mother, who immediately summoned medical aid. Artificial respiration was tried, but to no purpose. Dr. W. W. McKinley, coroner, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The deceased attended St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and is survived by a widow and two small children.

No cause has as yet been assigned for the rash act. C. W. Stringer of Toronto, divisional superintendent of the Bell Company for this district, who was engaged in official inspection work at Port Hope on Wednesday, refuses to state whether his duties had anything to do with an examination of the books.

Monument to Henry Seward.

Seattle, Wash., November 2.—A movement has been inaugurated in Seattle to secure a monument to perpetuate the services of William Henry Seward, secretary of state under Lincoln and Johnson, by whom was negotiated the treaty with Russia whereby the United States acquired possession of the district of Alaska for a consideration of $7,200,000.

Mr. Fulford's Remains at Brockville.

Brockville, November 2.—The body of Chas. E. Fulford, nephew of the late Senator G. T. Fulford, reached Brockville on Tuesday for burial from Sydney, Australia, where deceased died on August 21st. Mrs. Fulford accompanied the body.

Union Calls Strike Off.

Chicago, November 2.—The Jewellery Workers' Union, which had been waging a four-weeks' fight for an eight-hour day, voted yesterday to call the contest off and the 400 strikers return to work today.

A NEW SEPARATE SCHOOL

Roman Catholic Board Decides to Build One.

Calgary, Alta., November 2.—The Roman Catholic separate school board of Calgary, the governing body of what is known as the Lacombe separate school district, are taking steps towards establishing another separate school in the district.

Notices have been posted intimating the intention of the trustees to issue ten year debentures for $4,000 for the purpose of buying twenty-four lots east of Elbow for the school site. Notices further state that unless a poll of ratepayers is demanded, the trustees will apply to the minister of education for authority to borrow the money.

The Globe on the Local Deputation

The deputation from Peterborough, which waited upon Premier Whitney in Toronto, on Wednesday, headed by Mayor Beal, was composed of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Senator Cox, Mr. T. F. Matthews, of the water commissioners, Mr. Jas. Kendry ex-M.P., Ald. Adams and City solicitor E. H. D. Hall.

Mayor Beal, yesterday was somewhat reticent about the visit of the deputation, saying that it would be premature to publish anything at present. He was, however, well satisfied with the result of the conference with Premier Whitney, and members of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

The Globe has the following to say of the visit of the deputtion;

"A deputation from Peterborough waited first upon the Premier, and later upon Hon. Messrs. Beck and Hendrie of the Hydro-electric Power Commission at the Parliament buildings yesterday in regard to the request that the municipality mentioned be allowed to develop power on the Otonabee river, for the supply of electrical energy and light for municipal purposes. The Premier referred the deputation to the commission, pointing out that under the power bill of last session that body would have to deal with and settle upon the request.

"To the members of the commission the deputation recalled that a city of Peterborough 'bill seeking the power now asked was defeated in one of the committees of the legislature as the result of contention over the 'Connor clauses' of the municipal act, designed to protect private gas electric and other enterprises. They were informed that if Peterborough decides by formal action of the council, to deal with the commission, the case would not be affected in anyway by the Connor clauses. The power bill gives sufficient authority, if its provisions are observed by parties seeking to benefit by it, for the carrying out of such plans as that proposed by the deputation. The latter promised to have the matter brought before the Peterborough council, and to have the formal methods of dealing with the commission followed."

Flag Flew on St. John's Yesterday

Yesterday the parochial day of St. John's church was duly recognized by the grand old Union Jack proudly floating above the vine clad tower of the new historic edifice, and thus marking its 71st birthplace. The church was re-opened after its restoration on All Saints' day, 1882—just twenty-four years ago yesterday.

Parochial communion in observance of the rededication will be celebrated at St John's church at 8.30 and 11 o'clock on Sunday morning when all communicants are expected to be present.

On Sunday, Nov. 11, Rev. Prof. G M Wrong, of Toronto University, will conduct special services both morning and evening.

Mr. P. Kane Hurt in Bike Collision

We are pleased to note that Mr. P. Kane was yesterday morning able to leave his bed after the severe accident he sustained on Wednesday. It seems that as Mr. Kane, the popular caretaker of the T.A.S. rooms, mounted on his bicycle, and on the right side of the road, between Dalhousie and Wolfe streets, collided with a rider going north. Both riders were going at a good speed, and as a result both were hurled to the ground. Mr. Kane was the more badly hurt, the bridge of his nose being severely crushed and his right arm bruised. He was badly shaken up and had to be assisted to his home. A doctor was called. Although better it is likely that he will be confined to his home for a few days.

Counsel Will Ask Higher Court to Allow the Privilege and Will Seek Evidence to Show That the Prisoner is Not the Man Wanted.

Toronto, Nov 2.—John O'Meara goes up for trial on the charge of perjury laid against him after his evidence in the London conspiracy case. A number of witnesses were to have been heard in the preliminary examination yesterday morning before Police Magistrate Denison, but two were not present, and the third, Steven O'Meara, father of the prisoner, is ill, and therefore unable to attend. The Court declined to grant bail, and Mr. Curry will have to apply to a higher tribunal if he wishes to take his client to Brantford in order to procure witnesses who saw the man arrested there in February, 1897, and who may be prepared to swear that O'Meara is not the man.

Mr. Curry set forth yesterday the difficulty of getting such evidence unless his client is able to go to Brantford personally.

UNRELIABLE EVIDENCE.

His Worship questioned the value of testimony of that nature in any event, as probably nine out of ten who saw O'Meara ten years ago would be willing to say that they could not recognize him now.

The counsel for the defence pointed out that this showed how unreliable must be the testimony of the "tenth" man, who have already identified O'Meara. There was the school teacher, for instance, who says he followed the prisoner in Brantford to get a good view of him, whereas the evidence is that he was surrounded all the way to court by a pushing and excited crowd who had to be kept off with batons, and who would preclude the possibility of a good view.

"I believe," commented Mr. Curry "that there has been as much perjury on the part of the witnesses who have identified O'Meara as there could have been on O'Meara's part."

"Oh," said his Worship, "not if O'Meara is the man, and I believe he is. My feeling from all the evidence is that he is the man."

"Has it been put beyond a possibility that it may have been some one else?" asked Mr. Curry.

"There are possibilities, but—"

"If there is a doubt, the prisoner should get it."

"I have no doubt myself."

BAIL AGAIN REFUSED.

The question of bail was finally referred to Mr. DuVernet, who declined to grant it, pointing out that Mr. Curry could go to a higher court.

"His Worship," persisted Mr. Curry "holds that the possibility is not closed out."

"Where can my client possibly get evidence if he is kept in custody."

"He can instruct you."

"But, if he is not the man, how can he instruct me?"

"I believe the man is guilty."

"Even so, he should have every right to be placed in a position to get evidence for his defence."

"You can say that before the other court. You know I don't change my mind very easily."

"I am quite aware of that, but—"

"If this is the man, as I believe he is, he was let out in Brantford, and skipped his bail."

Mr. DuVernet added that the Brantford charge is still standing.

"This man will be committed for trial," said his Worship with finality.

Mr. Curry will seek bail in a higher court.

Grape-Nuts Worked Wonders For An Unfortunate Woman.

"At last I was compelled to sit all day at a sewing machine in a factory," said an English lady who was once well and happy, but whose circumstances changed so that she was compelled to earn her living.

"I soon suffered dreadfully with indigestion, some days thought I would die from acute pain in front of the waist line. I took about everything for indigestion without any permanent relief; tried starvation but suffered just as much whether I ate anything or not.

"Curiosity roused me to try a package of Grape-Nuts food for a change. Then I got a second package and began to use it regularly. What was my surprise—bowels became regular, no more headaches, piles troubled me less frequently and best of all the stomach trouble was gone entirely. I wanted Grape-Nuts for luncheon as well as breakfast—seemed as if my system craved what was good for it.

"Everyone in the family has taken to eating Grape-Nuts. They said I ate it with so much relish they thought it must be very good—and so it is.

"My little girl has gained five pounds since she started eating Grape-Nuts—in about three months. I think everyone, sick or well, should eat Grape-Nuts at least twice every day." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Have Found a Cure For Sleeping Sickness

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Treated and Most of Them Recover.

Marseilles, Nov. 2.—Letters have been received here from Saigon, French Cochin China, saying that two French doctors have discovered that the hitherto fatal sleeping sickness can be cured by means of thymol. One hundred and fifty patients have been treated with this remedy, and a large majority of them have recovered.

Great Britain, France, and Germany have had commissions employed for several years seeking a remedy for the sleeping sickness, which has depopulated entire districts in tropical Africa and Asia. Professor Robert Koch, lecturing in Berlin last March, declared that since the beginning of the last century two hundred thousand persons have died of this baffling scourge in equatorial Africa On June 20 Lieut. Fulloch, who had accompanied the British Royal Commission to Uganda and had contracted the disease while dissecting an inoculated rat, died in London, in spite of all that science could do to check the progress of the poison in his blood. Neither the exact nature nor the origin of the sleeping sickness has been satisfactorily determined. The infection is spread from human to human by the sting of a small fly, the glossina palpalis. Fever is the earliest positive symptom. The patient then becomes incoherent and enfeebled, and finally is seized by the sleep mania, which ends in death. Thymol, mentioned in the despatches as a cure, is a crystalline product of thyme, a familiar aromatic herb. Distilled and diluted it has an agreeable, cooling taste, and has long been valued in medical practice as a powerful antiseptic adapted to the healing of wounds and the treatment of affections of the nose and throat.

Funeral of the Late Mr. T. P. Campbell

The funeral of the late Thomas Percy Campbell, which took place at Keene, yesterday afternoon from the residence of Dr. Harrison, was very largely attended.

The remains were taken to the Methodist church, where the service was held the order of the procession to the church being: the clergymen, Rev W. D. Harrison, and Rev. H. M. Manning, the physicians, Dr. Harrison and Dr. Scott; an escort of four young men from Peterborough, former friends of the deceased, Messrs. John Laing, E. Beal, D. W. Richardson and Ross Dobbin; the pallbearers Messrs. J. S. Bennett, George Morgan, H. H. Cragg, W. A. Waldon, W. J. Salter, H. G. Robertson, who were all members of the graduating class of Victoria University of 1905, of which the deceased was permanent president for the year. Mr. E. J. Moore, secretary of that year's class, with three other students, were also present.

At the church services were conducted by Rev. Messrs. Harrison and Manning Mr. J. S Bennett also spoke briefly, referring to the deceased's life at college, and to the esteem in which he was held by his fellow students at the University.

The interment took place at the Keene cemetery.

Pitiful Wreck of Married Life

Paris, Nov. 1.—The Castellane divorce case was heard this afternoon before M Henry Ditte, President of the Tribunal of First Instances of the Seine Neither the Count nor the Countess were present. Maitre Cruppi for the Countess, pleaded for a divorce upon the documentary evidence submitted

In an extended review counsel declared that the Countess at the beginning of the suit was acting under influence, but solely for the purpose of ending forever the peril of the moral desolation of her household. He explained the marriage contract, by which the regime of separation of property was established from the very beginning, and stated that domestic difficulties arose over the question of money. Ill-treatment soon followed, the Count even striking the plaintiff before the servants.

When he reached the question of the infidelity charged against the Count, Maitre Cruppi did not mention names or even initials, designating the correspondents as "Madame A." "Madame B," and so on.

Maitre Cruppi asked that the Countess be given the custody of her three children.

The court room was crowded, among those present being many members of the American colony. Counsel for the Countess spoke for an hour and a half, and had not finished when the court took recess. His presentation of the plaintiff's case constituted a complete and pitiful story of the wreck of her married life

The Position of Great Britain.

London, November 2.—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Edward Grey, secretary of foreign affairs, replied to a question as to war between the United States and Japan arising out of discrimination against the Japanese in California. Asked whether or not Great Britain would be involved under the terms of her treaty with Japan, he said that the treaty was of a general character, and that there were no indications that it was likely to lead to a war with any power.

KARL CREMER UNDER ARREST

The Man Who Successfully "Worked" Large Number of Business Men

WONDER OF THE TOWN

He Had a Gay Time at the Expense of His Victims—Spread Eagle Purchases Were Large.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—Karl Cremer, late lieutenant in the German army, who was reputed to have been left a fortune of $400,000 by the death of his father in Germany, and who has been buying houses, horses, pictures, and beautiful furniture on the strength of the coming legacy, has turned out to be the most prodigious fakir that Canada has seen for many a day. Not only has the man fooled merchants and bankers with his well developed plan of campaign, but even the woman, whom he was going to marry fell victim to the fairy tale. Today Karl Cremer is resting quietly in police headquarters, a sort of a voluntary prisoner, for up to the present time no criminal action has been taken beyond a request from Chief of Detectives Carpenter to have the man come to headquarters and explain himself.

DINED AT OTHERS' EXPENSE

Just how Cremer was to profit by the elaborately laid scheme is hard to say, for what he purchased could not really be turned into cash, even had he been allowed to retain the same by the merchants with whom he did business. It is true that for a few weeks' time he has been the wonder of the town, and has been treated royally by those with whom he had business dealings. He sported about with the team which he was purchasing, and he dined at the best restaurants upon the cash put up by the merchants in question. Further, Cremer has not profited. How well his pose were laid is indicated by the cables which have been addressed to German centers. Huge coups have been awkward presumably by attaches and others interested in the estate, while, as a matter of fact, some counterstake has been working for German end of the game. The Bank of Montreal, with whom Cremer arranged to transfer his fortune from the old world to the new, became convinced finally that the man is either an arch knave or an awful fool. They did not know which. The latter woman whom Cremer was to have married yesterday is still single, and the wedding feast now from the altars is still reposing in a room on Alexander street. Just what will become of Cremer eventually is hard to say, for which his spread eagle purchases have amounted to perhaps $300,000 his personal benefits up to date have been trifling, and the merchants ranging from automobile makers to real estate men, who have been sitting up nights in an endeavor to corral Cremer's trade are the laugh of the town, and it is hardly probable that any very serious charge will be made against the man.

Wild Scenes at Attell Fight

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 1. — Abe Attell, of San Francisco, who won the decision from Harry Baker, of San Francisco, after twenty rounds of fast fighting here last night, defended the world's featherweight championship and McCarey diamond belt.

When Referee Eddie Robinson held up Attell's gloves before the 4,500 spectators who had been brought to their feet by the fierce closing rally, Baker threw up both hands and fell face forward on the floor in hysterics

Then followed a demonstration at the ringside, the spectators hissing, hooting, groaning and surging about the ring in protest against the decision while a squad of police directed by Chief Commissioner Sadder fought them back from the enclosure

POLICEMAN'S ENDURANCE

New York, Nov. 2.—The World of yesterday has the following:—Policeman J Eller, champion all-round athlete of the police department, and winner of many medals in running jumps and sprints in the Canadian games this summer, was taken to Bellevue Hospital in a critical condition last night, after having patrolled for 16 hours out of 24, during which he was suffering from severe concussion and if possible fracture of the skull. Eller received his hurts in a collision between a patrol wagon and a street car.

HOW CONSUMPTION STARTS

Tired When You Waken—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out—Snap All Gone.

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start today. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this.

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE "BIG MONEY" COMES FROM FRANCHISES

No intelligent mind can devote itself even briefly to a study of the proper relations of public service corporations to the communities served without arriving at the conclusion that the difficulties and abuses which occasion so much bitterness and stimulate so much discussion are due primarily to the fact that the business of such corporations is very rarely, in fact, what it purports to be in their articles of association.

Almost without exception their chief business is that of stock-jobbing, the operation of public enterprises being merely incidental and entirely a minor consideration with the master minds and trained manipulators who frame and direct the policies pursued.

In the opinion of the Detroit News we cannot but concur. The Cummer bill was the product of corporation manipulation. It was fathered by a politician whose skirts have not been clean for a decade. It came fresh from a caucus of franchise holders, guided by certain politicians and electric stock brokers who saw fortunes in the muzzling of municipalities.

The aim was to boost their properties much above their actual value, and the legislation secured has undoubtedly had that effect. Mergers of companies capitalized in the millions may occur at any moment in Ontario, and with the fusion of interests will go an immense quantity of watered stock, the dividends on which will be paid by the people.

It is time to call a halt; to rid ourselves of the abuses that exist by engaging in a concerted movement in our municipal councils and to the legislature. The bitterness prevailing has been engendered by monopoly interests, some of which have made millions for a few franchise holders. A fair deal, we feel certain, is the most that the municipalities ask. They have not received that under the Cummer act, the practical emasculation of which is one of the pre-requisites to a reduction of the tigerish demands of the franchise-holding corporations.

COST OF EARTHQUAKES

The annual loss of life in the world occasioned by earthquakes is on the average, about 3,500. This number is fairly in accordance with the numbers lost during the last twelve months. On October 8, 1891, Japan lost 9,900 of her people, or double the number lost in her war with China. The wounded numbered 19,994. With a single earthquake in 1896 the loss of life in the same country approached 30,000. If we turn to the loss of property after the earthquake of 1891 $30,000,000 was required for the restoration of railways, roads, bridges and other public works. In addition to this 128,750 houses, together with factories, temples and other buildings had to be restored.

In 1897, after a disastrous earthquake in Assam, the chief commissioner of that country reported to the secretary of the government of India that their own resources had been exhausted and, with the object of restoring various public works, a grant from the imperial resources would be required to assist the administration. The total damage occasioned, much of which had to be met by shareholders in railways, tea factories, and other industries, was roughly estimated at $25,000,000. Speaking generally, a large earthquake in a populated country often results in damages to the extent of several millions.

If it is asked whether these expenditures can be reduced the answer is distinctively in the affirmative. One of the outcomes of modern seismology has been to devise instruments which measure earthquake motion. From a knowledge of the actual nature of earthquake motion derived from the use of these instruments new rules and formula for the use of engineers and builders have been established. In Japan and other countries these have been extensively applied in the construction of piers for bridges, tall chimneys, walls, ordinary dwellings, embankments, reservoirs, etc. Inasmuch as the new types of structures have withstood violent earth shakings, while ordinary types in the neighborhood have failed, it can be confidently stated that much has already been accomplished to minimize the loss of life.

Railway Men Had a Fight With Wolves

Frobisher, Man., Nov. 2.—Ed. Byers had a thrilling experience yesterday with prairie wolves. When going to the engine to kindle the fire and get up steam, about a mile from the house he was surrounded by a pack, which he kept at bay with a long pitchfork that he was carrying at the time, until some of his comrades, who heard his cries for help, came to his assistance armed with guns. After two or three of the animals were dispatched the balance ran away. Through the West the wolves are more ferocious than usual this fall.

Woman Wants to Be Engineer.

Albany, N. Y., November 1.—Station Master Ross, of the Albany Railroad Company, received a genuine surprise yesterday when Miss Eddie B. Snyder walked into his office and made application for a position in the mechanical engineering department. Miss Snyder said she had a diploma from a mechanical school, and, if necessary, she said she would accept a position as engineer or firewoman on a locomotive.

Newfoundland's Opinion Ignored.

London, November 1.—The Economist says: From Churchill's reply we gather that the Foreign Office consulted Newfoundland beforehand, and kept it informed of the progress of negotiations, that, ultimately ignored its opinion. But it must be remembered that time pressed and that the opinion probably did not represent the feeling of the whole colony, and that judging from its subsequent expression, it would have had to be overridden anyhow.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

By The Inside Nerves

It is a common mistake to take artificial digestives for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 500 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organs—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power nerves—that through them only was it possible to secure digestion, heart action, healthful sleep, sound kidneys, headache, heart weakness, nervousness, and Bright's disease and all other affections of the kidneys. For all of these ailments are not separate sicknesses and are not to be treated as such. They are merely symptoms of these nerves in distress, and when the nerves are restored the symptoms and the sickness disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart troubles quicker even than those medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

The Outing Magazine for November

The Outing Magazine for November is made particularly notable by the beginning of Chester Bailey Fernald's new serial, "John Kendrys Iden," a romance which, from the first instalment, gives promise of being one of the most gripping stories of the season. Among the other fiction of the number are a new story by Lawrence Mott, "Love in the Wilderness," one of the best stories Mr. Mott has done; a splendid outdoor story by Maximilian Foster, a story of the Maine woods white-tail, entitled "A Waiting Game," and "The Colonel's Aunt," a distinctive little tale by C. de Crespigny.

Among the articles, besides a new instalment of Dillon Wallace's "The Long Labrador Trail"—which grows more interesting and vigorous as the story of Wallace's journey of hardship and lovelly progresses.—there are two entertaining human interest papers; one by Varick Thaanum, about whom it has been said that everything he writes is always interesting, on "The New York Cabman and His Cab;" and the other by Jesse Lynch Williams, author of "The Stolen Story,"—a rattling football article entitled, "The Day of the Game." That remarkable bird photographer, Herbert K. Job, has one of his unique articles entitled, "Photographing of Small Wild Bird Life on the Prairie;" and Clifton Johnson, whose photographs are always models of photographic art, about "Farming in Southern Minnesota."

One of the most striking features of the number are the photographs and papers by experts concerning the Cambridge-Harvard race on the Thames, and the Vanderbilt Cup Race. And Mr. Lynn Tew Sprague's characterization of "Old Hickory" is one of the best of Mr. Sprague's series of historical sketches.

The artistic features of the month are up to The Outing Magazine standard, which is saying much; and there are numerous practical "How To" papers which are authoritative and interesting.

Murderer Hanged by Armed Mob.

Memphis, Tenn., November 1.—George Estes, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Sassly, and wounded Constable John Powers, when the officers, at Hales Point, Tenn., raided a crap game in which the negro was participating, was taken from a sheriff's posse by an armed mob at that place last night and hanged.

WEDDING STATIONERY

WEDDING ANNCUNCEMENTS are always in order. The season for the final result of being a disciple of Cupid finds expression in the Hymeneal ceremony at the altar—that occasion when "two hearts that beat as one" are joined together—pronounced one.

For this auspicious occasion the printing must be chastely dignified—must be appropriate in appearance to this one time of life when everything "best" is donned—when happiness reigns supremely.

VARICOCELE CURED

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first months treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

The Bridal Eve

MRS. E. D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH

A NOVEL

Author of "Self-Raised," "The Deserted Wife," "The Bride's Fate," "Retribution," "Ishmael," "The Wife's Victory," Etc., Etc.

Here he first met the family of Sir Vincent Lester, and with them Mrs. Ravenscroft, a young and beautiful widow, the sister of the baronet. She was known to be engaged to Lord Earlington, an old and broken down bachelor, whose enormous unincumbered fortune had tempted her family in to persuading her to accept his proposals of marriage. From the moment Captain Thugsen met Mrs. Ravenscroft, he resolved to win her love. The circumstance of his own marriage seemed of no more importance than the fact that she was the betrothed of another. Indeed, to a man of Captain Thugsen's disposition, those impediments only added zest to the pursuit of the lady. In a word, he won the passionate love of this modern Helen. The lovers met in secret, and took long walks on the loneliest part of the beach.

Thugsen urged her to fly with him to the Continent, but Helen was scarcely prepared for such a desperate measure. She said that if Lord Earlington were only out of the way, she would consent to become the wife of Thugsen. She never dreamed of the deep depravity that could put a fatal construction upon her words, and dare to obey their supposed meaning. At this time Lord Earlington, whose suspicions had been aroused, wrote a civil note to Thugsen, requesting the latter to afford him a private interview at his earliest convenience. Thugsen smiled with demoniac pleasure at the receipt of this note, and wrote a reply, requesting Lord Earlington to meet him at sunset in a certain secluded coombe in the downs.

Lord Earlington kept the tryst, and Thugsen, awaiting him in that solitary spot, sprang upon him, and buried a dagger to the hilt in his breast, and it was only then, from the lips of the dying man, Thugsen learned that Lord Earlington was his father, who, in a late repentance, had sought that interview with the purpose of acknowledging his son, yielding up Helen to the latter, and endowing the young couple with a portion of his large fortune.

Transfixed with horror, Thugsen could only stand and gaze upon the face of his dying parent until he was aroused by the presence of Sir Vincent Lester, who, having followed the hounds all day, just chanced upon this rencounter.

The baronet, who saw at a glance what had happened, and who, indeed, had been a witness to a part of the conversation, summoned Thugsen to surrender, and accompany him back to the town. But Thugsen sprang into his saddle, and fled with the sin of parricide blackening his soul!

With the after-part of this criminal's career, the reader is already acquainted.

Sir Vincent had the body of the murdered peer conveyed to Brighton, where, upon his person, was found the note of Captain Thugsen summoning him to the fatal tryst. Helen Ravenscroft was informed of the death of Lord Earlington, by the hand of Captain Thugsen, and though she never knew the relationship that existed between the murderer and his victim and that her lover's soul was blackened by the awful crime of parricide, yet from hearing of the crime, and the flight of Thugsen, she lost her reason, though, ahas! she never lost her mad passion for the criminal. With the cunning of partial insanity, she listened until she learned that her brother possessed the note of Thugsen that had summoned Lord Earlington to the meeting. With the cunning of the maniac, she watched her opportunity, and stole the note, and awaited until she found a way of putting it into the possession of Thugsen, which she did by throwing it to him from the carriage window while she was driving in the park.

Upon learning this fact, Sir Vincent Lester had deemed it expedient to enlighten the unhappy woman upon two points—firstly, that he himself was the witness of Thugsen's crime; secondly, that the crime was not ordinary murder, but damning parricide! Upon hearing this awful disclosure, Helen became a raving maniac, and was conveyed to a lunatic asylum, where she soon after died.

These facts were gathered, partly from the confession of Thugsen, and partly from the statements of the parties present in the library.

Several practical goods resulted from these disclosures; first, Colonel Hastings refunded to Ruth Russel, or Mrs. Thugsen, as she should be called, the property of her father; secondly, the proven fact of Thugsen's first marriage showed his attempted second marriage to be an imposture, and vindicated the honor of the young Duchess of Beresleigh.

The trial before the House of Lords might have been arrested, but the friends of the young duchess deemed at least investigation of that affair by that high tribunal essential to the triumph of right. Consequently, upon the appointed day, the trial came off, and resulted, as every one foresaw, in the triumphant vindication of the fair fame of the Duchess of Beresleigh; for the decision of the peers was accompanied by the strongest censure of the parties who had charged her grace upon such trivial grounds, and the highest eulogium upon the character of the young duchess as it had been revealed to them through the investigation.

Thus the result of that trial was a most triumphant vindication of the Duchess of Beresleigh.

Lord and Lady Etheridge had only remained to see the end of this investigation, and to congratulate their sister and brother upon its happy conclusion, before they set out upon a late bridal tour over the Continent.

They were absent three months, and at the end of that time they returned to England, and sent their servants down in advance to prepare for their reception at Swinburne Castle.

The people of Swinburne, let it now be confessed, had never been reconciled to the change of local dynasty that had given them the laundress' daughter as their liege lady. They had never believed in the claims of Rose, and had always looked upon her as an usurper.

When, therefore, the servants of their own Lady Etheridge arrived at the Etheridge Arms with the intelligence that their lord and lady were coming down to the castle, nothing could exceed the joy of the villagers and tenantry.

The same group that had assembled two years before at the Etheridge Arms to see the arrival of the coach that was to bring the bridegroom, who was about to marry their lady, gathered once more in the taproom, to get all the news they could from the servants, who had stopped there for refreshment on their way to the castle, whither they were bound to prepare for the reception of the baron and baroness, who were coming next week.

There was the village smith, and the old laborer from Swinburne Chase, and the old cashiered groom, and all the others.

And none there were so poor that they could not invest a sixpence in drinking the health of their beloved lady, whom they quite regarded in the light of a restored queen.

And there were none so niggardly as not to spend their money and labor in adorning and illuminating the village for the reception of the happy pair who were coming to reside among them.

So that the next week when the Baron and Baroness Etheridge of Swinburne entered their feudal village, it was with the state of a king and queen entering their capital city, amid the parade of the county militia, under a triumphal arch formed of evergreens, and over a road strewn with flowers by the village maidens, who stood each side the way singing a joyous epithalamium.

THE END.

White Plague Vaccination.

Dr. Calmette, of the Lille branch of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, has communicated to the French Academy of Sciences, on behalf of himself and his colleague, Dr. Guerin, the results of important experiments foreshadowing the prevention of tuberculosis by vaccination. The form of tuberculosis treated is that of the digestive organs, which Dr. Calmette believes is extremely common in children. Drs. Calmette and Guerin believe that Dr. Behring's method of injecting virulent tuberculosis bacilli is dangerous. Accordingly they render the germs inocuous by killing, or half killing, them with heat, and they are then administered intestinally as a preventive. The experiments thus far have been confined to calves and kids, but they have been so successful that their efficacy indicates they will be equally effective in the case of human beings. They believe that infants can be rendered immune by a dose of properly prepared bacilli in milk a few days after birth and a second dose a few weeks later. It would be imperative to protect them for at least four months from natural tuberculosis infection, to which the treatment would render them particularly liable. Dr. Roux, of the Pasteur Institute, has been working independently in the same direction, and has obtained similar results.

A Story of the Pussy Willow.

Edith Baker, a little 10-year-old girl of Cobourg writes in The Globe: The pussy willows are found in swampy places. The branches of the pussy willows have little lumps on them. Early in the spring these little lumps begin to grow. After a while they look like an apple seed, but they soon grow larger and begin to open a little bit; then you see the little grey pussies peeping out. The pussies grow very fast after the buds open. They are a pretty grey color and feel soft and fuzzy, like a little grey kitten. The pussies each sit on a little seat that the buds made for them. We have some branches of pussy willow, lilacs, horse-chestnuts and many other trees in glass jars in our schoolroom. We look at them every day to see how much they have grown. The buds open very quickly in the warm room. The horse-chestnut buds are very sticky. We have a branch from a currant bush that will soon have green leaves on it. We write stories every week to tell how our buds are growing.

TRENT CANAL

TENDERS FOR WATER POWER

SEALED TENDERS addressed to undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Water Power," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Thursday, the 29th November, 1906, for the surplus Water Power at Dam No. 4, Peterboro, on the Trent Canal.

Parties tendering must understand that in developing the power, the discharge below, must in no wise interfere with navigation, and the Department reserves the right (without compensation to lessees) to raise Dam No. 5 two feet.

Lessees, as an evidence of good faith, will be required to expend in developing the power not less than $25,000 within 6 months and not less than $50,000 within 12 months from the date of the acceptance of the tender.

The term of lease shall be for 21 years renewable for three like terms, but the rent to be charged shall be subject to adjustment at each renewal term.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000, must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into lease on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.

By order,

L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, 23rd October, 1906.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 250,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 240 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

YOU FEEL TIRED ALL THE TIME

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious tired feeling is still there. Unwilling to get up, a strong desire to rest just a little longer.

Unwise to neglect this gradual decline. It can't cure itself—but Ferrozone by forming rich pure blood at once supplies nutriment for building up the system. This extra nourishment is distributed throughout the entire body, gives force to the nerves, strength to the muscle, and power to the digestive organs.

At once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. You know a powerful force is building up depleted energies, you realise what it means to have the vim and spirit of robust health.

Search the world over and you won't find a tonic to nourish, build up, and fortify a weak body like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the best all round strengthening medicine ever discovered.

To take Ferrozone regularly is an insurance policy of health, a guarantee that you will be free from vexatious spells of tiredness and debilitating sickness of every kind. Surely it's worth while trying a medicine that Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowsman, Man., speaks of as follows:

"I want to state my case, because I think it may be the means of assisting other suffering women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffered from nervousness and hysteria. Little things that went wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments, but they didn't help. He said my low condition of health was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous, and was made so by Ferrozone." (Signed) Mrs. H. S. Gold.

Before your ill-health assumes a chronic or malignant form build up with Ferrozone. Sold everywhere, 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

Dr Jessie Birnie Lectured.

Last night Dr. Jessie Birnie gave the first of a series of lectures at the Y.W.C.A. on the subject of "First Aid." Those in attendance, brought triangular bandages with them and enjoyed a most interesting and instructive lecture.

P. P. Home.

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully acknowledge the following donations; Alexander Dawson, $3.00; Miss Roger, basket of peaches; Mrs. Patterson, reading matter; Miss Walton, reading matter; Mrs. R. S. Davidson, grapes; Mrs. Bailey, cake; St. Luke's church, vegetables and cake; Mrs. Ellis, canned meat.

Lindsay Charity Has Surplus

The Lindsay Post says:—The Lindsay Home for the Aged Society, is now on the "retired" list, and has been ever since the erection of the new County House of Refuge. But unlike many other societies, it retires with a snug little "nest-egg" of some $2740 more or less. Then there are a few payments to make and a few outstanding accounts to collect. But now that the members have practically nothing to do as a board, the question naturally arises "What are we going to do with our surplus?"

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—Three large parcels of old newspapers for 10 cents at Times Bookstore.

—Miss Eardley-Wilmot entertained a number of her young friends at an afternoon tea yesterday.

—The Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church held a regular meeting yesterday evening.

—Wedding presents in large variety of fancy china, fancy and useful articles Times Bookstore.

An amethyst finished Gold Bracelet to best Lady Skater at Roller Skating Rink tonight.

—Be sure and see the new colored souvenir cards just in at Times Bookstore. Views of all principal places.

—Yesterday the Charlotte street bridge just to the west of the White House, was replanked with about two inch boards.

—Call on Times Bookstore, when you want to renew subscription for any magazine or paper. We guarantee satisfaction.

—Yesterday was All Saints' Day, and special services were held in the Anglican churches and at St. Peter's cathedral.

—On Saturday we will sell eight colored stereoscope views for only 25 cents. Hundreds to choose from. Times Bookstore.

—The First Aid Class connected with the Y.W.C.A. met yesterday evening Dr. Jessie Birnie gave her first lecture on "The First Aid to the Injured."

—The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church will hold their regular monthly meeting this afternoon, Nov. 2nd, at 2.30, in the lecture room of the church.

—P. C. Mahaffy left yesterday for Buckhorn on a hunting trip. As local police are proverbial as expert marksmen, the deer will doubtless be greatly decimated.

—Mr. Harry Neil of the Calcutt Brewing Co., has moved into the fine new residence he has built this summer just to the south of the brewery in Burnham street.

—Mr Harry Lockington, an old Peterborough hog, has recently returned from Haileybury and yesterday to a Times representative spoke in most enthusiastic terms of the prospects of New Ontario.

—Mayor Beat was a victim of blackguard vandals who taking the self-imposed license of Hallowe'en deliberately broke down a long stretch of his fence. Arrests will probably follow.

—Councillor Brown of Asphodel, visited residents on the Norwood road, just outside of the village limits on Saturday, and stated that the township would supply plank for a sidewalk in to the village, if the residents would pay for construction.—Hastings Star.

—Miss Cora Eastwood, a daughter of the popular proprietor of the Buckhorn Hotel, Mr. Tom Eastwood, passed through the city yesterday en route to Port Hope where she will visit her sister Mrs G. Brown. We regret to say that Mrs. Brown is very ill, but it is hoped by her many friends that a speedy convalescence will soon be in evidence.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

Breathe Hyomei and Get Relief and Cure. Sold Under Guarantee.

If you have catarrh, with offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, coughing, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, huskiness, discharge from the nose, tickling and dropping at the back of the throat, especially at night, coughing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

Its healing medication will give relief in a few days and its continued use will completely drive all catarrhal germs from the system.

Hyomei contains Nature's healing oils and balsams, the germ-killing properties of the pine forests, and goes with the air you breathe to the most remote cells of the respiratory organs, searching out and killing all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing any irritation there may be in the mucous membrance. It is easy and pleasant to use Hyomei, pleasanter than most of the stomach dosing, as its healing air is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, which can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, and carries medication to just the stop where relief is needed.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Further Opinions on Dr. Coughlin's Job

The Catholic Register says:

Interest concerning the appointment of a superintendent to the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville, has been settled by the selection of Dr. D. H. Coughlin, of Peterborough. The past record of Dr. Coughlin shows his fitness for the position. Though only in the prime of life, he has spent several years in the practice of medicine in Arthur, Wellington County, and in Peterborough, and he is also a member of the Provincial Board of Health. His constitutional alertness and adaptability of temperament, together with his well known professional skill, will readily find themselves at home in what is to him, but a new departure in an old line of work. The cause of those entrusted to his care is in good hands and the work of the institution will be in line with the always progressive character of the past career of the newly appointed superintendent.

Otonabee Farmer Kicked by Horse

A most regrettable circumstance was it evidence on Wednesday when Mr. W. Hanbridge, a young Otonabee farmer, was painfully injured by the kick of a horse. Mr. Hanbridge was at his uncle's threshing, and when the machine had stopped he went to inspect a young colt. The animal kicked him in the stomach, knocking him down. Two doctors from the city were at once summoned. Mr. Hanbridge yesterday was suffering much pain, and it is feared that he has been internally injured.

The injured man is a son of Mr. Robt Hanbridge, of Otonabee, and is well known in that township.

Don't forget the Roller Skating contest between Ladies for a handsome Gold Bracelet tonight.

Prizes at Roller Rink Tonight.

This evening it is expected that much excitement will be created at the Charlotte street roller rink. The progressive and successful executive of this rink, in addition to their recent successful carnival have decided to grant a valuable prize for the best lady skater on the floor tonight. This bracelet, seen by a Times representative yesterday, proved to be a genuine high class product of the jewellers' art, and is adorned with two superb amethysts at the catch. So valuable a prize will undoubtedly result in the many fair exponents of roller skating art contending. This will naturally result in a large crowd being present tonight.

Mr. Stabler's Team Runs Away.

Yesterday afternoon, at 4.10, a team belonging to Mr. Stabler, the well known local contractor, went west on Charlotte street at a gait that would make Lady Gothard and Harry Direct green with envy. The team was drawing a small load of lumber, and two inch planks were distributed along Charlotte street from the Snowden House to the corner of Park street, where the runaways were caught. The driver, an old man with a plentiful crop of "spinach" under and over his chin made a good "road race" apart from George street to Park after his missing steeds. Not much damage was done.

This evening a most interesting event at the Charlotte Street Roller Rink. Gold Bracelet for best Lady skater.

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain, sealed envelope, absolutely free. Address him at Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do not gripe. They effectually cleanse the system of accumulated impurities.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. Pierce, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address as above.

Christian Scientist Leader Is Ill

It now seems that the Christian Scientists, too many of whom get patients in their clutches, and hold on to them until death or possibly nature heals them, for the coin that's in it, have it is regrettable to say a leader, whose principles taught per "Science and Health," and other ads. of the society, are directly against any such possible contingency, is very sick. Mrs. Eddy, whose teachings, which, through the medium of printers' ink, have amassed a fortune for her running into tens of millions is, we regret to say now a broken down and very sick woman.

This is apropos of the recent condemnable and regrettably unpunishable disgrace to Canadian law and order, whereby a local "Christian Scientist" got hold of a sick man and held him confined to his house, or so much per—until the "patient" was dying.

Whilst regretting that so clever a lady should be so ill, and hoping that proper medical attendance may quickly cure her and do away with all such fakes as impersonation during her outings, as noted in the press of the continent, we trust this absolute refutation of the absurdities, by which human life is too often lost, by this order, may be relegated to the common ash heap of exploded absurdities of superstition and means of abstracting money from the befooled public.

Master G. Ahern Taken Home.

Master George Ahern, son of the well known local moulder employed by the Peterborough Lock Co., has been taken home from St. Joseph's hospital, to which place he was taken Wednesday by the Dan Spence ambulance. The cause of his involuntary trip to the hospital was the result of an arm broken in a Hallowe'en tussle over a mask. Young Ahern is doing as well as could be expected.

Is authorized to act as

Administrator, Executor, Trustee, Etc., Etc.

An eminent writer has said: "It is difficult, indeed, to see how any private individual would willingly accept the position of executor, unless it be the family solicitor, who makes his living out of such work. A man once an executor finds himself always a prisoner, because he is obliged to give much more time and attention to his trust work than to his own business, and the anxiety is unceasing. The danger of mistakes occurring owing to inexperience is considerable, the responsibilities are enormous, and the personal liability never ends. He may perform his duties conscientiously, but he will never be given any thanks for his trouble. On the other hand, he may find himself at loggerheads with the members of his family, and perhaps be involved in law suits and other worries. There is no more fruitful source of discord between relations and friends than is brought about over the administration of wills and trusts." Write for Manual.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS ARE NOT QUALIFIED

Highest Court in Empire Decides Separate School Teachers in Ontario Must Conform to Public School Standards.

London, Nov. 3.—The appeal of the Christian Brothers against the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal, declaring that they must secure a Public school teaching certificate to qualify them to teach in the Separate schools there, came up for decision yesterday. The Privy Council dismissed the appeal, but without costs.

The decision of the pPriyy Council confirms the decision handed out by Mr. Justice MacMahon, in July, 1904, in the case of Grattan v. Separate School Board of Ottawa, which was brought to decide whether Christian Brothers, who were qualified to teach in Quebec, but who had not Public school teaching certificates, could also teach in Ontario. It was claimed that under Subsection 1 of Section 93 of the British North America Act they were entitled to do so.

In order to have such an important point settled by the highest tribunal in the Empire, the Education Department took it up, and a stated case was carefully prepared, and presented to the Court of Appeal, although it was in reality an appeal by the Christian Brotherhood. The Court of Appeal sustained Judge MacMahon's decision.

Until the text of th ejudgment is to hand the officials of the Minister do no' care about expressing an opinion, but it is likely that the decision will affect all teachers without the technical qualifications required by the Department, including unqualified teachers in Protestant schools, as well as Roman Catholic.

Inquiry at the Board of Education showed that in the three Catholic inspectorates into which the Province is divided, the decision would affect between 350 and 375 unqualified teachers in Separate schools, most of whom belong to Roman Catholic brotherhoods and sisterhoods.

There are only three Protestant Separate schools in the Province, with 319 pupils. All the teachers are qualified.

BATTLE WITH BURGLARS

Three Men Fatally Shot and Another One Injured.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 2.—A special to the Spokesman Review from Prosser, Wash., says:

There was a desperate battle near Kennewick yesterday between officers and burglars who robbed two stores in that town Tuesday night.

The officers were led by Sheroff A. G. McNeil of Prosser, who came on the robbers unawares in the bush. They were five or six in number and once commenced firing. Marshall Michael Glover of Kennewick, was instantly killed, and Joseph Talley, his deputy, was fatally wounded. Sheriff McNeil was shot twice, but not dangerously. After being shot, the sheriff emptied his gun at the robbers, killing one and finally capturing another.

The gang of burglars is thought to have had a rendezvous at Kennewick for the purpose of holding up a Northern Pacific train. The captured robber says he is Robert Layton, aged 16 years. He revealed the identity of the dead desperado as Jacoo Lake, recently a convict in the penitentiary at Walla Walla. Lyyton says his home was formerly in Florence, Colo.

Young Mens' Club of George St. Church

At the meeting held in George St. church, the Young Men's Club, as predicted by The Times was formed.

The following officers were elected:

Hon.-Pres.—Rev. Dr. Crothers.

Pres.—Geo. Robertson.

First Vice-Pres.—Dr. Middleton.

Second Vice-Pres.—G. N. Gordon.

Third Vice-Pres.—Hubert McBain.

Secretary—A. R. Mann.

Treasurer—Harry Cressman.

Rev. Dr. Crothers acted as chairman.

The officers of the club with the addition of Messrs. Van Norman and Hetherington were appointed a committee to make arrangements for securing club rooms down town. These will be open all the time, and will be fitted up with reading and writing rooms, etc.

The new organization will hold meetings fortnightly when literary and debating work will be taken up. The club starts with a good membership.

The committee to arrange for club rooms will meet next Tuesday night.

ILL-MATED PAIRS

Marriage Censorship Being Considered by an Association.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Wedding bells will ring only for those happy young persons who succeed in passing a State inspection test if the ideas of the American Stock Breeders Association are carried out. The association has turned for the moment from the consideration of cattle, sheep, and hogs, to the culture of humans, and it will be the ultimate business of the Committee of Eugenics, just appointed, to keep an eye out for ill-mated pairs. A marriage censorship may result if the inspection idea proves practicable.

Mr. W. Fitzgerald Was Called on

On Thursday, Messrs. Alf. W. J. Johnston and Kirk A. McIntyre went to Buffalo. There they called on Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald, an old Peterborough boy, who has been in the States for the past thirteen years. Mr. Fitzgerald is an uncle of E. A. Fitzgerald, and is a leading contractor. Mr. Fitzgerald was delighted to see the two aldermen from his old town, and made enquiries after many of his old friends, and asked to be remembered to them.

A Melbourne cablegram says the Commonwealth electoral campaign is waxing hotter, owing to the fact that Orange institutions are running separate sectarian candidates against the three orthodox parties, and in consequence of the repudiation by the Anti-Socialist candidates of Victoria of both Mr. Reid's and Premier Deakin's leadership.

Mr. Elliott's Salary Further Discussed

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—In the Review of Thursday I see a letter written by a "Sore head," and not altogether probably disappointed applicant for the office of county clerk and treasurer, now so ably held by Mr. E.M. Elliott. The writer takes nearly a column to hurl vituperation at the present personnel of the county council and to raise objection because the salary paid Mr. Elliott for his combined offices is raised to a sum compatible with the work and responsibility entailed by such offices.

The writer grieves over the fact that "No motion has been published appointing an assistant" for Mr. Elliott. Why should such a motion be either published or passed seeing that Mr. Elliott out of his alleged exorbitant salary pays his own assistant. Could the Review's correspondent get a man capable of filling Mr. Elliott's position, who would at less than Mr. Elliott's present pay, pay an assistant out of his own pocket? Does not the writer know that living expenses are very much heavier than at the time Mr. Elliott was appointed? It seems to me that to put a family into position of trust and responsibility, involving hard work and close application, without paying him a decent salary is mighty poor policy. As far as the writer's attacks upon the county councillors, they are quite able to defend themselves and are too well known to require any defence.

Yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.

Jule Keen's Sad End.

New York, Nov. 2.—Jule Keen, who had been treasurer for the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show during its career of twenty years, died yesterday at the Ashland House under peculiarly pathetic circumstances. He arrived from Europe a few days ago, to find his wife in a dying condition. His own health, which had been poor for several years, broke down completely. Mrs. Keene died last Monday and her husband sank steadily until the end came yesterday. Mr. Keen was born in New York in 1846.

W. J. BYRAN COMES OUT FOR HEARST

Says He Wants His Friends to Vote for Democrat Nominee Who Should Win.

New York, Nov. 3.—Bird S. Coler, Borough president of Brooklyn, yesterday made public a portion of a letter he had received from William J. Bryan endorsing the candidacy of William R. Hearst for Governor of New York. In the letter Mr. Bryan says: "I am very anxious to see Hearst elected, and would have come to New York to help him if I thought an outside speaker would have been of assistance. From indications, however, he is going to win, as he ought to. If I have any friends there I want them to vote for him."

Mr. Coler's secretary said the letter was dated at Madison, Ill., and was received on October 31, and that Mr. Coler had telegraphed Mr. Bryan, and secured his authority to make public a portion of it. The remainder of the letter was of a personal nature.

Mr. Coler said:

"Mr. Bryan's letter should be enough for all Democrats in this State. As for Independents, I cannot imagine they are going to take the advice of the piratical leaders of the old predatory political system. They will, I think, before voting, ask themselves why it is that every leading beneficiary of what was known as 'commercialism in politics' is now bitterly and hysterically hostile to Mr. Hearst. Some of Mr. Hearst's newspaper opponents must think the American public has lost its sense of humor when they solemnly quote statements of Croker and McCarren, those ideal reformers.

"Mr. Root's speech last night, will, I think, help Mr. Hearst.

ALL THE VOTES CHANGED.

New York, Nov. 3.—Mayor George B. McClellan was asked last night for his opinion of the interview given by Richard Croker in opposition to Mr. Hearst.

"What can I say except to approve it?" asked the Mayor.

"Will it have any effect in changing votes?" he was asked.

"All the votes have been changed," the Mayor responded. "I think it a very good telegram."

Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany Hall leader, in an interview said he believed that whether President Roosevelt's sentiments, as expressed through Secretary Root at Utica last night, nor Richard Croker's endorsement of Senator McCarren's stand, would affect the general result of the election. "The people's minds are made up," said Mr. Murphy. "They will vote for Mr. Hearst."

Mr. Nixon is in Charge of Hotel

Mr. Chas. R. Nixon has taken possession of his most recent venture, the Southern Hotel, so successfully managed for the past few years by Mr. A. Dunn. Mr. Nixon is a hotel man of long experience and knows his business from the ground up. As noted in a former issue of The Times, large alterations and additions are being made in and to the present premises. Mr. Nixon has painted, papered and decorated the building throughout. To the north an excavation has already been made 20x6 feet for a new wing for the hotel, and back of this will be a large kitchen. On the hotel register appear the names of many of the new proprietor's friends from Lindsay, Orillia, Toronto and other other points. Mr. Nixon is installing a new steam heating plant to heat the whole premises. By the time the improvements now in progress are completed the Southern Hotel will be one of the best in this city. Mr. Nixon has engaged the services of Messrs. J. W. Ball of Toronto, and Mr. D. Johnston, as wine clerks; both of these gentlemen are well known in the city.

An Ideal All-Around Newspaper

Probably no other newspaper in the United States can show an brilliant an array of special features suited to the tastes and needs of every member of the family as The Chicago Record-Herald. Its regular daily and Sunday features include the letters of William E. Curtis and Walter Wellman, besides the special dispatches from the great centers. Next in importance comes The Record Herald's unparalleled foreign news service, embracing its own special cables and those of the New York Herald, World, Journal of Commerce and Associated Press. Its pages devoted to commercial and financial news of all kinds are unsurpassed in scope and accuracy. Among other noteworthy features are its popular sporting page, its sound editorials, Kiser's humorous "Alternating Currents," the lively "Stories of the Street and Town," the railroad and insurance columns, music and drama, society and clubs, daily reviews of the latest books, the continued story, the "Woman Beautiful" department, the daily fashion article, "Meals for a Day," news of the lakes, etc., besides a complete array of local and domestic news—all uniting to give the people of Chicago and the Northwest a complete and interesting all-around newspaper.

The Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald is an artistic and literary triumph. Famous authors and illustrators, fine paper and press-work, combine to make it the rival of the great independent periodicals and a distinct departure in Sunday journalism.

A Surplus in Ontario Finances

Will Be Shown Again This Year—Increased Revenue in Departments.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The total succession duties paid in to the Treasury Department for the month of October, including the check of $519,676.43 from the Gooderham estate, amounted to $561,979.13. Up to October 31st this year the total is $900,096.93 as against $684,178.36 for the whole of last year. Outside of the Gooderham check there was an increase for the month over 1905 of $2,520.06.

It is highly probable that the budget this year will show a substantial surplus, as the receipts of every department of the government have shown increases which will amount in all to a very considerable sum.

WOMAN EATEN BY WOLVES

Bones and Clothing Tell Tragic Tale of Death.

Ottawa, November 4.—Dr. Emily Chambers, sister of Prof. Hewitt of Wisconsin, for whose body the brother has searched the frozen north two years, was devoured by wolves. Details to hand announce that the brother has found a skull, a rib and a piece of femur and bits of clothing, by which identification was made possible.

Dr. Chambers went to Dawson in 1900 to gather material to write a book. She disappeared and was never heard of until the Dominion Mounted Police three years ago, in the far north, discovered her dairy, in which was the address of Prof. Hewitt. He was notified and after a two years' search has made the gruesome discovery announced. He is now on his way from Vancouver to Dawson, with all that remains of his sister.

JILTED AT ALTAR

French-Canadian Protestant Girl Deserted at Last Moment.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Ottawa East fair circles were agitated yesterday by the jilting of one of the young ladies of the village, who was gowned and waiting to meet her lover at the altar in Holy Trinity church at two o'clock. The rector was also ready, but a previous inkling that the groom would not appear prevented a scene in the church.

The groom-who-was-to-be worked in the car shops, and it is said that he removed his tools and probably left for parts unknown Tuesday night.

The bride is a pretty French-Canadian Protestant, and is seriously upset by the despicable trick played her.

HARD TO SEE

Even When the Facts About Coffee Are Plain.

It is curious how people will refuse to believe what one can clearly see.

Tell the average man or woman that the slow but cumulative poisonous effect of caffeine—the alkaloid in tea and coffee—tends to weaken the heart, upset the nervous system and cause indigestion, and they may laugh at you if they don't know the facts.

Prove it by science or by practical demonstration in the recovery of coffee drinkers from the above conditions, and a large per cent. of the human family will shrug their shoulders, take some drugs and—keep on drinking coffee or tea.

"Coffee never agreed with me nor with several members of our household," writes a lady. "It nervertea, depresses and creates a feeling of languor and heaviness. It was only by leaving off coffee and using Postum that we discovered the cause and cure of these ills.

"The only reason I am sure why Postum is not used altogether to the exclusion of the ordinary coffee is, many persons do not know and do not seem willing to learn the facts and how to prepare this nutritious beverage. There's only one way—according to directions—boil it fully 15 minutes. Then it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Prisoner's Friend Has Been Arrested

Man Who Was Supposed to be Intimidating Witnesses in Murder Case is Now in Custody.

Morden, Man., Nov. 2 — The Doyle murder trial, which promises to be the most sensational ever heard in the West, opened here yesterday. Doyle an American, is charged with killing Vincent Weller, also an American, at Snowflake, Man., on November 20 last. The body was not found until this spring.

The startling feature of the day was the arrest of Charles Foley, Killarney, at the close of the proceedings. He is accused of intimidating witnesses from North Dakota, who are here. Foley is an old chum of Doyle.

The line of argument to be taken by the defence, as revealed yesterday is most unexpected. The defence evidently intends to try and prove that it was not Weller's body which was found, but that of an unknown man, found near Morris, Man., about a week before the body supposed to be that of Weller was found, and which mysteriously disappeared. The claim is, it was dressed up as Weller to secure the reward money. It is said that the defence will try to prove that Weller has been seen since November 20 in the North-West.

A meeting of the City Rugby League was held Thursday night to consider the protest of the C. G. E. team against the decision of the officials to awarding last Saturday's game to the Quakers, on the ground that the latter part of the game was played in darkness. After a long discussion it was decided to throw out the match in question, and as a result the City League is in the same position as it was before the season opened—neither team having a win or loss. To bring the season to a close it was decided to have the C.G.E. and Bankers play today and to have the Quakers meet the winners for the city championship. The last match will likely be played a week from today.

"BABES ARE STRANDED"

Babes in Toyland Company Disbanding in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Nov. 3.—"The Babes in Toyland" Company is in financial difficulties here. The two cars of scenery were attached by A. J. Small for money advanced to bring the company from Detroit to Chatham and Hamilton, and the Canadian Transfer Company is holding the trunks and small baggage for unpaid charges. The company was to have played Lockport tonight, but will be disbanded here. Thirty-five people are stranded, most of the chorus girls being penniless. E. A. Root, the manager, has wired for money to send the people to New York. Mike Vanasi, of New York, backed the show, which started out with 35 people.

BRIDANT CASE DELAY

Illness of Mrs. and Miss Villiers Will Probably Necessitate a Postponement.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—It is understood the celebrated Bridant-Miller case, where Mrs. Miller, an alleged representative of the Dr. De Vore Medical Company, of New York, is with Mr. Bridant, husband of the late Mrs. Agnes Bridant, who died from drugs she is said to have bought from Mrs. Miller, charged with murder, will not be heard at the session of the county criminal court, which opens on Monday. The reason of the delay is said to be due to the illness of material witnesses, Mrs. Villiers, mother of Mrs. Agnes Bridant, and the sister of the deceased, at their home in Kingston.

TRIAL ON TUESDAY

Case Against Mr. McGill and Mr. Cockburn Will Proceed Then.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The case against Chas. McGill, late manager of the Ontario Bank, and Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, president, was called in the police court yesterday morning, but was remanded till next Tuesday, November 6th. The sureties were all present and readily agreed to the renewal of the bail.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, counsel for Mr. McGill, asked that he be allowed to see the statements prepared by the accountant as to the state of the affairs of the bank, and it was agreed that this should be granted.

PUT UNION FUNDS BEYOND REACH,

Liberal Government Said to Submit to the Dictation of the Laborites

EASY ON SUFFRAGETTES

They Were Treated Very Rigorously in Jail, but Government Makes Thier Lot Easier.

London, Nov. 3.—The resumption in the House of Commons yesterday of the debate on the Trades Disputes Bill, including the amendment of October 29, to clause 4, placing union funds beyond the reach of attack, led to some lively scenes.

Members of the Opposition in their speeches twitted the Ministers with surrendering to the Labor party. Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, retorted that the question at issue was not one of principle but of methods. He said he saw nothing dishonorable or unworthy in deferring to the feelings of those most interested in the matter, and that it was a question of expediency, in which the associations of employers and employed were put on the same level.

WHY EXCLUDE IRELAND?

There subsequently were further heated scenes on the motion made by a member of the Opposition to omit Ireland from the operations of the Act. In moving this motion, Viscount Castlereagh, Conservative, contended it would give absolute immunity to boycotting. Samuel Henry Butcher, Conservative, seconded the motion on the same ground.

The Irish members then reproached Mr. Butcher for slandering his own country, and for unworthily taking up false reports which had been dead for twenty-five years. John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party, said he could conceive of no more unworthy or disgraceful scandal than to come into Parliament when Ireland was in a state of profound peace and suggest that it was unsafe to give Ireland the same rights as England. This was evidently to be the plan of campaign in view of next year's legislation for Ireland.

After further heated discussions, in which the Speaker ignored appeals to call Mr Redmond to order, Sir John Lawson Walton, Liberal, explained that the agricultural associations of Ireland did not come within the legal meaning of a trade union. Count Castlereagh, on the advice of his supporters, then wanted to withdraw the motion, but the Nationalists insisted upon a division, and the motion was rejected, 282 to 35.

The recent action of the Home Secretary in softening the punishment of the female suffragists for disorderly behavior in the precincts of the House by treating them as "first-class misdemeanants" was very generally attributed to his humanitarian views. Doubtless Mr. Gladstone was not undesirous that the idea should find currency in the House, but the public statement by Mr. Keir Hardie, independent Labor leader, tends to throw another aspect on Mr. Gladstone's action. Mr. Keir Hardie now declares that unless the suffragists' punishment had been reduced the Laborites intended to move an adjournment of the House. The Government climbed down at the eleventh hour. It is said the women were searched, provided with plank beds, coarse prison diet, and not allowed to correspond with their friends. One was a daughter of Cobden and others were of gentle birth.

PROTECT EMIGRANTS

British Government Will Introduce the Desired Legislation at This Session.

London, Nov. 3.—As a result of representations made to the Colonial Office by Mr. Mackenzie King, the Government has decided to introduce the desired emigration legislation at the present session. The difficulty of introducing the new bill at this late period of the session the Government has taken advantage of the merchants' shipping bill now before the House. By an amendment to this bill, Mr. Lloyd-George will propose the following amendment, "If any person, by any false representations, fraud or false pretense, induces or attempts to induce any person to emigrate or to engage steerage passage to any ship he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding £50, or imprisonment with or without hard labor, for a period of three months." Mr. King speaking to the Canadian Press Association representative, said that he found Lord Elgin most desirous of meeting the wishes of the Canadian Government. Lord Elgin himself drafted the forementioned amendment.

THE SCOURGE OF CONSUMPTION

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired, Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late.

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

SMILE!

Have you tried smiling? It is the latest remedy for all the ills of the flesh and the spirit, and it is cheap. All that is necessary to do is to try the new "smile cure" which, we are informed, the London doctors are recommending, is to lift the corners of the mouth slightly by means of the facial muscles, expanding the lips and showing the teeth. Practice this before the looking-glass night and morning until the smile has worn in, and the beneficial results will be forthcoming, it is asserted. There is no state of affairs so discouraging that it can't be bettered by smiling over it, and there is no joy in life so joyous that it will not spread a little wider over the surface of the globe with the coaxing of a smile.

THE BONES OF PETER

Certainly one of the most interesting and important news items that has appeared in the public prints for a long time is the reliable statement coming from Rome, that an effort is being made to induce Pope Pius X. to permit the opening of the tomb of Saint Peter.

The agitation appears to have been brought about by a petitioner to the pope, who addressed himself to the head of the Roman church through a series of letters which he signed anonymously as "Marcellus." These letters do not appear to have been anything but highly respectful, their purpose being solely to induce the pope to take the action requested on the ground that historical truth and the cause of archaeological research would thus be valuably subserved.

The dispatches state that the world will wait with deep concern what reply Pius will make to the request. This we may well believe. A great deal is to be gained if the pope acquiesces, and nothing would be lost, for, if the bones of Peter shall not be found in the tomb, it will shake no essential belief that any Christian entertains, whether he be Catholic or Protestant. If Peter be not found in his tomb, it may at least prove the theory, that the tomb was at one time desecrated, and that the bones of him to whom Christ "gave the keys of heaven" are no longer where they were supposed to be.

There has been so much controversy over the ...stity of Peter, both alive and dead, that any new light that can be thrown on him will be welcomed by an age that is eager for the truth. He was, according to the gospels and tradition, as well as in the belief of biblical scholars, the chief of the apostles, and the man upon whom Jesus placed His greatest reliance during His career on this earth. Laying aside all religious sentiment, there is scarcely a character in all history more interesting than the fisherman of Capernaum.

But there are those who vehemently deny that Peter ever saw Rome, much less that he died there or that his remains were ever at any time brought there for interment. And, now, even if the tomb in which his bones are claimed to rest should be opened, little or no proof of these contentions might result. Yet one can see how greatly the whole world would be interested in the step. There's no telling what might be learned.

As time progresses, the cause of religion—or a belief in God—and of reverence for the Christ, does not suffer. It is gaining every day. Critical science, that habituated itself a hundred years ago, and even a generation ago, to scoff at the idea of a Supreme Being, has totally changed its demeanor and now admits a recognition of an indefinite Power who created the earth upon which we live and have our being.

We are trekking to a firmer belief in God and His Son and His Apostles. Therefore, it is more than likely that so liberal and so truly great a man as Pius X. may not be adverse to opening the tomb of Peter, if the purpose be to settle the truth of history.

Resisted Taking of Finger Prints

Murderer Long Sought by Scotland Yard Discovered by Accident.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A curious result of the recent adoption by the United States army of the system of identification by finger prints has just been reported to the War Department in the discovery in the person of a soldier at Fort Leavenworth of a British murderer for whom the Scotland Yard authorities have long been looking. The man was a prisoner in the United States Penitentiary, serving a five-year sentence for a military crime. In prison he was well behaved and liked, but when the warden, following the general order to take the finger print records of all soldiers, attempted to secure an impression of this man's digits

VIOLENT RESISTANCE

He met with violent resistance, and was knocked down and roughly handled. Suspecting that this resistance was based upon the man's previous knowledge of the use to which these finger prints might be put, and that his record was bad, the warden sent copies of the prints to the police authorities in a number of cities. Within a comparatively short time Scotland Yard reported that the man had committed an atrocious murder in Notts, and that he had been sentenced to life imprisonment, and had escaped to America.

November Canadian Magazine

There are a number of readable contributions in the November Canadian Magazine. E. L. Howe's profusely illustrated article on "Athens—Ancient and Modern," indicates that this publication has a wide outlook. "In the Haunts of the Bald," by Beaugeastle Dale, is a study which will delight the students of nature. To photograph this bird and its nest must have been a work of patience as well as love, for there is nothing more shy than the rail bird in the whole bird world. "The Port of Western Canada" is the title of an illustrated sketch of Fort William, where much of the wheat pouring out of the West is transhipped to lake-carriers. "The Linking of Montreal and Toronto" recalls the opening of the first railway between the two cities just fifty years ago. A full-page illustration shows a characteristic scene in the Toronto railway station of 1857. Among the stories, that entitled "The Last Turn of the Screws," by Andrew C. Smith, will attract some attention. It is an attempt to picture the tragic circumstances in which a small merchant finds himself when he comes face to face with the competition of some of the large corporations, which are reaching out their long arms into every branch of the trade. "A Western Harvest," by Myra J. Wilson, is a prize essay written by a pupil of a western high school, in a competition inaugurated by this publication. A News Section writer recalls the career of Benjamin Franklin and throws some new light on certain phases of his career. A. F. B. Clark has a readable analysis of "Student Life" at a Canadian University. From this recital, the reader will glean that the summer is by no means weak in its appeal.

Murderer Hanged by Armed Mob.

Memphis, Tenn., November 1.—George Estes, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Sneely, and wounded Constable John Powers, when the officers, at Wales Point, Tenn., raided a crap game in which the negro was participating, was taken from a sheriff's posse by an armed mob at that place last night and hanged.

Catarrh of the Kidneys Not Always Recognized.

A Cold Settled in Kidneys, Causing Serious Trouble. Pe-ru-na Restores Health.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA FOR KIDNEY DISEASE.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F., and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna.

MR. ISAAC ROSENZVEIG.

Mr. Isaac Rosenzveig, 9 Dumarais street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"About three years ago, I suffered with a bad cold. It settled in the bladder and kidneys, causing serious trouble.

"I tried several advertised remedies, but it was Peruna which finally cured me, and I had taken only a few bottles.

"I feel that it saved me, and it certainly restored me to such perfect health as I had not known in years.

"I have good reason to give your remedy my highest endorsement."

"I soon found I was getting better and continued taking it for four months. It cleaned out the system leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

KINGSTON WOULD LIKE AN EXPLANATION

Why Was Normal School Promised and Not Given—Queen's Thinks a Blunder Was Made.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—The attitude of the Queen's University Journal towards the action of the Whitney Administration in deliberately disregarding Kingston's valid claim to one of the new Normal schools is indicated by the following editorial comment: "That Kingston was not chosen as the seat of one of the new Normal schools must be a matter for regret to those interested in the educational affairs of the Province. We are looking at the question quite apart from the benefit which Queen's might derive from the establishment in its neighborhood of a school for the training of teachers. The university can exist without the Normal school. It can continue its work for the life of Canada, if the prospective teachers do not, as was pictured in the fond dreams of those who did not consider the demands made upon governments, pass from the walls of their own institutions to the broadening influence of university life. The thought will not down, however, that it was an egregious blunder not to place a Normal school in Kingston, where the students, with great advantage to themselves, could have come occasionally at least in touch with the thought and atmosphere which characterizes an institution for higher education.

"The disappointment is heightened by the fact that the school should have been promised to Kingston and then suddenly and without any explanation have been given to another place. An explanation would doubtless be intensely interesting."

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope, but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

Alicia's Home Coming

By Cecilia A. Loiseaux

Copyright, 1908, by Ruby Douglas

"It isn't even as if you needed to do this, Alicia." Bob Kendal held his voice to a cool, argumentative, tone that made the girl before him still more indignant.

"Who are you that you should decide whether I need to do anything at all?" she blazed indignantly.

"I am your fiance, and"— he was beginning when she interrupted him.

"If that is your excuse for such unjust interference with my wishes, I can at least relieve you of your duty." And she placed her engagement ring on the table between them. The young man glanced at it without seeming to see it. Then he looked sharply at the angry girl who was drawn to her full height.

"Alicia," he said gently, "you are too angry to realize what you are doing. Put the ring on your finger again. You don't mean this."

"Pardon me, I do mean it," said the girl icily.

The young man's face whitened, and a hurt look sprang into his steady brown eyes. Then he straightened up and squared his shoulders and set his strong chin firmly. When he spoke there was a note of hardness in his voice which the girl had never heard from him before and from which she shrank mentally.

"Alicia, do you realise what you are doing? We were to be married in May. Your trousseau is begun, I know. And you've given me every reason to believe you cared for me as much as I do for you. And now, because I ask you to do this one thing—for your sake as well as mine—you are going to give all this up!"

The girl turned suddenly and went to the window, where she stood looking out into the dripping garden. She felt her lips quivering, and she must not let Bob see.

Bob looked at the crown of dark red hair against the deep green of the window draperies, and his voice softened.

"This is all I've ever asked of you, Alicia. I've been too confident of your love for me after you confessed it; I've believed in you too utterly ever to be jealous of your flirtations, as many another man would have been—and rightly too. I've submitted cheerfully to being 'trailed' in public because it was you who did the 'trailing.'"

Alicia turned and faced him again, her foot tapping the floor impatiently.

"Is the list of your virtues a long one, sir?" she asked.

"I shall not name them all," he answered calmly. "The only thing I've ever insisted upon your doing is this one we're talking about. Give up this silly concert tour. I've never said a word when you've sung for sweet charity's sake or for any society affair, even when the publicity of the events has often made me writhe. This time you haven't any real reason. You are not in need of money, and you're not doing it for charity. It isn't even the necessary ambition of the professional to win a higher place for herself. You will get flattery from the critics who do not think it worth the effort to spend real criticism on society amateurs. If they should criticise you honestly—the way they do professionals, to whom it means bread and butter—you'd see the point I'm trying to make. I appreciate the charm of you and your voice as no one else who looks and listens to you possibly can, and, Alicia Fairall, I don't want to see you 'damned with faint praise' or humiliated by any conscientious critic. Can't you see that"—

"When you are quite through," interrupted Alicia, "you can doubtless find your way out. I must ask you to excuse me." And she swept from the room, pausing once in the curtained doorway as if to speak.

Unconsciously she assumed a theatrical attitude. Her face was turned back over her shoulder, and her lips were parted a little. With her glowing head and her soft green dress between the heavier green of the curtains she looked like a tall, beautiful dahlia, and Bob involuntarily started forward. But she closed her lips to a thin red line and went on dropping the curtains behind her. Presently he heard the tapping of her slippers upon the stairs and then the bang of a door.

He did not leave the house at once, but stood at the window where Alicia had stood and looked out into the gray twilight. It was early spring. As he looked wearily at the sparrows on the soaked lawn Bob felt his throat tighten and brushed his hand across his eyes.

"She couldn't mean it," he muttered as he turned and picked up the emerald ring and slipped it into his vest pocket. "It is too close to May for her to mean that." Then he sought for paper and pen and set down at the table. He wrote:

Dear, if I have been too harsh forgive me. I have said too strongly, perhaps, what I believe to be true, and all I want is to spare both of us the pain any failure of yours would be sure to cause. Think it over well, dear, before you decide. What I came to tell you today is that our house is all done. The last workman has left. I am inclosing a key—there are only two—and I beg you will go there and think it all over at least once before you decide finally.

He inclosed the key and on his way out handed the envelope to the butler to "be taken up to Miss Alicia."

As for Alicia, she had gone straight to her desk and had written the following note:

My Dear Mr. Courtenay—I have decided, as I promised I would by today, about the concert tour. You may depend upon me for your soprano. And as I have been the only one to object to the longer trip you planned I withdraw my objections to that also. Under your management I feel sure we shall be successful. Sincerely, ALICIA LEE FAIRALL.

When she had heard the closing of the outer door she gave the note to the butler and took from him the envelope Bob had left. With it in her hand she went slowly upstairs and sat down before her grate fire. She felt her anger melting away, and by the ache in her throat knew that tears were not far off. She tore open the envelope, hoping to find some stimulus to her indignation, but at the gentleness of the words and the sight of the key to the home she and Bob had so eagerly, carefully planned the tears came with a rush, and, burying her face in the arm of her easy chair, she cried herself to sleep.

Press notices of "a concert to be given in the near future by the best amateur talent the city afforded" began to be frequent during the next few weeks. Then came the programme and pictures of the principals. Alicia was oftenest mentioned, and one Sunday paper contained her picture, a theatrically posed, full length affair, with her head over one shoulder and her lips as if speaking. Bob's heart sank and turned sick. She did mean it, then.

As the time drew near he thought he would go to the concert, and when the night finally came he dressed early and fidgeted miserably till time to start. Then, suddenly changing his mind, he had himself driven to the door of the little new home he and Alicia had planned together. Bob let himself into the house with his key, which he always carried, and walked through the empty, desolate rooms, which by now should have been furnished and ready for the bride's home coming. He passed clear through the house, drawing the shades and lighting all the chandeliers till every room was blazing with light. Then he turned them all out and lit a blazing fire in the dining room grate, and, sitting down on the hearth rug built into the niche by the fireplace, he closed his eyes and deliberately conjured up the presence of Alicia.

He was almost asleep when he heard the front door open and close and the click of high heeled slippers on the bare floors, accompanied by the unmistakable swish of a woman's silken skirts. Then he heard a match scratched and an impatient exclamation as something was dropped. Then, with his heart pounding violently, he laid his head back against the settee and feigned sleep.

He heard the steps come to the dining room door, heard Alicia's voice say "Oh!" in frightened, breathless surprise, felt his heart beat almost to suffocation, and then he heard the steps recede with a rush to the hall and the front door open. He was about to call to her when he heard her say to some one on the porch:

"Tell Mr. Courtenay I am sick or dead or buried—anything you like only that I shall not sing tonight." Then the door closed again and Bob immediately went to sleep. It seemed to be a very sound sleep, for he did not open his eyes, though Alicia coughed three times. But when she could stand it no longer and shook his shoulder he woke up with a most excellent look of surprise on his face.

"Is it too late?" she asked breathlessly.

Looking at her as if dazed, he pulled out his watch.

"Oh, I don't mean for the concert! I mean"— but Alicia could get no further, and, dropping to her knees beside the settee, she leaned her head against his arm and cried.

"I guess it isn't too late for a wedding," said Bob, "but we'll have to hurry."

Sixteen Victims Laid to Rest.

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 50,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

150 tons of ore at $12.00 per ton	$1,800.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $2.00 per ton	300.00
Net daily production	$1,500.00
Net monthly production	$45,000.00

The Officers and Directors of the Company are men of high standing in Chicago, who have had extended experience in mining.

Bank and other references furnished.

Send orders for stock at once. The shares offered at Five Cents will be quickly taken. The next offering will be at a higher price.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $40,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 3½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

PALE, TIRED WOMEN

Regain Strength and Freshen Quickly With Ferrozone.

Nothing is more certain than the direct action Ferrozone exerts in female complaints.

It is the best medicine for restoring virility and strength.

By instilling new life into the blood, every organ in the body is better nourished, and in consequences takes on strength.

Ferrozone's record is marvellous.

It makes you feel strong and sturdy. Nourishes the weak, rebuilds and restores those in search of better health. For girls and women, both old and young, Ferrozone can work wonders, as it did for Mrs. Mary Melong, of Harbor Bouche, N.S., who writes:

"Ferrozone built me up.

"Before using it I scarcely knew what good health meant.

"I was just as miserable and weak as any woman could be.

"Tired from morning to night, bothered by trifles, unceasingly nervous.

"The first box of Ferrozone improved my blood, gave me appetite. In a short time I was like a new person. Now I rejoice in abundant good health."

Try Ferrozone. It will make an unexpected improvement in your looks, your feeling, your health.

Whether anaemic, nervous or suffering from secret disorders—if you want cure, use Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

Palace Pool Room Opens Today

This morning the splendid new establishment, recently acquired by Mr M. Pappas, and formerly occupied by the Palace Hotel, opens for business, as per adv. in other columns of this issue.

Mr Pappas, at 344 George street, has one of the best furnished and most up-to-date places in Ontario. As one enters the door to the right, one sees the latest kind of "silent salesman" fitted with the choicest brand of cigars, pipes, &c. In the cigar department, the fixtures are of quartered oak with mirrors displayed everywhere.

To the left are three solid leather upholstered chairs, with plate glass sleeve protectors. There are three individual wash basins, augmented by a modern system of compressed air for patrons being shaved. The fixtures of the barber shop are, beyond compare, the finest in the city. Grecian pillars, of quartered oak, at each end of a long series of plate glass mirrors, support a handsome framework of oak. Mr. W. G. Rundle, an old and efficient Peterborough barber will have charge of the barber shop.

To the rear are many absolutely new, and up-to-date pool tables, separated from the front entrance by a handsome oak partition.

Taken as a whole Mr. Pappas' new establishment is one of the most complete and elaborately furnished in the Dominion.

Mr Pappas whilst a comparitively new comer in the city has made many friends and will doubtless do a large business in his new stand.

Mr. Ostrom Quits Monarch Ins. Co.

Those of our present citizens who personally remember Mr. M. T. Ostrom, better known as "Marsh," and who has retired from the office of president of the Monarch Life Assurance Co., will remember the standing that Mr. Ostrom had in the financial and commercial circles of this city. His old acquaintances will well remember the standing that Mr. Ostrom had here and the amount to which they would, on request, have "gone on" his notes. Mr. Ostrom's past career in this city is too well known to those who knew him to require comment.

It will be of interest to those, knowing his past success in forming the Monarch Life Co., to note that Mr. Ostrom who has returned from Winnipeg, confirms the statement of a recent despatch from that city, that he has retired from the presidency of the Monarch Life Assurance Company.

Had Mr Ostrom retained the responsible position he held with this company there is no doubt but what the shareholders would have, sooner or later known his individual worth. Mr. Ostrom now intends to devote his time towards forwarding the interests of the Monarch Bank. If he devotes his valuable time towards promoting this bank the shareholders will certainly learn Mr. Ostrom's worth before many years.

$60 Stolen From Dom. Express Co.

Yesterday the local police force, from the chief down were busy investigating a robbery alleged to have taken place on Thursday, from the Dominion Express Co.

It seems that a package came from Toronto and was taken by the driver, Mr. Sanderson, to the office on Hunter street.

The envelope was a blue one with the company's name upon it and marked C.O.D. It was placed upon the counter in the office by Mr. Sanderson, who obtained a receipt from Mr. Chas. Gray, a clerk.

After attending to some other business Mr. Gray went to get the money package to place it in the safe, but it had disappeared. A search was made but no trace of the lost money could be found.

The express company's office it appears has been robbed before. The other day Mr. Sanderson left money amounting to $9.14 in a drawer to the rear of the public office. On returning to get it the envelope, money and all was gone.

The robbery of Thursday, was referred to the police, but as yet no arrests have been made.

Co. S.'s Banquet a Success.

The dinner given by Company S of the 57th Regt. was a huge success. Lieut F. A. Clarke of that company filled the chair with honor to himself and the regiment. Among those seated at the head table were: Lieut. Col. Miller, Major L. M. Hayes and Captain V. Eastwood. On his left were Lieut.-Col. Halliday, Rev. Canon Davidson, chaplain of the Regiment and Lieut. (Dr.) Neal.

The first toast proposed was that of "The King" which was loyally honored.

Other toasts proposed were the 57th Regt. by Rev. Canon Davidson, the Army and Navy by Lieut.-Col. Halliday, sister companies by Lieut. Clarke, the non-coms by Sergt.-Maj. Brittain the ladies by Pte. Taylor, a special toast to Lieut. Clarke by Col. Miller, and the press by Lieut. Neal. Taken as a whole Co. S. did themselves proud.

Objected to Cow on Pavement.

A green emigrant from the classic shores of Albion tried to drive a cow on the Hunter street east pavement on Thursday, notwithstanding the greater cowpath as per the roadway. The chief called his attention to the fact, that the pavements laid at no inconsiderable expense to rate-payers is reserved for pedestrians.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure Constipation.

Baptists' Action Here Commended

The adherents of the Baptist Church were never looked upon as very keen for church union. Consequently the action of the recent convention of that denomination in Peterborough, in appointing a committee to confer with the representatives of other denominations in this regard, is considered very encouraging by the enthusiasts in the movement. In the meantime the Baptists are parties to a church union movement which will probably materialize in the near future—the amalgamation of the Disciples, who are strong throughout Ontario, with the larger denomination, the Baptists. Negotiations between the two sects have been in progress for years. There is now a substantial prospect of the accomplishment of the idea.

Carpenters are Imported Here

As an indication of the great and growing demand for labor in this city, it might be noted that owing to the scarcity of carpenters, the Dominion Construction Co., which has the contract for the addition to the C.G.E. works, has found it necessary to bring in men from other places. Thirty-five carpenters have arrived from Toronto, Belleville and Montreal, and are now engaged on the work. Good progress is being made on the building.

Splendid Proposition Made by Aultman Bros. of Akron, O.

In this issue of The Times appears an advertisement inserted by Messrs. Aultman Bros., of Akron, O., which is well worth serious consideration by those seeking profitable and safe investment for their funds. The "Money Map of Goldfield" should be in the hands of every man or woman who would place their money where it will bring large and quick returns as well as doubling in short time.

Messrs Aultman Bros. are not prospectors, they only handle the stocks of proven mines and cease after the gold has been located. Messrs Aultman, in the "Money Map of Goldfield," show conclusively, and illustrate by photographs, that the Mohawk-Florence Leasing & Mining Co's shares, now offered at 20 cents per share, fully paid and non-assessable, constitute the safest and best paying stock now on the market.

The shares of the Mohawk-Florence Leasing & Mining Co. are registered with the Nevada Title & Trust Co. to absolutely protect the investor. The Mohawk-Florence Leasing & Mining Co. own three great properties, already producing, on which $200,000 has been expended. They are now ready to cut the Florence and Jumbo extension. The Jumbo has a record of millions of dollars worth of gold already produced. For the "Money Map of Goldfield" or particulars regarding the Mohawk-Florence Leasing & Mining Company's shares write, before prices are raised, to Aultman Bros., 102 Hamilton Building, Akron, Ohio.

GRAND TRUNK RATES

Officials Know of No Law Forcing the Giving of a Two-Cent Rate to Third-Class Passengers

Montreal, Nov. 3—Grand Trunk officials referring to the summons against Mr. Hays, says; "The present tariff of rates charged and collected by the Grand Trunk are those that have been approved by the Railway Commission as well as the Governor-in-Council. The rates charged to third-class passengers, except in special cases, exceeds two cents per mile."

None of the officials know of any law which forces the railways to charge any such rate, and appear to think that there must be some mistake, either in the issuance of the warrant or the alleged facts as set before the newspapers. The C.P.R. is of the same opinion.

Ottawa, Nov. 3. — Nothing was known either in the Railway Department or the Railway Commission about the proceedings against the Grand Trunk in Toronto. The control of rates is, of course, under the Railway Commission, and the Grand Trunk, like all other Canadian lines, has secured the approval alike by the Governor-General-in-Council and by the Board of Railway Commissioners of rates which make no provision for third-class passengers at two cents a mile The provision for such a rate appears in the charter of the railway, in close conjunction with another stipulation that the guage should be five feet six inches. This law, has been repealed, and the provision as to third-class rates seems to have been overlooked. It does not seem to have been known in the Railway Commission, the officers of which would make no comment on the Toronto proceedings.

The Art Show Was a Great Success

The art display at the Conservatory of Music was a great success, and was conducted by Miss Amy K. Bennet and her pupils. The exhibit consisted of oil paintings, water colors charcoal sketches and pen and ink drawings, over a hundred pictures being shown. The large number present is a distinct proof that Peterborough is making steady progress in art, much credit is due Miss Bennet and her students for the excellent work they have done.

Miss Bennet herself had several pictures of high merit, on view.

The pupils who had water colors on view were Miss Munn, Indian River, Miss Cameron, Westwood, and the Misses Lillian Dean, May Nesbitt, Jean Neill, Phyllis Denne, Huldah Dobbin and Miss Rush, all of Peterborough.

During the evening a good musical program was rendered.

Peary Expected in a Few Weeks

New York Friends Unable to Say Whether He'll Try Again.

St. John's, Nfld. Nov. 5.—The fact that Commander Robert E. Peary's steamer Roosevelt, was damaged by ice during the long stay in the Arctic regions, while the explorer made his last dash to the pole, was reported yesterday from the Moravian Mission station at Hopedale, on the Labrador coast, where the Roosevelt has arrived. The extent of the damage is unknown. Commander Peary also reported that the steamer was in need of coal.

Prince Rupert a Customs Port.

Ottawa, November 5.—Prince Rupert, the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been created into a customs port. The Government will establish an office there at an early date.

Disquieting Reports From the North and South Show the Negro Problem is Becoming Serious.

Washington, D. C. November 3—Within last few weeks a series of disquieting reports have reached Washington from various sources and from widely distributed parts of the country, all of which tend to show that the public mind is in a more or less hysterical condition over the never ending and tiresome race question.

Recent events in different parts of the country also have tended to increase these reports. More and more frequently the newspapers chronicle more or less serious conflicts between whites and blacks. Sometimes these are reported from the country, but more frequently from cities. They are not confined to the south, but there are distinct signs of unrest in the northern cities.

Here in Washington there is a large and intelligent colored population, there is a still larger fraction of the black race who are not intelligent, and who are not particularly tractable.

In many ways Washington has come to be the center of sentiment on both sides of the race question. Representations from the north and protestations from the south meet here with widely different views which are seldom or never harmonized. The half educated negro of the north is frequently here, but the black man from the fields of Virginia, and even further south, is constantly drifting toward the national capital.

For all these reasons it has become common for reports as to current relations between the two races to center in Washington, and just now these reports, as far as they can be gathered together, are distinctly disquieting.

ON EVE OF SERIOUS CLASH.

Only a few days ago Col. Youngblood of Alabama, a Republican and a former government official, openly announced his opinion that the races were on the eve of a serious clash, which could be averted only by wise firmness on one side and equally wise moderation on the other. During the latter part of the summer and during the autumn months threatened clashes between whites and blacks have become dangerously frequent, according to those observers of both races who are anxiously studying the situation. They are afraid that the riot in Atlanta is a symptom only.

Some persons affect to believe that the one crime of which the negroes used to be frequently guilty, and for which they were summarily hanged or burned when caught, nearly died out a year or two ago. They say, however, that newspaper reports indicate that this crime is now on the increase again.

TRIVIAL EXCUSE FOR LYNCHINGS.

There is more than ordinary significance in this. Most people who have studied conditions in the south know that only an extremely small proportion of the actual lynchings are for the crime of assault. Southern men always bring this to the front when they attempt to justify lynching. In point of fact, however, the records clearly show that in a large percentage of cases the worst that could be charged against the hapless negro victim of the mob would be impudence, robbery, petty larceny, or intemperate language, and now and then murder.

The danger to the colored people from any increase in attacks upon white women by colored men lies in the fact that these attacks invariably are made an excuse for indiscriminate lynching affairs. An assault of this character committed in Alabama generally results in some poor devil of a negro being lynched in Mississippi for "impudence" or for some misdemeanor which could well have been punished by a reasonably long sentence to the chain gang.

Just now, when the efforts of the government are being directed wisely to prevent a clash between this country and Japan growing out of the exclusion of Japanese children from San Francisco schools, it is curious and perhaps significant to note that there is almost an equal need of diplomacy to prevent race troubles in half a dozen different cities where they were least to be expected.

BRITAIN'S DEATH REVENUE

Large Increase From This Source Over All Previous Years.

London, November 5.—Great Britain's revenue from death duties the year was originally estimated by Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, at $68,500,000. But millionaires have died one after another, and by the time one-third of the fiscal year had passed Mr. Asquith was already over $10,000 ahead of his schedule. One of the millionaires who died recently was Sir Charles Tennant. Mr. Asquit married his daughter and so the curious spectacle is afforded of the millionaire's death-harvest including over $1,500 000 taken from his father-in-law to help along his budget. The death duties on Alfred Bell's estate were $5,000,000. The estate of George Smith, of Chicago and Scotland, who died several years ago, yielded in duties $4,500,000.

BELONGS TO MRS. EDDY

Her Big Fortune Came From Her Work as Teacher and From Her Books.

Boston, Mass. Nov. 3.—In reply to the New York World's statement that Boston lawyers had been consulted to force those in actual control of Mrs. Eddy's big fortune to tell what had become of it. Alfred Farlow, of this city, head of the Christian Science Publication Bureau, last night stated that Mrs. Eddy is well and conducted her own affairs. He also said that the Church had nothing whatever to do with Mrs. Eddy's fortune it being her own property, derived from her services as a Christian Science teacher and from her books. The Church, he says, has no jurisdiction over its private holdings.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

RUGBY.

By the narrow margin of one point, Hamilton Tigers defeated Argonauts of Toronto, Saturday in a senior O.R.F.U. game. The score at half time stood 5—2 in favor of the Argos, and 9—8 in favor of the Tigers At the finish Toronto dispatches give Don Simpson the credit for the Tigers victory

• • • •

Owing to the late finish of Saturday's game the Victoria team, with their backers, did not get away until the early train yesterday morning They were guests at the Oriental, and took in the roller rink Saturday night

• • • •

The Tigers are champions in the senior O.R.F.U. series for the year. The Argos come second, with Peterborough and Victoria a tie for the tail of the procession.

• • • •

Somewhat strange to note, Peterborough and the Vics were tied, each club winning on their opponents grounds Peterborough winning from the Vics at Toronto, and conditions being vice-versa here.

• • • •

On conclusion of the Victoria-Peterborough Rugby game on Saturday afternoon, the Bankers and Canadian General Electric team had a little work out Rugby game. As the first match was only ended as darkness came on, the game was necessarily short. The Electricians won out by 1—0

CASTELLANE DESPERATE

Will Insist on Public Exposure in Divorce Case.

Paris, November 5.—Intense excitement is thrilling the highest social circles in Paris over the announcement that Castellane, in the desperate hope of forcing a reconciliation or a liberal money settlement, will demand the production of all the witnesses in the suit for divorce brought by his wife, formerly Anna Gould. This will mean a public exposure of the names of the society women concerned in the case, whose identity thus far has been masked by the lawyers by the use of meaningless initials. Men who have been the companions of the count in some of his wild escapades will be named also, and it is asserted that many proud families will be disgraced.

Larger Parliament Buildings.

Ottawa, November 5.—The Public Works Department will call for tenders this week for the extension to the Parliament buildings. As already announced, the addition is to extend from the press headquarters at the north-west corner of the building across the lawn to the tower of the speaker's rooms, thus leaving a triangular court in front of room 16, the Liberal headquarters. In time this will be covered with glass, heated, and concerted into a palm garden for the use of members. The actual division of the rooms in the new buildings will not be determined upon until Parliament meets, when it is expected that Mr. Hyman will ask the Commons to appoint a small committee to recommend how the different floors shall be divided up.

DRASTIC ELECTION LAW A FEATURE

BOBBY BURNS' MEMENTOES

Financier Imports Rare Collection of MSS. and Letters.

New York, N.Y. 5.—J. Pierpont Morgan imported Saturday what is said to be the most complete set in existence of the original manuscripts and private letters of Robert Burns, the Scotch poet.

Mr Morgan's agents have been scouring Great Britain for the last 15 years in order to secure the documents. The manuscripts are in two books of some 400 pages. They were nominally appraised by the United States customs authorities at $25,000 each, and subjected to a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem, so that the Morgan customs brokers paid $10,000 duty.

Under the Dingley tariff law works of art and literature are admitted free of duty when brought in for public education or religious purposes, but when imported by private citizens the full duty is imposed.

It is believed to be the intention of Mr Morgan to bequeath the Burns manuscripts and letters to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and that their importation is the forerunner of the arrival of numberless other European treasures of literature and art, which Mr. Morgan is reported to have accumulated on the other side.

The value of the collections are said to be nearly $15,000 000, but the heavy tariff has deterred him from bringing them over.

Spanish Police Fear Anarchist Designs

Sudden Disappearance of "Reds" from Barcelona Prelude to Attack on Royalty.

Malaga, Spain, Nov. 5—The local police have been advised that suspected anarchists have suddenly disappeared from Barcelona, and consequently the most rigorous precautions are being taken for the protection of the king and queen.

All the houses in the streets through which their majesties have to pass are being carefully searched.

The Carlist committees throughout the peninsula will celebrate the name day of the pretender, Don Carlos, today.

A squadron of British warships arrived at Malaga on Saturday, and King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were established there yesterday.

HAD THE GOLDEN TOUCH

Brother of Sam Shubert Tells of Deceased Theatrical Man's Success.

New York, Nov. 5.—That Sam Shubert, theatrical manager, was a Midas in real life was shown in the United States Circuit Court here on Saturday by the evidence of his brother Lee in the suit for $250,000 damages against the Pennsylvania Railroad for Sam's death at Harrisburg in a wreck on May 10, 1905.

The evidence showed that at 18 Sam was a bell boy in a Syracuse hotel, and at 28, when he died, head of a partnership controlling nearly fifty theaters and many successful travelling theatrical companies. Sam was able to turn losing theaters and plays to success, his luck being proverbial among theatrical people. Everything he touched turned to gold.

The jury awarded $250,000 to the dead man's father and mother.

Speech From the Throne Will Refer to it—Penalty for Man Who Does Not Vote.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament on the 22nd, inst., in addition to a reference to the intended tariff revision, and the amendment of the Insurance Act, will promise the introduction of such legislation as experience has proven necessary for the perfecting of the Canadian election law.

The Government has already given its consideration to this subject, which was the subject also of a special enquiry at the last session, and the Act as proposed will certainly include clauses of a most drastic character, and penalties for its infraction, which even the most unscrupulous party workers will hesitate before incurring.

If the view of a special committee of last session prevails, one feature will be a clause requiring every qualified voter to record his ballot in Parliamentary elections on penalty of disfranchisement for a term of years This, it is thought, may meet the case of the men who "haven't the time to vote," unless one of the candidates makes it worth his while.

There is another prospective feature of next session's program to which no reference will be found in the Governor's speech at the opening, and that is the resumption of the Opposition's search after departmental scandal in the hope of running across something that may serve as campaign material for the next general election.

HUSBAND NOW RICH

But Wife Has Been Working for a Living.

Chester, Pa., Nov. 3. — Learning that her husband, Simon Goldberg, was in Chester, Mrs. Lena Goldberg of Montreal, Canada, arrived in this city and had a warrant issued before Ald. Smith for the arrest of her husband, who was taken into custody last night. He will be charged with desertion

Mrs Goldberg stated that she married Goldberg 14 years ago. Since he deserted her she supported herself by working in a factory in Montreal, devoting her spare time in endeavoring to find the whereabouts of her husband. Goldberg is a prosperous merchant of this city.

WOMEN MOB ONE OF OWN SEX

Cover Victim With Molasses and Gave Her Coat of Feathers.

East Sandy, Pa., November 5.—A crowd of women, one a sister-in-law of the victim, this morning took Mrs. Hattie Lowry from her home, tied her hands, painted her face with stove polish, poured molasses over her, and gave her a coat of feathers. The woman's assailants led her through a neighboring railroad camp, her appearance causing a complete suspension of work.

Mrs. Lowry finally was tied to a tree, where she remained until a man released her. Four of the women were arrested, pleaded guilty, and their husbands paid $60 and costs for each of them.

The prisoners said the actions of Mrs. Lowry brought disgrace on the community.

VICS. OF TORONTO DEFEAT THE LOCALS

A Hardly Fought Battle in Which Peterboro' Looked Like a Winner Lost in the Last Few Minutes.

On Saturday afternoon, under a bright autumn sun, and perfect weather conditions, some hundreds of citizens including a large number of ladies a most exciting Rugby game was played at Riverside Park. Shortly after the game opened with Mr. Chris. Graham, the local all round sport handling the whistle, the Vics rushed the ball to Peterborough territory and caused local stock to take a temporary fall. The play to hold sides was for blood, the men on both teams putting up a good exhibit of football. Very few serious contremps occurred throughout the game, some considerable time however being lost over players injured, one Toronto man, Scollery, seemed to be out of shape and fully half an hour's time was lost by his 'eg being hurt six or eight times.

Easton of the Bank of Montreal, for the locals, whilst small in stature was a giant in the game, being here, there and every where at the right time, and valiantly tackling the biggest and best of the Toronto bunch. In the first half he made a most sensational run with the ball when kicked behind the goal line. In this half Crowley redeemed a fumble at which the audience yelled by getting the ball from the home sticks three-quarters of the way to the enemy's line.

At half time matters were looking blue for the local, the score standing 4—1 in favor of the Vics, and the ball in locals' defence territory.

A few minutes after the second half opened, McWilliams made a kick behind the Vics goal, making a rouge, i.e., one point. Shortly afterwards Ford got another rouge. Crough made a quick pass to Quinlan who literally shoved his way through the whole Vic formation. Another rouge was quickly scored, thus bringing Battets to a tie Before three-quarter time the locals scored two more points on rouge

Just after three-quarter time, Easton made a tackle that put the audience yelling. Peterbough made a safety touch, piling up two more to their score, the ball being shoved over the line by main force. The Vics then got two rouges. McWilliams made a grand kick and gave Gilleespie a chance to make a touch down when five more were chalked up for the locals Crough converted and a kick was made bringing the score 13—6 for Peterborough.

Then the Vics made a successful try and shortly afterwards another, reversing the score to the favor of the visitors by 18—13. Shortly before the whistle sounded Peterborough got another rouge, and when full time was up, had the ball in the Vics' territory and would undoubtedly have won the game had they had a few minutes more time, as the Vics were about "all in."

FOUR YEARS FOR KLEINGBELL

Justice Britton Not too Severe on Man Who Killed Wife

Belleville, Nov. 4.—At the opening of the high court this morning Ferdinand Kleingbell, who was brought in guilty on the charge of manslaughter, came up for sentence by Mr Justice Britton.

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, the prisoner replied in a low voice "No," and then wept bitterly. His Honor said that, owing to his age, and the fact that the jury made a recommendation for mercy, he would sentence the prisoner to four years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The sentence came a big surprise, and the prisoner sat down with a satisfied look.

It is said, on the authority of a juryman, that the jury were at first almost unanimous in favor of hanging the prisoner, but the minority fought hard, and at last the members in favor of extreme measures consented, on account of the prisoner's age, to a verdict of manslaughter. Had he been a young man, the prisoner would certainly have been found guilty of murder.

U.S. BATTLESHIP RAMMED

Dominion Liner crashes into "Virginia" in Hampton Roads.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 5.—The United States battleship Virginia was rammed yesterday in Hampton Roads by the old Dominion liner, Monroe. Both vessels came afterward to this port. The Monroe, inward bound from New York, landed her passengers at her pier, while the battleship proceded to the Norfolk Navy Yard.

The Monroe was following the battleship through Hampton Roads, and when near Neffles Shoals the Virginia slowed down. Her steering gear had apparently been deranged, and she sheered out of her course. The officers of the Monroe immediately rang to slow down, but she could not stop nor even change her course, and she struck the battleship on the after part of her armor belt tearing it on her starboard quarter. One set of the battleship's davits were turned inward, while two six-inch after guns and one three-inch gun were raked

The Monroe sustained a bad twist of her steel prow. A survey will be made of both vessels.

FOR MANUFACTURERS

Incorporation of a Mutual Fire Company Sought.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—At the forthcoming session of Parliament a company to be known as the Central Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, will seek incorporation with power to carry on the business of fire insurance upon a mutual basis among manufacturers.

Application will be made for an Act relating to the Grand Trunk Railway Company's superannuation fund for the benefit of the employees of the company, authorizing the directors of the company to contribute to the fund such sums as they may determine upon.

The Canadian Northern Railway Company will apply for an Act increasing the power of the company to issue bonds or other securities.

A company, to be known as the Residential Fire Insurance Company, will seek incorporation.

Fishing by Telephone.

Marshfield, Mass. Nov. 5—The wireless telephone, it is claimed, has successfully entered into the deep sea fishing industry.

For the past week experiments have been conducted by the wireless telegraph station at Brant Rock, which is equipped with a wireless telephone with a small vessel stationed among the fleet of the South Shore fishermen 12 miles out in Minnesohusetts Bay.

Recently it is asserted the fishermen wished to learn the prices ruling in the Boston market.

The operator on the wireless fitted boat called up Brant Rock and telephoned the fishermen's request.

The land operator asked Boston by wire and the answer was forwarded back to the fishermen.

Birth.

BRADEN—On Thursday, Nov. 1st, at Alexandra Private Hospital, Hamilton, to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Braden of Toronto, a son.

DO NOT BE A BURDEN

Some Good Advice to Readers of The Times.

A weak stomach and its resulting ills are not natural. With proper care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, the very worst cases of indigestion or stomach trouble can be completely cured.

It is a sin to deprive oneself of enjoyment in life and become a burden to others through indigestion.

The backaches, headaches, distress after eating, loss of appetite, gulping up of undigested food and gases are not natural. Mi-o-na stomach tablets used for a few days before meals will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress or resulting sickness.

The directions for taking Mi-o-na emphasize the difference between this remedy and the ordinary medicine that is given for indigestion. Mi-o-na is to be used before meals, strengthening the digestive system for the food which is to be eaten, while the ordinary remedy is taken after meals, and simply digests the food without strengthening the stomach.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50c. box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

NO MARTYRDOM OR PERSECUTION

But Catholic Church Will Forfeit Property Worth Eight Millions

REMAIN OPEN FOR WORSHIP

But Churches Will Belong to the State, Which, However, is Neutral to All Religions.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The Minister of Public Instruction and Worship has denied in an authorized interview that the Government did not regard the Catholic Church as being in revolt against the law providing for the separation of the Church and State against the State. The Catholic Church having simply declined to take advantage of its privilege under the law, as the other religions did, on December 11 would forfeit its $6,000,000 worth of property, and thereafter would live under the common law. There would be neither martyrdom nor persecutions of the faithful. The churches, as State and communal property would remain open for Catholic worship.

The object for which the Republican party in France had struggled for 30 years was achieved. The concordat was at an end, the State would no longer be a support to religion, and priests would not longer enjoy privileges. In both their duties and obligations they would be on an equality with other citizens.

In other words, the State at least was neutral towards all religions, and would permit the exercises of all of them, with special favors to none.

MOTHER NOT GUILTY

Agnes Murphy, Said to Have Thrown Her Child from a Car Window, Acquitted at Walkerton.

Walkerton, Nov. 5.—After being out four hours, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty of either murder or manslaughter in the case charging Agnes Murphy with the murder of her child, which died by being thrown from a passenger train near Chesley in June last. The prisoner's admissions and medical testimony formed the Crown's chief evidence Mr. J. W. Hanna, of Windsor, who conducted the case for the Crown, held that the prisoner was guilty of murder or at least manslaughter, and Mr. Justice Riddell charged strongly against the prisoner. However, Mr. A. G. MacKay, K. C., of Owen Sound, made a successful defence in a two-hour speech. He censured the constable who obtained the woman's admissions without warning her, and showed that medical theories as to death were unreliable.

IRELAND'S WORLD'S FAIR

King Edward Will Attend, and May Officiate at Opening Next May.

New York, Nov. 3.—A London special despatch published here yesterday, says that next May will see the opening of the great Irish International Exhibition. The guarantee fund now amounts to $1,000,000. Lord Iveagh heading the list with 350,000.

The buildings will resemble in scheme those of the late Paris Exposition. A prominent feature will be a great dome, the elevation of which will be equal to half that of St. Paul's Cathedral, London. If King Edward does not open the exhibition he will at least honor it with his presence at a later date.

Another Suit Against Ottawa City.

Ottawa, November 5.—A writ has been issued against the City of Ottawa and Messrs. W. H. Cluff and F. H. Cluff, on behalf of William Campbell, of Hintonburg, who was among the people injured by the falling of the Grimour Hotel walls a few weeks ago. The Messrs. Cluff are brought into the action as owners of the Grimour Hotel property. The amount of damages behalf of Mr. Campbell is $4,000. He was injured in the back and spine and cut about the head.

Chewed Tobacco

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—Five cows belonging to a farmer named Desormeaux of Embrun, died mysteriously between Sunday and Monday. The owner was puzzled at the strange taking off of the animals, and summoned a veterinary from Ottawa, who held a post-mortem and found the cows' stomachs full of nicotine. This explained the mystery. The animals had been pastured in a field field where Desormeaux had raised tobacco, and had eaten the stalks in great quantity.

Big Increase to I. C. R. Employes.

Moncton, N. B., November 5.—The Transcript Saturday night announced an increase of wages to several hundred Junior Intercolonial Railway employes. The total increase, it is reported, amounts to $30,000, and applies to employes all over the road, ranging from 10 to 30 cents per day. In some individual cases of young mechanists, it is said, the raise ranges as high as 40 cents per day.

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER!

Indicates Faulty Blood and Worn-Out Nerves. Build Up, or Total Collapse will Surely Follow.

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; it acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was lassitude and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 30, Beeton, Ont. "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

SMOKELESS POWDER

What is this smokeless powder? It is the modern high explosive which has superseded the old style black powder, even as electricity has superseded gas, and which is used not only in the field for sporting purposes, but is used exclusively for the shoulder arms of the army and the navy as well as for the machine guns, the rapid-fire guns, and the huge rifles on the decks of our battleships and within the works of our fortifications. Practically it is nothing but a mixture of gun cotton and alcohol and ether, or acetone, or else acetone with gun cotton and nitroglycerin—the two strongest explosives known and, blended into a new compound which is at least double as strong as the common black powder, explodes without giving off smoke, and, once finished, not merely loses the dangerous characteristics of its dreaded ingredients, but is so safe that you might give a hatful of the powder intended for the six-inch Halifax guns to a baby to play with. He might pound it with a hammer to his heart's content, or you yourself might place it on an anvil and bring a forty-pound sledge down on it. It would merely squash like so much soap or putty. So commission-proof is this powder that you might drop a house on a heap of fifty tons of it and it would not explode. So proof is it against explosion by fire that you might place a stick of cannon powder on a saucer in your bedroom, light it with a match, and go to bed by a flickering, sazzling light, as if given off by burning fat. In short, you simply cannot explode this powder unless you go to the trouble of confining it, and even then you can explode it only by using a fulminate of mercury detonator.

The quickest way to picture smokeless powder is to dismiss all ideas of the ordinary black gunpowder so familiar to every one. The color of the modern powder is not black at all, but has the shade of dark amber. In the sense of a powder being a finely divided solid, smokeless powder is no powder at all. It consists of a waxlike composition, the size of the "grains" varying according to the calibers of the guns for which they are designed. For use in revolvers, rifles, and sporting guns, the grains resemble the tiny perforated glass beads, of the sort used in old-time needle work. For the machine guns, the rapid-fire guns, the heavy rifles of battleships and forts, the grains are cylindrical in shape, varying in size from a third of an inch to three-fourths of an inch in diameter and about two inches in length—each grain, in order to increase the area exposed to ignition, being perforated equidistantly and longitudinally, with from one to six holes, big as knitting needles, depending upon the size of the grain.

Millions of Bonds Secured by Fraud

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Charles Whitney Norton, said by the police and postal authorities to be responsible for extensive swindling operations, is under arrest here. It is claimed that Norton has defrauded people in all parts of the United States out of bonds and securities amounting to $3,000,000.

Norton, it is said, would obtain stock from any person who would trust him and agree to sell it in in the market. He might, the police declare, sell the stock, and he might retain it, but the result to the person owning the stock was the same. They would receive no money from Norton, nor would the stock be returned to them.

In his room were found bonds, stocks, abstracts of land titles, first mortgages, and other negotiable papers, the greater part of which is thought to be genuine, and worth about $2,000,000. Other papers were found, valued on their face at about $1,000,000 more, but the higher value is doubtful. It is claimed that Norton, by selling and trading these securities, has made many thousands of dollars. The postal authorities declare that they have been searching for Norton since January, 1905, when he disappeared from Detroit, ostensibly to go to England.

The American Magazine for November

The November number of The American Magazine—the second number issued by The Phillips Publishing Co.—reflects, admirably, the enthusiasm and vigor of the new editors. It is spirited and lively, but above all good humored and entertaining. There isn't, really a dull line in it. The first article in the number is Lincoln Steffens's character sketch of "Hearst, the Man of Mystery." This article, coming as it does in the midst of a campaign, won't suit everybody—least of all, Hearst followers. Its conclusions are that Hearst won't do—that he does not typify the movement he represents, or give reasons for hoping that he will be able to accomplish what he thinks he can. Ray Stannard Baker writes an article entitled "The Test of Men." It is a presentation of the San Francisco disaster as a barometer of human nature. It is the story of the effect of the earthquake and fire upon the people. The facts are fresh and surprising. Miss Tarbell's new serial is announced. It is to be a history of "The Tariff in Our Times," and the first instalment is to appear in The American Magazine for December. A. W. Rolker writes on "Sky Sailing, the New Sport." He tells just how it feels to go up in a balloon. The sensations he thrillingly describes have probably never been experienced by one reader out of 100,000. A new serial, "Adventures of Contentment," is begun. Judged by literary standards it is the best thing in the number. There are editorials by the new staff—editorials full of points and personalities. There is a story by Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Pigs is Pigs." It is a Thanksgiving story containing an amusing surprise, a story that might have been called "Turkeys is Turkeys." Other stories are by George Grantham Bain, William Dorsenport Hulbert, Lola Scott and Wilhelmina Hastings. The poets are S. E. Kiser, Eleonora Robertson, Susie M. Best, and Rumlie M. Jones. Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams proceed with their new serial, "The Mystery."

Pope Won't Agree

Paris, Nov. 4.—A prelate of high rank, whose name is not given, is quoted in the press here as saying that the Pope will reject the decision of the Council of State, rendered October 31, by which, under the law of 1881, meetings organized by private individuals for the purpose of worship will be recognized as legal after December 11, when the Church and State separation law formally goes into effect. The prelate added that the pontiff would never recognize that the functions of religion can assume the same character as public meetings.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then, there's pain, and finally that excruciating, cease-less ache. This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the overflow, and directs it to the proper channels. It frees the nerve centers from all pressure and irritation—the pains and aches disappear because their cause has been removed. You may try a thousand and remedies—you may drug and stupify the nerves into submission—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cure will be successful, because it reduces the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Medicine has thus found a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia. The effect of Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt—positively suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every temperament. For sale and recommended by

WEDDING STATIONERY

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS are always in order. The season for the final result of being a disciple of Cupid finds expression in the Hymeneal ceremony at the altar—that occasion when "two hearts that beat as one" are joined together—pronounced one.

For this auspicious occasion the printing must be chastely dignified—must be appropriate in appearance to this one time of life when everything "best" is donned—when happiness reigns supremely.

Marriage Announcements
Marriage Invitations
Marriage Reception Cards
Post Nuptial Reception Cards

All of these we are able to supply in a proper form and printed artistically. Our work is conducted under the supervision of skilled typographical mechanics and may be unhesitatingly presented to the most fastidious critic.

Our charges for such work are moderate—yet good printing is ever valuable. However, we give quality for our figures, and an order entrusted to our care will be speedily, carefully and satisfactorily executed.

No work can be well done which has to be done hurriedly. Time is necessary for the accomplishment of faultless printing. We will fulfil all expectations if given ample time for completion.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

CHAIN OF COLD STORAGE

WOULD PUT ONTARIO'S FRUIT BUSINESS ON SCIENTIFIC BASIS.

Happy-Go-Lucky Condition and Tremendous Waste Would Be Ended Thereby—Plan That Would Benefit Growers and Consumers as Well—Fruit Side-Line Would Then Take on Added Dignity and Profit.

Slowly but surely the idea of cold storage has been gaining ground among the farmers of Ontario for some years past, and signs are not wanting that in the future it is to advance much more rapidly but none the less surely. The time seems almost ripe for the adoption of some comprehensive scheme of cold storage that shall be available to the farmers and fruit-growers of the country, and not confined to the middlemen, whose present profits are out of all proportion to the services they render. By a chain of cold storage warehouses throughout the province the fruit trade of Ontario could be put on the same scientific, business-like basis as the cheese industry, says The Mail and Empire. At present it is wallowing in the happy-go-lucky condition that dairying was in before the advent of the creamery.

Our Apple Production.

Roughly speaking, the Dominion of Canada produces about 17,000,000 barrels of apples a year, Ontario furnishing more than 50 per cent. of the total crop. Of this 17,000,000 barrels, 1,500,000 barrels are exported, and that 750,000 barrels of those exported reach the British market in a loose or sloppy condition is a matter of official record. That is to say, of 17,000,000 barrels produced, only 750,000 barrels are placed on the British market in good condition, a profit to the exporters and a credit to the country. What, then, becomes of the 15,500,000 or 16,000,000 barrels that are not exported? Suppose every man, woman and child in Canada eats a barrel of them, nearly 10,000,000 barrels are left to be accounted for.

Tremendous Waste.

The answer is simple, the great bulk of the apples produced in Ontario either rot on the trees, fall to the ground and are fed to the hogs, or rot before they can be placed on the market. In any event they are no profit to the growers. They are wasted. It hardly needs be said that any plan devised to eliminate this enormous and ruinous waste is worthy of a Government's consideration. That cold storage warehouses erected all over the country like creameries, will save these 10,000,000 barrels of apples to the fruit-growers of the country is asserted. It is claimed, moreover, that the adoption of this plan will give the farmer far better prices for his apples and practically eliminate the middleman, who alone makes any money out of the existing conditions.

Middleman's Big Profits.

It is not uncommon to hear apple buyers boast of having bought apples for 25c a barrel on the trees. The same apples are sold for from ten to twenty times the price, thus allowing the middleman a tremendous margin for fruit that spoils on him, and the occasional fines for violating the Fruit Marks' Act, and leaving a good, big profit besides. With a well-kept cold storage plant in the neighborhood, the farmer would not be obliged to sell his crop for whatever the buyer would give him. For 25c a barrel he could store his apples until the market was ready to receive them. Then he could produce his fruit, and sell it for half the price charged by the middlemen at present and yet make twice the profit.

The Farmer's Predicament.

General cold storage would necessarily reduce the price of apples to the consumer in the home market, for the great bulk of the crop would be marketed instead of going to waste. At present the middleman has to make allowance for a big percentage of waste, and that is one of the reasons why the price of apples is high in the summer the farmer can hardly give away his early apples, and in the winter he can hardly afford to munch one of his own Northern Spies. Our winter apples sell on the English market for from 17s. to 27s. a barrel, and of this price the farmer does not get, on an average, 20 per cent.

Fruit is a Side Line.

Speaking of farmers generally, and excepting those whose fathers had the patience and courage to plant Northern Spies, Baldwins, and other hardy winter apples, their fruit crop is an incident, and is to be reckoned with the few odd dollars the mother of the family makes out of her chickens. Now, with the strong western competition in wheat and rough cattle, the Ontario farmer must fall back upon the side lines of farming if he is to hold his own. There is more money in them after all, and this important lesson is being slowly learned.

The Profitable Farm.

The Ontario farmer who has a good orchard, a few acres of grain, roots and garden truck, a good herd of dairy cattle, a score or so of hogs, and some good poultry, and a few well-bred horses to sell every year need not envy the wheat-raiser with a quarter section in wheat. The creameries were necessary to make the cows pay, and with cold storage the apple trees of Ontario will lift a mortgage.

Tragic Sequel of Dream.

A curious coincident in connection with the death of young Gould, the English lad who was accidentally shot by A. E. Wilde on Labor Day at Strathcona, and who was a nephew of Lord Kinnaird of Scotland, has come to light. On the morning of the accident Gould told at the breakfast table how he had dreamed during the night that a man was chasing him with a gun. The members of the family joked him about the dream and after supper while Wilde was cleaning his guns he picked up one and pointing it at the boy, said, "I suppose this is the way the man was chasing you in your dream."

To his horror the gun exploded while in his hands, the bullet striking the boy's heart, causing instant death.

Alabama Negroes Pass Resolution to Suppress Crime.

RISKED HIS LIFE.

How an Enterprising Reporter Got the News For His Paper.

Undoubtedly the boldest undertaking on the part of a reporter to score a "beat" ever known in the history of American journalism was when Thomas B. Fielders of the New York Times leaped from a steamer in New York harbor at odds of about 100 to 1 of being drowned and brought in the first graphic story of the loss of the ocean liner Oregon. It is the custom of New York dailies to send reporters down the bay to meet incoming steamers when it is known there is "big news" aboard. On the ground that it is better to be safe than sorry the editors dispatch the reporters by special permit on a government revenue cutter or else on a specially chartered tug, with a view to catching their game before the ship docks. It was known early one afternoon that a North German Lloyd steamer was not far out, and every city editor in New York had plans for sending reporters to meet the incoming liner.

Fielders was one of these. He managed to get aboard the big steamer far down the bay and went among the survivors of the Oregon disaster and obtained some thrilling tales of escape. He took notes enough to write a book about the sinking of the ship, with minute details of heroic rescues and plenty of what newspaper men call "human interest" stories. Then time began to wear heavy on his hands. It was getting late at night and the ship had not yet passed quarantine. To make matters worse, the captain said that he would allow no one to leave the ship until she had made her way clear of quarantine. Fielders vainly pleaded that he was not a passenger and therefore was not amenable to the inspection of the ship by the health officers. His remonstrances were unavailing. The captain was obdurate.

Ten o'clock came. The city editor of the Times paced nervously around the night desk, repeatedly asking, "Where on earth is Fielders?"

Out there in the bay Fielders, wrought to a pitch of anger almost sufficient to impel an assault upon the exacting captain, looked vainly at the dimpling stream of light from his tug as she lay out in the darkened waters waiting for him. The captain of the steamer would not permit the tug to come any nearer to his ship. Fielders stood beside the rail, loudly remonstrating with the man commanding the big ship. He stealthily placed one leg over the rail, then the other. Then there was a splashing sound below and a chorus of shouts from the passengers. The reporter was overboard! Out in the rippling light his body was seen to rise, and as it did the daredevil began swimming toward his tug. His comrades had thrown out a line at a signal from him previously given, and he made for that line. Would he ever get it? Could they see him, a mere speck on the dimly lighted water? He gained a hold on the rope, was pulled aboard the tug and gave orders for her nose to be turned toward the Manhattan shore with all possible speed. The Times contained a full and graphic story of the loss of the Oregon the next morning.—Remson Crawford in Success Magazine.

Only One King Buried in Iceland.

In Iceland it is the boast of the native that "only one king is buried here." That was King Roerek of Norway (vide Snorri Sturluson's Saga, "Heimskringla"), whom King Olaf the Holy "shipped," with the significant hint that he need not be in any hurry to return to his native land. Roerek, who was a shrewd, peaceably minded monarch, took the hint, went to Iceland and a thousand odd years ago settled down to farming "at a little stead height, Calfskin, where were but few serving folk, and there he dwelt and on the fourth winter got the illness which brought him to his bane. So, it is said, he is the only king that rests in Iceland."

Jule Keen's Sad End.

New York, Nov. 2.—Jule Keen, who had been treasurer for the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show during its career of twenty years, died yesterday at the Ashland House under peculiarly pathetic circumstances. He arrived from Europe a few days ago, to find his wife in a dying condition. His own health, which had been poor for several years, broke down completely. Mrs. Keene died last Monday and her husband sank steadily until the end came yesterday. Mr. Keen was born in New York in 1846.

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $20,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $30.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M. E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. F. McINTYRE, M. E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. F. GRISWOLD, M. E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 18 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M. E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of development required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $15.00 per ton	$1,500.00

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 35 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 35 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

HOW CHILDREN ARE QUICKLY STRENGTHENED

Develop Them with Ferrozone, which Makes Rich Blood, Hardy Muscle, Steady Nerves.

Children brought up on Ferrozone are known by their strong rugged frames, their chubby cheeks and healthful appearance.

Mothers find it an indispensable tonic and body builder, and in thousands of homes no other remedy used.

Every Child Improves on Ferrozone

Mrs. E. Montgomery, of Pittsburg, writes: "A little niece came to visit me, and noticing her pale and haggard looks, I started her on a course of Ferrozone. The change that girl underwent in a few weeks was marvellous. Her appetite chirped up, she had more spirit and strength, and a rosy colour came into her cheeks that I never saw there before. I weighed my niece about the time she started to pick up, and in seven weeks she gained almost eight pounds, and just looked the picture of health. I think this should be an example to many mothers, and I hope that others will try Ferrozone for their little boys and girls. I am thoroughly convinced that it's the most strengthening tonic it has my strongest endorsement."

The reason Ferrozone works so beneficially with Ferrozone is that it acts directly on the blood, freeing it of all unhealthy matter, at the same time giving it an additional supply of iron.

This at once results in more strength, new spirit and renewed vitality. Just one tablet at meal time works wonders.

Refuse to accept any article the druggist may say is just as good. Get Ferrozone, and the result we guarantee will be satisfactory. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—Nothing doing at Saturday's police court.

—This is Guy Fawkes Day. "Remember the 5th of November!"

—The music at St. John's church yesterday was of an especially high character.

—Three large parcels of old newspapers for 10 cents at Times Bookstore.

—Wedding presents in large variety of fancy china, fancy and useful articles. Times Books are.

—The Children's Aid Society wish to inform the public that they are sadly in need of funds.

—The Toronto News of Saturday contains an excellent likeness of Crowley, the local Rugby expert.

—Be sure and see the new colored souvenir cards just in at Times Bookstore. Views of all principal places.

—A purse belonging to Miss Ada Thornton, 144 Murray street, has been lying at the police station for some time.

—Call on Times Bookstore, when you want to renew subscription for any magazine or paper. We guarantee satisfaction.

—John Murray, a well known butcher of Hastings, has been drowned whilst out deer shooting. His canoe upset accidentally.

—On Saturday we will sell eight colored stereoscope views for only 25 cents. Hundreds to choose from. Times Bookstore.

—Mr N. A. Howard Moore got several good snap shots at various stages of Saturday's game, and photographed the Victoria team.

—On Hallowe'en Mr. Robt. Innes iron gate was stolen from his residence on Rubidge street. The police know who these jokers are and it behooves them to return it before arrests follows.

—Mr Geo. Mitchell, of London, Ont., who registered at the Snowden House on Friday night left on Saturday for Lakefield, en route to join the Eagle Lake Hunt Club. Let the deer beware.

—On Saturday afternoon in the Munro House Mr. Chas. Stapleton had a large attendance when he tried to sell two farms. The bidding was brisk but the reserve was not reached in either case. The farms offered were, the east half of lot 2, con. 9, of Douro, containing 107 acres; the other was the west half of lot 1, con. 8 of Douro.

Missionaries Off to Work in China

On the 26th of November nine men six of whom are married, making 15 persons, will start for West China. On the same ship one missionary and his wife and a native Japanese who has been educated in this country will sail for Japan. This is the largest foreign missionary party, viz., 18 persons, that has ever been sent out by the Methodist Church in one year.

Many of the missionaries are graduates of the Victoria University. The Toronto Star of Saturday contains an excellent photograph of these missionaries, who include Rev. E. W. Wallace, B.A., B.D., a specialist in Classics Mr. Wallace will be supported by the Hon. Senator Cox; and also Mr H. D. Robertson, B.A., who is a specialist in Political Science. Mr. Robertson's wife was Miss Frances Genevieve Hunter, of Peterborough, who is an undergraduates of Victoria University. They will be supported by Wesley Church, Hamilton.

Local Poet Gets Soaked

Stephen H. Jones, who in the Toronto police court on Saturday, claimed to live in Peterborough, answered to a charge of vagrancy.

"Just wandering around, eh?" queried his Worship. "Begging, I suppose?"

"Yes," said Mr. Corley.

"One dollar and costs or 30 days."

"He carries a printed card," said Mr. Corley.

"Oh, that's worse," said His Worship.

"And it's poetry."

"Worse still; we'll make it $10 and costs or 30 days."

Mr. G. F. Jackson's Funeral.

Port Hope Guide says: The funeral of the late G. F. Jackson, who died under such sad circumstances on Wednesday morning, took place from the family residence, Dorset street, this morning. Mr. J. C. Hayden conducted a brief services at the residence and the sad procession wended its way to the city of the dead. It was a sad sight and much sympathy is expressed for the widow, and two young sons

Orangemen Go to Church Twice

Yesterday in commemoration of Guy Fawkes' Day, the members of Diamond Lodge, No. 80, L.O.L., True Blues, and visiting brethren from the district attended divine service, both in the morning and evening. Fully two hundred members of the Order, in regalia, started in procession, each time from the Simcoe street lodge.

In the morning they paraded to Charlotte street Methodist where an eloquent and appropriate sermon was delivered. In the evening they attended the Park street Baptist church, where Rev. A. H. Brace, the pastor preached a powerful and patriotic sermon.

Dr Thomas S. Sproule, M.P., of East Grey, Most Worshipful Grand Master and Sovereign of the Grand Lodge of British North America, will address the concert and banquet to be given by Diamond L.O.L., No. 80. Rev. A. H. Brace will take the chair and a good program of recitations and music will ensure a delightful time.

A Son of Local Ancestors Noted

A son of Peterborough ancestors, is thus spoken of in the Ottawa Citizen, in their "Men of Today and Tomorrow Series," accompanied by his portrait:

"John Rostorn Orde, of the law firm of Gormully, Orde & Powell, was born in Nova Scotia in 1870. His ancestors were early settlers of Peterborough, his grandfather being Capt. George F. Orde, a member of an old North of England family, who returned from the army and came out to Canada early in the last century, and a great grandson of the late Capt. Charles Rubidge, B.N. Mr. Orde's mother was a daughter of the late Judge Hall, county judge of the county of Peterborough."

Christian Science New Regulations

Owing to the trickery alleged to have been adopted by the head of the Christian Science Church, whereby she in failing health, had another woman to impersonate her in a carriage to conceal the fact that she is in failing health, and consequently that there is "Truth in Matter," a general overhauling of the finances of the Church is pending. This may be all right but it is putting the cart before the horse. The first matter considered should be an absolute prohibition of "Divine Healing" at so much per head. This would save many a poor befooled man and woman being done to death, whilst in the clutches of irresponsible "Healers (?)" at so much per.

Expert Workmen Arrive in the City.

Messrs. Sam Eadie, foreman; H May, Frank Haynes, Robt. Clarke, J. Yule, and Jos Tripp, P. McDonald and J. Salem, arrived in the city on Saturday to finish some steel construcrural work at the Canadian General Electric Company's Works for the Canada Foundry Co. of Toronto. They arrived here from Goderich under C. J. Amey where they were doing work on the Guelph and Goderich R.R. They registered at the Queen's Hotel and will be here all winter.

Four Moose Licenses Here.

7,000 deer shooting licenses were taken out this fall in Ontario. One was taken out by a lady, Mrs. B. Patrick of Galt, who is an enthusiastic sportswoman, and who for years has accompanied her husband hunting. Peterborough added considerably to the grand total, 40 moose hunting licenses, costing $5 each were taken out, of which four came to Peterborough, viz., to the Cottingham party

Knox Church Raises the Money.

Knox church has already raised $850 and has $150 more within tangible reach towards support of their pastor. The raising of this sum was deemed advisable before separation from St. Paul's church. The conference between the sessions of St. Paul's and Knox churches will be held at St. Paul's church this evening. This is the conference directed by the Presbytery.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weakening, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Home From the Goderich Wreck

Mr. H. Gilman in Car That Fell 95 Feet to the River.

Mr. Harvey Gilman, of this city, who was injured in the great bridge wreck at Goderich a few weeks ago arrived in the city on Saturday. He was in the car, that plunged down 95 feet into the Maitland River.

It seems that Mr. Gilman was in the car with seven others that was carrying a gantry frame supporting a 45 ton girder the Canada Foundry Co., was placing on the bridge in course of construction by them. By some unforseen cause the car turned over, presumably by a sudden gust of wind. Four of those aboard jumped as the car fell and four went with it into the river. One man, by name, John Mutterford, a Welshman, was killed, by his head being squeezed as flat as a sheet of paper Mr. Gilman had his back badly hurt and he will not be able to workfor several weeks.

Mr Gilman's brother Richard is a well known hockey player.

Mr. Hanbridge Will Be Buried Today

The funeral of the late Mr. W. J. Hanbridge, a well known and respected resident of Otonabee, who passed away Friday evening at his father's residence, will be held this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery. Our readers will remember that Mr. Hanbridge a few days ago received a terrific kick from a colt as he passed the animal's stall.

Deceased leaves to mourn his loss his mother and father, three sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. W. D. Sargeant, of Otonabee, and Misses Mary and Ella, at home. The brother is Mr. George Hanbridge, residing at home.

Rev. Dr. Marsh Accepts.

The Presbytery of Peterborough have received word from Rev. Dr. Marsh of Hamilton, that he had accepted the call tendered by Springville congregation and approved by the Presbytery of Peterborough. His induction will take place on Thursday, November 22nd.

City Council Meets Tonight.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council, will be held this evening. There is every prospect that it will be a busy session as there are several important matters to be taken up

THE CITY COUNCIL IN MONTHLY SESSION

Routine Business Only---Recommendation That D. Belleghem Get Contract for Care and Service of Ambulance Sent Back to Com.

The city fathers met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present; Mayor Henry Best, Aldermen Johnston, Tovey, Hicks, Mason, Elliott, Graham, Hall, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, McWilliams and Adams.

ELECTRICITY AT $15.

The council met in Committee of the Whole last night previous to their regular meeting, when the Otonabee Power Company submitted a proposition as to furnishing electrical power for manufacturing purposes. The company offered that, having secured a reasonable lease from the Government for No. 4 dam they would develop power from both No. 4 and No. 5 dams (they have the lease of the latter at present) under one development, which would enable them to develop 2000 electrical horse power at practically the same cost of operating the one dam over which they have now control. Under such circumstances the company would be in a position to sell 500 horse power for manufacturing purposes at $15 a horse power per annum. The Otonabee Power Company are willing to enter into an agreement with the city whereby manufacturers can secure electric power at $15 per annum, said agreement to hold good for 10 years. Incidentally, Mr. Meldrum stated that under present conditions with only No. 5 dam under development the company could not sell power at less than $18.50. The Otonabee people agree to hold 500 electrical horse power at the above quoted minimum price for all new industries in the city of Peterborough.

This proposition was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee to go into details with the Otonabee Power Company

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Donaldson, Peck & Kerr, on behalf of James English, drawing attention to the disgraceful and dangerous condition of the granolithic walk on Charlotte street, at the Wm. English Cooper Company's premises.

Ald. Tovey complained that the engineer had been instructed to attend to this matter months ago.

Ald Hicks reported that an effort will be made to level this walk at an early date.

From ratepayers on Victoria avenue, drawing attention to the disgraceful and dangerous condition of this thoroughfare, and to the unfair manner in which they claim to have been treated by the city. The complainants state that several applications have been sent in to the council for the grading and water-tabling of Victoria avenue, and also for a sidewalk; but nothing has yet been done. In the past they claim to have suffered considerably from floods, and have received from the city no compensation therefor. The complainants gave notice that legal action would be taken against the city to recover damages sustained in the future from spring and fall freshets.—Board of Works.

From Mrs. Robert Carney, seeking a refund of her exting house license fee.—License Com.

From ratepayers, asking for an electric light on west side of Stewart street, near the east side of Reid. —Fire, Water and Light Com.

The tax collector, W. J. Green, presented the following monthly statement:

Total amount on roll	$125,742 68
Amount deposited	94,487 21
Balance	$1,256 47
Amt. taken in and deposited during October	$1,375 01

From John C. Higgins, notifying the council that corporation laborers had undermined one of his sheds at 1043 Water street, and asked that the matter be enquired into.—Board of Works

From property owners asking that the sewer on Glenmour street be extended to the Monaghan road.—Board of Works.

From secretary City Trust Commissioners, drawing attention to the fact that Mr. Fitzgerald of the city street department, had removed large quantity of stone from the fences on the Hilliard farm, and asking that the fence be repaired. —Board of Works.

From Wallace Madill, city, applying for position of inspector of electric wiring.—Fire, Water and Light Committee

From Norman E. Bell, city, applying for the position of street and house wiring inspection. —Fire, Water and Light Com.

From A. D. Cartwright, secretary Board of Railway Commissioners, asking that the corporation give its objections to the G.T.R. extending a branch line on Bethune street, to the Fuel and Ortage Company's premises. From the same notifying the council that the commissioners will meet at their offices in Ottawa on Thursday, Nov. 15th, to consider the application of the G.T.R., as above. The city solicitor was authorized to see that the terms of the city's by-laws in this respect are carried out, and to protect the corporation's interests

From O'Connell & Gordon, solicitors, for Mrs. Margaret Condon, notifying the council that their client had met with an accident owing to the bad condition of Dickson street. —Board of Works.

From the Bell Telephone Company, asking permission to open up portions of Victoria avenue between Stewart and Downie streets, for extension of their lines.—Board of Works.

From ratepayers, asking for light on King street, about 1500 feet west of Park.—Fire, Water and Light Committee

From A. D. Cartwright, secretary Board of Railway Commissioners, enclosing certified copy of order of the board, No 1860, dated Oct. 10th, approving of reduction and attention of certain grades of the G.T.R. system in the city of Peterborough. Also copy of plans in connection therewith.—Board of Works.

From T. T. Simpson, C.E., Ottawa, applying for position of superintending the installation of the fire alarm system.—Fire, Water and Light.

From ratepayers, asking for sidewalk south of Perry, between Park and Aylmer streets, outside tree line. —Board of Works.

From James A. McWilliams, drawing attention to the dangerous condition of Aylmer street, near his property, and threatening to bring an action for damages should his request not be complied with.—Board of Works.

From J. H. Larmouth, secretary Peterborough Manufacturers' Com. Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, re location of fire alarm boxes.—Fire, Water and Light Com.

F.W. & L. REPORT.

Ald. Adams submitted the following;

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows;—

1. That, provided the Peterborough Light & Power Company will hang the street lights in the center of the street where directed to do so by this committee, will furnish lighting for the municipal offices, police station and fire hall up to the number of 150 16 c.p. incandescent lamps free of charge and agrees to keep the street lights turned on until one o'clock a. m., on nights when there is not clear unclouded light from the moon, in addition to the 200 full nights mentioned in their present agreement with the city this committee recommend that the council approve of the substitution of 7.5 ampere enclosed arc lamps of a pattern approved by the committee for the lamps now used for street lighting.

2. That the Peterborough Light & Power Co. be requested to place two 32 c.p. incandescent lamps on Dennistoun avenue, and one on Barnardo avenue between George and Water streets.

3 That the request of S. F. Wainright for two weeks' holidays beginning November 1st, be granted, provided he secures a substitute approved of by the chairman of the committee, and that the substitute be paid on the certificate of the chairman.

4. That the water commissioners be requested to give the Auburn Woolen Co., fire protection as soon as possible.

5. That the tender of D. Belleghem for the care and service of the Dan M. Spence ambulance for $100 for the year beginning Nov. 1st next be accepted

Clause one of this report, dealing with the change of lamps for street lighting, was referred back to the committee. The council felt that the Peterborough Light & Power Company's concession of $150 lamps for lighting municipal offices, free of charge, in consideration of being permitted to substitute the closed arc lamps for the present open type, not to be commensurate with the big saving that would be assured the company by the proposed change.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That clause 5 awarding the contract for care and service of the Dan Spence ambulance to Mr. D. Belleghem, be referred back to the committee.

Ald. Duncan justified his motion on the grounds that Mr. Belleghem is going into the country after patients, whom he charges for the service. This is not fair to Mr. Donatuck who is giving ambulance service as a private service.

Ald Wilson concurred in Ald. Duncan's stand, and urged that the city's ambulance being used in competition with a citizen living the same service is a rank injustice, and not at all compatable with the end for which the Dan Spence ambulance was secured by public subscriptions and a grant of $600 from the city.

Ald Duncan's motion was carried.

Mr Belleghem received $200 last year for care and service of this ambulance This year his tender was for but $100, and Mr. Aaron Comstock submitted a tender for the same amount

MANUFACTURERS COM. REPORT.

Ald McWilliams submitted the following;

Gentlemen, — Your Manufacturers' Committee beg leave to report as follows;—

1. In view of the circumstances attending the vote taken on October 2nd, we recommend that the bylaw to aid the Rapid Tool Company, be again submitted to the ratepayers on the day of the annual municipal elections and that the council strongly recommend to the electors the passing of the bylaw and agree to take all necessary steps to carry it into effect.

2.—Your committee received a proposition from Messrs. Freedman & Fenwick, representing Mr. Samuels of Chicago, to establish a cigar factory here They said they would employ about 50 hands and within six months expected to employ 100 The men employed would be paid from $18 to $25 per week, and the women and boys $5 to $21. They would pay at the beginning $1000 to $1200 per week. They asked for a fixed assessment for a term of years and we recommend that the proposition be agreed to and a bylaw prepared.

The report was adopted as read.

HEATING BY STEAM.

Ald. McWilliams also as one of the deputation which made a report of the inspection of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company's operations in other cities, reported very favorably of the system, and differed that the system be put into operation and maintained by the city itself instead of granting a franchise to a private company. His suggestion that this question be taken up in committee of the whole next Monday night was acquiesced in.

PAY COST OF BYLAW.

Ald. Ball here asked what action had been taken to collect from the Rolling Mills Co. cost of submitting their bylaw to the people, they having backed out of their agreement with the city at the eleventh hour.

It appears that nothing definite has yet been done in this respect, and council decided to call on the company at once for their equable share of submitting their bylaw and that of the Rapid Tool. Both bylaws were submitted at the same time.

SANITARY INSPECTOR.

Ald McIntyre reported that the Board of Health had not yet defined the duties of a sanitary inspector as requested by the council. This officer's duties would include the inspection of milk

WHO WILL BE CITY'S BANKERS.

Gentlemen.—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report as follows;—

1. That we referred the application of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company, to the Manufacturers Committee to look into and report.

2. In view of the fact that the Ontario Bank had gone out of business, your committee held a meeting with the Board of Education, the City Trust Commissioners and the Water Commissioners to consider in what way these bodies should proceed in placing their bank accounts. A joint committee was appointed consisting of the Mayor and Ald. McWilliams, chairman the City Trust Commissioners, chairman Board of Education and the chairman of the Water Commissioners, to procure from the different banks the terms in which they will carry the accounts.

3 Your committee considering it advisable to appoint an inspector of electric wiring referred the matter to the Fire, Water & Light Com.

4. Your committee met with the Board of Health to consider the appointment of a sanitary inspector and asked the Board to define the duties of such an officer.

5. We appointed a committee composed of the Mayor, Ald. Adams and Elliott to negotiate with the Government, the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., the Peterborough Cereal Co. and Mr. J. Z. Rogers, in reference to Mr. Rogers's complaint regarding filling in of the water front causing stagnant water in front of his property.

The report was adopted as read.

Ald. Ball moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham act as milk inspector until such time as a sanitary inspector be appointed.—Carried.

BYLAWS

A bylaw to authorize the execution of a contract with F. R. J. MacPherson for electric wiring the new fire hall, passed its several readings.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a sewer on King street between Bethune and Stewart streets, on sanitary grounds, passed its several readings.

A bylaw to appoint an arbitration on behalf of the corporation in the matter of the extension of George and Aylmer streets passed its several readings. Mr. Wm. Langford received the appointment.

A bylaw to authorize the execution of a conveyance to the King of a Norman school site passed its several readings.

$1500 MORE FOR STREETS.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That a further sum of $1500 be granted the Board of Works for work on Water street north, and other pressing work.

SNOW PLOWING.

Ald. Ball suggested that tenders for snow plowing be called for at once, before we are up to necks in the "beautiful." Ald. Ball proposed that this work be done to better satisfaction this year than last.

This matter will be attended to by the Board of Works at an early date.

ADDITIONAL VOTING DAY.

Ald. McWilliams suggested that as so many bylaws are to be voted on this year, it might be wise to have them voted on some time before election day. Should some night or nights bylaws be handled the same day as the elections for mayor, aldermen and school trustees.—An intelligent vote on all questions would be impracticable. This matter will be taken up next Monday night by the Committee of the Whole.

The council then adjourned.

Sequel to War Stores Scandal

Drastic Action Taken by the British War Office to Purify the Service.

London, Nov. 5.—The war office has taken drastic action with regard to the officers condemned by the war stores commission. No fewer than seven are censured; four lose seniority; and seven—including the well known Colonels Morgan and Hipwell—are retired. This decision is contained in an official communique just issued by the war office.

It will be remembered that no sooner had the Boer war finished than nasty hints began to be heard of officers who had robbed their country in the hour of need by falsifying accounts and by other devices in the purchase of all kinds of war stores. The result was that a special commission was appointed to go into the whole matter and thoroughly sift it to the bottom. This was a long job, scores of persons having been subpoenaed to give evidence, while thousands of documents and accounts had to be turned up and gone through before the truth could be learned.

It is pleasant to write that all our generals have come through the enquiry scathless. Technically, many of them were to blame, but it was shown that a general leading his troops could not reasonably attend to the question of supplies. One result of the commission will be to effect a necessary reform. In the future commanders-in-chief will not be expected to attend to the intricate and difficult business of supply. This responsible shoulders.

At the same time, those officers whose business it is to attend to the supply department and neglected their work, have been severely reprimanded by the war office. As stated above, no fewer than seven officers are retired, namely, Colonel H. J. Morgan, Captain Douglas-Jones, Major G. F. Watson, Captain J. Forsyth-Grant, Captain R. M. Simond, Quartermaster-Sergeant Shannon, and Colonel Hipwell. In addition, some ten men have been "removed from the army without retiring allowances;" in other words they have been dismissed the service.

Colonel Morgan was very popular in the army. He attained his present rank in February of last year.

Colonel Hipwell was the senior lieutenant-colonel belonging to the Army Service Corps. He joined the service so long ago as 1837

57th Regiment to Get Their Pay

The members of the 57th Regiment who are entitled to efficiency pay, may draw the same at the Bank of Ottawa any day this week. The bank will be open tomorrow evening from 7 until 8.30 o'clock. There are about 250 members in the regiment who are entitled to efficiency pay, and the amounts range from $2.40 to $6.00. Those who have put in three years' drill and attended twelve drills during the past season will receive $6 each, those of two years standing will get $4.80, and first year men who put in twelve drills and took an active interest in their work will get $2.40

Seized Yacht of Wealthy Canadian

Man Named Wegner Leaves Detroit, and $25,000 Bail, in Breach of Promise Case.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The sensational arrest of Frederick A. Wegner, the Canadian millionaire and pure food promoter, of Brantford, Ont., upon a capias issued from the Circuit Court when he was locked up under $20,000 bail by Judge Doodman, has an unexpected sequel in the seizing of his palatial steam yacht, The Albano by United States Government officers

Miss Minnie Sears, a pretty school teacher of Michigan, was the complainant in the case against Wegner, and makes sensational charges of breach of promise. After taking her from her home by false promises, she alleges he married a Canadian society girl and deserted Miss Sears.

At the time of his arrest, Wegner's Canadian wife came to Detroit and stood loyally by her husband. He was released under bail to await the trial, and immediately crossed the border into Canada, whence, it was declared, he would never return to face Miss Sears's charges in the court, it being expected that he would forfeit his bail

The seizure of his richly furnished yacht will compel him, it is thought, to return to the United States jurisdiction rather than lose his boat

Lovesick Man Threatens Death

A most romantic story albeit tinged with a large amount of "damfoolishness," has the main scene of its drama laid in this country.

It seems that Tom Weller came to this country from England, some two years ago, and owing possibly to the unusually invigorating air of the country, fell so badly in love with a young lady here, that he threatened her life in lieu of love.

For a time, Tom lived with some relatives of his in Otonabee, where he met his fate (matrimonially or otherwise) in Miss Annie Coons. It seems that Miss Coons, a most respectable young lady, did not, as the ardent lover desired, reciprocate his passion In fact she gave him "The marble heart," by going to live with friends in Douro. Thomas, the lovesick swain, hearing of his beloved's whereabouts, it is alleged, got a revolver last Friday night and, in the presence of witnesses said he would have her love or her life or clothe trick for himself. He went to the lady relative with whom he had boarded, and placing the business end of a revolver to his head, remarked, "I am going to put two holes through her head with this very gun. I am going to hel anyway."

Without pulling the hair trigger as the gun pointed his way, Thomas, having discovered where his amoreta was located, set sail, or took the wagon track, for Douro. On arrival about the hour the midnight warbling chickens ejaculate "squawk!" he asked for the young lady; at the same time, presumably to ensure a lover's welcome, pointing his gun at the bosom of his love. On account of the business end of a revolver, at her bend the girl's hostess was complacent Her husband in the meantime got a gait on and brought Constable Doidge from Lakefield. The temporary maniac was at once arrested, and taken to Lakefield, where he is held for the county court.

Thomas, the lover, comes of respectable parents, and it is to be hoped his temporary, if not prolonged confinement will cool his love-sick insanity.

Guy Fawkes' Day Was Celebrated

Last night the three hundred and first anniversary of the treacherous and murderously intended plot, whereby Guy Fawkes and those in concert with his treason hoped to blow up the British House of Commons, by barrels of gunpowder, concealed in the cellar vaults of the British House of Commons, was celebrated by the local Orangemen.

Last night, under auspices of the local Orangemen, a most successful entertainment was held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. The speakers were Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., Grand Sovereign of British America, Rev. Mr. Bright, Rev. Mr. Manning and Rev A. H. Brace. A choice program was provided. Refreshments were served in the large dining room adjoining, and no pains were spared to make it a most pleasant and profitable evening. Recitations, readings and musical numbers were well received

A DELIGHTFUL JOURNEY

Taken by Any One at Small Expense.

A bright young lady was telling a friend recently of her trip along the most delightful road she ever traveled, the food route. She said;

"For a number of years I have been a sufferer from indigestion with its attendant ailments, but my case was not sufficiently serious to cause alarm until two years ago.

"In the early part of this summer my stomach was in such a state I could take very little food owing to the intense suffering it caused, consequently I was losing flesh rapidly, and growing weaker every day. I had read about Grape-Nuts in the papers and magazines, and two months ago persuaded myself to try a package. I read the little booklet it contained and resolved to follow instructions as closely as possible

"The result may be understood when I say that I met a friend whom I had not seen for three months. Her first inquiry was, 'Where have you been all summer?' I said, for the past two months I've been traveling along the road to 'Wellville.'

"'What are you doing?' she asked.

"'I've been feasting on Grape-Nuts and drinking Postum Coffee,' I replied

"'Oh, she said, 'you are looking so well I did not know you at first sight.'

"Whereupon I told her all about it—advising her to pursue the same course and continue it indefinitely, as I shall do.

"I am now using Grape-Nuts in some form three times daily, and Postum Coffee twice a day, and I shall improve every opportunity by advising others to do likewise." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."

THE DOMINION COAL FIGHTS STEEL CO.

Biggest Industrial Fight in Canada Said to Be in Progress---Trying to Break Contract.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The biggest fight ever waged between two Canadian industrial concerns has been started between the Dominion Coal Co. and Dominion Iron and Steel Co., and it is said the Coal Company will try to break the contract it has with the Steel Company. The present contract is for 999 years, but details are adjustable every five years.

The Dominion Coal Co. has already broken a practical similar contract with the New England Gas and Coke Company. It was made when Mr. H. M. Whitney of Boston was in control of the Dominion Coal Company, and the contention of Mr. James Ross and his associates in the Coal Co., is that the old management exceeded its powers when it made any such contract. Besides, the Coal Company contends that the Steel Company is now in good enough condition to enable it to make a more equitable contract, especially as a few years ago it was only by the action of the Dominion Coal Company in leasing its property to the Steel Company that the latter was enabled to prevent itself from going into liquidation.

The Steel Company will fight for the maintenance of the present contract. By it the Steel Company could call on the Coal Company for any amount of run of mine it might require, and the Coal Company was bound to supply it even before it could attend to its other customers

Several blast furnaces of the Steel Company had to close down Saturday for lack of coal. The Steel Company contend that they were being supplied by the Coal Company with an inferior quality. This became so pressing; that they began the importations, a few months ago of a supply from the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company at Sydney Mines. They brought over 30,000 tons, and have ordered more. This cost cost them considerably more at the plant than the Glace Bay product, and the company, it is understood, charged the Dominion people with the difference in cost.

President Ross refused to pay this, and went further by practically shutting down their supply. Such is the common version of the cause of the difficulty. It now looks that should this continue, even for a few days, the entire plant will have to close down, and throw 1,700 men out of employment

Treasurer is Missing Also $50,000

Reserva Fund of the Danish Brotherhood of America Has Been Embezzled.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—J. Christian Eskilson of Chicago, thrice supreme treasurer of the Danish Brotherhood of America, is missing and it is found that from $40,00 0to $50,000 of the order's funds is gone. Eskilson was not been seen Oct. 20.

W. H. Vogbt of Davenport, Iowa, supreme president, and Martin Larsen of Racine, supreme vice-president, yesterday concluded an examination of Eskilson's accounts, which they say, reveals the immense shortage. They declare that practically all of the reserve fund is gone. Seven thousand dollars of it is said to have been lost in the failure of Paul G. Stensland's bank.

Mrs Eskilson, at her home last night, said that she would repay all the shortage that may be or has been found. According to reports from Racine, where many prominent members of the order reside, she already has turned over $17,000 worth of Chicago property.

Eskilson, who has been a resident of Chicago for more than 40 years, was a business partner of John J. Wheeler, doing a general roofing business. According to Wheeler, Eskilson complained on Oct. 20 of being ill. He left a note saying; "I am sick and tired. I will go to a sanitarium for a short time to rest and recuperate until I get my strength back."

Large Crowd at Marks' Bros.

Last night a large and delighted audience greeted that old familiar and always popular aggregation, Marks Bros. The specialties of the company are all good and to give praise to individual members of the company would be invidious. Every member of the company is an artist. Had the company other theatrical facilities they would undoubtedly play to houses that could not contain the crowds.

OBITUARY

Mr. J. P Hurley of Lindsay Has Passed Away.

Word was received in the city yesterday of the death of Mr. P. J. Hurley, of Lindsay, who was a prominent business man in that town He was formerly engaged in the grocery business, but of late years had conducted a boot and shoe establishment. The funeral will take place in Lindsay tomorrow at nine o'clock

The late Mr. Hurley was a brother of Mr John Hurley, of Charlotte street, and an uncle of Mr. T. J. Begley, of Victoria avenue, Peterborough. He was a leading member of St. Mary's church, Lindsay, of the C.M.B.A., and Knights of Columbus. Many friends will learn of his death with regret.

Alvah Wilson Was Badly Injured

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Alvah Wilson, foreman for the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., met with an accident that might have terminated fatally He had just got back to the Bank of Commerce building, where he went up on a scaffold to examine some work. He lost his balance, and fell to the floor a distance of some 10 or 12 feet.

His back was injured and his legs were bruised, as well as his whole body being severely shaken up generally The injured man was carried into the manager's office until a cab took him to his home on Westcott street

We, in conjunction with his many friends hope that Mr. Wilson will soon be able to go round and give his valuable services to the work he began on.

Steamboat News of Yesterday

The steamer Beaver, with Captain White in command, yesterday brought down a barge load of wood from Gilchrist Bay, Stony Lake, for Messrs. Weir & McIntyre.

—The Str. Sovereign yesterday brought down a crib of boom timber for the McDonald Company.

—Str. Water Lily yesterday went to Stony Lake, via the lift lock, to bring back a cargo of wood.

The Str. Ajax, of Bobcaygeon, left yesterday over the lift lock for Lakefield, to bring down a barge load of cement.

The Str Lady of the Lake, that brought down a barge load of lumber, went north yesterday to Buckhorn for a return cargo.

Master H. Pinch Was Laid to Rest

Yesterday morning the last mortal remains of the late Harold Pinch, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pinch, formerly of this city, who died in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, was held from the residence of his uncle, Mr. Z. Bridgett, Antrim street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The deceased, underwent an operation for appendicitis, which his constitution was not strong enough to stand. The boy was just seven years and eleven months of age and was a bright and loving child.

HARMFUL STOMACH DOSING

No Need of it When Hyomei is Used to Cure Catarrh.

Physicians and scientists agree that the less medicine one swallows, the better. It is in keeping with this idea that Hyomei is recommended by leading physicians throughout this and other catarrhal sections.

When this treatment is used in catarrhal troubles, there is no stomach dosing, for the medicine is taken in with the air you breathe, and goes right to the spot where the catarrhal germs are present, healing the inflamed and irritated mucous membrane, killing the disease germs and entering the blood with the oxygen, driving all catarrhal germs from the system.

Do not try to cure catarrh of the head by putting medicine into your stomach—this is neither a scientific nor common-sense treatment. Breathe the healing balsams of Hyomei and in a few days you will notice relief, and its continued use will result in a complete and lasting cure.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle, of Moncton, N. B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, gave me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE HABIT OF WALKING

After wandering far into the interminable reaches of more or less important speculation, science has returned to the starting point—Nature. Within the past few years there has been a tremendous sentiment in favor of the fresh air treatment for many diseases, especially those of a pulmonary character. Physicians of today—those who are honest with their patients—advocate walks in the out of doors for cases that a few years ago they would have sent to bed.

While fresh air is being resorted to as a cure, it must be remembered also that fresh air is particularly effective as a preventive. This is demonstrated among those employments that call for outdoor work, and especially employment in the woods or the open country where the air is sweet and uncontaminated. Those who spend most of their time in the open are seldom sick of those disorders so common to city life.

City dwellers who are content to remain cooped up in brick and stone these days are missing the most beautiful season of the year in this part of Canada. After the first few heavy frosts the woods become chromatic fairyland and the air has a tonic effect that starts the blood and rejuvenates the muscles. It is a pity that more of those who live in Peterborough do not take advantage of the superb opportunities that abound all around them for enjoying the autumn days in the country.

The habit of walking is an excellent one to form. Busy men and women make the excuse that they have no time to take walks, but this is because they do not realize how beneficial walking is. When it is too late they sometimes try the remedy which is so cheap that it is within the reach of the poorest. If the men and women of the city should make it a point to take a walk each morning, irrespective of the weather, they would do more than medicine can accomplish in keeping well and warding off those diseases that kill so many people in the winter season. To say that one has not time is merely to say that one is willing to take chances with disease because of unreasonable laziness or injudicious application to business. A daily walk in all kinds of weather soon becomes a rare pleasure as well as a guarantee of good health. It does not suffice for one to walk downtown, for while this is better than not walking at all, yet to be of greatest benefit the walk should be in fresh, pure air that is found only in the suburbs.

United States Could Not Conquer Canada

London, Nov. 5.—The Spectator, dealing with the Newfoundland matter, says:

"We are the last people to desire that the legitimate rights of any colony should be infringed, but it seems to us that in the present case the Government were quite right to arrange a modus vivendi. It would be impossible for the whole Empire to go to war with the United States over a small fishery dispute. But if this is so, and if, as we understand is the case, the colony is opposed to arbitration, nothing remains but negotiation.

"If the Newfoundland colonists will reflect, they will see the impossibility of forcing matters to war. Curiously enough, the miseries of a war thus provoked would fall neither upon us, nor the newfoundlanders, owing to our immense preponderance at sea, but upon the Canadians. They would be the special sufferers in a quarrel with which they have very little to do. We by no means imagine that the Americans could conquer Canada if the Canadians were determined to resist, as we are sure they would be; but even an attempt at the invasion of Canada would cause immense loss and misery to the Dominion. In the circumstances, we believe that Sir Edward Grey should receive the support of all true Imperialists in the difficult work he has undertaken of finding through negotiation a solution acceptable and fair to both parties to the dispute. We must not forget that the Newfoundlanders have in past years often accused us of sacrificing them to France, and yet Newfoundland has managed to hold her own in the cod fisheries."

The Engineering Magazine

The Engineering Magazine for November opens with an important article on patents as a factor in manufacturing, by Edwin J. Prindle, pointing out the knowledge of patent law which should be acquired before issuing a new product. O. M. Becker presents a study of practical modern adaptations of the apprenticeship system—a most necessary development, in view of the threatened disappearance of the old-time "all-around mechanic," by whom the modern industries were largely built up. H. W. Jacobs follows his exposition of economy in the equipment and management of the railway machine shop, and J. V. V. Collier discusses the up-to-date foundry from the same point of view. F. H. Lewis takes up the theme as it appears in the successful cement-making establishment, and A. E. Dixon applies it to the power plant. Enrico Bignami contributes an illustrated description of a new Swiss electric station, and Wm. O. Webber closes the number with a criticism of Dr. Bell's recent searching inquiry into American manufacturing methods and policy, which was published in The Engineering Magazine for September last. The Review of the Engineering Press and the Engineering Index to the technical literature of the world occupy sixty pages of the number. The Engineering Magazine, New York.

The Sunflower and Its Uses.

The sunflower is a native of America. In 1569 it was introduced into Europe and is now extensively cultivated there, particularly in Russia, where it is grown principally for the oil contained in its seed. The seeds after the shells are removed contain 34 per cent of oil. This oil is clear, light yellow, nearly odorless and of a peculiar pleasant and mild taste. It is said to be superior to both almond and olive oil for table purposes and is used in making soap and candles. In Russia the larger seeds are sold in immense quantities to the lower classes of the people, who eat the kernels as we do peanuts. The stalks furnish a valuable fertiliser, while the green leaves are dried, pulverised and mixed with meal as food for cows. The stalk produces an excellent flavor. It is said that Chinese silk goods commonly contain more or less sunflower fiber. The so called Niger seed oil is made from a species of sunflower family which is a native of Abyssinia. It furnishes the common lamp oil of upper India, where it is largely cultivated.

Bay Tree Beliefs.

Long before the time of Shakespeare the bay tree was an object of superstition. The withering of such a tree was believed to be a sure indication of coming misfortune to those with whom it was in any way connected. Shakespeare gave voice to the superstition in "Richard II." when he made one of his characters say:

'Tis thought the king is dead; we'll not stay—
The bay trees in our country are withered.

It was thought by the ancients that lightning would never harm this tree, and it was customary among them to carry bay leaves as a charm against the thunderbolts of Jove. The same belief was long prevalent in England, and reference to it may be found in an old poem dedicated to Ben Jonson:

I see that wreathe which doth the wearer arm
'Gainst the quick strokes of thunder is no charm
Nor [illegible] death's pale dart.

Piles quickly and positively cured with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. It's made for Piles alone—and it does the work surely and with satisfaction. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large, Nickel Capped glass jars, 50 cents. Said and recommended by J. D. Tully.

Half-Sick

When your nerves are weak, when you are easily tired, when you feel all run down, that is the time you need a good strong tonic—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Your doctor will tell you why it has such power over weak nerves, why it makes the blood rich, and why it gives courage and strength. Ask him if it is not just the medicine you need.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

WEDDING STATIONERY

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS are always in order. The season for the final result of being a disciple of Cupid finds expression in the Hymeneal ceremony at the altar—that occasion when "two hearts that beat as one" are joined together—pronounced one.

For this auspicious occasion the printing must be chastely dignified—must be appropriate in appearance to this one time of life when everything "best" is deemed—when happiness reigns supremely.

Marriage Announcements
Marriage Invitations
Marriage Reception Cards
Post Nuptial Reception Cards

All of these we are able to supply in a proper form and printed artistically. Our work is conducted under the supervision of skilled typographical mechanics and may be unhesitatingly presented to the most fastidious critic.

Our charges for such work are moderate—yet good printing is ever valuable. However, we give quality for our figures, and an order entrusted to our care will be speedily, carefully and satisfactorily executed.

No work can be well done which has to be done hurriedly. Time is necessary for the accomplishment of faultless printing. We will fulfil all expectations if given ample time for completion.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

THE LIBERTY CAP.

Its Significance Dates Away Back to Early Greek Times.

From very early times one of the distinguishing marks of a slave, both in Greece and oriental countries generally, was the lack of any covering for the head. Accordingly the cap came to be considered the insignia of liberty, and when slaves were given their freedom they were presented with a cap as an emblem of it. In Sparta the helots wore a cap of dogskin, and this was reckoned a badge of servitude, but upon gaining their freedom this was replaced by a cap of a different material, of another shape and ornamented with flowers. A similar custom was observed in Rome, where the presentation of the pileus, or cap, was always a part of the ceremony of manumitting a slave; hence arose the proverb, "Servos ad pileum vocare." Also on medals the cap is the symbol of liberty and is usually represented as being held in the right hand by the point. When a cap was exposed to the people's view on the top of a spear, as in the case of the conspiracy against Caesar, it was intended as a public invitation to them to embrace the liberty that was offered them. The Goddess of Liberty on Mount Aventime was represented as holding a cap in her hand as a symbol of freedom. The Jacobins wore a red cap during the French revolution, and in England a blue cap with a white border is used as a symbol of liberty. The custom which prevails among university students of wearing a cap is said to have had its origin in a wish to signify that the wearers had acquired full liberty and were no longer subject to the red of their superiors.

RESTAURANTS.

The First of Them Was Established in Paris in 1765.

For a long time inns and eating houses in France were only intended for the benefit of traveling people, for the people took their meals at home and restaurants were unknown. The first enterprise of the kind was founded in Paris in 1765. A citizen by the name of Boulanger opened in the Rue des Poulies an eating house where soup, meat, fowl and eggs were served. A chronicler relates that "meals were served there on small, round marble tables and everything was scrupulously clean.

Over the entry to this first eating house the proprietor had hung a sign, upon which were the Latin words, "Venite ad me omnes quae stomacho laboratis, et ego restaurabo vos" (Come unto me all ye whose stomachs need attention, and I will restore them). This is a parody on the well known Biblical quotation, "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," only in place of labor and heavy laden he said, "whose stomachs need attention." The word "restaurabo," from the Latin "restaurare" (restore or refresh), was the main characteristic of the new establishment and gave it its name. Boulanger amassed a large fortune, for his enterprise proved eminently successful, but he was soon imitated, some of his imitators becoming more famous than he.

A Child Wonder.

The French Academy of Sciences in 1729 examined the case of a French lad only seven years old who, in all respects save that of intelligence, was the equal of a man of twenty. His remarkable physical development began when he was two years old. At four he could do the farm work of a boy of fifteen or sixteen, and at seven he was a fully grown man. Although his physique was thus remarkably developed, his intelligence was no greater than that of children of the same age. He died before he was twenty. As is usual in such cases of premature development, his strength faded away, and he became prematurely old before other men would attain maturity.

The Pandects of Justinian.

The pandects of Justinian, the most complete body of Roman laws ever collected, were supposed to be lost, but in 1137, when Amalfi was taken and plundered by the Pisans, a private soldier found a copy, which he sold to an officer for a few pence. The value of the discovery was soon apparent, and the precious volume was taken to Pisa and stored in the city library. When Pisa was stormed by the Florentines in 1115 the precious volume was captured and taken to Florence, where it was placed in the library of the Medici.

Needles.

Needles are all made by machinery. The piece of mechanism by which the needle is manufactured takes the rough steel wire, cuts it into proper lengths, files the point, flattens the head, pierces the eye, then sharpens the tiny instrument and gives it that polish familiar to the purchaser. There is also a machine by which needles are counted and placed in the papers in which they are sold, these being afterward folded by the same contrivance.

True Wealth.

A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies men will ask what property he has left behind him, but angels will inquire, "What good deeds hast thou sent before thee?"—From the Arabic.

Bribeless.

To be content is to be happy, and Happiness is one of the three who cannot be bribed; the other two are Love and Death.—Papyrus.

A man cannot leave a better legacy to the world than a well educated family.—Thomas Scott.

FISHING FOR BIRDS.

Catching Gulls and Albatross With Rod and Line.

Curious though it may seem, it is a fact that birds are caught with rod and line in many parts of the world. The pastime is declared to be almost as fascinating as fishing. Gulls in Newfoundland are caught in this way in large quantities. In New England fishing for gulls and petrels is an important industry.

The method of bird fishing is practically the same as that of ordinary fishing. Two men go out in a dory and throw pieces of cod liver on the water. When large quantities of birds have been attracted to the spot more cod liver is thrown out on a hook. This the birds greedily swallow and thus fall easy victims.

Albatross are fished for in the same way off the Cape of Good Hope. A piece of pork is attached to a long line and thrown overboard. The bird will eye it for a long time, gradually and cautiously making toward it. Suddenly he will seize it and hold it in his beak. When he discovers that he is caught he will sit on the water and vigorously flap his wings. However, he will be drawn into the boat and made a captive.

Albatross fishing is good sport, since the bird requires careful handling. So long as he pulls against the line it is easy enough. The moment, however, he swims forward the hook will drop from his beak unless it is skillfully manipulated, and the bird will find himself free.

A CURIOSITY IN BOOKS.

The Famous Chained Library of Wimbourne, Ireland.

Wimbourne, Ireland, is noted for many things, but its famous chained library is perhaps the most notable of its curiosities. The library possesses unique interest as being one of the earliest attempts to disseminate knowledge among the people. The collection was made accessible to the people in 1686 and numbers some 200 volumes. The scarcity of books and the value of the collection are both indicated in the care taken for their preservation, and especially against loss of such treasures by theft. By means of chains and rods the books were securely fastened to the shelves, and these chains, it is rather surprising to learn, were not removed until 1857, when the library fittings were repaired. Among the interesting works of the collection is a copy of the first edition of Sir Walter Raleigh's "History of the World," 1614. It has suffered from fire, and tradition says that Matthew Prior was responsible for its condition, the story being that he fell asleep when reading it once upon a time, and the pages were burned by his candle. It has been neatly repaired, and its mishap now adds to its interest. The oldest volume in the library is a fine old copy in vellum of "Regimum Animarum." It is in manuscript and bears the date 1343.

First Glimmer of a Star.

A little girl, the French critic Sarcey related, once presented herself at the Paris Conservatoire in order to pass the examination for admission. All she knew was the fable of "The Two Pigeons," but she had no sooner recited the opening lines when Auber stopped her, with a gesture.

"Enough," he said. "Come here, my child."

The little girl, who was pale and thin, but whose eyes gleamed with intelligence, approached him with an air of assurance.

"Your name is Sarah?" he said.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"You are a Jewess?"

"Yes, sir, by birth, but I have been baptized."

"She has been baptized," said Auber, turning to his colleagues. "She has said her fable of 'The Two Pigeons' very well. She must be admitted."

Thus Sarah Bernhardt, for it was she, entered the Conservatoire.

A Kitten and a Needle.

A short time ago a woman living in England was petting her kitten, when she suddenly felt something scratch her hand. On examining the spot whence the scratch proceeded, she felt the point of a needle sticking out of poor pussy's neck fur. The needle was pulled out by her husband, and another surprise was experienced when it was found that a length of thread was attached to the needle, both having passed down the kitten's throat and out again from the fur.

An Eye Opener.

"How does your father seem to regard my coming here?" anxiously asked Adolphus of little Bobby, while Miss Maud was upstairs getting ready to present herself.

"He don't care nothin' about it," replied Bobby carelessly.

"So he has no objections, eh? But what did he say, my little man?"

"He said if Maud had a mind to make a fool of herself, why let her."

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $20,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M. E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M. E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M. E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M. E., says: "I have not seen the equal anywhere considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 25 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 25 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

YOU NEED STRENGTH

Vitality is Lacking and You Must Have a Bracing Tonic at Once

You're sick and need medicine.

Not an emulsion to sicken the stomach, not a "dope" cure, nor bitters,—but a nourishing tonic that will increase weight, strength and spirits.

Try Ferrozone and watch the result. Because it gives instant effect and steadily builds up new flesh, it is used by thousands in ill-health.

No other medicine contains more nutriment, supplies better building material, makes you feel well and strong as quickly as it did Mrs. Charles Benny, of Cloyne, Ont.

HER STATEMENT.

"I was sick.

"I was broken down, had no strength, couldn't eat, I was sleepless.

"My nerves were irritable. I was thin-blooded and continually unhappy.

"I tried Ferrozone.

"It gave me new energy, force, vim. It brought me comfort, strength—it made me well."

It's by making the appetite good, by instilling iron and ozone in the blood, by fortifying the system with reserve strength, that Ferrozone accomplishes so much.

You'll have new life in a week, in a month you'll be a new being. Try Ferrozone, it always justifies itself. 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

—Messrs. Arthur Ruff and Benj. H. Bowe, of the Marks' Bros Company, are guests of the Palace Hotel, of which the proprietor is a graduate of the American Stage himself.

—Rev Father F. J. O'Sullivan, of Lindsay, lectured before St. Peter's T.A.S. yesterday evening on "Modern Catholic Literature. Father O'Sullivan is the founder of the Society.

—Mr. Reynolds received a car-load of ice from Peterborough, costing him for ice and freight, per ton, $5.55, showing that the people of Lindsay are not paying too much for their ice.—Lindsay Post.

A new large plate glass has been placed in F. Hooper's confectionery store, upper George street, formerly Loost's Palm Gardens, to repace the one broken a couple of months ago. The broken glass in Loch's fur store was also replaced yesterday.

—Bruce Lee & Co., the well known, and Charlotte street liverymen yesterday sent out two rigs, a wagon and a carriage to gid Depot at the foot of Gull Lake to bringhome some of the Gold Lake Hunt Club, so as to make room at theircottage for others of the club who leave here on Wednesday.

Messrs. Kinnears' Building Opens

The splendid new wholesale grocery premises of Messrs. T. Kinnear & Co., are now open for business, and shipping goods all over Central and Eastern Ontario, under management of Mr. E. W. Davey.

Messrs. Kinnear & Co., hold a large share of the retail trade of Canada, their head offices being in Toronto, and there is no doubt but what the Peterborough branch will augment their business, under the new local conditions as it has since its inception here in much less commodious premises. Their method of transaction commends appeals to the grocery trade, who give them a good portion of their trade.

In the new building, which is 75 by 30 feet in size, there are three floors and a basement, with all modern improvements and fitted as well as built specially for the requirements of the firm's business.

Messrs. Kinnear are so thoroughly assured of their future success that they are willing and even anxious to have any local grocer, or other trades thruout the new premises, which they consider one of the most up-to-date places in the Province of Ontario.

Mr. J. G. Bardall is local representative of the firm and is one of the most popular travellers on the road. Mr. B Misner is another traveller of this large firm, whose territory is practically unlimited.

A Handy Home Book.

One of the most useful books ever issued is that entitled "A Handy Home Book" published by the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal. It is the best educator we have seen—crimfull of those things every one should know yet few people do know. It is a family doctor and cook book. To see it is to want itandnever part with it. It is a credit to Canada's great weekly paper. The Family Herald and Weekly Star is bigger value than ever this year. Their premium picture, "A Tug of War," is also greatly admired. The combination is certainly a big dollar's worth.

Dunmer Hunter Treed by Bear.

Yesterday a resident of Dummer township was in the city and in conversation with a Times representative, noted that a hunter from his township, one day last week went a hunting near Eel's creek. He met a bear and pulled the trigger of his rifle. Unfortunately the cartridge did not respond to the contact of the trigger. The hunter took to the seclusion that a big pine tree grants and kept his seat aloft till removed by friends.

Can Cheap Meals be Sold Here?

It is rumored that a company is to be formed that will give meals in this city at nominal price. We hope this is true but before expecting dividends those in the company had better consult the farmers and merchants as to chance for an immediate reduction in present price of eggs, butter, poultry, meats, flour, light and one hundred and several more commodities upon which an economic administration of home finances are dependant. It seems that prices in this city are a record for Canada, and to buy and sell at a profit at cheap prices will make the head of even a Rockefeller or a J. Ogden Armour swim.

The Crowes Go A-Hunting.

On Friday Mr. Chris Crowe, of Stony Lake, last Friday, with his son, Mr. Walter Crowe, and his son-in-law, Mr. Fred McAdams, of Belmont, went into the woods near Mr. Crowe's home. At the conclusion of the day's hunt, Mr. Chris Crowe had killed a splendid buck that weighed 230 pounds when dressed. Mr. Walter Crowe had shot another that tipped the scales at 210 pounds, whilst Mr. McAdams bag was one weighing 212 pounds and a buck at that.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Blood root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

Former Local Lady Eulogized

The Deloraine, Man., Times, says, With tender sadness we record the death on Monday, October 15th, of Winnifred, the bright and loving eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gervin, of Medora, Man., formerly of Peterborough. After five weeks of sickness and fever delirium she entered the eternal calm of the eternal love of God from whom the beautiful and thoughtful spirit had short conscious existence, and being on earth. The burial services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Welsh, and the mortal frame was interred in the Medora cemetery on Wednesday, Oct. 17th. We, with many others, sympathize with the sorrowing parents and would direct their minds to the fact that such sweet, angelic characters as her's was known to be, are wisely sent to radiate soft influence in the lives and in the home of the family and could we pierce the mighty mystery of the spirit world, we would acknowledge that they are more wisely early removed from our infinite care and love and a possible life of storm and misery. Father and Mother! Thank God that the little stream of life which was lovingly connected with the river of yours, had its source in Almight love and has now returned to Him again.

VOL XXXIV. NO. 262 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7 1906 PRICE TWO CENTS

McGILL ORDERED $816,-335 TO BE WRITTEN OFF

Mr. Chenoweth's Evidence as to the Manipulations of the Bank's Assets---Case Against Mr. Cockburn Adjourned for a Week.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—The point of outstanding importance revealed this morning in the Ontario Bank investigation was that made by Walter Chenoweth, who, in several Government statements signed himself as provincial chief accountant. He stated that on September 10, 1906 about one month before the bank's difficulty was made known, $816,335.51, representing losses on stock investments, were written off on the instructions of Mr. McGill, former general manager, that the entries in the books respecting these alleged securities were made upon his instructions, and that frequently large amounts representing loss on alleged speculations with New York and local firms were so written off.

At Mr. Arnoldi's request the case in which Mr. Cockburn is concerned was adjourned for one week.

Mr. Chenoweth was still in the box when the Ontario Bank case was resumed in the police court in the afternoon.

Magistrate Denison made a deduction or two, and Mr. Johnston took exception to them. Mr. Chenoweth was replying to questions covering brokerages entries, not as such, but as if the brokers had borrowed money from the bank.

"Any interest ever charged these firms?" asked his Worship.

"I don't know."

"Had the bank tried to collect?"

"I don't know."

"I have tried a good many cases of embezzlement by means of bogus entries," said Magistrate Denison, "Ordinarily, I might consider this a case in point."

"In the July returns," said Mr. Corley, "these items appear 'to belong to the Ontario Bank as 'current loans in Canada.'"

"Then the assumption is," ventured his Worship, "that these people did not get the money."

"That's not the fact," differed Mr. Johnston. "These are stock speculations."

"Isn't this embezzlement?" asked the magistrate.

"Oh, no," emphasized Mr. Johnston.

"Well, I have had many cases in which sums of money have figured, and in which there have been stock speculations."

"This is not one of those cases," rejoined Mr. Johnston.

"What's the total loss?" asked the Magistrate. "The misentries total $1,400,000," said Chenoweth.

Then Mr. Corley led the witness into the labyrinth of the over-due debts were made to appear smaller and the current debt larger, and the figures so appeared in the Government reports.

"That the figures there in those columns were arbitrary statements and had no regard to the actual position of these accounts?"

"That is it, sir."

Chenoweth showed that the value of real estate and property other than bank property had been placed in the return as $25,000 while they were carried in the bank books at $11,500. The difference was deducted from current loans and added to real estate values.

"Under whose order did you do that?"

"The special order of Mr. McGill."

Bank premises, Chenoweth said, had been entered in the books of the head office as valued at $139,000, while, in the Government report, it appeared as 25,$000. The difference was sent to swell the total of the current loans fund.

Upon the item of 'other assets' there had been a manipulation of $19,000, which had gone to fictitiously inflate the current loan fund reported to the Government, Mr. McGill and ordered the manipulation.

"Did you do this work with the knowledge it was wrong?" queried the magistrate.

"Yes," replied Mr. Chenoweth, "but I was only a clerk, and had no right to question my superior's orders."

"You signed a false report To the Government?"

"No I signed that the figures were correct, as they appeared upon the bank's books, and so they were, but they did not represent true values."

Up to July 31st there was held in sundry of $136,614.58, representing Barge's, Ontario Bank stock. On July 31 the bank held 1,009 1-3 shares. On the same date 132 shares stood in the name of "Charles M. Gill in trust." These shares were bought through Bruce-Mitchell, Pellat & Pellatt and Ames & Co. All these shares were transferred to th eofficers' guarantee fund.

Accidental Shot Killed Brother

Edward Wilson of the Township of Alleyne Victim of Hunting Fatality.

Kazebazua, November 7.—On Friday afternoon last, while out hunting near Danford lake, in the township of Alleyne, Edward Wilson, of that township, was accidentally shot and killed by his brother. The two young men were going through the bush together, when a branch caught the trigger of the brother's gun and the charge struck and wounded him so that he died in a very short time.

Coroner Hurdman, of Bryson, on investigating the circumstances of the case, found that the sad occurrence was entirely accidental, and as the relatives and local authorities were perfectly satisfied that this was so, he disposed of the matter without calling a jury, and gave permission for the interment of the body.

Important Arrest Made Yesterday

An important arrest was made yesterday afternoon by Chief Rozel and P. C. Newbald, when William Jordan was gathered in.

This result was a result of the proceedings held on yesterday's police court by Edward Welsh who looked as if he had been through a threshing machine His lips were swollen and cut, his nose badly bruised, and his hands considerably lacerated. His home is in Lindsay, and he went to a local livery stable on Monday, and engaged a man to take him to Lindsay. He was in an intoxicated condition In an inside vest pocket he had some $62, a watch and other articles. The acting magistrate considered that he had been sufficiently punished and allowed him to go.

Yesterday afternoon, the officers above noted captured the prisoner as said On his person was the watch alleged to have been stolen from Welsh, as well as $8.75 in cash. His case will probably be tried this morning.

Latest Reports From S. Francisco

Yesterday Mr. Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P., received a letter from a lady relative of his who is living in good financial circumstances in San Francisco. His female correspondent assured him that a reign of terror still dominates that earthquake shaken city. His correspondent, Miss Swain said, in her letter, that it is still unsafe for man or woman to display or carry money on their persons as thugs and thieves are everywhere present and only too prone to hold up anyone with money. The greater part of those who prey on persons having money are workmen attracted by promises of large wages to be paid in the Golden City. For instance, the wages advertised to be paid to plasters are $8 a day, and to her trades in proportion. The writer noted that the mayor of the city, when this disaster occurred and for some time after, whilst generous subscriptions began to pour into San Francisco, suddenly went on a trip to Europe, presumably to no loss to himself.

A few days ago Miss Swain went out to visit the remains of Stanford University and was disagreeably surprised to find that only the large and costly organ of that seat of learning was left intact in the Memorial chapel.

The Times New Serial Story

This morning The Times contains the first chapter of that exciting and most instructive novel which has until recently been debarred from general public use by copyright, entitled "David of the Blessed Isles." This book written by Irving Hatchelor, is one of the strongest ever given over to cold type and printers' ink. We would thoroughly advise our readers to cut out, day by day, the various parts of this splendid work, and preserve them until the complete novel is printed.

As a suggestion we might say that those philanthropically minded, could follow the example set by a former Times employe. This lady used to cut out The Times' serial story, paste the daily allowance one to a card, through the left hand upper corner of the respective accumulated cards, she ran a ribbon. When the whole story was completed, she sent the ribbon-bound cards with the whole story complete to an hospital here. Thus, those too ill in an hospital to hold up a full weight book can pick up one sheet at a time, and thus get the grist of a whole novel. Look out for The Times new serial.

Public Heating Further Noted

The report presented by Chairman McWilliams of the Manufacturers' Committee of the city council, speaking for the deputation which visited several American cities, and also Chatham, Ont., reads as follows:

"Your committee sent deputations to Lockport, N.Y., and other places to enquire into the district steam heating system and having considered their reports we recommend that a meeting of the committee of the whole council be held on the evening of Nov. 12th, to consider the advisability of looking into the matter further with a view to establishing it as a municipal enterprise.

It might be noted that whilst this report has appeared in a former issue of The Times, by special request of several prominent ratepayers, we risk the possible charge of duplication by giving it again.

Local and Hamilton Services.

Hamilton, Ont., has a street car strike on with all the unpleasant details connected with such an unfortunate affair. If the Ambitious City would only take pattern by the management of the Peterborough Street Railway lines such a regrettable state of affairs would be avoided. Here the service is too well known to require comment and the employes are perfectly satisfied. Mr. Larmonth has brought the service to a high state of efficiency and those employed are, as far as can be ascertained, perfectly satisfied with existing conditions.

SUNDAY ALWAYS

Day of Rest (?) and a Splitting Headache.

Many persons dread to see Sunday come around. But it's a fine day if used right.

A Washington man recently looked into the matter and found why he had such a mean time of it Sundays—and other days, too.

"Up to about ten months ago I was afflicted with severe headaches two of three times a week and always on Sundays.

"Indeed, it became such a settled thing that I dreaded to see Sunday come. At first I agreed the Sunday headaches to the fact that I did not rise as early as on other days. In order to test it I began to rise just as early Sundays but the headaches seemingly go worse.

"At last I concluded that coffee of which I was very fond, and used particularly on Sunday was the direct cause of my trouble. I stopped at once and commenced Postum, since which time the headaches have not only entirely disappeared, but I feel better in other ways.

"I would not now go back to coffee under any circumstances. At first neither I nor my family liked the taste of Postum, because, as I afterwards learned we did not make it right.

"In recommending Postum to friends, we always try to impress on them the necessity of thoroughly boiling it, according to directions on pkg." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

MANY MILLIONS ARE DESTROYED

Postage Stamps Belonging to the Government

DAMP AND STUCK TOGETHER

Forty Millions Were Placed in Vault in Post Office Before Concrete Was Dry.

Ottawa, November 7.—Millions of postage stamps belonging to the government have been rendered useless. They were part of the reserve stock, placed in a new strong room in the post office. Current gossip among the employes of the post office places an interesting story behind it.

Orders were given that in the new post office a room, burglar proof and fireproof, should be erected to hold the reserve postage stamps of the Dominion. This room was built, but it was built without a ventilator. One of the officials of the post office department, when he saw that there was no ventilator, ordered the workmen to put one in. This was done. But it seems that later the ventilator was closed up.

Forty million stamps were then put in the strong room, and left for some weeks. Then some were required and when the clerk took them out he found they had become damp from the atmosphere of the chamber, and had stuck together, many of them being rendered useless.

Today there is a ventilator in the chamber, and an electric heater is at work drying it out.

Mr. James A. Gouin, postmaster of Ottawa, seen by a reporter regarding the matter, said half the stories heard concerning the post-office were mere concoctions. The fault regarding the stamps was simply that they had been put in the vault before it was dry.

Mr. Wm. J. H. Adams, who had charge of the construction of the vault, said that a ventilator was never put in a vault. The chamber was built of cement, and the stamps were put in it before it was dry. Had the officials waited until the chamber was dry it would have been all right.

Christian Science Article Discussed

(To the Editor of The Times):

Dear Sir,—In your Monday's paper I saw an article referring to the recent consensus of opinion concerning those belonging to the Christian Scientists, that they were going to have an investigation made of the affairs of this so-called religious body. Your article clearly showed that the Christian Scientists of America, have decided to hold an impartial investigation of the financial matters of this body. You also noted, in a manly and unprejudiced way, that the head of this faction, Mrs. Eddy, was ill and had employed a substitute to take her place, during the drive Mrs. Eddy was accustomed to take daily, so that her Mrs. Eddy's adherents would not be aware that she was ill. I must say Mr. Editor, that the article should make the public proud of you and your paper.

It is well known that the Christian Scientists promulgate what to me seems an insane idea, viz.: "That there is no life, truth or intelligence in matter." Thus the action of this lady, who has made millions out of her written matter clearly proves that she, whilst sorry to print such words about a sick woman, is a fraud as judged by her teachings as to "matter." If she were a true believer and living exponent of her doctrines she could not be sick or diseased. According to the doctrines that have made her millions, there is no such thing as "matter," all is mind and the manifestation thereof. When the head formulator and teacher of this false, pernicious and unscientific absurdity, called 'Christian Science," has shown her evident recognition of the truth of sick "matter," viz., her own corporal body, to the extent of having to trick her (possibly semi-witted) followers, it is time for sensible folk to severely condemn and eradicate the principles of such teaching.

In your article you call attention to the fact that an end should at once be put to the treatment of poor nervous hysteric followers of Mrs. Eddy's teachings, allowing themselves to come under domination of the cheap fakers who for, from $5 a week up, as recently shown in this city, keep poor suffering humanity, weak-minded perhaps by disease, from falling into the clutches of such men as treat (?) them at so much per week, on an unscientific and wholly unselfish plan.

We all remember how in this city a poor young man, whilst in the throes of a dangerous disease, was, whilst his mind might have been weakened by his disease, being captured by a local 'Christian Scientist," taken to the home of the latter, not given regular nourishment, as shown by the healer's evidence at the inquest, and who was allowed to lose the life God had given him. For what? To enable this "Scientist" not only to demand his "pound of flesh," or so many dollars per week, but, as was proven at the inquest, to deliberately take the dead man's money and to go through the deceased's clothes. In the face of an argument proven right in this city, I say Mr. Editor, your article entitles you to take a high stand among the philanthropists of this age.

Yours Truly,
ANTI-HUMBUG.

Only "Embezzled" the Banker's Daughter

Young Man Elopes With the Daughter of His Employer, and now Resides at Morristown.

Kingston, Nov. 7.—A despatch says Alexandria Bay, N.Y., the favorite Thousand Islands resort, was roused over a romantic elopement there. The parties concerned were Mr. J. W. Northrop, a prominent young man of this place, who has been employed at the First National Bank of Alexandria Bay for several years, and Miss Mary Cornwall, daughter of the president of the bank. This is a case where the embezzlement was the banker's daughter instead of the cash of the bank.

In order to escape parental interference, the young couple were taken in a yacht to Clayton, where they were married. They then went to Morristown, where Mr. Northrop has entered his new position as cashier of the new bank recently established in that place.

Both parties are among the most prominent and popular young people of Alexandria, and they have the best wishes of many friends.

PROTECT THE BEAVER

Two Indians Fined $100 and $40 Respectively for Shooting Beaver and Otter.

South River, Ont., Nov. 7. — Mr. Dan. Bien, game warden, brought two Indians before Justice Boorse, of this place, for shooting beaver and otter. The fines were $100 and $40 respectively. The amounts not being paid yet, the culprits are confined in the lockup here, and unless the fines are paid within the next four days they will be committed to jail at Burk's Falls for the terms of three months and two months each.

SEVEN SAILORS LOST IN SURF

Ship Wrecked on the New Brunswick Coast—Another Crew Saved by Heroes.

Richibucto N.B., Nov. 7. — During the north-east gale which prevailed since Wednesday the Norwegian bark Adeona 700 tons, which was completing her cargo outside the bar, went ashore on a reef Thursday and her crew of seven men have perished. The men left the vessel in a boat, which capsized. Three bodies were washed ashore.

Several coasting vessels have been wrecked and many lives endangered.

TURRET BELL A WRECK.

Charlottetown, P.E.I. Nov. 7.—The captain and men of the steamer Turret Bell have been landed safely. The steamer is broadside 30 yards from shore. The captain says he thought he was off Magdalen Islands. The current carried him from his course. The Turret Bell is valued at $100,000; insurance 75$,000. Chances of getting her off are slim. She is lying on a rocky ledge so far in that the sea can't inflict much damage.

Last night a Newfoundland schooner loaded with fish was completely wrecked at Campbell's Cove. The crew were saved. Many fishing boats were broken up on the north side of the island, and some barns were blown over and trees uprooted. Minor damage was done in Charlottetown. The gable end and new wing of Prince of Wales College, which is being enlarged at the expense of Sir William C. Macdonald, was blown down.

A HEROIC RESCUE.

Amherst, N.S. Nov. 7.—The schooner Omega, Captain Sutherland, loaded with coal from St. Peter's to Charlottetown, went ashore at Fox Point, near Pugwash, Sunday, and a total wreck. The crew, in much danger, were rescued through the bravery of John Belchie and Moses Tatrie, who at great personal risk in heavy seas went out and rescued the men. They were obliged to make two trips. The vessel is valued at $10,000. No insurance.

HUGHES ELECTED GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK STATE

W. R. Hearst Defeated by a Majority of 20,000 ---Sixty Arrests on Charges of Illegal Voting and Registration.

At a late hour last night the wires brought the news that the Democrats, even with Tammany backing them, could not elect Hearst the multi-millionaire newspaper man. It has long been conceded that although the City of New York lives within the claws of the Tammany Tiger, public sentiment in that state would not stand for further domination from that party. Hughes, Republican candidate was elected by nearly 20 000 purality.

New York, Nov. 7.—At 7.30 last night State Chairman Woodruff said: "As near as I can figure it out at the present moment Hearst has carried New York county by 80,000 majority. Hughes has carried Kings county by 5,000. Hughes will have a plurality of more than 100,000 above the Harlem River.

At the same hour Max F. Ihmsen, campaign manager for Mr. Hearst said; "From present indications, Hughes will come down to the Harlem River with not more than 30.000 majority That means a Hearst victory." Later, Mr. Ihmsen added Mr Hearst's tremendous gains up State and the enormous vote cast for him in Manhatten indicated his election by a large plurality."

Chairman Conners of the Democrat State committee at 8 o'clock last night said, "From private information in my possession I am able to state that Mr. Hearst has carried the state by 40,000 plurality.

At 8.15 p.m. the New York Times, which supported Hughes says indications are that Hughes is elected by about 30,000, but that the Democrats possibly may elect balance of their ticket.

The Brooklyn Eagle, which supported Hughes, announces his election by between 20,000 and 30.000 plurality.

When seen at his home at 9.30 last night, Mr. Hughes said:—"I am very much gratified if I am elected a new seems to be the case, but I am not accustomed to speaking in detail upon matters about which there may be an uncertainty. I understand, however, that my election is pretty well assured, but, whatever my plurality may be, my feeling is not one of elation, but of responsibility. That is all I care to say at present."

Max Ihmsen, Mr. Hearst's campaign manager, said that he believed that Mr Hearst had a safe working majority despite claims to the contrary.

Lewis Chanler, candidate for lieutenant-governor on the Democrat ticket, when told last night that he had been elected, said; "I should be very sorry indeed to be elected, if Mr. Hearst should be defeated."

New York, Nov. 7.—A perfect autumn day, bright, cool, and bracing, favored the voters of New York state yesterday. The exceptionally favorable conditions after the campaign of almost unprecedented activity seem to assure an unusually large vote. In this city the balloting started with a rush as soon as the polls were opened, and in many sections new records were made during the early hours. Service of the thousands of warrants sworn out by Superintendent of Elections Morgan on Monday, was begun early in the day, and there was a steady stream of prisoners from the police places to police courts. In nearly every case in the first three hours, however, the prisoners proved their right to vote, and were permitted to go back and deposit their ballots.

SIXTY WERE ARRESTED.

Sixty arrests on charges of illegal voting and registration and offering and accepting money for votes were reported at the office of State Superintendent of Elections Morgan during the first two hours. This is the greatest number of arrests reported in so short a time since the bureau was established.

There was a mix-up of ballots in the 25th and 32nd districts, each one having received the ballots which should have gone to the other. A similar condition existed in the 19th, 13th, and 21st assembly districts of Brooklyn.

Among the early arrests was former Police Captain Diamond. He voted from his home in East eighteenth street. When the Morgan men went to verify the address they found the house boarded up. The arrest was made on the allegation that Captain Diamond had lived all summer in Putnam county, this State.

CROWD CHEERED HUGHES.

Charles E. Hughes voted shortly before eight o'clock in an Amsterdam barber shop. He walked down from his home in West End avenue, and was greeted with a cheer as he approached the polling place. Mr. Hughes voted ballot number 148. In this district there are about 600 voters, and the vote was reported to be coming in at the rate for the first part of the morning, at about 75 ballots an hour.

DISLIKE OUR SUNDAYS

American Firm to Leave Brantford and Locate in Montreal.

Brantford, Nov. 4.—The Pratt & Letchworth Malleable Iron Company, whose headquarters are at Buffalo, will remove their Brantford plant to Montreal because of interference with their Sunday operations by local representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance. The Brantford plant was established to meet the demands of the Canadian trade in 1899, and has been largely extended since that time. It now has an annual output of $200,000, employs over 300 men steadily the year round, and pays $100,000 per year in wages. Recently the company was prosecuted for operating on Sunday.

New Silver Find Is on a Reserve

In the Government's Temagami Forest—Extent Cannot Be Known Until Spring.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Silver has been discovered in the Temagami forest reserve The White Brothers, of Muskoka, have staked out a claim there upon which they claim there is native silver in large quantities. They broke specimens from a thirty pound lump of ore on top of a silver vein, and these verified their expectations as to the large percentage of silver. The claim is in the southwest angle of the township of Auld, and twelve claims have already been staked All but the one named are upon discoveries of cobalt.

The extent of the silver field will not be accurately known until spring All the smaller lakes in the district are frozen up, and the mines would be very difficult of access. It would be necessary to proceed by canoe from Latchford up the Montreal River for about 20 miles, and then overland for some fifteen miles.

Owing to the danger of destruction of the timber of the reserve by fire and otherwise, great care is exercised in the granting of the right to prospect thereon. This can only be done on special permits granted to reputable persons, who are not only subject to the mining regulations, but also to those governing forest reserves. The opening up of claims must be carried out under the supervision of the superintendent of the reserve.

Father and Son on Same Team

Joe Wright and "Little Joe" to Play Against Peterboro' on Saturday.

The Toronto Star of yesterday's date says;

The senior Argonauts will finish their O.R.F.U. season at Varsity Field on Saturday, when they meet the Peterborough team in the final game of the series. The Argos had a hard game at Peterborough in the mud, winning out by 13 to 7 after a strenuous struggle, and the game here on Saturday should be a good one.

Owing to the injuries to Tommy Bay and Leslie Gruska, there will be two vacancies on the team, which will, in all likelihood, be filled by the veteran player, Joe Wright, and his son George, otherwise known as "Little Joe," and one of the most promising of the Argo intermediates. Joe, sr., was laid up all last week with lumbago, but took a long run yesterday, and will be out in uniform at the practice on Varsity Field this afternoon. This will be the first occasion on record in Canada where father and son played on the same football team. The veteran is as good as ever and "Young Joe" is a comer.

Two Men Engulfed In a Wheat Shute

New York, Nov. 7.—Patrick Dolan, foreman of grain handlers in the elevator of the William Baird Company, Brooklyn, fell into a pit containing three thousand bushels of grain yesterday. Dolan plunged this way and that, and with every step was further engulfed. He called for help, and Pedro Amasio, a fellow workman went to his assistance. He threw a rope to Dolan, which the latter seized so desperately that he drew Amasio into the pit. Other workmen who had been lunching, now heard the outcries, but both men had disappeared when they reached the scene. A rush was made for the chutes through which the grain is unloaded, and unfastening the covers, the men let the wheat run into the street. Soon Amasio's body shot down the chute, and Dolan's followed. The latter was dead, having been smothered, but Amasio was still alive and will recover.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition.

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

THE NEW YORK STATE ELECTION.

At the opening of the campaign for governor of New York state, two candidates were presented for public consideration, one of whom Mr. Hughes, the the republican, was accepted as an able and honorable man, while much doubt existed about the character of the other, Mr. Hearst.

Since the start, nothing has developed against Hughes except cries by Hearst's papers that Hughes is a creature of capitalistic interests. Nothing supports the cries except cartoons in the same papers. Hughes' own campaign has done him honor. He has avoided personalities and relied on plain, square argument. And everything which has come out about him has testified to both character.

The reverse is the case with Hearst. He was an unfair journalist before this campaign started, and everybody knew it. Still, there are lots of others like that, and Hearst had unquestionably rendered many valuable public services. But it was not known that Hearst, a fierer denouncer of law-dodging trusts, has made his own newspapers into law-dodging trusts. That is proved. It was not known that Hearst, who tries to escape taxes, was himself a tax-dodger. That is proved. It was not known that Hearst, a shouter against political corruption and chicanery, would himself spend vast sums in organizing political support for himself, partially corrupt, and would accept a nomination secured beyond question by fraud in the nominating convention at Buffalo of the democratic party. That is proved. It was not suspected that Hearst, who advocates political independence and formed an independent league, would prove a political hack who would both seek a democratic nomination, and subsequent ensanoie the action of his own league. That is proved. It was not thought that Hearst, who had denounced Tammany as rotten and pictured its leader, Murphy, as deserving of penitentiary, would be found in alliance with Tammany and Murphy, taking his nomination by their aid, and suppressing in his papers all further criticism of Murphy, whom he had previously been hammering constantly. Such is the fact. It was not expected that Hearst, who out a year ago spoke highly in his papers of Hughes and his work in the insurance inquiry should turn around and assail and caricature Hughes as a creature of the very corporations and capitalists which Hughes had been complimented by Hearst's papers for showing up. But this has been Hearst's chief assault upon Hughes.

Before the campaign opened, one might have felt some doubt about Hearst's quality. He had done much public service. The criticism of him was likely to be tinged by the envy of other papers, and less successful men. But we do not feel any doubt now. The campaign seems to have shown where the benefit of the doubt ought to go.

"This Dufferin of Ours."

In a eulogy of the Marquis of Dufferin at the unveiling of the Belfast memorial, Lord Londonderry said the secret of Dufferin's success in smoothing away difficulties in Canada was getting into sympathy with those among whom his lot was cast. "This Canada of ours" was a favorite phrase. Lord Londonderry was certain Canada would speak of him as "This Dufferin of ours."

The Bristol Observer quotes a gentleman who lived several years in Canada in endorsation of a writer in Canada who says that the Canadian of to-day is the heaviest and strongest man of the white races.

The gentleman says that he was struck when in Toronto by the number of tall, fine-looking men. The average Ontario height was five feet eight, equal to the best in Great Britain.

Celebrations For Chamberlain.

Joseph Chamberlain, the English statesman, will have two notable celebrations the coming summer. On June 17 he will have completed 30 years of continuous representation of Birmingham in the House of Commons, and on July 8 he will reach his 70th birthday. The two events will be observed by the entire city, and the public demonstration will embrace as big a street parade as the honorable gentleman's friends can get up.

He Caught It.

On the arrival at Yokohama of the transpacific steamers there is always a crowd of Japanese peddlers to clamber on board with their various wares. Upon our arrival I noticed one of the Japs with an assortment of jewelry which was very attractive. Among the passengers was a schoolteacher of Manila returning from his vacation, a big giant of a fellow. His eye was attracted by the Jap's offerings, and he spied a big seal ring, a very swell looking affair.

"How much, boy?" he inquired very abruptly.

"I sell him cheap—fifteen yen" ($7.50), replied the Jap.

"Humph," and the teacher retired to his book.

"How much you give?" inquired the Jap, following him up.

"I tell you, I don't want it."

"You make offer."

"I tell you, I don't want it," ejaculated the American. "Now get out."

"I sell him cheap. How much?"

"Oh"—to get rid of him—"half a yen" (50 cents).

"All right; you catch him."—Judge's Magazine of Fun.

"Without."

The German girl who presided over the soda fountain in Heckelmayer's drug store was accustomed to patrons who did not know their own minds, and her habit of thought was difficult to change.

"I'd like a glass of plain soda," said a stout man, entering one day in evident haste as well as thirst.

"You have vanilla or you have lemon?" tranquilly inquired the young woman.

"I want plain soda, without syrup. Didn't you understand me?" asked the stout man testily.

"Yaas," and the placid German face did not change in expression or color, "but what kind sirup you want him mitout? Mitout vanilla or mitout lemon?"—Youth's Companion.

Not Excusable.

"What did the prisoner ever do that convinced you of his insanity?"

"I once saw him rock a rowboat in which were several women and children."

"That wasn't insanity. That was criminal idiocy. Proceed with the case."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fierce Job.

"Well," he grunted, "there's your old stove up. I hope you're satisfied with the job."

"Er—yes, dear," she replied dubiously, surveying the dirt he had made. "I suppose I must be, since you are so thoroughly spotted with it."—Philadelphia Press.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then there's pain, and finally that overtaxing, exhausting headache. This new Reduction Method disperses the blood, distributes the overflow, and depresses it to the proper channels. It frees the nerves from all pressure and irritation—the pains and aches disappear because their cause has been removed. You may try a thousand remedies—you may drug and stupify the nerves into submission—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cure will be successful because it reduces the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Medicine has thus found a way—simple and sure, yet the only way—to thoroughly overcome these attacks of Headache and Neuralgia. The effect of Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is prompt—positively suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every temperament. For sale and recommended by

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

CHAPTER I.

IT was in 1835, about midwinter, when Brier Dale was a narrow clearing, and the horizon well up in the sky and to anywhere a day's journey. Down by the shore of the pond there Theron Allen built his house. Today, under thickets of tansy, one may see the rotting logs, and there are hollyhocks and catnip in the old garden. He was from Middlebury, they say, and came west—he and his wife—in 1829. From the top of the hill above Allen's of a clear day one could look far across the treetops over distant settlements that were as blue patches in the green canopy of the forest, over hill and dale to the smoky chasm of the St. Lawrence, thirty miles north. The Allens had not a child. They settled with no thought of school or neighbor. They brought a cow with them and a big collie whose back had been scarred by a lynx. He was good company and a brave hunter, this dog, and one day—it was February, four years after their coming, and the snow lay deep—he left the dale and not even a track behind him. Far and wide they went searching, but saw no sign of him. Near a month later, one night past 12 o'clock, they heard his bark in the distance. Allen rose and lit a candle and opened the door. They could hear him plainer, and now, mingled with his barking, a faint tinkle of bells.

It had begun to thaw, and a cold rain was drumming on roof and window.

"He's crossing the pond," said Allen as he listened. "He's dragging some heavy thing over the ice."

Soon he leaped in at the door, the little red sleigh bouncing after him. The dog was in shafts and harness. Over the sleigh was a tiny cover of sailcloth shaped like that of a prairie schooner. Bouncing over the doorstep had waked its traveler, and there was a loud voice of complaint in the little cavern of sailcloth. Peering in, they saw only the long fur of a gray wolf. Beneath it a very small boy lay struggling with straps that held him down. Allen loosed them and took him out of the sleigh, a ragged but handsome youngster with red cheeks and blue eyes and light, curly hair. He was near four years of age then, but big and strong as any boy of five. He stood rubbing his eyes a minute, and the dog came over and licked his face, showing fondness acquired they knew not where. Mrs. Allen took the boy in her lap and petted him, but he was afraid—like a wild fawn that has just been captured—and broke away and took refuge under the bed. A long time she sat by her bedside with the candle, showing him trinkets and trying to coax him out. He ceased to cry when she held before him a big, shiny locket of silver, and soon his little hand came out to grasp it. Presently she began to reach his confidence with sugar. There was a moment of silence, then strange words came out of his hiding place. "Anah jouhan" was all they could make of them, and they remembered always that odd combination of sounds. They gave him food, which he ate with eager haste, then a moment of silence and an imperative call for more in some strange tongue. When at last he came out of his hiding place he fled from the woman. This time he sought refuge between the knees of Allen, where soon his fear gave way to curiosity, and he began to feel her face and gown. By and by he fell asleep.

They searched the sleigh and shook out the robe and blanket, finding only a pair of warm bricks.

A Frenchman worked for the Allens that winter, and the name, Trove, was of his invention.

And so came Sidney Trove, his mind in strange fetters, traveling out of the land of mystery in a winter night to Brier Dale.

CHAPTER II.

THE wind, veering, came bitter cold; the rain hardened to hail; the clouds, changed to brittle nets of frost and shaken to shreds by the rough wind, fell hissing in a scatter of snow. Next morning when Allen opened his door the wind was gone, the sky clear. Brier pond, lately covered with clear ice, lay under a blanket of snow. He hurried across the pond, his dog following. Near the far shore was a bare spot on the ice cut by one of the sleigh runners. Up in the woods, opposite, was the Moss trail. Sunlight fell on the hills above him. He halted, looking up at the treetops. Twig, branch and trunk glowed with the fire of diamonds through a lacy decking of hoar frost. Every tree had put on a jacket of ice and become as a fountain of prismatic hues. Here and there a dead pine rose like a spire of crystal; domes of deep colored glass and towers of jasper were as the landmarks of a city. Allen climbed the shore, walking slowly. He could see no track of sleigh or dog or any living thing. A frosted, icy tangle of branches arched the trail—a gateway of this great, crystal city of the woods. He entered, listening as he walked. Branches of hazel and dogwood were like jets of water breaking into clear, halted drops and foamy spray above him. He went on, looking up at this long sky window of the woods. In the deep silence he could hear his heart beating.

"Sport," said he to the dog, "show me the way." But the dog only wagged his tail.

Allen returned to the house.

"Wife," said he, "look at the woods yonder. They are like the city of holy promise. 'Behold I will lay thy stones with fair colors and thy foundations with sapphires, and I will make thy windows of agate.'"

"Did you find the track of the little sleigh?" said she.

"No," he answered, "nor will any man, for all paths are hidden."

"Theron, may we keep the boy?" she inquired.

"I think it is the will of God," said Allen.

The boy grew and throve in mind and body. For a time he prattled in a language none who saw him was able to comprehend, but he learned English quickly and soon forgot the jargon of his babyhood. The shadows of mystery that fell over his coming lengthened far into his life and were deepened by others that fell across them. Before he could have told the story all memory of whom he left or whence he came had been swept away. It was a house of riddles where Allen dwelt—a rude thing of logs and ladders and a low roof and two rooms, yet one ladder led high to glories no pen may describe. The Allens, with this rude shelter, found delight in dreams of an eternal home whose splendor and luxury would have made them miserable here below. What a riddle was this! And then, as to the boy Sid, there was the riddle of his coming and again that of his character, which latter was, indeed, not easy to solve. There were few books and no learning in that home. For three winters Trove tramped a trail to the schoolhouse two miles away and had no further schooling until he was a big, blond boy of fifteen, with red cheeks and large eyes, blue and discerning, and hands hardened to the ax helve. He had then discovered the beauty of the woods and begun to study the wild folk that live in holes and thickets. He had a fine face. You could have called him handsome, but not they among whom he lived. With them handsome was as handsome did, and the face of a man, if it were cleanly, was never a proper cause of blame or compliment, but there was that in his soul which even now had waked the mother's wonder and set forth a riddle none was able to solve.

CHAPTER III.

THE harvesting was over in Brier Dale. It was near dinner time, and Allen, Trove and the two hired men were trying feats in the dooryard. Trove, then a boy of fifteen, had outdone them all at the jumping. A stranger came along, riding a big mare with a young filly at her side. He was a tall, spare man, past middle age, with a red, smooth shaven face and long gray hair that fell to his rolling collar. He turned in at the gate. A little beyond it his mare halted for a mouthful of grass. The stranger unslung a strap that held a satchel to his side and hung it on the pommel.

"Go and ask what we can do for him," Allen whispered to the boy.

Trove went down the drive, looking up at him curiously.

"What can I do for you?" he inquired.

"Give me thy youth," said the stranger quickly, his gray eyes twinkling under silvered brows.

The boy, now smiling, made no answer.

"No?" said the man, as he came on slowly. "Well, then, were thy wit as good as thy legs it would be o' some use to me."

The words were spoken with dignity in a deep, kindly tone. They were also faintly salted with Irish brogue.

He approached the men, all eyes fixed upon him with a look of inquiry.

"Have ye ever seen a drunken sailor on a mast?" he inquired of Allen.

"No."

"Well, sor," said the stranger, dismounting slowly, "I am not that. Let me consider—have ye ever seen a cocoanut on a plum tree?"

"I believe not," said Allen, laughing.

"Well, sor, that is more like me. 'Tis long since I rode a horse, an' am out o' place in the saddle."

He stood erect with dignity, a smile deepening the many lines in his face.

"Can I do anything for you?" Allen asked.

"Aye—cure me o' poverty. Have ye any clocks to mend?"

"Clocks! Are you a tinker?" said Allen.

"I am, sor, an' at thy service. Could beauty, me lord, have better commerce than with honesty?"

They all surveyed him with curiosity and amusement as he tied the mare.

All had begun to laugh. His words came rapidly on a quick undercurrent of good nature. A clock sounded the stroke of midday.

"What, ho! The clock," said he, looking at his watch. "Thy time hath a lagging foot. Marry, were I that slow, sor, I'd never get to heaven!"

"Mother," said Allen, going to the $25.00	"	25.00	"	"	"	5000	"

The ore values of these mines vary from $18.00 to $36,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 30,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 18 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $18.00 per ton	$1,800.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $4.00 per ton	300.00

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 200 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent, and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Sin Against Health

Why the Usefulness of All Organs is Destroyed by Costiveness.

Most important to health and comfort is the proper action of the bowels.

By nature these organs are intended for the removal of the waste particles of matter which accumulate in the system.

Retain these waste and you poison the blood, ruin digestion, print on nervousness and anaemia.

Habitual costiveness is best overcome by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which establish regularity that is exactly consistent with nature.

Not a drastic purgative—not even a pain or sensation of grip, because Dr. Hamilton's Pills are vegetable and free from irritating widely advertised remedies.

In every case Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure and bring sure relief from headache, biliousness and other manifestations of constipation.

Jas. McCarnell, of Walkerton, writes; "Since I was comparatively a young man I have not enjoyed real good health.

"My appetite was good and stronger I kept up, yet I knew something was wrong.

"Frequently I took bilious attacks and violent headaches. My stomach was disordered, skin was murky, under my eyes were heavy dark rings.

"Last winter I read through the Poison's almanac and decided my trouble was constipation. I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and can hardly tell the help they have been. I am now as fresh, strong and well as a boy."

Just try the wonderful magic of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

—Enquiries made among some of the George street merchants elicited the fact that there was not a fog on our main thoroughfare yesterday morning; it was simply that and lots of it.

—The Canada Life Assurance Co. yesterday moved their offices to the Davis-Thompson Company building on George street. Several changes have been made to the interior to make the necessary accommodation for the Canada Life.

Rapid Tool Co. Progressing Well

The Rapid Tool Company's new factory on Hunter street east, despite the fact that, owing to the default of the rolling mills, the vote on their by-law was defeated, is already a hive of industry. It is somewhat anomalous to see wheels revolving and shafting at work in a building only half completed, yet such a condition exists at the Rapid Tool Co., whilst, as noted, the factory is still only half ready, the company is turning out dies and other tools, several skilled mechanics working full, and sometimes overtime. This condition is explained by the fact that this company manufactures goods of a type not made elsewhere in Canada, and consequently in great demand.

It is not generally known, but nevertheless true, that the city of St. Catharines is out with an offer of $5000 and other concessions to try and acquire this works. It is now up to the property owners of this city to not only turn out and vote, when the Rapid Tool Company's by-law comes up again, but to use their influence to see that the by-law is carried.

Not only is St. Catharines after the Rapid Tool Company, but a local firm has made them an offer for the premises. For the sake of a mere $1200 it would be pitiable to see Peterborough lose a factory that, if sustained, will open with 35 skilled mechanics with unlimited possibilities for the future.

Mr. Creedon, superintendent of the company is pushing the work to rapid completion and has made almost marvellous speed in the work done to present date.

New Ice House at the Brewery.

Mr. R. Tivy is erecting a large shed in the back yard of the Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company's premises to enable the brewery to utilize one of their present storage sheds for storing ice. This company already has several houses, but the constantly growing demand for their products necessitates the addition of still another. In other words, "The beer that made Peterborough famous" must and will be kept in perfect condition.

Mr. P. J. Hurley's Death Noted

A Lindsay despatch says:

"The town of Lindsay loses one of its most prominent citizens in the death of Mr. Patrick J. Hurley, which took place this morning at his residence, Melbourne street. The immediate cause of his death was pernicious anaemia, which baffled the skill of medical men. Mr. Hurley was born in the county of Haldimand fifty-four years ago, and early in life left the homestead and commenced his career as a merchant in the town of Port Hope. Leaving there in 1870, he came to Lindsay, and at once became identified with the growing interests of the town, carrying on a large grocery, grain and boot and shoe business. Mr. Hurley was president of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus and C.M.B.A., and ex-Councillor of the town. Flags are at half-mast on the public buildings as mark of respect for the deceased.

A Partial Church Divorce Decreed

As foretold in a former issue of The Times Knox church will be separated from St. Paul's. Knox church will be independent on January 1st, 1907. St. Paul's church will, however, continue to take a deep interest in the work of the new church, although not contributing financially towards her support.

A conference of the sessions of the two congregations has been held in St. Paul's church, as requested by the Presbytery of Peterborough, when they passed a resolution that the matter be referred to a conference of the bodies of the two churches.

After the decision of the session of St. Paul's to agree in the separation, addresses were made by the elders of Knox church.

The elders of St. Paul's said that while they were separating from Knox church they would still continue to take the warmest interest in the work of the latter.

King's Daughters' Annual Meeting.

The King's Daughters of St. John's church, one of the hardest working and most philanthropic bodies existing in this city, have held their annual meeting.

The secretary's report showed that thirty families were helped during the year, and two hundred and seventy-five garments given out. The proceeds of the dining tent, conducted by the King's Daughters at the exhibition were $113.

Officers were elected for the coming year, as follows:—

President—Miss A. Halliday.
Vice-President—Mrs. Davidson.
Secretary—Miss Burnham.
Treasurer—Miss Hugel.

Local Man Killed in a Mill.

Yesterday Mrs. James Johnston, of Murmora, mother of Mr. John Johnston, passed through the city en route for Parry Sound, where her son, as above was killed in a mill accident in that town. It seems that Mr. Johnston lost his life by a belt slipping. His arm and part of a leg were torn off, resulting in his death.

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, ill women, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all carping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strength of endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

Mr. Jas. Dolan's Nephew Noted.

Referring to a nephew of Mr. Jas. Dolan, the old-time cigar man, a Milwaukee paper says:

"Milwaukee will lose one of its most popular bowlers today, when Jimmy Dolan, the crack finger ball expert, will leave for Columbus, O., to take up the management of one of the big department stores in the Ohio capital. Dolan, who is a member of the Blatz Wieners of the Badger League, the squadrons of the Mayor League and the Sentinels of the Business Men's League, has a host of friends in the local bowling colony, and they wish him success in his new business venture. Dolan intends to remain in the bowling game and he will join one of the leagues in Columbus, as soon as he is settled in his new home. W. H. Terry tendered him a farewell banquet at his bowling alleys last night. A large number of prominent bowlers were present to give him a proper send off.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIV. NO. 263 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8 1906 PRICE TWO CENTS

WOULD NOT RELEASE MR. McGILL ON BAIL

McGill Accused of Theft Sent to Jail---Attorney-General Willing to Accept $25,000 but Magistrate Denison Would Not Agree.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Just before adjournment after six o'clock last night, adjournment after 6 o'clock Tuesday Police Magistrate Denison created a sensation by directing that a charge of stealing from the Ontario Bank be laid against Charles McGill, formerly general manager. The day's proceedings had arisen from a charge of submitting false returns to the Government. The second and more serious indictment involved $316,049.91, the amount of McGill's stock transactions conducted through the firm of Ames and Company. The new allegation followed Mr. Ames' testimony, in which he said he did not owe the Ontario Bank the $136,049.91 written off at Mr. McGill's instructions by Mr. Cronoweth, the transfer clerk, on September 10th, 1906. Mr. Ames said McGill had speculated and, though sometimes winning, had sustained heavy losses.

Mr McGill pleaded not guilty, but was refused bail, whereupon his counsel, Mr Johnston, protested that he was being unfairly treated. Mr. McGill was remanded until Friday.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Counsel for Mr McGill, who is charged with having stolen $136,000 of the Ontario Bank's funds, have secured a written memorandum from the attorney-general agreeing to $25,000 bail on behalf of the accused.

Upon the conclusion of the investigation Tuesday afternoon, Mr. McKay, of Johnston, McKay & Dods, accompanied by others interested in the case, waited upon Mr. Foy. It was urged that, while the information had been changed, the facts were the same—that the previous charge had been based upon statements equally as available then as when the revelations were made.

After discussing and considering the matter, Mr. Foy granted the memorandum. Accompanied by Mr. Corley, Crown Attorney, Mr. McKay next called upon Magistrate Kingsford, who referred the applicants to Magistrate Denison. His Worship had not changed his opinion since adjourning the court, and held that the testimony pointed to a serious offence against the criminal code. He stated, however, that he would confer with Mr. Foy at the conclusion of the hour.

Mr. Johnston, counsel for the accused, contend that the speculations in New York securities were all made in the interests of the bank, and it was in this way that the institution had escaped failure for so many years. Some time ago, when Mr. McGill first took hold of the bank, it was evident that it could not survive upon ordinary 5 and 6 per cent. transactions. Investments along lines adopted by other large banks had apparently not been successful, and, according to the former general manager's own statement, he adopted the other course.

Mr. McKay, solicitor, applied to Magistrate Denison again late yesterday afternoon to release Mr. McGill, on $25,000 bail. His Worship said he had conferred with the attorney-general on the matter, and though that gentleman was willing to grant it, he the magistrate, said that responsibility in the matter was on his shoulders, and his decision was not to grant it.

EVEN PAUPERS REFUSE IT

American Canned Goods Piled Up in English Market.

London, November 8.—A somewhat serious situation exists in the English canned goods market. American canned beef is piled up in those markets unsaleable, with prospects of being shipped back to the United States. Dealers there have asked American packers to take the stuff off their hands, but the latter decline. City contracts in the United Kingdom have been thrown up, as even the paupers refused to eat American canned meats.

APPLE CROP IN ONTARIO

Amounts to Half Million Barrels or 25 P.C. Less Than in 1905.

Toronto, November 8.—In view of a large crop of apples in the New England and Central states, and Nova Scotia, the apple season this fall has caused some surprises in the trade, and many dealers are loath to speculate. The prices so far in the Old country have been well maintained in view of the large visible supply available for export. The shipments to Germany will be curtailed this season owing to the imposition of a duty of 65 cents per barrel on apples from the United States and of about $1.50 per barrel on Canadian apples by the German Government.

From present conditions the shipments to the British markets from America this year will be heavy, amounting probably to 2,000,000 barrels.

The total Ontario crop is estimated at approximately 500,000 barrels, or about 25 per cent. less than a year ago.

The crop was damaged by wind storms in the fall and hail during the summer.

The Ambulance Question Explained

The following letter was yesterday received from Mr. Dan Bellegham the old time undertaker and furniture man, and which letter sufficiently explains itself without necessary comment.

Mr. Bellegham's letter reads as follows:

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—I see by the report of the proceedings of a meeting of the city council held Monday evening, that the matter of the care of the Dan Spence ambulance has been referred back to the committee for further consideration, and that in making this motion, Ald. Duncan insinuates that I have made improper use of the ambulance.

That the citizens in general, and especially the subscribers to the purchase of this conveyance may know the history of this matter, I state a few facts.

When tenders for the care of the ambulance was invited, Mr. Comstock's figure was $300, mine was $150, thus effecting a saving of $150 for that year. Ashburnham, then a separate municipality, offered $25 a year on condition that the service be extended to that village and the then town council agreed to this but if Mr. Comstock had got the contract at his figure, $300, the city might now be paying that amount or even a much larger sum.

Two years ago the city council, of their own accord, fixed the remuneration at $200 per annum, and last year the contract was renewed at the same figure, the council being well satisfied with the service.

This year a determined effort is being made by Mr. Comstock to get the contract at any price, and he is now ready to undertake the work at $100. How is it that he asked $300 three years ago for the service in the town, then much smaller than now, and so including Ashburnham?

As to Mr. Duncan's insinuation that I am using the ambulance in opposition to Mr. Comstock, let me inform Mr. Duncan that I have an ambulance of my own much better fitted for long journeys than the heavy city ambulance, and that when I go to the country I take my own conveyance.

I admit that on three occasions I went further than the one mile from the city limits, as provided for by the contract, as follows,—

George Dobbin, a subscriber to the ambulance fund, had a son requiring removal and I was sent for and refused, as the distance was about two miles from the city limits. When it was explained that Mr Dobbin was a subscriber, and in addition Dr. Carmichael, the attending physician insisted upon my going and stated that in case of complaint he would stand between me and the authorities, I went, but made no charge—not much profit in that trip.

On another occasion an employe of the Oriental, a citizen, of the city, was injured at Maguire's school house, and in this case I was ordered by the chief of police and Dr. Boucher, to bring the injured man in, which I did, but made no charge—No profit in this.

On a third occasion I was called to Otonabee, and brought in a patient, for which I received $3, but as a counter-balance I want to inform Mr Duncan that on five occasions, while the ambulance was undergoing repairs, I used my own ambulance making no charge.

These constitute the sum of my sins under this head.

As to Mr. Duncan's statement that I make a charge for carrying patients from the station to the hospital, I have this to say, that the city does not profess to pay for the conveyance of outsiders to the hospitals, and I defy Mr. Duncan to point out any case in which I have charged any citizen of Peterborough for the conveyance of any relative or friend to the hospital, wherer a resident of the city or not.

My practice has been in special cases to make a charge to outsiders as one dollar and in one instance only, when extra help was required, the charge was two dollars, but in most cases no charge whatever is made.

This, I claim, I am entitled to do under my contract, and let me here draw attention to the fact that the city solicitor and two lawyers then in the council, had a hand in the preparation of that contract, while I was not represented by any legal talent, so I guess the contract was a safe one for the city.

It will be remembered that at the time the ambulance was purchased there was a dispute between the council and the manufacturer, and the council refused to accept the conveyance, and that while negotiations were pending by directions of the mayor, the ambulance was used thus placing the council in the position of having accepted and liable to pay. I then negotiated a settlement between the parties, got $100 off the price, had the necessary alterations made, which cost $5.00 and paid this sum out of my own pocket, thus giving $100 to the town, or when I am repaid this $5.00, a saving of $95.

I would also to draw attention to the work which I have done. Last year I had 239 calls the year before 230 calls, and as the manufacturers increase so also did numbers to say nothing of the increase in population, the number of calls is sure to increase. Also to this I may add that in all cases two persons have to attend to move the patient, and in many cases three and sometimes four, and in addition the blankets, sheets, pillow cases, etc., are never used a second time without being washed.

I would like to ask Alderman Duncan if he has ever heard a complaint from any doctor or patient as to the efficiency or promptness of the attendance, has he ever heard of an accident or a runaway, or if he thinks I have been overpaid in the past for my services.

Were it not for the underhand means that are being taken to get me out of the position in which I feel that I have given the best possible service I would withdraw and let Mr Comstock have the job, but no man with British blood in his veins would calmly submit to the treatment accorded me.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am

Yours very truly,

D BELLEGHEM.

Bishop Scollard Visiting Here

Peterborough's old time favorite, who is one of the most popular of the clergy in this district, viz., his Lordship Bishop D J Scollard, is in the city on a brief stay. He arrived here from North Bay, and is the guest of his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, and will pay a visit today to friends in Ennismore.

His Lordship, whose consecration as Bishop of the new diocese of Sault Ste. Marie was celebrated in St. Peter's cathedral nearly two years ago, is looking well and his many friends are pleased to meet him.

Bishop Scollard has just returned from a tour of confirmation in various points in the western part of his diocese, which extends from North Bay 300 miles west.

Wonderful Samples of Pure Gold

Last night Mr. H. J. Moringstar, representing the Minnehaha mine company, was a guest at the Oriental Hotel. The mine that Mr. Moringstar represents is located in New Ontario, in the Rainy River district. Some of the samples that this gentleman brings, are such in gold almost beyond belief. He has one nugget of gold weighing nearly a pound that is virgin gold. Mr. Moringstar made arrangements last night to appoint Messrs. T. O. Paterson Co., local agents for this mine from whom full particulars can be obtained.

VALUE OF MODERN SUBMARINE

Now Said to be Nation's Best Defensive Weapon

PEACE BY DISARMAMENT

France in Favor of a Universal Peace Congress—"In Time of Peace Prepare for War."

Paris, November 8.—M. Laubeuf, the eminent French naval engineer, makes a vigorous appeal in favor of the submarine as the defensive weapon par excellence, and one which all small states ought to be encouraged to build as a cheap means of defending their coasts. In his opinion it is not only the weapon of weak powers, as it was described by Lord Goschen in May, 1900, but it is also the arm of peace, inasmuch as it enables poor states to defend their territory. This view is all the more significant as M. Laubeuf regards the hope of securing universal peace or disarmament as dangerous and Utopian. Although an inventor and constructor of instruments of destruction, M. Laubeuf declares that there is no more staunch partisan of peace than himself, but he considers that the best means of guaranteeing its maintenance is to enforce respect for it. The submarine is above all a defensive weapon, but the seagoing qualities of the submersible allow it to assume the offensive within a restricted range in narrow seas like the Channel, the Baltic and the Adriatic. The battleship, he adds, remains the unquestioned master of the high seas, but history teaches us that from Salamis, Mylae and Actium to Lissa, Port Arthur and Tsu Shima all the important naval battles have taken place within sight of the coast. That fact greatly enhances the importance of the part that may be played by submarines in future naval wars. The development of the submarine has been very rapid since 1899 and 1900, when it was condemned by Lord Goschen in England and by Prof. Bussey in Germany. Such vessels are now being constructed in all directions. The work is in the hands of private firms in England, America, Russia, Germany, Holland and Sweden. France and Italy alone continuing their construction in state arsenals, which is scarcely a satisfactory method either from the point of view of cost or from that of the time spent on their construction." The writer then states that there are no longer any secrets as to the construction of those vessels, although France had succeeded in keeping that of the plunging apparatus of her submarines from 1891 till about 1902. That fact gave her a start as compared with her rivals, and enabled her to train a large number of officers and men in submarine navigation.

In support of his contention that the submarine constitutes an effective weapon for weak powers, the writer takes the case of Denmark, and supposes for the purpose of his argument that England were to repeat the bombardment of Copenhagen after the lapse of a hundred years. In those circumstances six or eight English battleships would suffice to crush Denmark's seven small ironclads with a total of fifteen heavy guns. On the other hand, if Denmark had submarines and submersibles, a loss of the former could cause the forats and strike the enemy's ships, while twelve submersibles could await the arrival near her ports of the battleships that might have forced their way through and sink them in turn. Now, the seven small Danish ironclads have cost about $10,000,000, while the total cost of the submarines would be about $4,000,000. The same argument applies to all the small navies, such as those of Sweden, Norway, Holland, Portugal, Spain and Greece, countries which make heavy sacrifices for the construction of small ironclads which would be quite useless in case of aggression by a powerful fleet. The submarine constitutes an efficacious and economic means of defense for all these nations.

Two Ladies Killed by Street Car.

Amsterdam, N. Y., November 8.—A carriage containing Miss Lena Cook and Eva Scott, both about 20 years old, was struck by a Fonda, Johnston and Gloversville electric car at the Cranesville grade crossing, three miles from this city yesterday, and both young women were killed.

Orangemen Have a Good Time

Great Celebration on Guy Fawkes' Day at Downer's Corners.

Col Sanderson Lodge, No 221, L O L, celebrated Guy Fawkes day at Downer's Coroners on the 5th of November. There was a large attendance and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

The well-laden tables were filled several times. Worshipful Master Ritchie presided, and a fine program was thoroughly enjoyed.

Music was supplied by the Nassau Fife and Drum Band, becomingly attired in white tunics and caps, trimmed with black braid. The dialogues and recitations were well rendered.

Addresses were given by Col. Miller, County Master Stewart and Rev. A. H. Bruce. The program closed with the singing of "God Save the King," and the entire audience were summoned to the cross roads to witness the burning of Guy Fawkes in effigy.

Drowned in Burleigh Locks

Mr. Fuller, Lockmaster, Was Drowned While Attempting to Cross Gates.

A very sad accident occurred at 9 o'clock last night at Burleigh Locks, resulting in the drowning of Mr. C Fuller, lockmaster. Mr. Fuller attempted to cross one of the gates when he tripped on a boat rope, and fell into the lock. He was pulled out in a very short time by a bystander, but it was found that life was extinct.

Mr. Fuller came to this country fifty years ago and made his home in Burleigh. He assisted in the building of the locks and upon their completion was appointed to the position as lockmaster and has faithfully carried on his work in that capacity ever since. He was everybody's friend around that vicinity, and was very popular with the many people who spent their summer months around Burleigh.

Dr. Neal Gives a Good Address

The Young Men's Guild of Charlotte street church, has held one of their most successful meetings. Dr. Neal gave a most eloquent and able address on "The History of Medicine."

The speaker reviewed medicine from the gone by days up to the present time. He remarked that more progress had been made in medicine during the 20th century than in any time previous. Dr. Neal had a number of old-fashioned surgical instruments which were used many years ago and which he exhibited during his address.

The only business transacted was the election of officers for the hockey club for the coming winter, which resulted as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
Hon. Vice Pres.—Mr. Robt. Neill.
Pres.—Mr. E. T. Carr.
Vice Pres.—Dr. Neal.
Sec.—Mr. Chas. Harmer.
Treas.—Mr. B. Hughes.
Manager—Mr. L. D. Moore.

The prospects of a successful hockey season are very bright for the Guild and they hope to land the cup another year.

Young Girl Accidentally Shot.

Vankleek Hill, November 8.—Annie McNeil was accidentally shot at her home near Skye Post Office about 15 miles from here on Saturday. The young lady was 20 years old, and a daughter of Donald McNeil, a wealthy farmer of Caledonia township. She was in the granary of the house breaking butternuts, and went to move an old rifle out of her way, and in some manner it was discharged, the bullet entering her brain and killing her instantly.

Students Want a Freer Hand.

Winnipeg, November 8.—The faculties of Wesley and Manitoba Colleges last week posted a notice to the effect that in future all students must attend ninety per cent. of the lectures. This is regarded by the students as unreasonable, and they will refuse to abide by it, and have sent an ultimatum to the faculty to the effect that they will strike if an attempt is made to enforce the decree.

DANGERS FROM DYSPEPSIA

Imperfect Digestion Most Prolific Cause of Serious Disease.

Few people seem to realize the real dangers in disturbed, deficient or defective digestion.

While health reports do not give indigestion as a cause of death, yet it is in reality often fatal, as it so weakens the stomach that one becomes readily susceptible to an attack of typhoid fever, kidney disease, nervous prostration or other serious or fatal disease.

At the first symptoms of indigestion, Mi-o-na stomach tablets should be used. If there is a feeling of heaviness in the stomach, distress after eating, nervousness, dizziness, nausea, headaches, sleeplessness, pains in the side and limbs, specks before the eyes, or a peevish, irritable condition, with debility and weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once.

It will build up the stomach and digestive organs so that you can eat anything at any time without fear of distress or indigestion.

A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na tablets will, in most cases, give prompt relief and cure, although in chronic and long-standing weakness of the stomach, two boxes or more are sometimes needed, but we guarantee Mi-o-na will cure, in all cases, no matter how chronic or serious, or money will be refunded. You run no risk whatever in buying Mi-o-na.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail, on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

GT.R. FERRY TO RUN WINTER AND SUMMER

New Car Ferry From Rochester to Port Hope or Cobourg---Provision for 100 Staterooms for Passenger Accomodation.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—The biggest boats ever built in Toronto, the car ferry for the Grand Trunk railway Company, will be launched at the works of the Canadian Ship Building Company, at the foot of Bathurst street, on the first of December. The vessel will cost $375,000.

The new boat is 320 feet long, 56 feet wide and when loaded will draw 15 feet. Its speed will be fifteen miles an hour. The steamer is equipped with twin-screw triple expansion engines and Scotch boilers.

The steamer will run from Rochester to some point on the Canadian side, probably Port Hope or Cobourg, making daily trips, winter as well as summer.

"Traffic over the International Bridge is not fast enough for the railway company," said Mr. A. Augstrom, general manager of the shipbuilding company. "They, therefore, decided to build a steamer to bring over coal to supply their system in Ontario. This steamer will hold 24 cars and they can be run on the vessel just as they are. They purpose going the full year."

The steamer is also accommodated with 100 staterooms and Grand Trunk passengers will be carried over. The decks themselves are large enough for 1,000 passengers.

The construction of the boat has been under the direct supervision of Mr. Fitzhugh, third vice-president of the Railway Company.

The boat is the same length as the Cayuga, but more heavily built, and cost $100,000 more.

The name of the new vessel is significant, "Ontario No. 1," and it is probable that others will follow.

OTHER CONTRACTS.

The Canadian Shipbuilding Company has contracts on hand for $1,500,000. Among these is the new $250,000 boat for the R. & O. Navigation Company, for St. Lawrence River service.

The Chicago and St. Lawrence Steam Navigation Company has ordered a freight steamer with a capacity of 10,000 tons, a new passenger boat, slightly smaller than the steamer Cayuga, will be built for the Niagara and St. Catharines Navigation Company, and another for the Muskoka Lakes Navigation Company.

Dr. Coughlin's Job is Warranted

Yesterday a proof that Peterborough and her citizens are watched closely by the whole Province of Ontario, was proven by the following letter which appeared in the Toronto World, viz.:

Editor World; I notice in Monday's issue an interview with Premier Whitney in regard to an alleged attack on the government in the columns of the Orange Sentinel, because of the government's appointment of Dr. Coughlin as superintendent of the Belleville Institute for the Deaf and Dumb. Permit me to say that if the writer in the Orange Sentinel knew Dr. Coughlin personally, as I happen to have the pleasure of knowing him, no objection to the Government's appointment would be made from that quarter. When Dr. Coughlin ran as a candidate of the Liberal-Conservative party, in opposition to the late attorney-general, the Hon. Mr. Gibson, in one of the ridings of Wellington County, Dr. Coughlin gratefully acknowledged to me the loyal support he received from the late Hon. N. C. Wallace, then Grandmaster of the Orange Association of British North America. Dr. Coughlin informed me that Mr. Wallace personally canvassed the divisions and the result proved the success of the late grandmaster's efforts. Anyone who has met Dr. Coughlin will endorse his appointment by the government. He is a genial person, liberal minded, and stands high in the esteem of all who know him, and from what I know of the editor of the Orange Sentinel I feel that from a personal standpoint, and knowing all the conditions as I do, he would be the first to congratulate Dr. Coughlin upon his well-earned appointment. I am convinced that the editor of the Orange Sentinel, is a very liberal-minded man, and regards all appointments in the gift of the government, as the legitimate prize of all citizens, regardless of creed or race, but he is opposed, as I am, to undue influence being exercised, and special preferment being given, because of race or creed, but in Dr. Coughlin's appointment I am satisfied he received it on his own personal merit alone.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Louisa Howell's, a noted character of this city, was arrested yesterday as being D. & D. A special session of the police court was held at 4 p.m., with Acting Magistrate S. A. Armstrong on the bench. Louisa was fined $10 which was paid, and the lady consequently dismissed.

This morning seven of those charged with having removed Mayor Hall's fence, from his property on Hallowe'en, will answer a charge to this effect in the police court. Yesterday the father and other relatives of one of those charged, were busy digging post holes and putting the fence back into position.

City Day Labor Plan Discussed

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Your paper seems to me the only one in the city that is calling attention to the recent unfair competition between the city and the contractors, who, hitherto, did the city's work in the way of sewers, etc., and did it well.

I am not going to call attention as to whether the work done by the present system of day labor by the city on the sewers, is satisfactory or not. One result is one of the city's work on the sewers is sufficient to demonstrate whether the city is gaining or losing by the recently adopted system, and that is the recent dumping of the sewerage of this city into Spaulding's Bay, thereby making a public and open cesspool, of a public owned body of water, surrounded by hundreds of residences.

Now the "Town Trust" recently were put in charge of the Hubbard estate property. It may somewhat startle your readers to learn that the city has recently drawn over 450 cords of stone from this property. Certainly this stone belongs to the city, but here is a point for consideration. These hundreds of cords of stone, that went to make fences between the various tenants of the Hubbard Estate, are being used in the construction of granolithic pavements. How could any contractor tender against the city's present system, when such contractors, in their tenders have to count the cost of stone; I claim that the bids put in by the city against the contractors are unjust, in that the city is using material already paid for.

On the Romaine street sewer, built on the day labor system by the city, several hundred feet of hose belonging to the city, together with the city's water are being used. A contractor would have to furnish such sundries at his own expense. How can contractors tender in reason against such conditions.

Yours truly,

Found Dead in the Ruins.

St. John, N. B., November 8.—Fire which waged from midnight Saturday until 3 a.m. Sunday, gutted Ungar's laundry, on Waterloo street, and caused considerable damage to W. V. & J. W. Myers, machinists; Wm. E. King, brush manufacturers; Sterling B. Lordy, furniture maker, and others. The total loss is estimated at $25,000. James W. King was found dead from suffocation in the brush factory of his brother, where he had gone to save property, and was overcome by smoke and scalded about the face and hands.

Postal Revenue Increases.

Ottawa, November 8.—Canada's postal revenue is forging ahead at an astonishing rate. For the month of October it amounts to $660,795, a gain of $150,041, and $236,847, respectively, when compared with the same month in 1905 and 1899.

When Run-Down, "Draggy," Used-up

You Lack the Vigor, Courage and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply.

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich, pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. At once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowsman, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the chains of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

A RAILROAD TO ASIA

When the announcement was first made of the plan to connect Asia and North America by railroad through a tunnel under Behring Strait it was received with incredulity. The idea was regarded as hopeless visionary, and the whole scheme nothing more than a day dream.

But those who fathered the project are proceeding exactly as though they meant to carry it through. The general plan has been decided upon and within a week the articles of incorporation for the United States have been taken out in New Jersey. The authorized capital is $6,000,000. The American incorporators are; Loicq De Lobel, of Paris; J. A. Waddell, of Kansas City; John Healy, of Seattle; W. M. Black, of Jersey City, and John M. Turner, of New York. M. De Lobel as the general delegate of the French-Russian-American syndicate said to be back of the enterprise. Mr. Waddell is the delegate of the advisory board of consulting engineers of the railroad, and Mr. Healy is the delegate of the western members of the syndicate.

The railroad plans picture it as running from the Trans-Siberian Railway, at Kansk, to Behring Strait, which is to be tunneled to Cape Prince of Wales, on the Seward Peninsula in Alaska. From Cape Prince of Wales the line will run toward Cape York and then easterly to Port Clarence, from which place it will extend to the British boundary line, by way of Brently Harbor, Norton Bay, Nulato and the Coatwell and Tana Rivers. The length of the main line will be 3,750 miles, according to the promoters, and the branches 2,250 miles.

There seems scant room for the assumption that the corporation was formed merely for stock selling purposes, as the shares will probably not be in great demand owing to the fact that the chance for dividends is extremely remote. In time to come, such a railroad might have business. The development of Alaska has only begun and if Russia has given Imperial support to the project that country must have ambitious plans for Eastern Siberia. The old notion that the regions about Behring Strait can not support life profitably has long since been disproved. If the railroad is ever built the territory it will open up is large enough. But it is difficult to see how it could be profitable for a long time after it is put in operation.

—Mr. R. G. McManus, of Keene, has the contract for building our new school house, and is making very good progress with it. We hope it will be ready in the near future.

—Quite a number of visitors attend the evening services here and among them is "By Gore Tom" and his lady love. A certain party took her for his daughter, but "By Gore" says 'er is not my daughter.

KEENE

The Sons of Rest met in the hall of wisdom on Saturday night last and had rather a lively time imposposing fines and transacting other important and necessary business. There was a large representation of lovers of ease from Hiawatha, the most prominent being; Turkey-snatcher Tobique, Bounsslinger Cowie, Pacer Sampson, Goslow Mather, Musher Muskrat, King solomon, Contractor McManus, Goldtooth Paudach, William City Cowie, Pouty Mac, Carnegie Brough and Floridale Dickson. At precisely 7.30 o'clock Minney Wale, the president, arrived and in a zigzag manner mounted the platform and opened the meeting with a short prayer. He then rose and informed the brethren that it was not his intention to take up any of their valuable time with an address, as he understood that there was considerable business to be transacted. He then declared the meeting open for business and took his seat. Pouty Mac rose to his feet and intimated to the president that he at present was residing in Hiawatha and therefore was acquainted with the boys and knew how they had been conducting themselves during the past two weeks. He said that it was his painful duty to day a charge against Turkeysnatcher Tobique for stealing a turkey on Hallowe'en; he also charged him with stealing cakes and leaving his mat on the cake box. The president rose and told Tobique that he felt sorry that he had to be so severe on him, but he had to do his duty and would therefore impose a fine of two hundred dollars, to be paid in one week or two years' imprisonment with hard labor. King Solomon rose and laid a charge against Musher Muskrat for courting a young lady rather frequently of late. The president fined Musher five dollars and warned him to go slow in the future. Pacer Simpson laid a charge against Obuck Cowe for carrying booze into the village. Minney Wale fined Obuck one hundred dollars and warned him to quit boozing. Contractor McManus rose and told the president that it grieved him to lay a charge against a brother, but nevertheless he intended to abide by the rules of the lodge order. He then charged Pouty Mac with delivering a temperance lecture in Hiawatha Methodist church. He also charged Carnegie Brough with eating cakes until he choked. The president fined Pouty and Carnegie fifty dollars each, to be paid in two weeks or two months in jail. Goldtooth Paudach rose and said that he was sorry to see so many of the boys of this village disgrace not only themselves but also the society. He said that he gave the president credit for punishing all law breakers and he trusted the boys would mow reform and be good in the future. The president now rose and said the closing hour had arrived and he would ask Floridale Dickson and King Solomon to sing the closing ode. They sang with a vengeance and Floridale's stomach kept right side up. The meeting was then closed until next Saturday night at 7.30 o'clock.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton o 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

doorstep, "here is a tinker, and he says the clock is slow."

"It seems to be out of order," said his wife, coming to the step.

"Seems, madam! Nay, it is!" said the stranger. "Did ye mind the stroke of it?"

"No," said she.

"Marry, 'twas like the call of a dying man."

Allen thought a moment as he whittled.

"Had I such a stroke on me I'd—I'd think I was paralyzed," the stranger added.

"You'd better fix it, then," said Allen.

"Thou art wise, good man," said the stranger. "Mind the two hands on the clock an' keep them to their place or they'll beckon thee to poverty."

The clock was brought to the doorstep, and all gathered about him as he went to work.

"Ye know a power o' Scripter," said one of the hired men.

"Scripter," said the tinker, laughing. "I do, sor, an' much of it according to the good St. William. Have ye never read Shakespeare?"

None who sat before him knew anything of the immortal bard.

"He writ a book 'bout Dan'l Boone an' the Injuns," a hired man ventured.

"'Angels an' ministers o' grace defend us!" the tinker exclaimed.

Trove laughed.

"I'll give ye a riddle," said the tinker, turning to him.

"How is it the clock can keep a sober face?"

"It has no ears," Trove answered.

"Right," said the old tinker, smiling. "Thou art a knowing youth. Read

"Ye know a power o' Scripter."

Shakespeare, boy—a little of him three times a day for the mind's sake. I've traveled far in lonely places and needed no other company."

"Ever in India?" Trove inquired. He had been reading of that far land.

"I was, sor," the stranger continued, rubbing a wheel. "I was five years in India, sor, an' part o' the time fighting as hard as ever a man could fight."

"Fighting!" said Trove, much interested.

"I was, sor," he asserted, oiling a pinion of the old clock.

"On which side?"

"Inside an' outside."

"With natives?"

"I did, sor; three kinds o' them—fever, fleas an' the divvle."

"Give us some more Shakespeare," said the boy, smiling.

The tinker rubbed his spectacles thoughtfully, and as he resumed his work a sounding flood of tragic utterance came out of him—the great soliloquies of Hamlet and Macbeth and Richard III. and Lear and Antony, all said with spirit and appreciation. The job finished, they bade him put up for dinner.

"A fine colt!" said Allen as they were on their way to the stable.

"It is, sor," said the tinker, "a most excellent breed o' horses."

"Where from?"

"The grandsire from the desert o' Arabia, where Allah created the horse out o' the south wind. See the slender flanks o' the Barbary? See her eye?"

He seemed to talk in that odd strain for the mere joy of it, and there was in his voice the God given vanity of bird or poet.

He had caught the filly by her little plume and stood patting her forehead.

For a moment he led her up and down at a quick trot, her dainty feet touching the earth lightly as a fawn's.

"Thou'rt made for the hot leagues o' the great sand sea," said he, patting her head. "Ah, thy neck shall be as the bowsprit; thy dust as the flying spray!"

"In one thing you are like Isaiah," said Allen as he whittled. "The Lord God hath given thee the tongue of the learned."

"An' if he grant me the power to speak a word in season to him that is weary I shall be content," said the tinker.

Dinner over, they came out of doors. The stranger stood filling his pipe. Something in his talk and manner had gone deep into the soul of the boy, who now whispered a moment with his father.

"Would you sell the filly?" said Allen. "My boy would like to own her."

"What, ho, the boy! The beautiful boy! An' would ye love her, boy?" the tinker asked.

"Yes, sir," the boy answered quickly.

"An' put a ribbon in her forelock an' a coat o' silk on her back, an', mind ye, a man o' kindness in the saddle?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then take thy horse, an' Allah grant thou be successful on her ah many times as there be hairs in her skin."

"And the price?" said Allen.

"Name it, an' I'll call thee just."

The business over, the tinker called to Trove, who had led the filly to her stall.

"You, there, strike the tents. Bring me the mare. This very day she may bear me to forgiveness."

Trove brought the mare.

"Remember," said the old man, turning as he rode away, "in the day o' the last judgment God 'll mind the look o' thy horse."

He rode on a few steps and halted, turning in the saddle.

"Thou, too, Phyllis," he called. "God 'll mind the look o' thy master. See that ye bring him safe."

The little filly began to rear and call, the mother to answer. For days she called and trembled, with wet eyes, listening for the voice that still answered, though out of hearing, far over the hills. And Trove, too, was lonely, and there was a kind of longing in his heart for the music in that voice of the stranger.

CHAPTER IV.

FOR Trove it was a day of sowing. The strange old tinker had filled his heart with a new joy and a new desire. Next morning he got a ride to Hillsborough, fourteen miles, and came back, reading as he walked a small green book, its thin pages covered thick with execrably fine printing, its title "The Works of Shakespeare." He read the book industriously and with keen pleasure. Allen complained shortly that Shakespeare and the filly had interfered with the potatoes and the corn.

The filly ceased to take food and sickened for a time after the dam left her. Trove lay in the stall nights and gave her milk sweetened to her liking. She grew strong and playful and forgot her sorrow and began to follow him like a dog on his errands up and down the farm. Trove went to school in the autumn—"select school," it was called. A two mile journey it was by trail, but a full three by the wagon road. He learned only a poor lesson the first day, for on coming in sight of the schoolhouse he heard a rush of feet behind him and saw his filly charging down the trail. He had to go back with her and lose the day, a thought dreadful to him, for now hope was high and school days few and precious. At first he was angry; then he sat among the ferns, covering his face and sobbing with sore resentment. The little filly stood over him and rubbed her silky muzzle on his neck and kicked up her heels in play as he pushed her back.

The ore values of these mines vary from $18.00 to $20,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $16.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 18 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $18.00 per ton	$1,800.00

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 2½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Stop That Headache!

Foolish to Suffer When a Simple Remedy Will Prevent and Cure.

Ever stop to think what caused your headaches?

Probably not. Then look to the bowels and stomach, and you'll find plenty of cause. Chances are you'll find constipation, liver is sluggish, stomach overburdened with half-digested food.

No wonder you are dull, tired, restless day and night.

You need the cleansing influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which cure your condition in short order.

Being composed of natural vegetable remedies Dr. Hamilton's Pills possess great power, yet they are harmless. They aid all organs connected with the stomach, liver and bowels. In consequence food is properly digested, the blood is pure and nourishing, the body is kept strong and resists disease.

Headaches never come to those who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and this fact is vouched for by the Assistant Manager of the Poultry Success Magazine, of Springfield, O.; Mr. J. H. Callender, who writes: "No better medicine than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. We use them regularly and know of marvelous cures that resisted everything else. They cleanse the whole system, act as a tonic on the blood, enliven digestion, keep the stomach sound and make you feel strong and well. For headaches, indigestion, and stomach disorders I am confident that the one prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

You can rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills with implicit confidence; their effect is wonderful. Sold by all dealers. Price 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

If the weather continues fine, the company will be able to get the greater part of their work done this fall.

Boys Who Stole, Gets Off.

It seems that the hot blood of some of our East Ward youths has got them into trouble with the police authorities. On Saturday a few of them, having erected a shed on the Keene road, had unfortunately borrowed with "French Leave" some lumber from the Dickson Company's farm, near Downers' Corners. When Mr. Davidson, in the interests of his company investigated the loss of the company's goods, he ascertained from a child where the lumber had gone to. Owing to Mr. Davidson's well known philanthropy the case was not prosecuted, and the boys promised to behave themselves in future.

Dr. Marsh Is Eulogized

The Hamilton Times has the following encomium upon a divine well known here:

"Rev. Dr. Marsh has decided to accept the call of the congregations of Springville and Bethany, in the Presbytery of Peterborough, and Hamilton will soon lose a citizen whose work in the interest of science has made his name prominent all over Canada. Dr. Marsh, while a deep student of science and an ardent lover of astronomy, is an earnest Christian and a progressive citizen. He will be missed in Hamilton, not only in astronomical circles and as president of the Hamilton Astronomical Society, but in all the Protestant churches, for he was ever ready to assist in any church work.

His observatory on Aberdeen avenue has been the haunt of scientific men.

Marks Bros. Well Received.

Once more the splendid aggregation entitled the "Marks' Bros." held a large audience spell-bound in their strong play "Lost and Won" last night at the opera house. Whilst the dramatic features of last night were strongly portrayed, add the various characters most admirably sustained, it might be noted that the vaudeville part of the evening was possibly as much appreciated as was that of the legitimate. Kittie Marks, Little Bellard and other clever specialists brought down the house by their clever work. Marks Bros. are always sure of an enthusiastic welcome in Peterborough. There are however reasons, outside the company playing that handicap their success to a certain extent here. This, however, has nothing to do with the clever company playing here.

The Fellowship Tea.

The weekly meeting of St. Andrew's Brotherhood was held last night in the Guild room of St. John's church Sunday school. Mr. Jas. R. Bell was in the chair. After the opening service business was proceeded with and many interesting matters were brought up for discussion among which was the "Fellowship Tea," to be held in the Sunday school on Sunday afternoon next at 5.30 o'clock. Invitations are being sent around and great preparations are being made by Messrs. Conway and Goodacre, in whose hands the management of the tea has been given, to make this an unbounded success.

Mr. Forsythe Begins His Lectures.

Mr. Cecil C. Forsythe, in St. Andrew's church gave the first of a series of popular lectures to be given through the fall. The subject was handled in most interesting and instructive manner by Mr. Forsythe, and those present were greatly pleased with the address. He explained that the course of lectures was somewhat of an experiment, and he would be gratified if he could induce even a small number of people to take a deeper interest in music. He points deeper interest in music.

Great Rush at Sheridan's.

Yesterday the bargain sale at S. J. Sheridan's storage sale reminded one of a miniature riot. The rush was so great that people stood often for an hour at the George street entrance, and were admitted in bunches, and then as they bought goods let out by the side door in the arcade. During the day Messrs. Sheridan & Co. passed out over one thousand dollars worth of goods. This morning special arrangements will be made to accommodate the crowds that are certain to repeat yesterday's rush.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mayapple root. Then there is Black Cherry bark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and "thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

So far this year $278.20 has been collected in this county on the scales as specified above. Last year the fees amounted to $702.29.

Great Attraction for This City.

Mr. R. J. Derey yesterday received an offer from the celebrated Pittsburg Orchestra. This unique combination contains 60 instrumentalists. This company, which is one of the highest priced, as well as the best of its kind, on the American continent can only be secured for one single performance here. To get so extraordinary an aggregation of skilled musicians it will be necessary to have a guarantee subscription list signed preparatory to signing a contract with their manager.

Mr. Derey will at once circulate subscription lists among the elite of the city, who will undoubtedly avail themselves of so grand an opportunity of hearing this splendid company.

BAIL FOR MR M'GILL PLACED AT $100,000

Police Magistrate Denison Issued the Order at Three o'Clock Yesterday Afternoon---Bondsmen Will Make Up 50,000 Security.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Mr. Charles M'Gill, former general manager of the Ontario Bank, will be released from prison to take bail on bail pending satisfactory sureties in the amount of $100,000 are forthcoming.

Sureties of $25,000 in both the charges against the banker must be put on—on that of forwarding improper returns to the Government, and on that of stealing $138,000.

In addition, Mr McGill must give security for $50,000 that he will appear when called upon.

"As certain statements have gone abroad in the press regarding my attitude on this question," said Magistrate Denison, in discussing the matter in the police court yesterday afternoon, "I desire to make an explanation.

"When the first charge was laid against Mr. McGill it was for a statutory offence—for a misdemeanor as court distinguished from a felony.

"In going into the evidence, I found that a much more serious offence—what would be a felony—had been committed.

"At the outset I was aware that the attorney-general would be present to take bail on the lesser charge, but I was not so sure that he was aware of the serious nature of the offence that had been disclosed in this court.

"I considered that it was wrong to grant bail until all the facts had been placed before the attorney-general, especially as no such serious offence had been brought before me since I assumed the bench.

"Yesterday I saw Mr. Foy and laid the facts before him, and he agreed with me that bail might be granted provided the bail was doubled—making the entire amount $100,000."

Magistrate Denison issued the bail order at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, accepting independent sureties for $50,000, and Mr. McGill's bonds for the same amount—$50,000 for each charge.

The bondsmen who will make up the $50,000 security are F. G. Larkin, R. Fairweather, D. J. McIntyre, A. J. Gough, and John McGill.

Crooked Work for Local Option

A Brantford despatch says: The local option campaign in the city of Brantford met sudden death at the hands of the city council last night. A petition signed by the required 25 per cent. of the voters on the roll, was presented two weeks ago, calling for a vote. This was presented to City Solicitor Henderson for inspection and report. Tonight, he reported that the total number on the roll was 6,359, and thus 1,340 being the required 25 per cent., would have to be on the petition in order to force the council to act. The petition was signed by 1,391 names. He reported that on examination showed, that in many cases, two or three, and in some cases, five or six names are written in the same handwriting, over one hundred names, some not electors, appearing in this way.

Mrs. Warren Given Gold Pin.

At a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of St. John's church, Lakefield, Mrs. Warren, wife of Ven. Archdeacon Warren, who as noted in these columns, is removing to Toronto, was presented with a gold pin and also a life membership of the Auxiliary. Mrs. R. C. Strickland made the presentation of the pin and Mrs. W. M. Graham read the address, in which regret was expressed at Mrs. Warren's departure. Miss Helen Lefevre also on behalf of the society, presented Mrs. Warren with the chart of life membership. Mrs. Warren answered in suitable terms, thanking the members for their kindness.

Locouteur Pleads "Not Guilty."

Quebec, November 9.—Gen. Lecouteur has pleaded "not guilty" of the murder of his wife and was sent to the criminal court for trial. Raoul Barrette, a neighbor, testified at the private examination that the prisoner went to his house the night before the murder and asked to borrow a revolver to kill his wife.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

Breathe Hyomei and Get Relief and Cure. Sold Under Guarantee.

If you have catarrh, with offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, coughing, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, huskiness, discharge from the nose, tickling and dropping at the back of the throat, especially at night, coughing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

Its healing medication will give relief in a few days and its continued use will completely drive all catarrhal germs from the system.

Hyomei contains Nature's healing oils and balsams, the germ-killing properties of the pine forests, and goes with the air you breathe to the most remote cells of the respiratory organs, searching out and killing all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing any irritation there may be in the mucous membranes. It is easy and pleasant to use Hyomei, pleasanter than most of the stomach dosing, as its healing air is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, which can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, and carries medication to just the stop where relief is needed.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Belleville Man Tries Suicide

The Belleville Intelligencer says: "At a late hour last night Mr. David Bowler, who resides on Pinnacle street, and is well known in the city, made an attempt at self-destruction by strangulation.

"It appears that the unfortunate man was despondent over his affliction, he having lost both legs in a railroad accident some years ago and this is given as a reason why he desired to make away with himself.

"It seems that, in his attempt at suicide, Bowler had taken a strong rope and, making a slip knot at one end, had fastened the other end to the banister of the hall stairs. After placing the noose about his neck he had put his hands behind his back and, with a rope fastened them in such a way as to keep them in that position. He then leaned forward in such a manner that the greater weight of his body was upon the neck and the slip knot was drawn taut. In this way he no doubt would have been strangled to death in a short time if members of the family had not discovered him. The police were notified of the affair and Bowler was taken into custody and a charge of attempted suicide recorded against him. This morning he was remanded to jail for a few days.

ARMS HIS EMPLOYES

Cleveland Printer Tells Men to Fight Union Pickets.

Cleveland, November 9.—John A. Penton, president of the Penton Publishing Company of this city, has declared war on the pickets of the Typographical Union who have been stationed near his establishment. Penton bought revolvers yesterday and gave them to his employes, with instructions to use them if they were molested by the pickets.

Penton sent a letter to the mayor, in which he said he intended to protect his men against assault and to continue doing business, and that he intended to arm them. Penton also wrote letters to the chief of police and the judges of the police court, telling them of his intention to arm his men.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday the police court was fairly well crowded by friends and acquaintances of five young men, whose sense of humor exceeded their otherwise prevailing common sense on Hallowe'en.

These young men who were well dressed and of good appearance, it seems on Hallowe'en exceeded the dictates of common sense, and in their desire for "fun," carried away, after jerking the posts out of their original location, a fence that shut in the front part of Mayor Hext's residence.

One of those summoned was not present when the trial began. The others, one of whom was represented by Mr. Kerr, of Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Co., all pleaded guilty, with one exception, viz., a young man named McGill, who pleaded "Not guilty," and who quickly demonstrated that he was not present when the act of vandalism was perpetrated, and who was, at once discharged. In his case it was a matter of mistaken identity.

Mr. Kerr said that whilst there was no defence, he asked the court to treat the boys as leniently as possible.

Magistrate Armstrong assessed each defendant $2.15 costs without fine.

One of the defendants who was not present when the trial opened, and after his colleagues, in the roulte, had all pleaded guilty, and had been assessed $2.15 each for costs, arrived later and was placed in the same catalogue as his fellow fence destroyers, and charged the same sum.

Acting Magistrate S. Armstrong told the defendants that whilst they might consider their offence as a boyish freak for fun, public and private property must be protected. He would, in view of the well reasoned defence submitted by Mr. Kerr, and in view of the fact that the fence had been replaced by the prisoners go on the payment of actual costs of the case.

It might be noted that the prisoners, by their appearance in court clearly demonstrated that the prettiest and most easily removed fence in the city will not require a guardian next Hallowe'en.

Hotel De Co. registered the names of two distinguished guests, one for drunk and striking a little boy, and the other for asking free-will offerings from several people on the street.

ANOTHER HORRIBLE CRIME

Non-Union Mine Blown Up by Union Men.

Wheeling, W. Va., November 8.—An attempt was made today to wreck the tipple of the Oak Grove works, six miles east of here. A stick of dynamite was placed in the stove in the scale house, directly under the tipple. When the fire was kindled there was a terrific explosion. The scale house was blown to pieces, and the underpinning of the tipple wrecked. The man who kindled the fire fortunately had left. This mining company is the only one in this sub-district which has not signed the scale setting the coal strike, still on Monday it started shipping coal with non-union men.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux will be sympathized with the clerks and assured them that they would get an increase of salary, but he would have to consult with his colleagues as to how large the increase would be.

General Stoessel Is "Hard-Up."

London, November 9.—A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Reuter's Telegram Company says that General Stoessel, the defender of Port Arthur, is in such financial straits that he has applied to a charitable institution for wounded soldiers for assistance to enable him to employ a servant. The officers of this institution asked the general to produce a medical certificate showing that his health requires the services of a servant.

HUGHES TALKS OF HIS SUCCESS

Calls it a Victory for Decency and Sobriety in Administration

ONE REGRET OF MR. HEARST

Wished He Had Simply Ran as an Independent—British Papers See a Warning.

New York, Nov. 9.—Charles E. Hughes left last night for Timothy L. Woodruff's lodge in the Fulton Chain of the Adirondacks. Before leaving the governor-elect made this statement:

"It is a victory for sobriety and for decency in the administration of government. But the people will not tolerate indifference to public wrongs. They desire neither exaggeration nor inflammatory appeal on the one hand nor moral or political obtuseness on the other hand. The election is a rebuke to demagogical methods, and it is also impressive in its demand for responsible leadership. I shall address myself to the task of squaring the administration of government with the interest of the people, confident that I may rely upon the support of all good citizens, not only those who voted for me, but also those who, in the intensity of their desire to end abuses, voted for my opponent. To the work of ensuring to the extent of my power, the just administration of the government of the State, I shall devote myself unreservedly.

ATTITUDE OF HEARST.

William R. Hearst has had very little to say since his defeat, and he did not talk much yesterday. He showed a cheerful front to callers who went to his home in Lexington avenue to congratulate him on making a good fight, and put in several hours reading telegrams from all parts of the State, and all over the country to about the same effect.

Despite Mr. Hearst's silence, certain things concerning his attitude and his opinion of the election became known. Mr. Hearst has indicated that it would be neither sensible nor discreet to charge that he was defrauded at the polls. His managers were eager to howl fraud, but they were squelched.

It was said yesterday that he was sorry that he had not made the race as the Independent League candidate alone.

BRITISH PRESS COMMENT.

London, Nov. 9.—The moral of the American elections, as drawn from a majority of the editorials in the London newspapers, is that the nation is exasperated and alarmed by the growing power and desperism of the trusts, in combating with the people are prepared to go a long way toward accepting Hearstism. Hearst himself, although generally scalled for his violence, extravagance, and "sort of vague Anarchism," receives a certain amount of applause for his fearless onslaught on the trusts. His yellow sheets, it is claimed, although they have stooped into the gutter to gather mud and garbage, have done a work that otherwise would not have been done.

Turret Bell Abandoned.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., November 8.—The steamer Turret Bell, stranded at Cable Head, was surveyed yesterday and condemned as a total loss by Pope, Welsh and Lloyds surveyors, Captain Brown, D.G.S., Stanley, and Captain Taylor, D.G.S., Gutnare. There was five feet water in her hold, and she is evidently badly strained. She is insured for seventy thousand, principally in Lloyds, and the owners have abandoned her to the underwriters. The crew all left her yesterday, and Lloyd's agent has placed a man in charge.

Cruelty to Beasts Noted in Verse

Yesterday The Times was in receipt of a letter from a subscriber in Toronto, who had read our report of the good pluck shown by Mr. Hughes-Charles in going to Toronto to prosecute a young man he had seen maltreating a horse. The writer enclosed the following, with a request that we publish it, viz.:

A man of kindness to his beast is kind,
A brutal action shows a brutish mind,
Remember, He who made thee, made the brute,
Who gave thee speech and reason, formed him mute.
He can't complain, but God's all-seeing eye,
Beholds thy cruelty, and hears the cry.
He was designed thy servant, not thy drudge,
Remember, He who made thee, made the brute.
Remember his Creator is thy judge.

BANKS COULD ASSIST

British Capital Would Come Faster If Undertakings Were Known to be Reputable.

London, Nov. 8.—The Liverpool Post-Mercury says that if Canadians themselves could devise some means by which reputable could be distinguished from disreputable undertakings, they would confer immense benefit upon the British investors and facilitate the introduction of the capital essential to the development of their country.

In this connection the Canadian banks could probably do a good deal.

FOUND HIS BONES

Remains of Englishman Are Found Scattered Around.

Edmonton, Nov. 8.—The skeleton of Duckworth, one of the Englishmen lost up the river last summer, has been found by D. Logan, at Gosoe encampment. He found the skeleton in the back water of Buck Creek, eight miles below where the camp outfit and diaries of the missing men were discovered. The body had apparently been hauled out of the water by a beaver or coyote. The skeleton was scattered around. The body of Pennington, the other victim, was reported floating down the river several miles below the city.

Investigating the Japanese Trouble.

San Francisco, November 9.—Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf, accompanied by Consul H Uyejen, of Japan, has been visiting the Japanese quarter of the city and the Oriental school in pursuing his investigation into the exclusion of Japanese pupils from schools attended by white children. Later the secretary went to the Japanese consulate, where he heard statements and complaints of Japanese restaurant keepers who allege that their business is boycotted.

Attempted Suicide in Church.

Worcester, November 8.—Abrosio Oharron, who for some time has been in ill-health, attempted suicide in the church here by taking a dose of laudanum. He was found by the sexton, as the latter was closing the church. A couple of empty whisker bottles were found by his side. The man is now in the hospital here and the doctors fear that he will not recover.

Train Looted by Armed Men.

Gallup, N. M., November 9.—While westbound Santa Fe passenger train No. 1 was standing on the tracks here early yesterday, three men armed with revolvers entered the coaches and forced the passengers to hand up their hands. They secured several hundred dollars in money and several grips and overcoats from the passengers, and made their escape. The crew at the time were in the dining room.

Sensational Developments Anticipated

Paris, November 9.—Sensational developments are anticipated at the hearing of the Castellane divorce suit here. Convinced that all hope of a reconciliation has gone forever, it apparently is the intention of the count's attorneys to open a vicious attack on the countess' witnesses. The hearing tomorrow will be private. Helen Gould is here giving support and comfort to her sister during the painful ordeal.

FAR WELL RECEPTION TO DR. COUGHLIN

Many Gathered in The Young Conservative Club Last Night to Pay Tribute to the Doctor's Faithful Work.

In the gaily decorated and well furnished rooms of the Young Conservative Club, many prominent citizens as well as the members of the club gathered to say farewell in a body to Dr. Coughlin, who is leaving this city next week for Belleville, where he has been appointed superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Institution.

Mr Burnham was in the chair, and after the meeting was called to order, rose and addressed the meeting. He said he had always looked upon the doctor as one of the best members of the society. He had, when the darkest times were overshadowing the Conservative party, fought and held his level in Peterborough. He looked upon him as an ornament to his profession and would prove an honor to his party and to the government in his new sphere of life. (Musical applause.)

Mr Bradburn, was the next to speak. He spoke of the great services done to the party by Dr. Coughlin; how he had fought to bring the Conservative party to the front in his constituency. He had fought two great fights in the riding, when he faced certain defeat, but he was undeterred by these confrontings, until he was glad to see that Hon. Mr. Whitney had made such a wise and well deserved appointment.

Mr. Kendry spoke of how the doctor had helped him in his elections. He said we have in Ontario the best premier and the best government of any province in Canada, and that the provincial secretary was one of the best men in political life. He closed his remarks by wishing the doctor a happy life in Belleville, and said the greatest confidence in his being a credit to the institution.

Colonel Miller, Mr. Dobbin, and several other prominent members of the club rose and congratulated Dr. Coughlin on his work and their appreciation of the honor tendered to the society by Mr. Whitney appointing him to his well deserved position.

It was moved by Mr. T. W. Wilson and seconded by Mr. Edgar that the club heartily endorse the appointment of Dr. Coughlin on account of his medical, moral and political position in this Canada of ours, and we commend the Ontario Government in making such a choice.

This was received with a hearty applause which in itself spoke of the approval of the rest of the assembly.

Doctor Coughlin then rose, and was greeted with cheers. He said the stream of remarks were getting beyond measure, and expressed his pleasure at the ovation of gratitude he had received. He remarked that he went into politics for the sport, and from a sense of fair play and good government. "I never dreamed of any such reward as has been tendered to me by the government of Ontario and this society as I have received."

Any man going through life, no matter what walk it may be, was sure to get a reward sometime. This reception alone is worth all the work I have done for the Conservative party and club. I believe that civil servants should not enter into political life and would therefore remain in a dormant political state hereafter. I am glad to see that the criticisms were few, made about my appointment, and hoping to see the members in a short time he closed.

After the speeches a short program of music and recitations were rendered by Messrs. Coleman and Peters and, after a few closing words from the chair, the meeting broke up with cheers and songs for the most popular man in Peterborough.

BASKETBALL.

Arrangements have been made for the appearance here on Wednesday evening, November 14th, of the All Saints' basketball team of Toronto, who will play the Alerts, champions of Peterborough, at the Y.M.C.A. The All Saints are one of the strongest teams in Toronto, and the game should be a splendid one.

• • • •

RUGBY.

The executive meeting of the City League which was called for Wednesday night, will likely be held this evening.

• • • •

The Quakers and Bankers will play an exhibition game on Saturday at the Riverside Park.

• • • •

HOCKEY.

Now that cold weather is approaching and in fact in evidence, the future of Peterborough City League Hockey is being talked of. Last year this organization had a successful career, and trained some good players who will soon graduate into senior company. A meeting to re-organize the league will be held shortly. It is expected that there will be four teams in the league this year, the Charlotte Street Guild, the Suicides, Bankers and Y.M.C.A. It is not yet known whether or not Lakefield will come in, should that burg join it would make a five-team league. The Charlotte Street Guild will again place a strong team, and expect to once more land the championship. The Suicides will be much stronger than last year. The Bankers have a strong aggregation which will, this year be strengthened by several new players.

• • • •

Listowel will have a junior team in the O.H.A. for the first time in several years. Listowel's last team were runners-up with the Kingston Frontenacs, for the championship.

MAY CAUSE WAR

Pressing Northward in Manchuria, Say Russian Papers.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—According advices received from Vladivostok there is constant friction between the Russians and Japanese in Manchuria. The Japanese, according to the newspapers of Vladivostok, are continually pressing northward in Manchuria with the apparent intention of establishing themselves in the hinterland of Vladivostok, where their presence would constitute a serious menace to the fortress, involving the possibility of the resumption of hostilities. The charge that the Japanese are fortifying the island of Sakhalin in violation of the terms of the treaty of Portsmouth is reiterated.

Peary Will Try Again to Reach the Pole

New York, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Robert E. Peary, wife of the Arctic explorer, is sure that her husband will make another try to find the Pole, according to a Portland, Maine, despatch to the World. Mrs. Peary has just returned to Portland and is waiting word from Commander Peary where she is to join him. "I hope and sincerely believe that my husband has not given up his fight to reach the North Pole. If he can get within 200 miles of the goal I am sure that he is not going to give up, and I know that he will be able to without if he tries again.

"SHUN BAR ROOMS," SAID ZEIGLER JUST BEFORE COMMITTING SUICIDE

Kingston, Nov. 9.—George Zeigler, district manager of the Northern Life Assurance Company, was found at eight o'clock yesterday morning in a shed at Barriefield, across from Kingston, shot to death. It was a case of suicide, the young man having taken that method of escaping arrest for forgery.

At 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning people at Barriefield heard shots, and on investigating found Zeigler lying dead in a shed in rear of Henry Knapp's house, with a revolver beside him. He had shot himself through the lungs.

Coroner Mundell found a message from the dead on Zeigler's body entitled, "A Word to Young Men," in which he calls drink a curse. It had ruined him and was ruining more young men than any other thing. He asked young men to shun saroons, and called on temperance workers and ministers "of all the churches in our fair Dominion, be they Protestants or Catholics, to take an active step in suppressing the sale and manufacture of liquor." He sought young men for God's sake to take heed, "for at least you will fall as I have. May my fall be a lesson to you which you shall never forget." He also left a personal and pathetic letter for his wife and five-year-old daughter.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But It's Dangerous.

You have to work hard. This uses up lost of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

TO POINT NEW WAY

Goldwin Smith puts it this way: "We may well be shocked, but we need not be startled, by the revelations of corruption and fraud in the London election. All this was known before, though it had not been dragged to light. Organize two factions with party names and badges, but neither of them based on any distinct principle or intelligible issue; set them to wage perpetual war against each other for the possession of power and its perquisites; and what can you expect? The result is the same everywhere; in the United States on a larger scale, and with consequences more calamitous than here. Such is the inevitable fruit of party government. Out of party government, with the intrigue, demagogism, and corruption which are its inseparable attendants, democracy, if it is to live, will have to find its way. To point the way is now the task of publicists and statesmen."

THE DEMAND FOR TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The recommendations of the Trades and Labor congress in favor of the establishment of technical schools throughout Canada, is a very important one. Nothing that the body in question has discussed or passed upon is more important. The great tendency of our modern school systems is towards theoretical and academical instruction, leading to no definite goal. Their lack of practicality is admitted, and the necessity of supplementing them with schools which are practical and definite in their aims has become apparent. The future of this country is industrial. We are exceedingly interested in the development of our resources. A system of education which takes no stock of the practical problems before us that is to say, does not in some measure prepare the youthful mind to grapple with them, is essentially defective in that respect.

One difficulty which stands in the way of the Dominion government taking up the establishment of technical schools is that education lies outside the domain of its jurisdiction. Under section 93 of the British North America act, it belongs to the class of subjects which are exclusively relegated to the provinces. There is nothing, however, to prevent the Dominion parliament making an appropriation, which could be divided up among the various departments of education to be devoted to the purposes of technical education. The Dominion could not control the expenditure of the money or shape the policy of the departments; but it could assist financially and thus render it possible for the provinces to take up the work recommended. Needless to say, the burden of education, as at present, is too great to permit the Provincial governments taking on technical schools in addition.

Aliens Must Quit Soil of Prussia

Notice Given to 50,000 to Leave the Country Before December 20.

Berlin, November 8.—Orders have been given by the Prussian ministry to expel 50,000 undesirable aliens within the next ten weeks, on the ground that the presence of such large numbers of aliens is undesirable on "general principles."

Nineteen thousand of the aliens are employed as colliers in the coal mines of the Rhenish provinces. The majority of them are single men, but many of them have wives and families with them in western Germany, and these bring up the total to be expelled approximately to 50,000.

The Prussian ministry of the interior has already sent instructions regarding their expulsion to the provincial authorities at Dortmund, who in their turn have forwarded the necessary orders to the local police authorities throughout the Rhenish provinces.

Every one of these alien workmen must leave Prussian territory by December 20. Any one of them who is found on Prussian territory after midnight on that day will be arrested and forcibly ejected from the country.

Two-thirds of these alien workmen are Austrians, so that they are subjects of a country with which Germany is closely allied. The greater number of the remaining third are Italians, likewise subjects of a country which is allied with Germany.

The remnant are Russians, Dutch and Belgians.

THE LONDON COSTER.

He Is the King of the Curb in the British Metropolis.

London's outdoor man is the coster. He is the Ishmael of the gutters. A very jolly Ishmael, it is true, who is more than content to acknowledge the line of demarcation between himself and the true cockney. But, nevertheless, in a modified, twentieth century way he is still the wild man whose hand is against every man's and every man's against his. He is probably the last remnant of the world's old race of wanderers—the last suggestion of the primitive man—left to the cities. He is to us town dwellers what the gypsy is to the countryside. His descent seems to spring from the same roving stock. And he is regarded, from a safe distance, with the same contempt by those who don't know him. His habits and his impulses still savor strongly of the days when tribe warred against tribe and every man's arm was for himself and his clan. And, although his pitch is below the curb, his caravan a barrow and his beast of burden a Russian pony, a donkey or himself, he is as free and exclusive as any other lusty scion of the people who live under the skies. Wherever he is, and whatever he chooses to remain. And the chances are ten to one that whoever goes a-fishing for information among the barrows will come back with an empty creel or a fine show of fishermen's tales. But your coster knows both how to keep silence and how to use his tongue picturesquely in defense of his jealously guarded traditions and the internal economies of his existence.—Outing.

Titled Horsewoman Again in Canada

Lady Hunt, Owner of a Canadian Ranch, Importing Blooded Stock for the West.

Montreal, November 8.—Among the passengers to arrive in this city by the Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Monmouth on Saturday was Lady Hunt, the well known English horsewoman. About two months ago Lady Hunt left Canada in charge of a string of her own horses, which she had bred and reared on her won ranch in Western Canada and which she was bringing over to the English market.

Travelling with her on the trip back is a fine black roadster stallion, said to be the best of his kind ever imported into Canada. Lady Hunt intends to make a specialty of this breed of horse, claiming that there is a large market for good ones of that class, and saying that Canada is just the place to breed them.

Her ladyship is a remarkable character in many ways. Besides being a thoroughly practical horsewoman, she is a trained nurse, and a story is told of her, how on the voyage over, one of the sailors falling ill, she nursed him and cared for him, practically saving his life.

The Signs of Heart Trouble

You can Surely Secure Heart Health and Strength through Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Heart weakness which can be dealt with on all is nerve weakness. Just as your hand trembles when its nerves are weak, when your heart nerves are weak your heart flutters and palpitates. Other signs are shortness of breath after slight exercise; fainting spells; pain or tenderness about the heart caused by irregular heart action; choking sensation as if the heart was in the throat; uneasy sensation in the chest, showing that the heart isn't working right; pain when you lie on one side—usually the left side, but frequently the right, painful and difficult breathing; smothered feeling. Thereis absolutely only one way to treat a weak heart. That is to bring back natural and permanent strength to the nerves. Can you imagine how any other cure can be done? Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring back the strength to the heart nerves always. There is nothing in this remedy to stimulate; nothing that leads to reaction. The strength that it gives is natural and permanent. It is just the same strength as Nature gives to those who are well. Dr. Shoop's Restorative creates strength which extends over the whole inside nerve system—it overcomes the cause of the trouble as well as the result. For sale and recommended by

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

Next morning he put her behind a fence, but she went over it with the ease of a wild deer and came bounding after him. When at last she was shut in the box stall he could hear her calling, half a mile away, and it made his heart sore. Soon after a moose treed him on the trail and held him there for quite half a day. Later he had to help thrash and was laid up with the measles. Then came rain and flooded flats that turned him off the trail. Years after he used to say that work and weather and sickness and distance, and even the beasts of the field and wood, resisted him in the way of learning.

He went to school at Hillsborough that winter. His time, which Allen gave him in the summer, had yielded some $45. He hired a room at 35 cents a week. Mary Allen bought him a small stove and sent to him in the sleigh dishes, a kettle, chair, bed, pillow and quilt and a supply of candles.

She surveyed him proudly as he was going away that morning in December.

"Folks may call ye han'some," she said. "They'd like to make fool of ye, but you go on 'bout yer business an' act as if ye didn't hear."

He had a figure awkward as yet, but fast shaping to comeliness. Long, light hair covered the tops of his ears and fell to his collar. His ruddy cheeks were a bit paler that morning, the curve in his lips a little drawn; his blue eyes had begun to fill and the dimple in his chin to quiver slightly as he kissed her who had been as a mother to him. But he went away laughing.

He got a job in the mill for every Saturday at 75 cents a day and soon thereafter was able to have a necktie and a pair of fine boots and a barber now and then to control the length of his hair.

Trove burnt the candles freely and was able, but never brilliant, in his work that year owing, as all who knew him agreed, to great modesty and small confidence. He was a kindly, big hearted fellow and had wit and a knowledge of animals and of woodcraft that made him excellent company. His schoolboy diary has been of great service to all with a wish to understand him. On a faded leaf in the old book one may read as follows:

I have received letters in the handwriting of girls, unsigned. They think they are in love with me and say foolish things. I know what they're up to. They are the kind my mother spoke of—the kind that set their traps for a fool, and when he's caught they use him for a thing to laugh at. They're not going to catch me.

Expenses for seven days have been $1 14. Clint McCormick spent 60 cents to take his girl to a show, and I had to help him through the week. I told him he ought to love Caesar less and Rome more.

Then follows the odd entry without which it is doubtful if the history of Sidney Trove could ever have been written. At least only a guess would have been possible, where now is certainty. And here is the entry:

Since leaving home the men of the dark have been very troublesome. They wake me about every other night, and sometimes I wonder what they mean.

Now an odd thing had developed in the mystery of the boy. Even before he could distinguish between reality and its shadow that we see in dreams he used often to start up with a loud cry of fear in the night. When a small boy, he used to explain it briefly by saying, "The men in the dark." Later he used to say, "The men outdoors in the dark." At ten years of age he went off on a three days' journey with the Allens. They put up in a tavern that had many rooms and stairways and large windows. It was a while after his return of an evening, before candlelight, when a gray curtain of dusk had dimmed the windows, that he first told the story, soon oft repeated and familiar, of "the men in the dark"—at least he went as far as he knew.

"I dream," he was wont to say in after life, "that I am listening in the still night alone. I am always alone. I hear a sound in the silence, of what I cannot be sure. I discover then, or seem to, that I stand in a dark room and tremble with great fear, of what I do not know. I walk along swiftly in bare feet, I am so fearful of making a noise. I am feeling, feeling, my hands out in the dark. Presently they touch a wall and I follow it and then I discover that I am going downstairs. It is a long journey. At last I am in a room where I can see windows, and, beyond, the dim light of the moon. Now I seem to be wrapped in fearful silence. Stealthily I go near the door. Its upper half is glass, and beyond it I can see the dark forms of men. One is peering through, with face upon the pane. I know the other is trying the lock, but I hear no sound. I am in a silence like that of the grave. I try to speak. My lips move, but, try as I may, no sound [illegible] sharp terror is pricking into me, and I flinch as if it were a knife blade. Well, sir, that is a thing I cannot understand. You know me. I am not a coward. If I were really in a like scene fear would be the least of my emotions, but in the dream I tremble and am afraid. Slowly, silently, the door opens, the men of the dark enter, wail and windows begin to reel. I hear a quick, loud cry, rending the silence and falling into a roar like that of flooding waters. Then I wake and my dream is ended for that night."

Now, men have had more thrilling and remarkable dreams, but that of the boy Trove was as a link in a chain, lengthening with his life and ever binding him to some event far beyond the reach of his memory.

CHAPTER V.

It was Sunday, and a clear, frosty morning of midwinter. Trove had risen early and was walking out on a long pike that divided the village of Hillsborough and cut the waste of snow, winding over hills and dipping into valleys, from Lake Champlain to Lake Ontario. The air was cold, but full of magic sunfire. All things were aglow—the frosty roadway, the white fields, the hoary forest and the mind of the beholder. Trove halted, looking off at the far hills. Then he heard a step behind him and, as he turned, saw a tall man approaching at a quick pace. The latter had no overcoat. A knit muffler covered his throat, and a satchel hung from a strap on his shoulder.

THE ELEPHANT.

He Is Good Natured, Docile, Obedient and Long Suffering.

"The elephant is the best natured beast in all wild creation," said a circus man. "Most people have an idea that the big beast is apt to go wrong any time and make all kinds of trouble for everybody. Now, as a matter of fact, I have never but once seen a freak of this kind. Then the result was directly due to the intolerable abuse of fiat headed grooms. It seems to me that if some one was putting a steel point or hook into a soft joint of yours or mine many times a day and without any good reason for it we would show temper and tear up things too. The only difference is the elephant has more patience. He is docile, obedient and long suffering. When an elephant gets a little out of sorts there is always some lightweight attendant, it seems, to fly off and say he is 'daffy.' Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the poor elephant has been badly treated, and, as he cannot talk, he does about the only thing he can do and trumpets his disgust or possibly goes a step further and eases his feelings by taking a crack with his trunk at something within reach. Elephants are as kind hearted and tender as women and respond to little attentions the same way, and in the same way, just like a woman, when they get soured, it takes a long while to sweeten them again if it can be done at all."

At Anchor.

A chief of bureau in the navy department tells a good story of the time when one of the secretaries of the navy got the notion into his head that officers should not permit their wives to reside at the foreign stations to which their husbands might be attached. So an order to that effect was promulgated. Soon thereafter considerable perplexity and no little amusement was afforded the secretary when he received the following cablegram from Commodore Fyffe, then in command of the Asiatic squadron:

Secretary Navy, Washington:

It becomes my painful duty to report that my wife, Elisa Fyffe, has, in disobedience to my orders and in the face of regulations of department, taken up her residence on the station and persistently refuses to leave.

Male Birds Lead the Way.

When birds are migrating the males usually precede the females. The robins, for instance, which are seen early in the year, are almost invariably males, which apparently traveled on before their mates. The female birds follow, perhaps because they are not so powerful and also perhaps because they like to take their time and gossip with one another. In the fall the male birds leave first—the old ones—while the females travel along together with their young, solicitous for their welfare and still training them after the fashion of mother birds.

A Polite War.

A little boy, with an interest in the meaning of unfamiliar words, said to his mother, "What is the meaning of 'civility?' "Kind and polite," answered his mother. A puzzled look brooded for a second on the boy's face. Then he said, "Was it a kind and polite war that was in this country once?"

The Jester.

He that will lose his friend for a jest deserves to die a beggar by the bargain. Such let thy jests be that they may not grind the credit of thy friend, and make not jests so long that thou becomest one.

Placid and Contented.

"Mrs. Burnes Castle seems to have a placid and contented mind."

"Undoubtedly she has," replied Miss Cayenne. "She knows how well her new gown becomes her."

$20.00	"	20.00	"	"	"	4000	"
$25.00	"	25.00	"	"	"	5000	"

The ore values of these mines vary from $15.00 to $30,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M. E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M. E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 50,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M. E., says: "The vein is from 15 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M. E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $15.00 per ton	$1,500.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $3.00 per ton	300.00
Net daily production	$1,200.00

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 25% per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 25% per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Proper Medicine For The Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling; Makes You Feel Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven off.

The sensible person acts on the teachings of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenient to take, just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unfailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills "set you up in a few days."

From Chebogue Pt., N. S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when spring time arrived I was in the "Blues." I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Lakefield Board of Trade Meets

Lakefield is becoming ambitious, and the recently established Board of Trade of that burg is determined to make the ambition good.

A meeting of the Board of Trade in that village was held in the town hall for the purpose of determining the question of fees and of discussing other matters of importance.

The membership fee was placed at the sum of one dollar.

A committee composed of Messrs. Lillicrap, Hilliard, Davidson and the president was appointed to attend to the matter of obtaining stationery suitable for advertising the advantages of Lakefield as a manufacturing center.

A petition for presentation to the Minister of Railways and Canals, demonstrating the necessity of an eight foot waterway in the canal, and the importance of conserving the waters of the T.V. canal by the construction of dams in the upper lakes, was considered by the meeting. The secretary and president were authorized to affix their signatures to the document and to have it forwarded to Mr. R. H. Hall, M.P., for presentation to the minister.

Another petition to the Minister of Railways and Canals, setting forth the need of a suitable dock on the easterly margin of the canal at Lakefield, was discussed by the Board, and the secretary was instructed to forward it to Mr. R. H. Hall, M.P., for transmission to Ottawa.

A committee, composed of Messrs. Graham, Davidson and Dela Ponse, was appointed to draw up a memorial to the C.P.R. with a view to their entry into Lakefield.

Next 15-Day New York Excursion.

Success of Charlotte St. Meetings.

The evangelistic service now in progress at the Charlotte street church, which opened under particularly encouraging conditions, will be continued for an indefinite time every week-day evening, with the exception of Saturday and judging by the spirit which was in evidence at the opening meetings there is no doubt but what these meetings will result in much good and the advance of the Lord's cause.

Rev. B. M. Manning, pastor of the church, is doing much to bring strangers into the Lord's vineyard.

Ald. Stewart is in the City.

Ald. W. T. Stewart, of Toronto, with seven employes of his firm, is in the city, a guest of the Queen's Hotel. The worthy alderman, who has had forty years' experience in roofing, is placing the new roof on the South Ward school. His foreman, Mr. D. Cowan, who is here, has been 27 years in the alderman's employ. He also has employes who have been with him from 15 to 25 years. Mr. George Pullman, who is here has been with the company over 15 years.

—Mr. F. Edwards of Messrs. F. Edwards & Co., the largest wholesale importers of fine foreign brandies, wines, liquors, etc., in Toronto, is in this city calling on the wet good's trade. "Bobby Burns" will undoubtedly be called for after Mr. Edward's visit.

Manvers After Local Option

"Local option" seems bound to have a trial in certain outlying parts of this county. Now Manvers, despite the yard and alley-flank and bottle bestrewn evidences of such travesty on temperance at Lakefield is going to try to get "local option," as has her sister townships in Durham county. At the last meeting of Manvers council a deputation composed of Rev. Dr. Marvin, Geo. Coulter, Heber Preston and W. H. Johnston addressed the council and presented a petition signed by Jas. Gray and 408 others, praying that a by-law prohibiting the sale by retail of spirituous, fermented or other manufactured liquors in the township be submitted to the electors for ratification in accordance with the provisions of the Liquor License Act. The prayer of the petitioners was granted and a committee appointed to employ a solicitor to prepare a by-law. No law on the statute books is better observed than the local option law is in Darlington, and the people could not be induced to return to license law again.

Mr. J. M. Scott's Death Noted.

The Belleville Intelligencer, referring to a gentleman formerly well-known here, says in part;

Mr. John M. Scott, who died in the Belleville hospital, on Tuesday, was born at Wooler, Northumberland county, in 1849. He spent much of his life in the United States. He was by profession a mining engineer. During the past five years he has been here quite frequently, and was taken ill upon his last visit. Deceased, who was a widower, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Woodruff, who lives at Elmira, N.Y. Two other sisters, namely, Mrs. H. Ashby, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Pyne, of P. E. county, and three brothers, Albert, of Lima, O.; Wallace, of New Ontario, and Washington, of Washington, D.C., survive.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Mr. Fuller's Funeral Today.

The funeral of the late Mr. Chas. Fuller, the oldest lockmaster on the Trent Valley canal who, as noted in yesterday's issue of The Times, was drowned in Burleigh Falls lock Wednesday evening, will be held at one o'clock today from the Burleigh Falls House, to Harvey's cemetery on the Burleigh river.

The late Mr. Fuller was one of the most popular men in this county, and was a well read and deeply versed man in literature. Mr. Fuller's acquaintance with literature was broad and well chosen. His untimely and regretted death was yesterday seriously and with much regret commented on with sincere words of commiseration.

COMSTOCK WILL HAVE CARE OF AMBULANCE

If City Council Endorses Action of F. W. & L. Com.---Ald. Duncan Gives Evidence Claiming That D. Belleghem Made Unwarranted Charges for Service of City Ambulance.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Frank Adams, Aldermen Duncan, Graham, Elliott, Mason and Ball.

The deputation which recently visited Detroit with respect to the proposed steam heating system, reported on the municipal service of street lighting conducted by the city of Detroit. The original cost of this plant was $655,589.90. This system is operated by steam, and cash cost per lamp for 1905, was $38.18, as against a gross cost of $54.39 per lamp. There are very few poles on the streets, the light wires within an half mile area being conducted through underground conduits. They use the new closed alternating current arc lamp which is suspended over the streets on 18 feet arms from mast poles. The city of Detroit strongly recommended the new closed arc lamps as being eminently satisfactory, both from an economical and diffusion of light standpoint, and also the mast arm suspension system in place of suspending the lamps in the center of the streets as proposed by our Fire, Water and Light Committee. To suspend the lamps over the center of our streets would necessitate the use of more poles than at present, while the policy of this city is to reduce the number of poles.

Taking the experience of Detroit as a basis, the committee figured that the Light and Power Co. would effect a saving of $1200 a year by installing the new closed alternating current arc lamp in place of the present open one; and Ald. Ball offered that should the proposed change be permitted the city would be entitled to one-half the saving in cost of operating our street illuminating system, that is $600 a year. Of course it must be borne in mind that the Peterborough Light and Power Company, have offered to concede 150 lamps to the city, free of charge, for lighting municipal offices, new fire hall, etc., aboard the new lamps be installed.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Mason,—That the Peterborough Light & Power Company, be allowed to change present lights to the new arc alternating current lamps if they, in addition to their proffered concessions, give an all night service on nights under the moonlight schedule when the moon is clouded.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald Ball,—In amendment that no definite action be taken in this matter unless the company make further concessions, say one-half the saving to the company effected by the proposed change.

Both resolutions were lost, and the question was hung up indefinitely.

THE AMBULANCE CONTRACT.

The committee next took up the question of who should receive the contract for care and service of the Dan Spence ambulance. The committee at last meeting of the council recommended that Mr. Dan. Belleghem again be awarded the contract for this service, a $100 a year; but as Ald Duncan complained that Mr. Mr. Belleghem had violated the terms of his contract in going out of town for patients and carrying patients from the station to the hospital, at a fee, in competition with Mr. A. Comstock, who gives an ambulance service as a private enterprise, the matter was referred back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for further consideration.

Ald Duncan contended that Mr. Belleghem had no right, under any circumstances to go five miles or even a mile out of town for patients, such action bringing the city ambulance in competition with a private citizen.

Ald Duncan produced documents (one, Belleghem's own handwriting on his bill head,) to show that Mr. Belleghem conveyed one patient from the station to the Nicholls Hospital, for which he was paid $2, and once to the hospital from five miles in the country at a fee of $3, that he took a child from 510 Water street to St. Joseph's Hospital, and charged $100 for said service. Again, he said he could get an affidavit to show that Mr. Belleghem conveyed Mrs. Ed. Cooney from the hospital to her home on Sherbrooke street, and would have made her pay for the service, had not Mr. Cooney appeared on the scene with the information that the Dan Spence ambulance was free of charge. Ald Duncan produced these cases in response to Mr. Belleghem's defiance that he could not produce one instance in which he had charged a fee.

In looking over the specifications of the contract, it transpired that whoever operates the Dan Spence ambulance is permitted to make a moderate charge for cases beyond a mile from the city limits, and also for conveying out-of-town patients from station to hospital.

Ald. Elliott moved that Mr. Belleghem be awarded the contract, there being no cause for complaint against him.

The committee did not agree with this in the face of evidence produced by Ald Duncan, and Ald. Elliott secured no seconder to his motion.

Ald Mason moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That in consequence of the infringements of contract, shown by the documents produced by Ald. Duncan, the contract for care and service of the Dan Spence ambulance be awarded to Mr. Aaron Comstock.—Carried.

Of course this action will have to be endorsed by the council.

The appointment of an inspector of electrical wiring was left over until the duties are defined by statute or otherwise.

NEW LIGHTS WANTED.

An application for an electric light at corner of Stewart and Reid Sts. was received, and the committee will visit the locality in question.

NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.

The committee discussed the various tenders for installing and maintaining an electric fire alarm system. The Bell Telephone Company's tender is apparently the lowest, but the matter was left in abeyance until after the council meet the manufacturers' association on Monday night relocating alarm boxes, which will give the committee further time to go into the details of the several tenders submitted.

The committee then adjourned.

Mr. A. W. Cressman's Offer for Today

Philanthropic Gift Made Today to the Local Y. W. C. A.

Today a notable and most commendable act of charity will be in evidence at the large establishment of A. W. Cressman.

Here is an act of philanthrophy and kindness well worth emulation by other firms of the city. Today Mr. Cressman will donate ten per cent. of his sales towards the Y.W.C.A., one of the most admirable institutions in the city.

It might be noted that the association has a membership of more than three hundred.

The boarding home is now under the able management of Miss Haycock, and provides accommodation for nearly fifty young women, and is well filled at present.

Mr. Cressman is making a donation to a most worthy institution, and his sales today will no doubt be exceedingly large.

It is now up to the philanthropically minded citizens of Peterborough, to demonstrate in a practical manner that they appreciate the noble offer, and gift made by Mr. Cressman, by turning out to help along the good cause.

Farmers' Meetings For E. Peterboro'

Mr George A. Putnam has forwarded to Mr. Charles O'Reilly, secretary of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute, the list of institute meetings to be held in this district during the month of December. Meetings will be held at Norwood on the 5th, and at Keene on the 6th of December. The speakers will be Messrs. H. Glendenning of Manilla, and J. G. Clarke, of Ottawa. The former's subjects will be "Feeds and feeding," "Growing Clover and how to save it," "Dairy cow," "Farm Water Supply," and others, on any one of which Mr. Glendenning may be called upon to speak. Mr. Clarke, who was here recently, in connection with the horse culture meetings, will speak on "Breeding and Management of Heavy Horses," "Dairy Cattle," and other subjects.

Supplementary meetings will be held at Warsaw, Westwood, Douro and Havelock early in the new year of which announcement will be made later.

Wild Cat Seen in Smithtown

The township of Smith has a real live sensation in the presence of a bona-fide wild cat. Last year one of these savage members of the feline species was heard, but a few days ago a wild cat was actually seen by several well-known residents of the township.

It was first seen in the woods on Mr. J. H. Garnett's farm and went south to the third line and then disappeared into the woods on Mr. John Davidson's farm, Nassau. It was a very large cat, and its squallings has frightened the people who heard them. The animal had evidently been chased down from the back country by hunters and their dogs. It appeared to have travelled a long distance, and is keeping close in the vicinity of its presence in a state of terror.

Italian Laborer Seriously Hurt

One of those seemingly unavoidable but still incidental accidents that occur when work is done on or about railroads, occurred here yesterday morning, near the D.P.R. station, when an Italian laborer, by name M. Guiseppe, employed by the road, was standing in the "caboose," was seriously hurt.

It seems that the engine was being attached to the train, and the sudden jolt accompanying the coupling threw him forward on a box, up on which he struck his side, breaking two ribs. Comstock's ambulance conveyed him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Dr. Gray, the company's physician, attended him. He is in a rather serious condition, and will be laid up for some time.

Mrs. R. Clark of Belmont Laid to Rest

On Wednesday at noon the last mortal remains of Mrs. Robt. Clark, of Belmont, who was 77 years of age, and who passed away on Monday after a short illness, was laid to rest in the Victoria cemetery. The deceased was an old resident of Belmont, and is survived by her husband and six sons. Martin, Stephen and James, of Belmont; Sid, of Bancroft; Levi, of Denver, Col. and John, of Cardiff. The funeral cortege was a very large one.

Cottingham Party Got Two Moose.

The Cottingham party returned yesterday from their moose hunt. Whilst away these local hunters secured two fine moose one, a. One weighed 800 and the other 1,000 pounds. A special car had to be engaged to bring town three splendid specimens of the deer family. The moose killed by the party are bode bulls, the law not permitting the slaying of cow moose. The 1000-pound moose has a grand pair of antlers and will arrive today.

THE MAYORALTY ELECTION FOR 1907

Will There be a Contest? Why Has That Sanitary Inspector Not Yet Been Appointed?

Will there be a race for the Mayoralty this year? If so, between whom? More than one member of the Board of Aldermen is looked upon as a possible candidate for the revolving chair, and more than one is qualified to fill said chair with credit both to himself and to the community. And the Council Board is undoubtedly the best school from which to graduate as Chief Magistrate, it fitting one to ascend the dais with a better knowledge of the city's affairs than could reasonably be expected of a candidate who has never previously dabbled in municipal pouty. Two of these possible candidates from the ranks of present Aldermen are the youngest members of the Council Board, whilst a third is "first" member of the City Council, according to the strict interpretation of his name, to say the least. This latter gentleman has had considerable active experience in two Municipal Councils and at present is Chairman of a very important Committee. The "younger members" alluded to are also Chairman of important Committees, and are indefatigable in the positions they have the honor to fill. As all three are at present non-committal, we will disclose their identity no further than may be interpretated from the following nomenclature; "Admissme-willinmaticks." The foregoing is a word taken from a system of spelling reform originating with our printers' devil, who contends that it is equally as easy to accustom oneself to the absence of spaces as to the lack of letters.

• • • • •

'Twould be a pity, however, should the Mayoralty be contested by the above three energetic Aldermen, as the valuable services of at least two efficient Aldermen would thus be lost to the city, which we can ill-afford. In this respect let there be peace among the City Dads, and old-time civic courtesy extended by two members to their other ambitious colleague.

• • • • •

By the bye, some citizens have an eye on a candidate for Mayor who has no eye to look on Aldermanic chair, although at present enjoying public confidence in another direction. He is of talented brain, too, and his qualifications have not been "watered" either, although he has exemplified considerable executive knowledge of hogh water and "meat." We are informed, however, that this very desirable candidate has not "commissioned" any person to couple his name with the Mayoralty election.

• • • • •

But let it be distinctly understood that the Chief Magistracy of this city is no sinecure in any way. The Worship must be prepared to practically divorce himself from home ties and spend on average of four evenings of each week in the City Hall, to say nothing of hurried calls during the day. He is expected to be at the beck and call of all citizens, many visitors and measenants. He must not face his purse-strings too tightly, and acquiesce in being the shining light at all public functions; while he will be the first man in civic affairs he will also invariably pose as one of the last men to meander home under the starry canopy of heaven. Above all, he must be firm in his rulings, have the courage of his convictions, and understand the art of saying "No." And for all this he will receive in return many anathemas hurled at his devoted head, some little gratitude and much abuse, to say nothing of $200 a year with which to do the handsome. But this should not deter candidates from entering the Mayoralty arena, as the position of Chief Magistrate of this city is too honorable a one to go a-begging, and he who has the time and qualifications necessary to this important office should not hesitate to unsheath his sword in the public weal. Others have done so, go thou and do likewise.

• • • • •

Candidates for Aldermen.

Candidates for the council board of 1907 will include all present members excepting he or they who aspire to preside at next year's meetings, and possibly one other who considers that he was not treated fairly last year when the chairman of the several committees were named and has somewhat wearied of midnight sessions. However, this alderman has rendered good service to the city, and may possibly be premided upon by his many friends to settle the shock of a third year, which will undeniably usher in the opening of the new fire hall, in which this worthy gentleman manifested no deep an interest.

• • • • •

By the way, there still remains one other gentleman who has honored the council board with his presence a couple of terms, and who of late has displayed rather a lack of expressive interest in things municipal. His attitude of late years gives one the impression that he intends abandoning the cares and retiring into private life. Still, he is an exemplary citizen, and public official, whose counsel has had considerable weight on the board. The southenders can ill afford to lose his services, and may they can arouse their faithful representative from his present apathy and instill into him another chapter of his old-time "electrical" vim, sufficient to assure his services in the public interest for yet another year.

• • • • •

Sanitary Inspector.

No time should be lost in appointing a sanitary inspector to work in conjunction with the medical health officer, Dr. Bingham. Had the Board of Health displayed as much energy in defining the duties of such an inspector, in accordance with a resolution of the City Council, as they did in trying to effect the discharge of Dr. Bingham, a sanitary inspector would have in all probability been appointed at last Monday's council meeting. The Board of Health have yet to be heard from in this respect. The Council's Special Committee have a man in view for this important office, and a good one at that, while the council are intent on retaining Dr. Bingham whether the Board of Health like it or not. And Dr. Bingham is an old and experienced practitioner, quite capable of analysing liquids and solids. We agree with Ald. Ball, and pin our faith on the experience of age in medical and scientific matters rather than on the specializations of newly fledged youngsters. Dr. McNulty admitted that the analytical duties of a medical health officer should only take two or three hours each day, and surely Dr. Bingham is still capable of that.

• • • •

But the Board of Health are to be commended for the interest they take in the city's sanitary condition; said they have not yet gone far enough. The city should install a system for removing on regularly stated days garbage from people's residences by a public scavenger. We have no provision for the removal of domestic refuse, which for want of means of disposal lies in the rear of premises and in alleyways here and there throughout the city the whole year until ordered to be removed in May by the police. Such refuse and garbage engenders contagious diseases, and calls for as much attention as the polluted waters of the river. Let the city and Board of Health go the whole limit in sanitary measures and introduce a similar system to that in force in other cities, and see to it that the city is kept clean and nothing but clean, even though it be at the public expense.

Halifax Regiment to Go to Gibraltar?

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 9.—It is reported in military circles that an interchange of stations between Imperial and Canadian troops will take place next year, and rumor has it that the Royal Canadians will go to Gibraltar, and that a regiment from England will garrison Halifax in the Canadians' absence.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Enquiry at the Militia Department elicits a response that there is no foundation for the report of the Royal Canadian Regiment being ordered to Gibraltar.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL GAINED THE COATES CO.

Splendid Work Done on Our Local Water Highway by Superintendent J. H. McClellan.

The thousands of summer visitors, who during the season take ship along the local reaches of the Trent Valley Canal, especially between this city and the Kawartha Lakes, cannot but be surprised at the improvements made in that stretch of the canal, both from an industrial and commercial standpoint, but from the esthetic point of view.

Between Lakefield and Peterborough, the banks of the canal have been cleared up, all the under brush cut, and trees trimmed, which gives a grand view of the river. When driving along that stretch of the canal, the Douro side of the river from Peterborough is one of the prettiest drives in Canada. There has been built a very fine house at No. 4 dam for the lockmaster, and all the lockmasters houses have been painted. All the lockmasters deserve credit for the way they take care of the grounds. Wells have been sunken and pumps put in at all the locks. Picnic parties, next year, will no doubt appreciate having a pump at No. 5 dam.

All the locks, fences and bridges have been painted. The appearance of the canal from Peterborough locks to Lakefield, is a credit to the government. Young's Point's improvements, will be the greatest benefit to navigation, the cement entrance pier on the west side is all finished, and this year about 800 feet of concrete pier has been put in on the east side, and now a new steel bridge is being built across the canal just above the locks. People will remember the old swing bridge was across the locks. This formerly caused delay, when boats were locking through, the new one will do away with this.

The dredge Emmerson has been working all season, to deepen the channel between Peterborough and Rice Lake, and all the shoals are being dredged out; when this work is completed there will be a nine-ft. channe from Wolf street dock Peterborough, to Hastings.

Mr. McClellan, the capable superintendent of the T.V.C., is taking great and evident interest on the canal. The result of his work is apparent to any one taking a trip over this important addition to the waterways of Canada.

It is not saying too much to note that the location of the great Coates Manufacturing Company in this city is a direct and absolute result of the splendid work done, and results attained by completion of the Trent Valley Canal, and, without wishing to unduly flatter an individual member of the staff of this great Canadian highway, Mr. McClellan's work during the past year or two, has been a great factor in the development and successful manipulation of the T.V.C.

Mr. M. Connors Gone to Arrange Estate

Well Known Local Hotelman Gone to South Dakota to Transact Important Business.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mrs. Martin Connors left here a week ago Thursday for Brookings, South Dakota, to visit with her brother, Mr. W. Ritchie. Yesterday the sad intelligence reached Mr. Connors that his brother-in-law, Mr. Ritchie, who left with Mrs. Connors, as before noted, on arrival in Brookings, on the very evening of their arrival there, took sick and passed away on Wednesday at 10.30 a.m. with a severe hemorrhage.

Mr. Ritchie was interred yesterday. He leaves a wife but no family.

Mr M. Connors left last night for South Dakota, to settle up the business affairs of his brother-in-law, and will be away for possibly two weeks.

RUGBY.

The local Rugby team will journey to Toronto this morning, where they will meet the Argonauts this afternoon in the final O.R.F.U. game of the season. The Peterboroughs have been putting in a lot of hard practice this week, and they will surely make the Sailors splash some. A number of local rugby enthusiasts will accompany the team.

"GOOD STUFF"

A Confirmed Coffee Drinker Takes to Postum.

A housewife was recently surprised when cook served Postum instead of coffee. She says;

"For the last five or six years I have been troubled with nervousness, indigestion and heart trouble. I couldn't get any benefit from the doctor's medicine, so finally he ordered me to stop drinking coffee, which I did.

"I drank hot water while taking the doctor's medicine, with some improvement, then went back to coffee with the same old trouble as before.

"A new servant girl told me about Postum—said her folks used it and liked it in place of coffee. We got a package but I told her I did not believe my husband would like it, as he was a great coffee drinker.

"To my surprise he called for a third cup, said it was "good stuff" and wanted to know what it was. We have used Postum ever since and both feel better than we have in years.

"My husband used to have bad spells with his stomach and would be sick three or four days, during which time he could not eat or drink anything. But since he gave up coffee and took to Postum, he had had no more trouble, and we now fully believe it was all caused by coffee.

"I have not had any return of my former troubles since drinking Postum, and feel better and can do more work than in the last ten years. We tell everyone about it—some say they tried it and did not like it. I tell them it makes all the difference as to how it's made. It should be made according to directions—then it is delicious."

Local Firm Gets the First Prize

Messrs. J. J. Turner Get Prize and Diploma for Their Splendid Exhibit.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, the celebrated sail and tent makers, received a letter from Toronto conveying the pleasing intelligence that this firm had been awarded first prize, and a handsome diploma from the Canadian National Exhibition held in that city for their exhibit.

Messrs. Turner & Sons had on exhibit a double or hospital tent as well as a silk tent, that enfolds in almost insignificant bulk, for the use of hunters.

Whilst congratulating Messrs. Turner on this substantial token of the excellence of their goods, we must add that a local exhibit taking so good a premium must, of necessity, advance the advertising of the quality of goods the City of Peterborough manufacturers. Well done Turner & Sons!

Benefits Confirmed by The Trent Canal

Lindsay is evidently well pleased with what the government, as per the Trent Valley Canal, has done for that town.

The Post, of Lindsay, in noting the benefits conferred on the town by the canal, says that the benefits accruing to our neighboring town from Canada's greatest waterway are almost incalculable.

A predominating percentage of the traffic on the Trent canal centers on the nine-mile stretch between Sturgeon Lake and Lindsay, the freight and passenger business being truly enormous. This traffic is handled under disadvantages all the more to be deplored because easily removable, but while the waters remained under divided control it was found under divided control it was found difficult to get the right thing done at the right time. Now that the Dominion Government is in control, it is to be hoped that a new lock and dam and improved canal basin will be speedily undertaken, and that the channel between the town and the lake will be straightened.

The Post speaks in no uncertain tones of the great benefits conferred upon the various counties through which the canal passes, as well as upon the future advancement of the whole Dominion when the canal shall be completed.

Check Dollar Worship.

London, Nov. 10.—The financial editor of the Times declares that, so far as the international monetary position is concerned, the election result in New York is the best conceivable, the result being no inducement for an outburst of speculation. Hearst, he says, was defeated by unheard of efforts, but he has not been crushed. The consequences likely to follow a Hearst victory, however, may be only deferred unless the warning of such a large vote for him is heeded. Hearst is not likely to accept the rebuff of defeat, and, unless "the unmitigated sway and flagrant worship of the dollar" be absolved, Hearst or another of his kind will

Only One Wife in Canada.

Montreal, Nov. 10.—"One country, one wife. I have only one wife in this country, the other one belongs to the United States."

This was the statement of Louis Bloom, alias Swarts, a Russian Jew and rag-sorter, who appeared before Judge Lafontaine on a charge of bigam.

PALE AND ANXIOUS

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, is fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored, and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 434 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism, which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound, and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 10 1906

A TYPICAL CASE OF "UNEARNED INCREMENT."

The plainest case of "unearned increment" we are familiar with is the extraordinary value of the stock of the Hudson Bay Company. Though this company no longer plays its great historical part in the life of the world, it still plays a great part in the current affairs of commerce and finance.

The stock of the company is actively dealt with in London. Recently it reached the record price of £110 10s. though the par value of the stock is only £17 a share, having been reduced from £20 a share by the cash payment of £300,000 made by the Canadian government to the company for the surrender of its territorial right in 1870.

This was over a fraction of the compensation for surrender. The company has received 4,000,000 acres under its land concessions and will receive about 5,000,000 acres more. Of these about 1,250,000 acres have been sold and the proceeds applied toward liquidation of stock, so that the stock now represents to the owners only £10 a share cash paid in. The land is continually rising in value and the present high price of the stock provably represents far less than its actual prospective yield.

Unlike railroad companies that have received land subsidies, the Hudson's Bay Company did nothing to earn the vast territorial rights received from the King to the seventeenth and surrendered to the Dominion in the nineteenth century. Instead of developing the country, it discouraged emigration to preserve the profitable fur trade. Instead of encouraging commerce it built up a trading monopoly, the origin of the commercial establishments that still do the North-West.

The rise of 400 or 500 per cent. in the value of its stock after two or three centuries of dividends represents a natural increment the company did nothing to earn.

REVOLT AGAINST LABOR UNIONISM

English manufacturers have risen in revolt against the exorbitant demands of the trades' unions, and a struggle has begun which is likely to be long and bitter. One of the latest developments of the struggle is an offer from Sir John Bingham to contribute $50,000 to a fund to oppose unjust strikes, boycotts, etc. Sir John is at the head of one of the principal cutlery firms of Sheffield. He declares that he can see no escape from great and widespread labor disturbances, and he urges the manufacturers of England to unite in fighting the battle to a finish.

A movement was recently inaugurated by firms representing $175,000,000 of capital to combat the sinister influences of unionism. It is stated that "the members of this alliance have guaranteed a percentage of their capital to aid any of their number who may become involved in labor conflicts." The offer of $50,000 by Sir John Bingham is an open expression of his approval of the plan. It is also directly in line with the policy pursued by leagued unionists, who derive their power solely from concerted action. It will come to this everywhere, at last. Employers will be forced to meet organization with organization, for the purpose of self-preservation, and to adopt, in some degree, the methods of unionism in opposing the operations of unionism. The most effective way to fight the devil is to fight him with fire.

MRS. MARY BAKER EDDY

Letter Refuting Charges Made Against Head of Christian Scientists

(To the Editor of The Times.)

The New York World of today, Thursday, November 1st, publishes the following statement: "The World is in a position to say positively that Boston lawyers were today consulted by fair-minded Christian Scientists, who were convinced of Mrs. Eddy's collapse, and will force Calvin A. Frye and others in actual control of Mrs. Eddy to tell what has become of her big fortune, estimated by those who should know at nearly $15,000,000."

I have just returned from Mrs. Eddy's house, and will proceed to inform the World that she is well and happy and is at her desk, giving instructions to her secretary, Mr. Frye, and conducting her own affairs.

Christian Scientists have no fear about their leader. They are well aware that the numerous statements which have been given out by her friends, some who are Scientists and some who are not Scientists, concerning her normal bodily and mental condition, are true.

The Church has nothing whatever to do with Mrs. Eddy's fortune, whether it be large or small. It is her own property and consists of a legitimate wage for her services as a teacher of Christian Science, and the legitimate profits on her books. Mrs. Eddy is not a trustee for any church funds, and therefore has no accounting to render to Christian Scientists. The Church has no jurisdiction over her private holdings, and therefore no more right to know what disposition she makes of them than they have to inquire about the affairs of any other citizen. Even a casual observer, with a slight knowledge of arithmetic, can readily estimate that it is impossible for Mrs. Eddy to be even a millionaire. I hold in my possession an affidavit made by Mr. Edward L. Pride, the auditor of the books of the Christian Science Church, which states that Mrs. Eddy has never received any money from the Christian Science Church, with the exception of five thousand dollars, which was tendered her by the directors of the Church for services rendered during the erection of the extension of the mother Church in Boston. Mr. Pride is a well-known business man and is not a Christian Scientist.

No Boston lawyers or any other lawyers have been consulted by Christian Scientists with reference to interfering with the duties and accomplishments of Mrs. Eddy's faithful secretary, nor has there been any talk of such action, nor any occasion for talk on the subject.

The doors of Pleasant View stand open, as they have in the past; Mrs. Eddy will receive her friends as usual, and will go as usual on her daily drives. She was out yesterday and was recognized by many of her fellow townsmen.

Avoid U.S. Names on Canadian Ventures

London, Nov. 10.—At the meeting of the British Columbia Electric Railway, Mr R. M. Horn Payne said the prosperity of British Columbia would really commence from the time when she began to attract capital from the Old World. For this reason the people of British Columbia would do well to think twice before they sent forth to the world resolutions and bylaws threatening antagonism to capital. The Canadian market hitherto been kept clean and wholesome, but he had received recently prospectuses of at least a dozen enterprises of the wildest nature, involving millions sterling. If these were taken up there would be not the least doubt that ninety per cent. of the capital would be lost. The report was adopted.

Mr. Horn Payne added that the schemes he referred to included railways, water power schemes, marine railways, canals, and townsite and land schemes. There were only two safeguards, he said. Avoid United States names on Canadian enterprises like the plague, and make sure to get the names of leading commercial Canadians and important banks on the prospectuses. Above all, there should be no confusion between the social and political position and the financial and commercial position.

A VICTIM OF LA GRIPPE.

Mrs. Henrietta A. S. Marsh, 709 W. 16th St., Los Angeles, Cal., President Woman's Benevolent Ass'n, writes:

"I suffered with la grippe for seven weeks, and nothing I could do or take helped me until I tried Peruna.

"I felt at once that I had at last secured the right medicine and I kept steadily improving. Within three weeks I was fully restored, and I am glad that I gave that truly great remedy a trial. I will never be without it again."

In a letter dated August 31, 1904, Mrs. Marsh says: "I have never yet heard the efficacy of Peruna questioned. We still use it. I traveled through Kentucky and Tennessee three years ago, where I found Peruna doing its good work. Much of it is being used here also."—Henrietta A. S. Marsh.

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

IS SECRED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,800 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, held prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, reads us in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,000 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 68 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Tunis Cooley creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—and that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively exposed in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This they have told you was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your business and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is no theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
P. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar K Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said in open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement made not to coax or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

THE MASTER SPECIALISTS OF AMERICA

We know the diseases and weaknesses of men like an open book. We have been curing them for 30 years. We have given our lives to it, and thousands upon thousands of men restored to Vigorous Vitality are today living monuments to the skill, knowledge and success of Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. We never hold out false hopes, we never undertake a case we cannot cure. We have made so thorough a study of all the diseases of men—of Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Poisons, Hydrocele, Nervous Debility, Paralysis, Bladder, Urinary and Kidney Diseases, General Weakness, Loss of Vitality, and have cured so many thousands of cases that if there is a cure for YOUR disease you will find it here. When we undertake a case there is no such thing as failure. We charge nothing for consultation and our knowledge, skill and experience are at your service. We will explain to you How and Why We Can Cure You; why the diseases of men require the knowledge and skill of Master Specialists. We do not require to experiment with your case as we know from experience in treating thousands of cases exactly what to prescribe for your symptoms. Don't be discouraged if you have treated without success with Quacks, Fakirs, Electric Belts, Free Trials, etc. You must get cured—and Doctors alone can cure you. Our New Method System of treatment has stood the test for 25 years—why should it fail in your case. Should your case prove incurable you need not pay us a dollar. We refer you to any Bank in this city as to our financial standing. If you cannot call write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment. Consultation Free. Booklets sent Free

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"What ho, boy!" said he, shivering. "I'll follow thee a month, devise with thee where thou shalt rest that thou may'st bear of us an' we o' thee. What o' thy people an' the filly?"

"All well," said Trove, who was delighted to see the clock tinker, of whom he had thought often. "And what of you?"

"Like an old clock, sor,—a weak spring an' a bit slow. But, praise God, I've yet a merry gong in me. An' what think you, sor, I've traveled sixty miles an' tinkered forty clocks in the week gone."

"I think you yourself will need tinkering."

"Ah, but I thank the good God here is me home," the old man remarked wearily.

"I'm going to school here," said Trove, "and hope I may see you often."

"Indeed, boy, we'll have many a blessed hour," said the tinker. "Come to me shop; we'll talk, meditate, explore, an' I'll see what o'clock it is in thy country."

They were now in the village, and, halfway down its main thoroughfare, went up a street of gloom and narrowness between dingy workshops. At one of them, shaky and gray with the stain of years, they halted. The two lower windows in front were dim with dirt and cobwebs. A board above them was the rude sign of Sam Bassett, carpenter. On the side of the old shop was a flight of sagging, rickety stairs. At the height of a man's head an old brass dial was nailed to the gray boards. Roughly lettered in lampblack beneath it were the words, "Clocks Mended." They climbed the shaky stairs to a landing, supported by long braces, and whereon was a broad door with latch and keyhole in its weathered timber.

"All low at this door," said the old tinker as he put his long iron key in the lock. "It's respect for their own heads, not for mine," he continued, his hand on the eaves that overhung below the level of the door top.

They entered a loft open to the peak and shingles, with a window in each end. Clocks, dials, pendulums and tiny cogwheels of wood and brass were on a long bench by the street window. Thereon also were a vise and tools. The room was cleanly, with a crude homelikeness about it. Chromos and illustrated papers had been pasted on the rough board walls.

"On me life, it is cold," said the tinker, opening a small stove and beginning to whittle shavings. "'Cold as a dead man's nose.' Be seated an' try—try to be happy."

There were an old rocker and two small chairs in the room.

"I do not feel the cold," said Trove, taking one of them.

"Belike, good youth, thou hast the rose of summer in thy cheeks," said the old man.

"And no need of an overcoat," the boy answered, removing the one he wore and passing it to the tinker. "I wish you to keep it, sir."

"Wherefore, boy? 'Twould best serve me on thy back."

"Please take it," said Trove. "I cannot bear to think of you shivering in the cold. Take it, and make me happy so."

"Well, if it keep me warm an' thee happy 'it will be a wonderful coat," said the old man, wiping his gray eyes.

Then he rose and filled the stove with wood and sat down, peering at Trove between the upper rim of his spectacles and the feathery arches of silvered hair upon his brows.

"Thy coat hath warmed me heart already thanks to the good God!" said he fervently. "Why so kind?"

"If I am kind, it is because I must be," said the boy. "Who were my father and mother I never knew. If I meet a man who is in need I say to myself, 'He may be my father or my brother; I must be good to him,' and if it is a woman I cannot help thinking that maybe she is my mother or my sister. So I should have to be kind to all the people in the world if I were to meet them."

"Noble suspicion, by the faith o' me fathers!" said the old man, thoughtfully rubbing his long nose. "An' have ye thought further in the matter? Have ye seen whither it goes?"

"I fear not."

"Well, sor, under the ancient law, ye reap as ye have sown, but more abundantly. I gave me coat to one that needed it more, an' by the goodness o' God I have reaped another an' two friends. Hold to thy course, boy. Thou shalt have friends an' know their value. An' then thou shalt say, 'I'll be kind to this man because he may be a friend,' an' love shall increase in thee an' around thee an' bring happiness."

There was a moment of silence, broken by the sound of a church bell.

"To thy prayers," said the clock tinker, rising, "an' I'll to mine. Dine with me at 5, good youth, an' all me retinoo—maids, warders, grooms, attendants—shall be at thy service."

"I'll be glad to come," said the boy, smiling at his odd host.

"An' see thou hast hunger."

"Good morning, Mr."— The boy hesitated.

"Darrel—Roderick Darrel," said the old man. "That's me name, sor, an' ye'll find me here at the Sign o' the Dial."

A wind came shrieking over the hills, and long before evening the little town lay dusky in a scud of snow mist. The old stairs were quivering in the storm as Trove climbed them.

"Welcome, good youth," said the clock tinker, shaking the boy's hand as he came in. "Ho, there, me servitors! Let the feast be spread!" he called in a loud voice, stepping quickly to the chimney that held an upper deck of work wherein were dishes. "Right Hand, bring the meat, an' Left Hand, the potatoes, an' Quick Foot, give us thy help here."

He suited his action to the words, placing a platter of ham and eggs in the center of a small table and surrounding it with hot roast potatoes, a pot of tea, new biscuit and a plate of honey.

"Ho, Wit and Happiness, attend upon us here!" said he, making ready to sit down.

Then, as if he had forgotten something, he hurried to the door and opened it.

"Care, thou skeleton, go hence, and thou, Poverty, go also, and see thou return not before cockcrow," said he imperatively.

"You have many servants," said Trove.

"An' how may one have a castle without servants? Forsooth, boy, horses an' hounds an' lords an' ladies have to be attended to. But the retinoo is that run down ye'd think me home a hospital. Wit is a creeping dotard, and Happiness is in poor health an' can barely drag himself to me table, an' Hope is a tippler, an' Right Hand is getting the palsy. Alack, me best servant left me a long time ago!"

"And who was he?"

Barley King Dead.

Wilson, Minn., Nov. 10.—A private telegram received yesterday announced the death at Cedar Rapids, Ia., of H. J. O'Neill, aged 60 years, known as "the barley king" from 1890 to 1898. During that time he was at the head of the O'Neill Grain Company, which had offices in Chicago. At one time O'Neill was reputed to have been worth several million dollars. Family troubles cost him almost his entire fortune.

She Can't Enjoy The Baby

Unless she is a healthy mother. No woman can. If the baby has drained her vitality; if its care is a tax; if, in short, the baby is a burden instead of a blessing, how can she enjoy it? She loves it, but she cannot feed it. She yearns for it, but has not the strength to fondle it.

There is nothing more beautiful in the world than a healthy mother and her healthy child. The madonna is the highest reach of human art. In the serene strength which art gives to the typical mother and child there is distinct denial of suffering and weakness as a necessity of motherhood. But how few women are there to whom motherhood is naturally an abiding joy. In how many cases a woman dates her loss of health from the birth of her child! To all such suffering women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as a veritable god-send. It prepares the mother for her hour of trial, tranquilizes her nerves, encourages her appetite, and brings her restful sleep. It makes the baby's advent practically painless, and gives the mother abundant strength to nurse and nourish her child.

Every claim made for "Favorite Prescription" is supported by the testimonials of wives and mothers, thousands in number, and covering in their several experiences the whole range of womanly suffering. In a great number of cases after the utter failure of all doctors and medicines, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, tried as a last resort, has effected a perfect and permanent cure.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All womanly confidences held under the seal of strict professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Between Life and Death.

"I think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' the best medicines in the world," writes Mrs. Amelia Doughrty, of Kerrigan, Wayne Co., Mo. "My baby was born last summer. After baby came I became ill, had the best physician that could be got, and he diagnosed my case as uterine trouble tending to dropsy. Medicine seemed to do me no good; I lingered between life and death for quite a while, every day growing weaker, until I could not walk across the room. My friends were looking for my death every minute. A friend wrote and told me about Dr. R. V. Pierce, and I at once wrote to him for medical advice. He replied immediately, giving me full instructions as to what to do. I at once followed his advice, and when I had taken his medicine about a week I felt a good deal stronger. When I had taken it about one month I felt as strong as I do to-day. I took four bottles of each kind and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Many thanks for the medicine. It has cured me permanently."

Gained 40 Pounds.

"I am very glad to let other poor sufferers know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass., Box 78. "You know I wrote to you last summer. I read what your medicine had done for other people, so thought I would try it, and I found that it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine and three vials of 'Pellets.' I took your medicine a year when I had a ten pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my three children. I have been very well since I took your medicine. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' I had no appetite and could not eat much without it distressing me before I took your 'Favorite Prescription' and I only weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 175 pounds."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets commend themselves as a family laxative. They are easy to take, effective in results, and their use does not beget the pill habit.

$25.00	"	25.00	" " "	"	5000	"

The ore values of these mines vary from $18.00 to $30,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $18.00 to $30.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M. E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M. E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. CHURWOLD, M. E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M. E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $18.00 per ton	$1,800.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $3.00 per ton	300.00
Net daily production	$1,500.00

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than $60 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 25% per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

King's Birthday Was Celebrated.

Yesterday from every public and from many private buildings the grand old Union Jack proudly floated to note the sixty-fifth birthday of our popular and beloved King, Edward the Seventh. Early attendants to business were notified of this auspicious event by seeing the National colors flying above the post office, custom house, St. John's church, the city office building, and from many other flag staffs.

Yesterday afternoon in the kindergarten sections of the schools, patriotic songs were sung by the pupils and the significance of the day made plain.

The Best Guaranty of Merit is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world famed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

A South Dummer Presentation.

Some seventy-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beavis, of South Dummer, who will shortly take up their residence in Lakefield, gave this well-known and popular couple a call a few days ago, and presented them with a kindly worded address, accompanied by the gift of two handsome chairs, and other tokens of appreciation. The address was signed on behalf of the donors by Messrs. Frank Jenkins and J. W. Drysdale.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventics are tiny home candy tablets. Preventics dissipate bad colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventics are thoroughly safe for children, and as effectual for adults. Sold and recommended in 5-cent and 25-cent boxes by J. D. Tully.

Claim of 5000 Additional for Bruce is Made---Startling Discrepancies Between Figures in Greater New York, Will Be Investigated

New York, Nov. 12. — John E. Smith, secretary of the King's County Republican campaign committee, said yesterday that about 5000 additional votes had been discovered for M. Linn Bruce, Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor. He said:

"We have received returns from practically every election district in the county. We have tabulated them and have discovered the Democratic claims made on election day that Chanler had a plurality of 34,000 in King's county had been exaggerated. Our figures show that he received a plurality of less than 30,000.

"These figures will be verified by the board of canvassers, which meets on Wednesday.

A. S. Gilbert, law partner of Attorney-General Mayer, announced that as a result of investigations which he had made, he would appear before the board of canvassers next Tuesday and demand that all the ballot boxes be opened, so that the void and contested ballots may be counted.

He declares that he has uncovered an astounding condition of affairs in Greater New York. He has been comparing the police returns with those tabulated at the offices of the board of elections, and says he has discovered many errors. There is especially large number of void and defective ballots for lieutenant-governor, he avers. His estimate that there will be found to be at least 15,000 of these void and defective ballots for lieutenant-governor.

In Queen's County, he declares the police slips show the plurality for Jackson was 10,577, while something more than 11,000 was shown by the published figures. The police figures of the Bruce vote, he says, are 19,997, while the published reports give the figures of the plurality against Bruce as nearly 12,000.

Headquarters of the Republican state committee reports that Westchester shows a discrepancy of 800, which was discovered by the Democrats.

HEARST TO BEGIN FIGHT.

There will be an investigation of the election returns throughout the state at the instance of William R. Hearst. The investigation probably will be in Brooklyn, where Independence League leaders say gross frauds were committed. They refuse to believe that McCarren could influence 30,000 Democrats to cut their ticket, and the statement of Executive Chairman Grenner of the Kings County Republican organization yesterday that in his opinion 25,000 Republicans voted for Hearst and that there is an apparent necessity for a reorganization of the machine convinces the Hearst leaders that their deductions are correct.

Hearst is said to have made up his mind that he will organize the anti-McCarren Democrats in Brooklyn, and as a preliminary step in his direction he is preparing to establish a Democratic paper there. McCarren is to be driven out of politics, and it is stated that the money of the Standard Oil Company, and the Metropolitan Traction Company will not save him. It is to be warto the knife, the Independence League leaders said last night.

WHERE HAS IT GONE?

The league leaders said it was significant that no trace of the Independence League vote had been obtained in many counties up the state. One of them bluntly said he believed the league vote had either been thrown out or had been counted for Hughes. This man pointed out discrepancies in the returns in various counties where the trend had been toward Hearst, but where the vote for Hughes was larger than it was for Higgins two years ago in the presidential election.

The Review did not publish the whole proceedings of Friday night's meeting, the same as The Times did. Why was this? I am informed that young Mr. Comstock interviewed both the Examiner and the Review and requested that the charge laid against me regarding Mrs Cooney be kept out of print simply because it was false. Again the ambulance was called on Nov. 3rd, '04 to 610 Water street, to Mr. Harry Wray's residence to remove a child suffering from diphtheria to St. Joseph's Hospital. These people were on a visit to Mr. Wray's at the time and were from across the border.

It is evident that Ald. Duncan is not very well posted, when the specifications had to be read to him during the meeting, and by which he can see that I was perfectly justified in churning out of town patients.

During my term of three years I have moved six hundred and seventy-eight patients, during which time no complaint has ever been made to me, and moreover at different times people have come to me and offered to pay for the service, and not in one instance has it been accepted.

I am satisfied that the mayor and aldermen have been misinformed as to my charging residents of the city and my letter of the 9th inst. stated all the facts that I can guthor from my records.

The statements of Ald. Duncan, will no doubt be carefully gone into by the City Council, and a thorough investigation made, this I am sure would place the matter in a proper light and would be most satisfactory to myself. In the meantime Ald. Duncan could have an opportunity of acquainting himself with the condition of the contract for the care of the Dan Spence ambulance.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your valuable space.

D. BELLEGHEM.

Confessed Himself a Murderer.

New York, November 10.—Unable to eat or sleep under the prickings of his conscience, he declared, John Wachinee, 23 years old, an Austrian baker, last night confessed to Coroner Julius Harburger according to a statement made by the coroner, that he was the murderer of Mrs. Maggie Gordon, 32 years old, who was choked to death at her home on Second street Sunday last. The woman's common law husband, Alexander Gordon, had been arrested in connection with the crime, and remanded to the Tombs prison to await an inquest.

FREAK CATHEDRAL DRAWS CURIOUS

"Archbishop Seraphim" Erects a Strange House of Worship, But is in Debt

CALLS EDIFICE 'JUNK SHOP'

Constructed of Odds and Ends With a Penny Bank as the Principal Feature.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12. — "Archbishop Seraphim" has been in trouble over his "cathedral." He has paid about $900 of a total amount of $5,000.

The archbishop feels that Winnipeg would be disgraced if he and his congregation should be left without a home.

This "junk shop" cathedral of the good bishop is one of Winnipeg's curiosities. From a car window on Stella street there dawns upon the astonished sight a structure which is an embodied interrogation point. It is an octagonal, one-storey building of wood, the sides put together as a board fence, and painted orange; the sloping roof is of tin, and close inspection shows that it is gilded or painted in the similitude of the heavens with a sprinkling of stars.

The whole is surmounted by cupola of brass and old iron, shakily constructed, while a still more crazy "tower," looks like that of "tea over a "chime" of four bells, of different shapes and sizes. The pointed windows with their wooden shutters marked by rude crosses make it evident that this is a church of some kind.

This is the "cathedral" constructed by "Archbishop Seraphim," a Russian who is said to have been excommunicated by the Greek Orthodox Church, but who has a small following in Winnipeg.

One enters a little chamber which might hold twenty-five persons, though it seems crowded with two. It is carpeted after a fashion, but is a scene of most woeful litter. Gaudy chromos and faded banners decorate the wall. Two immense candles are twined with artificial red poppies. In the center is a gilt pipe skeleton canopy, if one may call it such, with a brass dome over it. On a table beneath is a tog bank, a subscription book, and a stone jug. These really constituted the raison d'etre of the building, for one was ostentatingly shown the public, a stubby pencil was handed one, and a dirty forefinger pointed out Premier Roblin's name.

As I stood outside gazing once more at the queer little edifice, I said to a woman on the doorstep: "What is all that framework?" and I pointed to more bent iron in haphazard process of erection.

"Seraphim says he's going to build a hotel or boarding house or something," she said contemptuously. "I suppose folks will stream down to see it as they do to the church. I watched him build it, but I never thought it would amount to what it has. He earns his living by showing it off. He ain't got much of a congregation."

Bogus Cheques Were Cashed Here

The ubiquitous "con." man has once more honored Peterborough by a call, and not in vain. Last week this amoot individual whose name is supposed to be Chas. Walsh, cleaned up a little change by the time-worn bogus cheque game. As far as is known two local firms have been victimized, the MacDonald estate and A. Comstock, furniture dealer, George street.

This operator, who is a well-dressed man, about 30 years of age, bought $16 worth of lumber from the MacDonald estate, tendering in payment a cheque signed Henry J. Taylor, drawn on the Bank of Nova Scotia. He got the $9 change in cash. The cheque proved to have been a forgery as no one of the name, assigned kept an account in the Nova Scotia Bank, the cheque being paid by the Bank of Montreal. The lumber was sent to a fictitious address and consequently not delivered. In Mr. Comstock's case, the confidence man bought a desk for $15, giving a cheque also signed Turner, for $25, and getting $10 change in cash.

Return With Many Skeletons.

New York, November 12.—Three big expeditions of the American Museum of Natural History, arrived from the Rocky Mountain regions yesterday after several months' rough work, bringing nearly two carloads of petrified skeletons of about 500 animals, mostly new to science, and which lived on earth from one and one-half to eight million years ago. Among the many rare finds and which caused considerable speculation and excitement among the scientists at the museum were two dinosaurs, new to science, one of which was of huge proportions, bearing some resemblance to the great creture known as triceratops.

Right-of-Way is Rich.

Ottawa, November 12.—Local directors of the Right-of-Way Mining Company, which secured the privilege of mining the right of way of the Temiskaming Railway from the Ontario Government claim to have struck it rich. Three of them who have returned from Coast brought a number of samples of ore along with them, which they claim will average about 65 per cent. of pure silver. One piece of rock weighing 64 pounds contains $435 worth of silver, which means the vein struck in the Right-of-Way is a continuation of the celebrated Timmins vein.

Will Raise a Million Dollars.

Syracuse, N. Y., November 12.—The Board of Church Extension of the M. E. church, which convened in this city, decided to raise $1,000,000 next year. Of this amount $750,000 will be used for home mission work, and $250,000 for church expansion.

IT'S THE FOOD

The True Way to Correct Nervous Troubles.

Nervous troubles are more often caused by improper food and indigestion than most people imagine. Even the doctors sometimes overlook this fact. A man says:

"Until two years ago waffles and butter with meat and gravy were the main features of my breakfast. Finally dyspepsia came on and I found myself in a bad condition, worse in the morning than any other time. I would have a full, sick feeling in my stomach, with pains in my heart, sides and head.

"At times I would have no appetite for days, then I would feel ravenous, never satisfied when I did eat, and so nervous I felt like shrieking at the top of my voice. I just felt badly and hardly knew which way to turn until one day I thought a box of Grape-Nuts food to see if I could eat that. I tried it without telling the doctor, and liked it fine; made me feel as if I had something to eat that was satisfying and still I didn't have that heaviness that I had felt after eating any other food.

"I hadn't drank any coffee then in five weeks. I kept on with the Grape-Nuts and in a month and a half I had gained 15 pounds, could eat almost anything I wanted, didn't feel badly after eating and my nervousness was all gone. It's a pleasure to be well again."

COCKBURN AND DIRECTORS TO BE CALLED ON TO-DAY

Will Be Used as Witnesses in the Case Against McGill---The Crown Has a Lot of Information That Has Not Yet Been Exhausted.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The grounds to be known that this is only a comparaday and Tuesday next and upon the ively small part of the bank's loafollowing Thursday will by no means conclude the police court enquiry into the Ontario Bank management. The intentions of the Crown are not officially announced, but it is understood that a full two weeks will be taken up with this hearing.

Mr. Langton stated Friday that he had seen Mr. Cockburn and Mr. McGill looking over the stock together. The bank president will be given an opportunity to tell his own story. It is also understood that every director of the Ontario Bank will be put on the witness stand and examined as to his knowledge of the bank's affairs.

Mr. Langton's informal examination prior to his appearance in the witness box was very long, and the Crown has by no means exhausted the information he has to give in the questions so far asked. He will continue his evidence this afternoon, and his examination will probably take some time.

BIG DEALINGS TO TRACE.

The Crown has succeeded so far in tracing through Mr. Ames, about $136,000 of stock transactions to Mr. McGill. There is still a large amount of money to be traced, as it is expected that the Crown will show that Mr. McGill received about $250,000 from the bank.

Mr. Ames will be the first witness called this morning. He will be followed by Mr. Cockburn, Mr. Bickerdike, Mr. Cox, Mr. Gooderham, Mr. Wood, Mr. Walker, Mr. Hay, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Mackay, Mr. Ryan, Mr. Hamilton Cassels, Mr. Bell, Mr. Hendrie, Mr. Flavelle, Mr. Gunn, Mr. Hoskin, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Gillespie, Mr. Kilgour

NOW CONSUMPTION STARTS

Tired When You Waken—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out—Snap All Gone.

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start today. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this.

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY

The German population, according to the British consular reports, is growing at the rate of more than 900,000 a year, while the British population is increasing by only 400,000 yearly. The Government of the United Kingdom numbered 37,400,000 persons in their islands in 1890 and 43,200,000 in 1905. Germany's gain was much greater, the advance being from 49,400,000 to 60,600,000 Yet, notwithstanding this enormous increase in the number of people, for whom work has to be provided, German industry has expanded at such a rate that laborers are scarce. The vitality of the German nation is shown by the increased net surplus of births over deaths per thousand from 11.7 in 1890 to 14.5 in 1904, whereas in England it was 10.7 in 1890 and only 11.7 in 1904. The gross receipts of the German railways, which up to the twentieth century were always well below those of the British, have now risen above them. The aggregate shows $384,453,500 for the United Kingdom and $306,589,500 for Germany in 1890, and $545,048,000 for United Kingdom and $549,945,000 for Germany in 1904. The prosperity of the German railways is shown by the fact that their profits rose from 2.2 per cent. in 1890 to 6 per cent. in 1904, whereas for fifteen years the ordinary stock of British railways has steadily declined, the fall having been from 4.8 in 1890 to 3.9 in 1904, when all allowance is made for watered stock. Between 1890 and 1904 8,000 miles of railway were built in Germany. In the same period England built only 2,400 miles of line. In coal consumption, German industry is fast overtaking the British. The figures for coal mined in the respective countries show 154,000,000 tons for the United Kingdom, and 89,000,000 for Germany in 1890, and 239,000,000 tons for the United Kingdom and 173,000,000 for Germany in 1905. These figures are still more significant when it is remembered that in England more coal is used by the mercantile marine and burned in houses than in Germany. In the manufacture of iron, where for a century England held the primacy, Germany has forged well ahead. England produced in 1890 8,031,000 tons, Germany, 4,658,000 tons. In 1905 England produced 9,748,000 tons, Germany 10,875,000 tons. With steel it is even worse for Great Britain. In wealth Germany has rapidly advanced, as shown by the increased deposits in the Prussian savings banks, which rose from $708,105,000 fifteen years ago to $1,868,202,000 last year, against the advance in England from $540,181,500 to $973,200,000. Those paying the Prussian income tax have risen from 8 per cent. of the population in 1890 to 12 per cent. in 1905, showing 4,390,000 people with taxable incomes in Prussia alone. Another sign of Germany's growing wealth is that the new issues of capital in the past seven years were $4,126,525,000, against $4,023,175,000 in England.

TROUBLE AHEAD

The question of state rights involved in the question of Japanese school children in California, as might be expected, stirs up the southern statesmen. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, thus stated the situation in the Baltimore Sun: "California has the same right to separate Japanese, Chinese, negroes and Indians from her citizens in her public schools that she has to separate males and females, men over twenty-one years of age, and boys under that age, or degraded persons from those who are virtuous, or infected persons from those who have good health. These rights are classed among the police powers of the States which Congress has no right to control. Nor has the President and the Senate the power to regulate and control these rights by treaty with foreign governments."

There is almost sure to be trouble over this vexed question. Japan will undoubtedly insist on her rights, and it would appear that the Washington Government is powerless.

THE PARLOR.

It Is Rapidly Becoming an Apartment of the Past.

The American parlor is a thing of the past, according to architects, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. No more will there be a room reserved for state occasions, such as the receiving of formal calls, the visit of the minister and for weddings and for funerals.

"We never take the parlor into consideration any more," said a Cleveland architect recently. "The parlor is merged into the living room. The good old fashioned parlor, which was held in so much reverence in the old days, has no place in modern architecture.

"The demand is for a large living room in a small house, together with a dining room and kitchen. In a larger house there is usually a large living room, library, 'den,' dining room and kitchen.

"I had a client yesterday who desired to have a reception room or parlor not connected with the living room. He decided later to have a sort of reception room in connection with the hallway.

"When the parlor idea began to lose ground we did not make a radical change, but reduced the parlor to a small reception room, isolated from the others, where formal calls could be received. Now we make no provision for the parlor.

"In these days the reception rooms do not have to be closed only to be opened on the occasion of the visit of the family minister & the physician."

There may be many who will regret the passing of the old fashioned country parlor, with all its memories of visitors, courtship and occasions which left impressions which have not been eradicated by the strenuous age of today.

TRIAL BY ORDEAL.

The Queer System That Exists in the Sinai Peninsula.

In the Sinai peninsula trial by ordeal is still practiced. In all criminal cases where no witnesses are forthcoming the judge, "el mabashaa," tests the suspected person by fire, by water or by dream. In the first the judge places an iron pan in the fire until it is redhot and gives it to the accused to touch three times with his tongue. If marks of burning are shown on the tongue the accused is pronounced guilty. The theory apparently is that if he is not guilty the moisture on the tongue prevents it from being burnt; if guilty his tongue would dry up from fear of being discovered.

The test by water is described as follows: "The 'mabashaa' sits with the accused and the spectators in a circle with a copper jug full of water placed in the center. This jug is then made to appear to move round the circle by means of witchcraft or hypnotism. If the jug returns back to the judge the accused is pronounced not guilty, but if the jug stops opposite the accused he is pronounced guilty."

This description is rather wanting in detail, and it is difficult to know how a jug which only appears to move can be a trustworthy index. In the test by dream the "mabashaa" sleeps and sees in a dream if the accused is guilty or not.

Famous Baths.

Marie Antoinette's bath, which was prescribed by her doctor, was a compound of aromatic herbs mixed with a handful of salt. She took it cold in summer and tepid in winter.

Later on Mme. Tallien had brought every morning to her house twenty pounds of strawberries and two pounds of raspberries, which were mashed in her bath of warm milk and water. Another preparation used by the eastern women is composed of barley, rice, borrage, thyme and marjoram boiled together and then thrown into the water.

Ninon de l'Enclos took a bath every night in which there were salt, soda and three pounds of honey mixed with milk, all well beaten in tepid rain water.

Cause For Liberality.

An old Georgia darky who had buried his money forgot to blaze the tree which stood near the spot. Getting mixed as to the locality, he knelt down and asked the Lord to guide him to the place. While he was praying a storm came up and lightning struck the nearby tree, and he found his cash.

"Dar, now," he muttered, "look how Providence answers de righteous! I got a great min' ter put a nickel in de collection hat next Sunday!"

Hair-Food

It does not have life enough, that's the trouble with your hair! There is something wrong with the hair-bulbs. They are slowly starving!

Then feed them at once! Give them a regular hair-food—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, keeps the scalp healthy and free from dandruff. A little of it often does great things for the hair and scalp.

DARING TRAIN ROBBER

Kansas City, Nov. 10.—A masked robber boarded the rear sleeper of the east-bound combination Chicago and Alton-Rock Island California limited train, known as No. 44, between Slater and Glasgow, Mo., shortly after midnight last night, and robbed three passengers of about $65. He forced the conductor and porter ahead of him through the Pullmans. The train slackened speed when he pulled the air rope, and he escaped.

1st - Sixty six mining claims.

3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some leads in which ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the [illegible] where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:—

John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"Youth; lovely, beautiful Youth! But let us be happy. I would not have

"Please take it," said Trove.

him back—foolish, inconstant Youth, dreaming dreams an' seeing visions. God love ye, boy! What is thy dream?"

This rolling style of speech, in which the clock tinker indulged so freely, afforded his young friend no little amusement. His tongue had long obeyed the lilt of classic diction; his thought came easy in Elizabethan phrase. The slight Celtic brogue served to enhance the piquancy of his talk. Moreover, he was really a man of wit and imagination.

"Once," said the boy, after a little hesitation, "I thought I should try to be a statesman, but now I am sure I would rather write books."

"An' what kind o' books, pray?"

"Tales."

"An' thy merchandise be truth, capital!" exclaimed the tinker. "Hast thou an ear for tales?"

"I'm very fond of them."

"Marry, I'll tell thee a true tale, not for thy ear only, but for thy soul, an' some day, boy, 'twill give thee occupation for thy wits."

"I'd love to hear it," said the boy.

The pendulums were ever swinging, like the legs of a procession trooping through the loft, some with quick steps, some with slow. Now came a sound as of drums beating. It was for the hour of 8, and when it stopped the tinker began.

"Once upon a time," said he as they rose from the table and the old man went for his pipe—"'twas long ago, an' I had then the rose o' youth upon me—a man was tempted o' the devil an' stole money—a large sum—an' made off with it. These hands o' mine used to serve him those days, an' I remember he was a man comely an' well set up, an', I think, he had honor an' a good heart in him."

The old man paused.

"I should not think it possible," said Trove, who was at the age of certainty in his opinions and had long been trained to the uncompromising thought of the Puritan. "A man who steals can have no honor in him."

"Ho, Charity!" said the clock tinker, turning as if to address one behind him. "Sweet Charity, attend upon this boy. Mayhap, sir," he continued meekly, "God hath blessed me with little knowledge o' what is possible, but I speak of a time before guilt had sored him. He was officer of a great bank—let us say in Boston. Some thought him rich, but he lived high an' princely, an' I take it, sor, his income was no greater than his needs. It was a proud race he belonged to—grand people they were, all o' them, with houses an' lands an' many servants. His wife was dead, sor, an' he'd one child—a little lad o' two years an' beautiful. One day the boy went out with his nurse, an' where farther nobody knew. He never came back. Up an' down, over an' across, they looked for him night an' day, but were no wiser. A month went by an' not a sight or sign o' him, an' their hope failed. One day the father he got a note—I remember reading it in the papers, sor—an' it was a call for ransom money—$100,000."

"Kidnaped!" Trove exclaimed, with much interest.

"He was, sor," the clock tinker resumed. "The father he was up to his neck in trouble then, for he was unable to raise the money. He had quarrelled with an older brother, whose help would have been sufficient. Well, God save us all, 'twas the old story o' pride an' bitterness! He sought no help o' him. A year an' a half passed an' a gusty night o' midwinter the bank burns. Books, papers, everything is destroyed. Now the poor man has lost his occupation. A week more an' his good name is gone. A month an' he's homeless. A whisper goes down the long path o' gossip. Was he a thief an' had he burned the records o' his crime? The scene changes, an' let me count the swift, relentless years."

The old man paused a moment, looking up thoughtfully.

"Well, say ten or mayhap a dozen passed, or more or less it matters little. Boy an' man, where were they? Oh, the sad world, sor! To all that knew them they were as people buried in their graves. Think o' this drowning in the flood o' years—the stately ships sunk an' rotting in oblivion. Some word of it, sor, may well go into thy book."

The tinker paused a moment, lighting his pipe, and after a puff or two went on with the tale.

"It is a winter day in a great city. There are buildings an' crowds an' busy streets an' sleet in the bitter wind. I am there, an' me path is one o' many crossing each other like—well, sor, like lines on a slate, if thou wert to make 10,000 o' them an' both goes abut. I am walking slowly, an', lo, there is the banker! I meet him face to face—an ill clad, haggard, cold, forgotten creature. I speak to him.

"'The blessed Lord have mercy on thee,' I said.

"'For meeting thee?' said the poor man. 'What is thy name?'

"'Roderick Darrel.'

"'An' I,' said he sadly, 'am one o' the lost in hell. Art thou the devil?'

"'Nay, this hand o' mine hath opened thy door an' blacked thy boots for thee often,' said I. 'Dost thou not remember?'

"'Dimly. It was a long time ago,' he answered.

"We said more, sor, but that is no part o' the story. Very well! I went with him to his lodgings—a little cold room in a garret—an' there, alone with me, he gave account of himself. He had shoveled an' dug an' lifted an' run errands until his strength was low an' the weight of his hand a burden. What hope for him? What way to earn a living?

"'Have courage, man,' I said to him. 'Thou shalt learn to mend clocks. It's light an' decent work, an' one may live by it an' see much o' the world.'

"There was an old clock, sor, in a heap o' rubbish that lay in a corner. I took it apart, and soon he saw the office of each wheel an' pinion an' the infirmity that stopped them an' the surgery to make them sound. I tarried long in the great city, an' every evening we were together in the little room. I bought him a kit o' tools an' some brass, an' we would shatter the clockworks an' build them up again until he had skill, sor, to make or mend.

"'Me good friend,' said he one evening after we had been a long time at work, 'I wish thou couldst teach me how to mend a broken life. For God's sake, help me! I am fainting under a great burden.'

"'What can I do?' said I to him.

"Then, sor, he went over his story with me from beginning to end. It was an impressive, a sacred confidence. Ah, boy, it would be dishonor to tell thee his name—but his story, that I may tell thee, changing the detail so it may never add a straw to his burden. I shall quote him in substance only an' follow the long habit o' me own tongue.

"'Well, ye remember how me son was taken,' said he. 'I could not raise the ransom, try as I would. Now, large sums were in me keeping an' I

The Result.

"My first husband," she sobbed, "was a kind, gentle man, always considerate of me. He always let me have my own way."

"Yes," growled the second, "and look at the result."

"Result? What result?"

"Why, he's dead!"

Further Changes in Liquor License Law

Some further radical changes in the liquor license law are, we understand, under contemplation by the government, and additional legislation may be looked for at the forthcomiot session of the Ontario Legislature.

It will be in all probability decreed, among other things, that no minor will be permitted to be employed in the manufacture or distribution of intoxicants.

The government's enactment will probably deal with the matter on similar lines to the regulations governing bartenders, who are required to be twenty-one years of age. A heavy fine may be imposed on brewers or licensees employing minors in any capacity.

HIS LETTER.

He is waiting for a letter
From a maiden far away.
Daily he's been disappointed,
But it's sure to come today.
So he's watching for the postman,
And his heart is beating fast,
For he knows his fond desire
Will be gratified at last.

Ah, at last the postman's coming!
He's advancing down the street.
Faster still the eager watcher's
Throbbing heart begins to beat.
Then a ring at the front door bell
Gives him a delicious thrill;
Here's the long awaited letter—
No, confound it, it's a bill!

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any constitutional, acquired or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Thirty years' experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure or no charge.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Remember the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine." Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 27 years. You can pay after cure.

WE CURE Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Diseases, Secret Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question List for Home Treatment.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 250 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Beware of Mercury

You May be Using this Harmful Drug and Not Know it.

A favorite method of administering this deleterious drug is in cathartic pills. Beware of "quick-result" articles, they may do more harm than good.

Drastic cathartics will weaken the strongest. With old people they are a positive menace to life.

Merely to restore normal bowel action and gently stimulate the liver is all that the wise physician recommends.

To keep the system pure and clean, nothing is so efficacious, as the vegetable pills of Dr. Hamilton, which are composed of such herbs as mandrake, butternut and dandelion; they contain not an atom of any substance that could injure even an infant.

By their certain action on the Liver Dr Hamilton's Pills cause bile to be secreted which forms the stimulus that moves the bowels; this is nature's own method and the best one.

Mr. H. Hambly, of French River, Ont., writes as follows; "I was inclined to bilious attacks and frequently was too ill to work. Most remedies purged and weakened my bowels, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills gently stimulated my liver, and by strengthening the stomach made a perfect cure. My health has been just splendid since I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills from your druggist or storekeeper. 25c per box or five boxes for $1. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co. Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

—This afternoon at four o'clock the rector's confirmation class of All Saints' church will meet, and the rector wishes all the members to be present.

—The Lerorque Hunting party have secured five deer and a splendid black bear. The latter was shot by Mr. Louis Hoadry, the pea factory proprietor.

—On Saturday the Charlotte street roller rink was well filled by enthusiastic patrons of this grand form of combined exercise and fun. During the afternoon over 200 pairs of skates were rented.

Large Attendance at Vaudeville

On Saturday night the recently opened automatic vaudeville show was crowded to the doors. This cheap and interesting form of public amusement has "caught on" with the young men and children of the city.

Here for the expenditure of from one to ten or fifteen cents one can enjoy a good exhibition of artistic pictures covering a wide range of subject, viz., from the San Francisco horror to hair pulling by angry biscuit shooters. Then there are punching bags where for one cent, one can try what effect, by pounds one of his fist-blows would make on the physiognomy of Mr. John L. Sullivan. For the same amount a whole string of boys or men can get linked closer than brothers by an electric machine. This week the company is adding three automatic phonographs and a Lovers' Post office. In this last named attraction, for one cent anyone from a confirmed old bachelor to a giddy blonde can get a love letter.

Born in Madoc.

The newly appointed American Minister to Panama, in succession to Charles E. Magoon, now Governor of Cuba, is a Canadian. He was born at Madoc, in 1859, and is personally known to many in Peterborough. Mr. Squiers's first mission was given him in 1894, when he was made Second Secretary of the American Embassy in Berlin. He retired from this grade in 1897, and re-entered the service in 1898, when he was appointed Secretary of the American Legation in Pekin. While in China Mr. Squiers gained considerable distinction as Chief of Staff to Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Minister in Pekin, during the siege of Pekin in the Boxer troubles of 1900. He received the thanks of the British Government for his services.

Large Increase in Telephones.

According to the newly issued Bell Telephone Company, there are 823 telephones in actual use here, irrespective of those on private lines in the various factories. This shows an increase of over seventy instruments in this city since last march. Dual telephones do not seem to "cut much ice."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. A. P. Poussette spent Saturday in Toronto.

—Mrs. A. H. Stratton, who was in Toronto, for a few days, has returned home.

—Mr. R. Fair, who has spent a week at St. Catharines and Niagara Falls has returned home.

—Mr. Wm. Harvey, who is attending Model School in Norwood, was in the city on Saturday.

—Mr Peter Gifford left Saturday night on the 8.05 G.T.R. train for St. Cyr, Quebec, to visit friends.

—Mrs A. S. Lane, who has been visiting in this city for the last month has returned to his home in Montreal.

—Rev Prof. Wrong, of Trinity College, Toronto, preached at both morning and evening services at St. John's church yesterday.

—Mr J. W. Latimer, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday on business.—Mr. H. P. Lindsay, of Peterborough, paid Lindsay a business visit yesterday.—Lindsay Post.

—Mr Dick Foster, the local express man, who was laid up in the hospital for some time was able on Saturday, for the first time in several weeks to attend to his extensive business. Mr. Foster will be on deck hereafter.

New Local Factory Nearly Ready

The German Card Company have secured premises in the new building erected by the Peterborough Show Case Company on Dunlop street. Part of the machinery for the new company, has already been installed and the remainder will be put in and the various machines tested this week. The bulk of the machine has been purchased in Germany and is of most ingenious workmanship.

This latest addition to our local factories is the only concern of its kind in Canada and should have a most successful career. Cardboard of all kinds will be manufactured, including the high class brands used for photo mounts and other work requiring cardboard with an artistic finish.

The new company will occupy three floors, each 50 feet long and 24 feet wide, which are being fitted up in the most complete manner.

Mr. Stewart Completes New School Roof

Mr Walter Stewart, president of the East Toronto Conservative Club, who is a son of Ald. W. T. Stewart, of Toronto, left for home Saturday evening.

Mr. Stewart has been here, with a large gang of men, superintending the work done by the latter, on the new south ward school roof. This considerable contract was completed in two days time, which was almost a record for so extensive a job in so short a time.

Deer Hunters' Veracity?

Never speak of the trials and tribulations incidental to human passage through this "vale of tears," until you have had a piece of the experiences undergone by a local newspaper man in trying to sift the grain of truth out of the several tons of fiction told such hard worked individuals by returned deer, bear, duck and other hunters. Ananias under the influence of tangle-leg must have been a model of veracity as compared with the average home-come deer-stalker. Should all the tales told by the average deer-hunter, on return be printed, the ordinary hearer would go insane.

In Going to Europe, Cuba, Italy, via New York.

Weller to Be Deported.

Mr and Mrs. William Wright of Douro, at whose farm our readers will remember, Thomas Weller, a young Englishman created some excitement recently, by threatening to shoot with his revolver, were in the city on Saturday, together with the young girl connected with the trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Wright, who are convinced that Weller is mentally unbalanced, consulted with Magistrate Edmison. As a result it is altogether likely the young man, on expiration of his present sentence, will be deported to England.

In Womanly Ailments and Weaknesses

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure Soothes, Heals and Cures while the Patient Sleeps.

The best remedy which physicians know for Female Weaknesses is composed of parts of a cereals while Ily. To this are added other remedies which draw out the poisons and heal the inflamed membranes. This soothing cereal or vegetable combination is known by druggists and physicians everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—because it cures while the patient sleeps and the [illegible] morning finds the pain, the inflammation, the [illegible], the discharges, abated. The lives of [illegible] many women are records of martyrdom [illegible]. They suffer, they are sick [illegible]. They never know a well day—yet [illegible] all this suffering and sickness [illegible] unnecessary. Every ailing [illegible] may be made strong [illegible] may be made to [illegible] the [illegible] vigor and vitality of [illegible] Up healthy womanhood. It is to [illegible] unable over-increasing number [illegible] of suffering women that Dr. Shoop [illegible] his message of hope and life and [illegible] cheer. It is to these ailing women [illegible] that Dr. Shoop's Night Cure will come [illegible] a balm of Gilead. You may not know your trouble by the name physicians give it, but remember Dr. Shoop's Night Cure may be relied upon in all cases of womb miseries, falling of the womb, pain in the womb or ovaries, leucorrhoea, ovarian inflammation, suppressed, irregular or painful menstruation. Ask for Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. Recommended and sold by

J. D. TULLY.

They Stand Alone.

Standing one in bold relief, all alone, and as a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, are Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, over-worked, debilitated, nervous, "run-down," pain-racked women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous remedy for weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, all catarrhal affections whether of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, nasal passages, throat, bronchia, or other mucous passages, also as an effective remedy for all diseases arising from thin, watery or impure blood, as scrofulous and skin affections.

Each bottle of the above medicines bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it—printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places these medicines on a class all by themselves, and is the best guaranty of their merits. They cannot be classed as patent nor secret medicines for they are neither —being of known composition.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended. Therefore, the afflicted do not have to rely alone upon Dr. Pierce's recommendation as to the curative value of his medicines for certain easily recognised diseases.

A glance at the printed formula on each bottle will show that no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines, they being wholly compounded of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American forest plants. These are best and safest for the cure of most lingering, chronic diseases. Dr. R. V. Pierce can be consulted free, by addressing him at Buffalo, N. Y. and all communications are regarded as sacredly confidential.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

Get Cobalt Stock Whilst Possible

Never perhaps in the history of Canada have stocks of any class had so phenominal a raise in value or paid as generous dividends as those of Cobalt. To illustrate this statement we might mention that "Hudson Bay" mining stock was originally marked at 80 cents and quickly advanced to $100 per share; this whilst almost incredible is however absolutely authentic. In the list of Cobalt stocks that have made advances in value within ordinary comprehension are "Buffalo" the ground floor price of which opened at 50 cents per share and quickly soared to $2.50. Trethewey opened at $5 and rapidly went to 12.50; Kerr Lake opened at $30 and was soon in demand at $100 per share, Nipissing started at $4 and is now worth $32 per share.

These enormous advances were accomplished within a few weeks.

The S.S. Nesbitt Company, Cobalt mining brokers are now exploiting one of the most valuable properties in the Cobalt district, and have a proposition that appeals to any man or woman looking for an investment that will quickly double or treble there money possibly within a few weeks, and that will pay life long and handy dividends.

For full particulars address the S. S. Nesbitt Company, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.

DISTRICT STEAM HEATING A MUNICIPAL ENTERPRISE

Is Now the Question Before the City Council---Resolution Asking for Cost of Installing and Operating Same Carried.

The Board of Works met last night immediately preceding the meeting of the committee of the whole council.

The board decided to advertise for tenders for snow plowing without delay.

The Committee of the Whole met with his worship in the chair, and Aldermen Adams, Elliott, McWilliams, Tooley, Hicks, Duncan, Wilson, Graham, McIntyre, Hall, Johnston, and Mason.

STEAM HEATING.

Ald McWilliams reported that the deputation appointed to investigate the Dominion District Steam Heating system, as operated in other cities, were so favorably impressed with the scheme that they were in favor of the city taking up the matter as a municipal enterprise. Of course before the city entering into such a scheme it would, Ald. McWilliams explained, be advisable to obtain further detailed information regarding the system. Ald. McWilliams offered that the Chatham system, including extensions made last summer, cost $35,000 for not quite a mile of main. This was somewhat a low figure, as this steam heating plant is run in conjunction with the street railway system, which is operated by steam power. He estimated the cost of installing a mile of main in Peterborough would approximate $50,000.

Mr. J. N. McKendry, manager of the Dominion District Steam Heating Company, and father of this system of public heating in Canada, Mr. Grant, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and Mr. Brintnell, who has been awaiting the scheme in Peterborough, were present to give the council any required information.

Mr J. N McKendry said he could not give off-hand the cost of installing the system in this city, as so much depended upon the area covered. Approximately it had been figured at about $1,000. for a mile of main, including the power house. In Lockport, U.S.A., there are some 100 services in use, and elsewhere where installed there are 80 or 90 per cent of buildings on the line using it. The company have not yet experienced the loss of one patron in a thousand. For the last sixteen years the system has been proven to be absolutely perfect, and the company's engineers rank amongst the best on the continent; no man can pick a flaw in the system.

The cost to the consumers of steam from this system was next taken up. Mr. McKendry explained that there is no comparison between the system of heating buildings, and the old one, so much more perfect and satisfactory is the former. An eight or ten roomed house would average $60 to $80 a year, according to how the system is used by the consumer—some are more economical than others. The consumer pays by meter which registers from condensed water, and cannot, under any circumstances, work against the consumer. The company would not allow the system to be controlled under the supervision of any engineer but their own as the service calls for its handling by specially trained engineers. The company have 14 miles in operation 12 miles of pipe, with an equally satisfactory service at any given point. No given point in such a city would be more than three miles from the power station.

Mr. McKendry explained that if the majority of the council pass a resolution in favor of taking up this scheme as a municipal enterprise, his company will send their engineers along at once, give a price for installing the system, the date upon which it could be completed, and hand the plant over to the city within a month of the given date. They never have paid for a franchise, and never will. Again, the Dominion District Steam Heating Co. do not care whether the system is operated by a private company or the municipality. As a municipal enterprise, the plant for an area of say a mile in Peterborough would cost from $47,000 to $50,000, and should reap a dividend of six per cent.

Mr J. N. McKendry said the system would stand the general consumes for heating about the same as by ordinary methods, although the service would be immeasureably superior. What saving is effected would depend upon the manner in which the service is handled by the consumer. The more knowledge one gains in handling the service the less expensive will the service prove to them. He guaranteed that should the city go into this scheme as a municipal enterprise, their dividends for 15 years would pay off the cost of the plant.

His Worship, Ald. Hicks and Elliott did not think the city should go into this matter just now, when they have more important propositions before them such as municipal development of power. Then this system while effecting a saving to big buildings, would not do so in the case of artizans' dwellings.

Ald McWilliams differed from these views. It was he argued, the duty of the city, to take up municipal ownership wherever practicable in the interest of all citizens. Other cities are acquiring ownership of light, power, gas, etc., leaving Peterborough far behind in the race of progress. It offered that the acquisition of this heating system would be a valuable municipal enterprise to the city, and should be acted on right away.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald Ball.—That this committee is of the opinion that further enquiries be made as to the cost of heating by the district steam system, with a view to the matter being taken up as a municipal enterprise, and that the proposition of the District Steam Heating Company, to prepare plans and submit costs for installing a district steam heating system in the central portion of the city be accepted.

Ald Hicks said he was not opposed to the matter being taken up as a private enterprise; but thought it would be of benefit to too small a percentage of the ratepayers to be taken up as a municipal enterprise. He moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the council take up the question of granting a franchise to a private company to include the right of the city to acquire the system after a terms of years.

Ald. Wilson said he was opposed to giving franchises to private concerns.

Ald. Ball supported Ald. McWilliams for the reason that by municipal ownership the people get the best possible service at the lowest possible price, while with a private service they get the worst possible service at the highest possible price. The sooner we take up municipal ownership and advance the interest of the people that are here rather than those that are we know not where the better. He quoted Old Country cities as effecting a saving of thousands of dollars yearly by their municipal ownership enterprises.

The vote was here taken and resulted as follows;

For the amendment—Ald. Hicks, Elliott and Tooley.

Against the amendment—Ald. Johnston, Hall, McIntyre, Graham, Wilson, Duncan, Mason, McWilliams and Adams.

The original motion with a view to the city taking up the steam heating system as a municipal enterprise was then voted on and carried as follows;

Yeas—Ald. Johnston, Ball, McIntyre, Graham, Wilson, Duncan, Mason, McWilliams and Adams.

Nays—Ald. Hicks, Elliott and Tooley.

This will probably mean that a by-law will be submitted to the people on the question of the city owning and operate the District Steam Heating System as a municipal enterprise.

The question of whether the several bylaws to go before the people shall be voted on the same day as the municipal elections or on a separate date was not decided.

SNOW PLOWING.

Ald. Ball raised the question of more satisfactory snow plowing this coming season. He said years ago, when this work was done by day labor it was executed right, but since the introduction of the contract system, the plowing has been done wretchedly. He advocated this work being in future done by day labor, under the street inspector's supervision. This official, he claimed, would have sufficient time during winter months to take up this duty.

Ald Hicks remarked that this work has not been done as it should be; but still complaints had been lodged where there were drifts which could not possibly be removed by a snow plow. Provision had been made that this work must be properly done as far as practicable, and possibly the city may employ day men this year to remove drifts.

ALD. BALL'S COMPLAINTS.

Ald Ball complained that Mr. J. O'Brien had been discharged by the city engineer to give place to Mr. Belcher. The former was inspector of the sewer work on Cedar street and had about ten days work remaining on his job when Mr. Belcher, who had finished his inspection work in the last ward, was employed to finish the work on Cedar street, and Mr. O'Brien discharged. This Ald Ball characterised as shameful treatment of an old and respected citizen.

Ald Ball also complained that the gutter at the corner of George and Hunter streets is so filled up with gravel that it is higher than the sidewalk. "Such work is a reflection on the city, and if this is the kindof a bungling engineer we are to employ it's time we stepped down and out, and let the engineer run the city."

These matters were left in the hands of the Board of Works.

The Board then adjourned.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE DISCUSSED"

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir—In your paper of November 7th I find a comment on Christian Science under the caption "Christian Science Discussed" and signed Anti-Humbug. Now as an humbug is "an imposition under false pretences" it can hardly be implied to Christian Science, as any one who will take the time to investigate will readily see that Christian Science has been before the world for 40 years and has proved itself to be the sovereign panacea for every human woe, and has done more for suffering humanity than any other system ever promulgated in this age.

Do you not think it wise before striving to explain any subject to intelligent people to first learn something of the subject? It is not always easy for even a Christian Scientist to understand this new subject, and certainly one who is prejudiced can easily misapprehend.

Our critic objects to the Christian Scientist's declaration that there is no life in matter and thinks it an insane idea. It is true that Christian Scientists understand spirit is the only real life and intelligence; Jesus said "It is the spirit that quickeneth, the flesh profiteth nothing." He knew that soon and the universe exists as the manifestation of God controlled and governed by God spiritually not materially, not by that which is, but by that which is. The understanding of the nothingness of matter and the allness of God, as taught by Mrs. Eddy has delivered hundreds of thousands from pain and suffering and from insanity. This is surely proof enough that it is not an insane idea promulgated by semi-witted followers, for Jesus said "A house divided against itself cannot stand. How can insanity cast out insanity?

Our critic refers to Mrs. Eddy's millions. Whether Mrs. Eddy's fortune be large or small, it is her own property and consists of a legitimate wage for her services as a teacher of Christian Science and the legitimate profits on her books. Mrs. Eddy is not a trustee for any church funds and therefore has no accounting to render to Christian Scientists. The church has no jurisdiction over her private holdings, and therefore no more right to know what disposition she makes of them than they have to enquire about the affairs of any other citizen. Even a casual observer with a slight knowledge of arithmetic can readily estimate that it would be impossible for Mrs. Eddy to be even a millionaire. That Mrs. Eddy is ill is absolutely false; she is in the best of health, and vigorously carrying on the work of propagating Christian Science.

Our critic reminds us of the young man who passed away in your city from typhoid fever, and would intimate that he was deprived of prayer. It cannot be denied that each one had the right to choose by what means he should be treated in the time of sickness, this gentleman chose Christian Science, because it had once before healed him of the same disease after all else had failed, therefore prolonging his life, while in the meantime thousands were dying of the same disease who were having medical treatment.

Our critic has made a very serious charge against the local Scientist referred to in his criticism, a charge which the Scientist has and can again vindicate himself of.

He also objects to the Christian Scientist receiving pay for his services. Jesus said "The laborer is worthy of his hire," therefore we have scriptural authority for saying that a Christian Scientist has a right to receive a proper wage for his time and for benefits received.

Now, dear sir, I thank you in advance for your kindness, feeling assured that you will give space for these needed corrections.

Sincerely yours,

CHAS. G. MANNESS,

Publication Committee for Province of Ontario.

Popular George Street Drygoods Man Gives $151.15 to Y. W. C. A.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, last week Mr. A. W. Cressman, the well-known George street dry goods man promised the Y.W.C.A., one of Peterborough's most commendable institutions, ten per cent. of his cash sales of last Saturday.

Yesterday Mr. Cressman handed to Mrs. Roger, president of the Peterborough Young Women's Christian Association, of this city, a cheque for $151.15, which represents ten per cent of his cash sales on the day noted, which was Y.W.C.A. day at the Cressman store. As will be seen from the handsome sum sent to Mrs Roger, the sale was a great success, especially when the wet and inclement state of the weather prevailing then is taken into account It is now up to some more of our local merchants to emulate the splendid example set by Mr. Cressman, which whilst assisting so commendable an object has a further result of decreasing the nuisance of philanthropists making so grand an offer.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At yesterday's session of the police court, with P.M. Dumble holding the Scales of Justice.

Wm Jordan, who was remanded last week, was charged with having stolen a silver watch and a large sum of money, the property of Edward Welsh. Jordan decided to be tried by jury and pleaded not guilty. The magistrate then proceeded with the hearing.

Edward Welsh, the first witness, said he had been working for Mr. McIver in Smith. He came to town on the afternoon of November 5th, and was paid at the Bank of Commerce, $76.50 for his work. He had been drinking pretty freely At 7.30 that evening he hired a horse and buggy at a livery stable and in company with Harry Jackson, drove out to McIver's, but on reaching there, they turned and came back to town. He only remembered being at the police station. He recognized the watch in the chief's possession as being his.

The next witness was P. C. Newhall. About seven o'clock on the Monday night he found Welsh lying behind a manure street sleeping and in a bad condition. He guarded him and brought him to the police station. Dr. Bingham was called and prisoner came to and made a statement of having $12 and a silver watch. P. C. Newhall said he searched Welsh several times but found nothing. At eight o'clock next morning, when sober, Welsh made a statement and reported the facts to the chief. On Tuesday afternoon, with Chief Roszel, he went to a house at the corner of Park and McDonnel streets, occupied by a man named Dunnett. He asked where Jordan was, and found him. He told Jordan he was going to arrest him for robbing a man the night previous but Jordan said he knew nothing about it. Newhall searched him and found watch in his vest pocket, but no money. He next demanded of Dunnett to give up the money Jordan had given him. At first he said he knew nothing about it, but afterwards produced the money now in possession of the court. The money was in his Bank of Commerce book, a one dollar bill and some silver. He brought Jordan to the police station and Welsh said he was the man. Jordan said he owed him money and Welsh was the man.

Wm Dunnett, with whom the prisoner had been lodging, was next called. He testified that the prisoner had been out on Monday night and did not return home until about 7.30 Tuesday morning. He had been drinking. A. the Little Wind saw he saw Jordan with about $30, which he took to keep for him until he recovered up.

Mr. F. S. Schneider next testified that the watch in the chief's possession was the one he sold to Welsh last August.

Mr. Johnson, proprietor of the Little Windsor next gave evidence. He said Jordan owed a bar bill of $3.50. On Monday night Jordan paid him the $3.50 with a five dollar bill. He also changed a bill Tuesday morning. On Monday night witness noticed blood on Jordan's hands and vest. He laid $30.10 on the bar. He also saw the watch, which Jordan said he got out of the jeweller's he had been getting fixed.

Mr. York, wine clerk at the Little Windsor, also gave evidence along the same lines as Mr. Johnston.

Wm. Jordan, the prisoner, gave evidence in his own behalf and gave the details of his movements on the night in question.

The prisoner was committed for trial, by Magistrate Dumble at the conclusion of the evidence.

Board of Health Met Yesterday

Yesterday morning the Board of Health met and had a quorum.

Those present were Chairman W. Tyers, Dr. Burnham, Dr McNulty, R. Neill and Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham.

Dr Bingham presented a report on ten samples of milk he had inspected and was instructed to prepare copies of his report for the local papers and the city clerk. a report of which is included elsewhere in this issue. The vendors names are excluded but indirectly traceable by respective numbers, so that any one interested may inquire at the city clerk's office for the man's name.

Yesterday morning the board received a communication from the city solicitor, regarding certain sewer connections noted in a former issue of The Times, stating that the law would not permit the board or the council to single out any terrace or terraces, house or houses, and compel them to connect with the sewer. The board of council, to whom the matter had been referred did, however have the authority to [illegible] a by-law and compel [illegible] or terraces within [illegible] to connect with the sewer. The solicitor asked for further instructions, and the board referred [illegible] the council so that [illegible] the district.

Two reports were received from Dr. John A. Amyot, on water samples from wells and from The Times.

The wells of Messrs. Elliott and Ivey, both also chemical solution, but neither of them are infected with harmful bacteria.

Samples of water were also taken from the taps at the police station and the city clerk's office to might just be noted that both these taps are on the same pipe and not fifty feet apart. The report gave the police station tap water as all right, but the water from the city clerk's office tap contained intestinal bacteria.

Dr. Bingham reported that there was sporadic fever in the Albion Hotel, Ashburnham. He had sent samples of the water to Toronto to be inspected. If the report says the water there is bad, the health officer will order the well closed up.

The board then took up defining the duties of the sanitary inspector, which the council is about to appoint. The sanitary inspector will be a very busy man. The following motion was passed and ordered to be sent to the city council;

That the duties of the sanitary inspector in the enforcement of the law in regard to the pollution of the water supply works, dam intake; inspection under the bylaw regarding the licensing and regulating of milk vendors. Inspection of bakeries; examination of the yards and premises; examination of [illegible] slaughter houses, etc; reporting on the necessity for sewer connections; existence of cesspools, privy vaults, etc., and to perform all the duties of a sanitary inspector under the Public Health Act, and all bylaws of the council and regulations of the board and such other duties as he may be directed to perform by the council, board of health and medical health officer.—Carried.

EXAMINATION OF MILK

Under the Direction of the Board of Health of the City, by the M.H.O.

The examination of city milk by Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, is now being conducted. The following is the result of the first test;

Specific gravity, 1029.

Reaction, neutral.

Tested for adulterations as follows; Starch, gives a blue color with iodine. None found.

Gum or dextrine, gives a blue color with iodine and acetic acid. None present.

Chalk, settles to the bottom and effervesces on the addition of an acid. None.

Soda, settles to the bottom and effervesces on the addition of an acid. None found. This also gives the blue reaction with red Litmus paper.

Fat, 3.9.

Cream, 8 per cent.

No Formaldehyde present. Heinter's test was used, which will show 1 part in 200,000 of milk. It is done as follows; Dilute a small quantity of the milk with an equal quantity of water. Add to a quantity of this to about twice a little sulphuric acid of the density of 80 degrees. Add to this a trace of Ferri chloride. Let the acid run down the side of the tube so that it will form a layer underneath the milk. If Formaldehyde is present a bluish or violet ring will appear at the point of contact.

This sample is up to the standard accepted as good milk.

Hawk Lake Hunters are Home.

The Hawk Lake Hunt Club have returned after spending several days in the vicinity of Hawk Lake and Trout Lake. They saw no signs of deer, although weather during their visit was splendid, but brought back six deer, including three fine bucks. The party consisted of the following; Messrs. T. Ashby, F. White, F. Dyer, W. Bennett, H. Mitford, and W. Skinner, with Archie McKay, of Carnarvon, as guide.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Simple Way to Overcome the Dangers of this Disagreeable Disease.

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, with many annoying symptoms. In this climate there are few who do not suffer from this disagreeable disease, often in a chronic and dangerous state.

Fortunately, within the last few years, a simple and reliable treatment for catarrhal troubles has been found—Hyomei, a combination of healing and germ-killing essences, that, when breathed through the vest pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaches the tiniest cells in the respiratory organs, carrying its healing and health-giving properties to every part where the catarrhal poison is present.

Used in this way, Hyomei kills all catarrhal germs, draws the poison from the system and heals all irritation that may be present in the mucous membrane.

If you have the ordinary catarrhal symptoms, such as offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, cough, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, huskiness, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, coughing spasms etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely guarantee that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price. Each package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for the symptom blank, which we will send you free. Other with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our prescription will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. FIFTY PERSONS MISSING IN RAILWAY HOLOCAUST

Immigrant Train Wrecked as Result of Despatcher's Terrible Mistake---Scores Supposed to Be Burned.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—At one o'clock officials of the Baltimore and Ohio announced that they had received positive news from the wreck at Woodville, Ind., that out of 135 persons on the train, 40 were killed, 35 others injured, and 60 escaped unhurt.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 13.—Fifty of 167 immigrants who were on a Baltimore and Ohio train, which collided head-on with a freight train at Woodville, ten miles north of here, yesterday, are missing, and it is feared that their bodies were consumed by the fire which destroyed six coaches of the immigrant train.

A TERRIBLE MISTAKE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—At 10.30 o'clock yesterday the Baltimore and Ohio notified the physicians in charge of Mercy Hospital to be prepared for the reception of forty injured persons. The train was expected to arrive here shortly after noon.

The accident, it is declared, was the result of a misdirection by a train despatcher. He ordered a west-bound train held at Chicago Junction, Ind., to allow an east-bound passenger to pass. The passenger train was running in two sections, but the engineer of the west-bound train was not notified of this. When the first section had passed he therefore pulled out and started for Chicago on the main line, and the second followed.

PASSENGERS WERE ASLEEP.

La Porte, Ind., Nov. 13.—Later reports from the scene of the wreck say that the immigrant train was the second section of the regular express. The first section did not carry any signal to indicate that another section was following. The freight train pulled out on the main track and met the immigrant train on a curve. The engineers and firemen saved themselves by jumping, though the engineer on the passenger train was badly scalded by escaping steam.

Most of the passengers were asleep when the accident occurred.

Queer Hallucination at Fowler's Corners

Well Known Man Mixes Up Sabbath With Saturdays.

On Sunday an old gentleman of Fowlers' Corners, at nine o'clock hooked up his horse and drove to the city to buy a pig of tobacco. One of his neighbors remonstrated with him assuring him that it was Sunday However, the old gentleman who used to do railroad construction work, would not believe but what it was Saturday. On arrival to his disgust he ran into the sound of early church bells instead of a sound like smoking tobacco. His back pony and phaeton took him back sadder and possibly wiser but with only such tobacco as the old gentleman could borrow from a neighbor.

This is a peculiar case of impairments not in the least attributable to the use of stimulants but to a prominently conformed mental error as to daily duties, and was yesterday corroborated to a Times' representative by several responsible farmers living at Fowlers' Corners.

One of them assured the Times man, that a short time ago the country quiet of the suburb at that hamlet was disturbed by the sound of hammer and saw resounding early on Sunday morning. Neighbors who went to ascertain the cause of the apparent desecration of the Sabbath, were confronted by an assertion that "What are you fellows talking about? Why this is Saturday morning, and why shouldn't I work?" After some difficulty Mr —— was convinced that he was working a month.

$40 PER LIGHT

All Night Arc Lights at a Reasonable Price.

Peterborough, although known as the "Electric City," pays more for street lights than many other places. The West End Town Council has given the contract for street lighting to the Stark Electric System, Limited, of Toronto. The contract is for 40 arc lights of 2,000 candle power, each of the most improved style. They are to be in operation 30 minutes after sunset and remain lighted until sunrise. The system is to be in operation on or before January 1st, 1907, or the contract is null and void. The company agrees to give a bond of $5,000 for the faithful performance of the contract. The price is to be $40 per light per year and all public buildings belonging to the corporation are to be lighted free. The rate for private lighting is to be 8 cents per kilowatt, with 25 per cent. discount if paid by the 15th of the month. The location of the lights will be changed at any time at the company's expense, if instructed by the council.

Danny Simons' Held The Morning Times

The Times was shown a photograph of Mr. Danny Simons, Peterborough's well known comedian, taken in Brockton, Mass., where the company of which Mr. Simons is the star, is now playing. The picture shows Mr. Simons with the Morning Times in his hand, this demonstrates the widespread circulation and consequent influence of The Times.

Mr. Simons who now holds the "limelight" with the Adam Good Co., is an old Peterborough boy with a host of warm friends in this city who are well pleased over Danny's assured success.

THE REFORMS IN RUSSIA

Premier Says Ukase Will Exercise Pacifying Influence.

St. Petersburg, November 13.—Great importance is attached by the press to an imperial ukase issued dealing with all reforms for all peasants save Poles and Jews. The ukase annulled—theoretically, at any rate—the authority of communes over the peasants, which followed their emancipation from the landlords.

Special courts of law for the peasants are also established, as well as communal responsibility for the payment of Government taxes. Peasants are permitted to go on from one commune to another without having to obtain permission of the authorities. They are also permitted to start various industries.

M. Stolypin, the Premier, says that the ukase will exercise a pacifying influence on the peasants and reassure them that the Government is acting in good faith.

The Premier states that the new Duma will meet on March 4 next, as announced.

The Dominion Bank Will Change Offices

The Times had it yesterday on good authority that the Dominion Bank, which recently opened a branch office under the able management of Mr. John Crane, in his store on street premises, vacated some months ago by Messrs Rich, Hall & Sons, is to move its present temporary location.

This strong bank has secured the fine large premises at present occupied by the China Hall on the southeast corner of George and Simcoe streets.

Mr. McFarlane Wilson, manager of China Hall, when interviewed by a Times representative last night, confirmed the above rumor and noted that his firm has already secured options on two good stores, suitable for the large business requirements of the China Hall.

With so central a location there is no doubt but what the Dominion Bank, under Mr. Crane, will transact a large business in the new premises, as more than foreshadowed by the business done in their present temporary premises.

Mr. R. B. Rogers' Buys Large Paper Mills

The Times was informed yesterday that Mr. R. B Rogers, the superintendent of the Trent Valley canal, and who built one of Canada's wonders, the Peterborough lift lock, has purchased the Northumberland paper mills at Campbellford. Owned formerly by Mr. Burke of Cobourg.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mr. Rogers is about to move his family from Peterborough to Campbellford.

With the extensive engineering knowledge of water power that he has for some years demonstrated, there is no doubt that the talented engineer will make a grand success in his new venture.

Hon. Adam Beck May Oppose Hon. Hyman

And Rumor Says He Might Defeat the Federal Minister in Event of Bye-election.

London, November 13.—Rumor here says that if Hon. Adam Beck retires from the Ontario Cabinet he will oppose Hon. Mr. Hyman in a bye-election. Ottawa Conservatives are anxious to have Mr. Beck in the Federal Parliament as he would be a tower of strength to the Opposition.

Some say Mr. Beck's policy on the cheap power question has not met with the support he expected, and that some of the Cabinet Ministers have shown hostility. Mr. Beck may, therefore, be willing to drop out of Provincial politics.

Mayor Judd would probably be the candidate for the Legislature if Mr. Beck resigns.

THE SCOURGE OF CONSUMPTION

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired, Languid or Run Down Get Prescription Before Too Late.

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For five years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 13 1906

THE COMING SHORT DISTANCE CARRIER

A seventy-horsepower motor wagon with a capacity of six tons and a "trailer" capable of carrying four tons are now in service as carriers of heavy freight between Hanley and Liverpool. Consul Halstead (Birmingham) thinks the success of this experiment will bring down railroad freight rates in the United Kingdom and be of benefit in other ways. He sees no reason why it should not succeed. "Roads are almost universally good," he writes; "distances are not great; motor construction is improving and the output increasing; while rates for carriage should remain low because the highways are free."

JAPANESE AND THE UNITED STATES

The protest of the Japanese Government against the manner in which its subjects are being treated in California is assuming a very serious aspect. Some of the press telegrams suggest that there may be an open rupture between the two countries, but this is very premature. Nations do not go to war nowadays without at least a semblance of justice on their side, and the United States would have absolutely none, if President Roosevelt saw fit to make the request of Japan a casus belli. There is such a thing as international public opinion which no nation is great enough to disregard. Moreover the people of the United States, while exceptionally patriotic, would not allow the flag of their country to be smirched by blood shed in order to defend a scandalous injustice.

Under the constitution of the United States the several States of the Union claim absolute power over people within their own jurisdiction subject to certain limitations of a very general character. When that document was first drawn up it was never supposed for a moment that the people of any State would undertake to discriminate against the people of any nationality, and hence no express provision was made to govern such a case. Among the matters over which the States have always claimed specially exclusive rights are those relating to education, and if the Federal Government is going to step in and say what treatment shall be accorded to Japanese children in the schools of California, a new question will be raised, the final application of which may go very much further than is at present contemplated. If the Federal Government acts, it will probably be in ignorance of its power to do all things necessary to safeguard the welfare of the United States.

But it is clear that something must be done. Not only do the dictates of ordinary humanity require that all children should be given the opportunity of getting an education, not matter from what race they may be sprung, but, what some people will regard as more important, the business interests of the United States will suffer exceedingly if the resentment of a proud nation like Japan is aroused. The little giant of the Orient might not declare war; it might even keep up a semblance of friendship with the American Republic, but Orientals have ways that are just finding out to make their disapproval felt. In a battle of wits, the people of the United States must inevitably go to the wall, for the Japanese know how to practice secrecy; they know how to suffer all kinds of loss and inconvenience without complaint, if they feel that by so doing they are upholding the honor of their country. Russia found that mere bigness counts for little in a contest with Japan.

Ship Under Full Sail Headed for the Shore

London, Nov. 13.—An extraordinary incident happened in a bay just to the north of Blyth, Northumberland, on Sunday night. A derelict vessel under full sail appeared off the coast and headed straight for the shore.

On the vessel striking four miners put out in a small coble and boarded her. They found that the small boats were missing, and that no one was on board, while it was evident the crew had taken away the whole of their clothes, suggesting that for some reason the ship, which proved to be the Archimedes of Lowestoft, had been abandoned. She was brought into Blyth harbor.

Next morning the master and crew of six men landed at Cromwell in a small boat. The captain reported that the Archimedes sprung a leak, and as it appeared as though she was sinking, he ordered her to be abandoned.

Both captain and crew were greatly surprised to learn that the vessel they had abandoned at sea was now safely berthed at Blyth. When the Archimedes was examined her hold only contained two feet of water.

CHINESE LIKE HAMMERS.

Carpenters Lose Their Axes to Get the Modern Tool.

With the introduction of the pail into his craft the Chinese carpenter was in need of a hammer. His ax is provided with a sort of hammer face, so he came to use that. Though a good ax, the tool is a bad hammer. However, a large proportion of the hammers first introduced from the west by importers were poor imitations of what a hammer should be, and the Chinaman rightly judged it no better than his own, so generally repudiated it. Here was another evidence of so called obduracy. At a venture I secured a small consignment of thoroughly good claw hammers for trial with my own men. Shortly thereafter a man chanced to lose his ax-hammer at a juncture where it was very badly needed in the latter function. I presented him with one of the new lot. He "belted" it and swung it with a grin of downright satisfaction. When I made the next round he was wielding the new acquisition with energy.

In the course of a few days there occurred again the loss of a native tool, which resulted in the presentation of another of my hammers. At the third occurrence of the phenomenon my suspicions were slightly aroused. Upon the fourth I decided it was time to begin an investigation. These hammers seemed the source of a rare satisfaction.

It was arranged to begin prematurely a phase of the job in hand which required a great deal of ax work. After giving directions, I retired to watch developments. There was a rather ostentatious struggle to meet the demand of the work with a short supply of axes. Then the boss carpenter made a plea for a new supply, which was refused. Moreover, he was told that as some of the men seemed to be loafing it might be just as well to reduce the force. Alarmed at this possibility of a reduction in his own "squeeze," he took another course. One by one, when my back was turned, the lost axes were unearthed. Judicious intervals were interposed between the respective recoveries, but that was merely "face pidgin." They knew that I was in no way deceived, but so long as I had no actual proof their "faces were saved." They were all immensely pleased when they were permitted to keep the new hammers. The remainder of the force was likewise equipped, and thereafter the work progressed smoothly and satisfactorily.—Engineering Magazine.

Executed 877 Person.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—The following statistics have been published, showing the work of drumhead courtsmartial during the two months ended last Monday. There were executed 877 prisoners, thirty-five were ordered to be tried, but the result is unknown. Twenty-six were acquitted, and one was poisoned after condemnation because it developed that he murdered another terrorist. Three committed suicide to escape execution. It is further stated that eight were ordered to be shot with out even the formality of a drum head trial.

Dnrand May Have Opposed Surrender

London, Nov. 12.—The Morning Post, seeking reasons for Sir Mortimer Durand's unexpected retirement, says, as a man of wide imperial spirit, who during the last three years has made a special point of cultivating Canada and Newfoundland and impressing upon them that he is as much their representative as England's, it is conceivable that Newfoundland's modus vivendi struck him as surrendering too much, and that he did not feel able to put his signature to the final agreement on those lines. In other words, there may have been considerable difference of opinion between himself and the Liberal Government over a matter of real political moment.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, build prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of meeting some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Louis Coulee creek, about two miles west on Bear mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How ultimate this is from the routine of the desert mine, where the prospect of water is the hardest part of mining and multiplied five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, use as much water $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings consisting of tremendous open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has produced points. That is the way to serve, and the only way business men will invest. You have investment, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been leading you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. Has they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—and the printed word that deals wholly with positive values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tully, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodell, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to coax or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

fell. I remember that day. Ah, man, the devil seemed to whisper to me. But, God forgive, it was for love that I fell. Little by little I began to take the money I must have an' cover its absence. I said to meself, some time I'll pay it back—that ancient sophistry o' the devil. When me thieving had gone far an' near its goal the bank burned. As God's me witness I'd no hand in that. I weighed the chances an' expected to go to prison—well, say, for ten years at least. I must suffer in order to save the boy an' was ready for the sacrifice. Free again, I would help him to return the money. That burning o' the records shut off the prison, but opened the fire o' hell upon me. Half a year had gone by an' not a word from the kidnapers. I took a note to the place appointed—a hollow log in the woods a bit east of a certain bridge on the public highway twenty miles out o' the city—but no answer, not a word, not a line, up to this moment. They must have relinquished hope an' put the boy to death.

"'In that old trunk there under the bed is a dusty, molding, cursed heap o' money done up in brown paper an' tied with a string. It is $100,000 an' the price o' me soul.'

"'An' thou in rags an' a garret,' said I.

"He drew out the trunk an' showed me the money, stacks of it, dirty an' stinking o' damp mold.

"'There it is,' said he, 'every dollar I stole is there. I brought it with me an' over these hundreds o' miles I could hear the tongue o' gossip. Every night as I lay down I could hear the whispering of all the people I ever knew. I could see them shake their heads. Then came this locket o' gold.'

"A beautiful, shiny thing it was, an' he took out of it a little strand o' white hair an' read these words cut in the gleaming case:

"Here are silver and gold,
The one for a day o' remembrance between thee an' dishonor,
The other for a day o' plenty between thee an' want.

"It was an odd thought an' worth keeping, an' often I have repeated the words. The silvered hair, that was for remembrance, an' the gold be might sell an' turn it into a day o plenty.

"'In the locket was a letter,' said the poor man. 'Here it is,' an' he held it in the light o' the candle. 'See, it is signed "Mother."'

"An' he read from the letter words o' sorrow an' bitter shame an' firm confidence in his honor.

"'It ground me to the very dust,' he went on. 'I put the money in that bundle, every dollar. I could not return it an' so confirm the disgrace o' her an' all the rest. I could not use it, for if I lived in comfort they would ask—all o' them—whence came his money? For their sake I must walk in poverty all me days. An' I went to work at heavy toil, sor, so became a poor man. As God's me judge, I felt a pride in rags an' the horny hand.'"

The tinker paused a moment, in which all the pendulums seemed to quicken pace, tick lapping upon tick, as if trying to get ahead of each other.

"Think of it, boy," Darrel continued. "A pride in rags an' poverty. Bring that into thy book an' let thy best thinking bear upon it. Show us how patch an' tatter were for the poor man as badges of honor an' success.

"'I thought to burn the money,' me host went on. 'But no; that would have robbed me o' one great possibility—that o' restoring it. Some time, when they were dead, maybe, an' I could suffer alone, or when some lucky chance might come to me, I would restore the money, but I could not find the owners of it. Day an' night these slow an' heavy years it has been here, cursing an' accusing me.

"'I lie here o' nights thinking. In that heap o' money I seem to hear the sighs an' sobs o' the poor people that toiled to earn it. I feel their sweat upon me, an', God, this heart o' mine is crowded to bursting with the despair o' hundreds! An', betimes I hear the cry o' murder in the cursed heap as if there were some bad blood upon it. An' then I dream it has caught fire beneath me, an' I am burning raw in the flame.'"

The tinker paused again, crossing the room and watching the swing of a pendulum.

"Boy, boy," said he, returning to his chair, "think o' that complaining, immovable heap lying there like the blood of a murder. An' thy reader must feel the toil an' sweat an' misery an' despair that is in a great sum, an' how it all presses on the heart o' him that gets it wrongfully.

"'Well, sor,' the poor fellow continued, 'now an' then I met those had known me, an' reports o' me poverty went home. An' those dear to me sent money, the sight o' which filled me with a mighty sickness, an' I sent it back to them. Long ago, thank God, they ceased to think me a thief, but only crazy. Tell me, man, what shall I do with the money? There be those living I have to consider, an' those dead an' those unborn.'

"'Hide it,' said I, 'an' go to thy work, an' God give thee counsel.'"

Man and boy rose from the table and drew up to the little stove.

"Now, boy," said the clock tinker, leaning toward him with knitted brows, "consider this poor thief who suffered so for his friends. Think o' these good words, 'Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends.' If thou shouldst ever write of it, thy problem will be to reckon the good an' evil an' give each a careful estimate an' him his proper rank."

"What a sad tale!" said the boy thoughtfully. "It's terrible to think he may be my father. Please tell me when was the boy taken."

"Time or name or place I cannot tell thee lest I betray him," said the old man. "Neither is it necessary to thy tale. Keep it with thee awhile. Thou art young yet an' close inshore. Wait until ye sound the farther deep. Then, sor, write, if God give thee power, an' think chiefly o' them in peril an' about to dash their feet upon the stones."

For a moment the clocks' ticking was like the voice of many ripples washing the shore of the infinite. A new life had begun for Trove, and they were cutting it into seconds. He looked up at them and rose quickly and stood a moment, his thumb on the door latch. Outside they could hear the rush and scatter of the snow.

"Poor youth!" said the old man. "Thou hast no coat—take mine. Take it, I say. It will give thee comfort an' me happiness."

He would hear no refusal, and again the coat changed owners, giving happiness to the old and comfort to the new.

Then Trove went down the rickety stairs and away in the darkness.

CHAPTER VI.

RILEY BROOKE had a tongue for gossip, an ear for evil report, an eye for rascals. Every day new suspicions took root in him, while others grew and came to great size and were as hard to conceal as pumpkins. He had meanness enough to equip all he knew and gave it with a lavish tongue. In his opinion Hillsborough came within one of having as many rascals in it as there were people. He had tried to bring them severally to justice by vain appeals to the law, having sued for every cause in the books, but chiefly for trespass and damages, real and exemplary.

He was a money lender, shaving notes or taking them for larger sums than he lent, with chattel mortgages for security. Foreclosure and sale were a perennial source of profit to him. He was tall and well past middle age, with a short gray beard, a look of severity, a stoop in his shoulders, and a third wife whom nobody within the knowledge of the townfolk had ever seen. If he had no other to gossip with, he provided imaginary company and talked to his own ears. He thought himself a most powerful and agile man, boasting often that he still kept the vigor of his youth. On his errands in the village he often broke into an awkward gallop, like a child at play. When he slackened pace it was to shake his head solemnly, as if something had reminded him of the wickedness of the world.

"If I dared tell all I knew," he would whisper suggestively and then proceed to tell much more than he could possibly have known. Any one of many may have started his tongue, but the shortcomings of one Ezekiel Swackhammer were for him an ever present help and provocation. If there were nothing new to talk about, there was always Swackhammer. Poor Swackhammer had done everything he ought not to have done. The good God himself was the only being that had the approval of old Riley Brooke. It was curious, that turning of his tongue from the slander of men to the praise of God. And of the goodness of the Almighty he was quite as sure as of the badness of men. Assurance of his own salvation had come to him one day when he was shearing sheep and when, as he related often, finding himself on his knees to shear, he remained to pray. Sundays and every Wednesday evening he wore a stovepipe hat and a long frock coat of antique and rusty aspect.

On his way to church with hospitality even for the like of him, thank God—he walked slowly with head bent until, remembering his great agility and strength, he began to run, giving a varied exhibition of skips and jumps terminating in a sort of gallop. Once in the sacred house he looked to right and left accusingly and aloft with encouraging applause. His God was one of wrath, vengeance and destruction; his hell the destination of his enemies. They who resented the screw of his avarice and pulled their thumbs away; they who treated him with contempt and whose faults, compared to his own, were as a mound to a mountain—they were all to burn with everlasting fire, while he, on account of that happy thought the day of the sheep shearing, was to sit forever with the angels in heaven.

The Pelican.

The great pelican often has a wing spread of fifteen feet. The bird itself sometimes exceeds twenty-five pounds in weight.

An Enormous Fee.

La Peyronie, the physician who attended Louis XV of France, received an enormous fee. The King gave him an estate comprising five villages and 207 farms, which produced a yearly income equal in purchasing power to $31,000 of our money. His majesty had only a slight fever.

Corks.

Corks for bottles were first manufactured in Spain and Italy some time during the fourteenth century. Corkscrews were contemporaneous with corks.

The Chinese Way.

In China any one writing an objectionable book is punished with a hundred blows from a heavy bamboo rod and then banished for life. Any one caught reading such a book gets twenty stripes with a lighter rod.

Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres is located about the same distance south of the equator as Memphis, Tenn., is north of it, but it is never warmer than Boston or colder than Washington. Its climate is mild and bracing in the winter, spring and fall months, while in the summer it is seldom as disagreeably hot as New York, Paris or Berlin.

The Diving Bell.

The diving bell was used in Phoenicia B. C. 320, but not used in Europe until about 1500.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any constitutional, acquired or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Thirty years' experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure or no charge.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Remember the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine." Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 27 years. You can pay after cure.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 280 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 350 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

About Female Ailments

Not Hard to Cure if Properly and Promptly Treated.

Ask any intelligent physician what causes nine-tenths of all female diseases, even including anaemia, nervousness and consumption.

Back comes the answer quick and sharp "Constipated Bowels."

There is scarcely a single female ailment that had not in its earlier stages symptoms of constipation.

How much better off the system is without the poisonous accummulations caused by constipation. How much clearer the complexion, how much fresher one feels when the system is pure and clean.

Think it over yourself.

Isn't it apparent that a bowel regulator and liver stimulant like Dr. Hamilton's Pills is sure to do good?

Gay spirits, good looks and happy health have returned to many a sick woman through Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Better get a few boxes today; purely vegetable, free from injurious ingredients, healthful and antiseptic. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will assist you in a thousand ways.

As delay is always dangerous, your plain duty is to follow the example of Mrs. F. Rowe, who sends the following letter from Gravels, Port Au Port, Newfoundland; "Four years ago I got kidney and bladder trouble. I thought it was 'female trouble' and treated it accordingly. Even any doctors in St. John said it was so.

"In reading about Dr. Hamilton's Pills I noticed symptoms like mine and I bought six boxes. These pills went right to work on my sick condition and helped me from the first. My supposed female trouble, which was bladder disease, was cured. My weight increased eight pounds and never before was I as well as to-day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C Polson & Co., Bartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Good Views of Ketchecum Hunt

Mr. Fred Roy, of the Roy Studio, Hunter street, has just returned from Ketchecum Lake, where he took some splendid and artistic views of the Ketchecum Hunt Club. Prominent among these were some life-like pictures of Mr. Harry Wineb with his famous hounds Ladysmith and Sailor, and also Mr. Root, Stuart of the Quaker Oats Co. This is an annual trip of Mr. Roy's, and he is thus able to secure the most effective views of a deer hunting outing. The pictures will be on view in a few days in front of the studio. Mr. Roy, senior, who is now in Otaa, will be home in a few days, and will doubtless bring back some artistic views of the Pearl of the Antilles. Mr. Roy went as official photographer with the ticket agents' outing to Mexico, A.la.

The Best for the Money.

It does not take long to spend a dollar nowadays, but if you have a dollar to spend and desire a big dollar's worth, a dollar's worth to suit a whole year, then by all means subscribe to that big Montreal weekly paper, The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It is a paper without an equal on the Continent, an up-to-date weekly newspaper, family magazine and agricultural paper all combined. You might spend three dollars for three different publications and not get either the quality or the quantity you will get in the Family Herald and Weekly Star. In addition to getting the best weekly in Canada you get absolutely free a premium picture entitled "A Tug of War," size 22x28 inches, and fit to adorn any home in Canada. How it is all done for one dollar is a mystery, yet it is done and every year finds the Family Herald and Weekly Star brighter and better than ever.

Telephone Manager Home.

Mr. F. W. Dean, local manager for the Bell Telephone Company, has returned from Montreal where he attended a convention of local managers and head officials of the Bell Company, who were present from all over Canada—from Winnipeg to Sydney, Nova Scotia. He reports the meeting as being most harmonious and that the convening managers not only had a good time but learned much regarding their business.

Wolves Chase Man Up a Tree.

Algonquin Park is infested by wolves, according to the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines. Mr. C. Hubbs, of Peterborough, bookkeeper for A. Barnet and Company, a lumbering firm operating there, writes that one of the company's employes were driven by a pack of wolves to seek safety in a tree top recently. It is likely that poison will be used as firearms are forbidden in this park.

T. A. S. Band Will Reorganize.

The T.A.S. band will be reorganized at a meeting called for tomorrow evening, and all the former and prospective members of the band are requested to be present. It is understood that the members will sign a contract to practice regularly. In this way it is hoped to eliminate the factor that caused the band some former trouble.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Royal Bank Now Open Here

Another Bank Began Business in Peterboro' Yesterday.

The Royal Bank of Canada, opened for business yesterday morning in their new quarters on Hunter street, in the premises recently vacated by Mr. R. J. Sadon as a bookstore.

All last week a staff of skilled mechanics were busy placing temporary fixtures, and in the course of a few weeks, the partition between the present premises and Mitchell's barber shop, will be removed, enlarging the accommodations of the bank. The front will be of red sandstone. When the permanent fixtures are inserted the interior will be most artistic and well adapted to requirements of the bank's business.

Mr. J. W. Farton, of Montreal, will be in charge. He will be assisted by Mr. Geo. Muirhead, of the inspectors department, Montreal; Mr. F. W. Sampson, Peterborough, will be ledger-keeper.

The Royal Bank is one of the strongest financial institutions in the Dominion. The growth of deposits of the Royal Bank of Canada since incorporated in 1869, [illegible] $1,000,000; 1880, $3,500,000; 1895, $6,000,000; 1900, $12,000,000; 1905, $26,000,000; 1906, $28,000,000.

A general banking business will be done as well as a savings department conducted. Deposits of one dollar will be received and interest will be credited or paid twice a Year. The Royal Bank has branches in all the provinces of the Dominion, Newfoundland, Cuba, as well as representatives in other countries. Its statement of assets is ample evidence of the strength of the institution. The capital of the Royal Bank is $3,734,320, reserve, $4,200,741, and total assets $41,860,363. The head office of the bank is at Halifax and chief executive office at Montreal.

The Bank officials are:—

Asst.—Inspector—D. Cameron.

Barnardo Home Girl Brought Back.

Chief of Police Emonds, of Smiths Falls, Ont., is a guest at the Palace Hotel. This officer brought here yesterday afternoon a Barnardo Home girl, one of the large bunch recently brought from England. This girl, it seems was consigned to a lady in Smiths Falls, but some difficulty arose between her and her employer, hence the police officer's errand to return her to the home in this city. It is not yet known however, that the fault lay altogether with the girl.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL. XXXIV. NO. 268 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14 1906 PRICE TWO CENTS

TO DRAW UP NEW COAL CONTRACT

Conference at Montreal Will Try to Arrange an Amicable Settlement---Senator Cox May Stay on.

Montreal, Nov. 14—The policy the Dominion Iron and Steel Company will follow in the fight with the Dominion Coal Co., was decided on at a conference Senator Cox had yesterday with the leading interests of the Steel Co in Montreal. The policy, as officially announced, is that every effort will be made to get the two companies to agree to some new arrangement by which the Steel Company will get its supply of coal from the Dominion Coal Co. The Bank of Commerce interests are satisfied that it will be possible to make some such arrangement.

Failing the carrying through of such arrangement, the Dominion Iron and Steel Co., will take action against the Coal Co.

The policy decided on at yesterday's conference indicates that the Steel Co admits that the old contract is not a fair one for the Coal Co., and is willing that a new one should be made. Senator Cox's position in the fight will depend on the course of events during the next few days. He will retain his position on the boards of both companies, with a view of trying to bring about some amicable agreement between them, but, if he fails to do so, he will leave the coal directorate, in which company he has a large personal interest, to fight on behalf of the large interest the Canadian Bank of Commerce has in the Steel Company.

Sir Wm. Van Horne, in his letter announcing his withdrawal from the Coal Company, says he did so simply because his interest in the Steel Co. was much larger than in the Coal Co. He is the owner of only 100 shares in the Coal Co.

As far as the banks are concerned, the two banks are in very different positions. The Dominion Coal Company has paid off its entire indebtedness to the Bank of Montreal, and is in an entirely independent position, while the Dominion Steel Company is very heavily indebted to the Bank of Commerce, and as its bankers, the latter are keenly interested in the present trouble being adjusted.

MATHEWSON AS MANAGER.

There is an active movement on foot here to have Mr. F. W. Mathewson, Montreal manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, assume the presidency of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, in place of Mr. J. H. Plummer, whose health will not allow him to continue the good work he has already done for the company.

A CORRECTION

Mr. R. B. Rogers Did not Buy Property as Alleged.

In our issue of yesterday appeared an article referring to a contemplated business transaction proposed, as alleged in such article, by Mr. R. B. We learned yesterday, that there is no foundation whatever regarding the statement as printed.

TROOPS FORMALLY DISARMED

Colored Battalions Now Awaiting Official Order of Dismissal.

El Reno, Okla., November 14.—Members of Companies B., C. and D. of the 25th Infantry (colored) recently dismissed by President Roosevelt, were formally disarmed yesterday. Many of the men, some of whom had been in the service more than twenty years, shed tears when they gave up their guns. Today the disarmed troops will have battalion drill without arms, and they will be discharged immediately on receipt of the official order from Washington, probably today or tomorrow.

The second battalion of the 25th Infantry, under command of Major Clarke, from San Antonio, is in camp just outside the garrison limits of Fort Reno. The negro troops have shown no disposition to be ugly.

Steamer Water Lily Still Kept Busy

The popular steamer "Water Lily" arrived here on TTuesday evening, from Rice Lake ports, having aboard three thousand bushels of wheat consigned to the Central Milling Company, of the city.

Captain White the energetic navigation commanding this steamboat reports that business has been very brisk all fall. He has considerable freight yet to convey to the city and hopes to be able to run his boat to the end of this month.

Date of McCraw's Execution.

Quebec, November 14.—Wallace McCraw may hang on the 25th of January next for the murder of Percy Sclater at Grand Anse, on the St. Maurice River. At least the judge of the Court of Appeals fixed that date here on Saturday last, because of the pending application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council from the decision of the Court maintaining the regularity of the verdict. Prior to Saturday's sitting of the court, the execution stood fixed for next month. It was because the court on Saturday was not ready to pronounce upon the application of prisoner's counsel that the judges deferred the day of the execution, which will be further postponed if leave of appeal to the Privy Council is granted.

Man and Wife Dead in Bed.

Owosso, Mich., November 14.—Bert Seeley, who was under suspicion in connection with the murder of Edwin Edgar in West Haven township, last Wednesday, was found dead in bed yesterday, and lying beside him was his young wife also dead. They were found by Seeley's brother.

FAINT AND WEAK

The Wrong Breakfast Don't Last Till Dinner.

The fact that Grape-Nuts is a concentrated brain and muscle food, and supplies actual nourishment in soundness, places it in a class distinct from a bowl of cereal foods that simply "taste good," but have no body.

A Mich. lady noticed a big difference when she used Grape-Nuts for breakfast. She writes:

"My little boy was so puny and ill-nourished we feared we would never raise him. He could not digest starchy foods at all until he ate Grape-Nuts which agreed with him perfectly.

"He began to gain so much that people asked me what I had found to make the difference.

"Realizing how much good it had done him, I determined to try it myself, for I have always been troubled with indigestion and constipation, taking a pill every night for years, and toning most of the time.

"Skeptical as I was I finally threw away the pills and began to use Grape-Nuts with eggs, three times a day, and plenty of fruit and whole wheat bread.

"I am perfectly surprised at how much it has helped me. I have gained so much strength and feel like a different person. I am never distressed after eating and am always ready for my next meal—particularly breakfast.

"Formerly, when I ate a hearty breakfast it distressed me so I was rarely ready for dinner but I have proved the right kind of food will allow me a good breakfast and no trouble.

"For breakfast I now use Grape-Nuts with cream; for dinner as a salad or a pudding; supper with fruit; and with other plain food at each meal. For my boy I soak it in hot milk and add cream, and he likes it dry and teases me for it." Name given on Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a reason."

Why not try this remedy?

SOME BANKS HAVE TICKER OUTFIT

When Mr. McGill Had His Ear to the Ticker Was He Following the Example of Other Bank Managers?

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The McGill inquiry yesterday morning resolved itself into an effort on the part of Mr. Robert McKay, counsel for the defendant, to prove by the witness, during a searching cross-examination, that the entries, alleged to be fraudulent, were in reality merely the outcome of recognized principles of book-keeping.

Magistrate Denison, on the other hand, whose disregard for legal formulae, so incensed Mr. E. F. B Johnston at the outset of the inquiry, strove to maintain the commonsense view of the situation.

Both were equally successful in having their position substantiated by the witness. Mr. McKay moved along the tortuous by-paths known only to the lawyer, and succeeded in getting Mr. Langton to admit that it might be proper to make the entries just as they had been made. The magistrate then took the witness in hand, and, before many minutes had elapsed, was able to persuade him that for long periods, various amounts, aggregating close on $1,000,000, had been carried as assets, when, at no time, was anything like that amount held on margin, the vast majority of it having long before been swallowed up in the New York stock gambling vortex.

Mr. Langton also made it clear that Mr McGill's having a ticker in his office was not an unusual proceeding on the part of a bank manager. There were others.

PAID FEMALE WHISTLER TO PERFORM IN CHURCH

New York Pastor Resorts to Novel Means to Attract Crowds on Sundays--- Gives His Reason.

New York, Nov. 14.—The Herald says: Vaudeville turns as an adjunct to religious service have been introduced by the Rev. Dr. Frank M. Goodchild, pastor of the Central Baptist church, in West 42nd street, and Sunday night the congregation listened with what were apparently feelings of mingled interest and surprise while a woman whistler warbled three tunes in the intervals between the reading of the Word and the sermon.

After the sermon Dr. Goodchild consented to give his views regarding vaudeville as an accessory to religion. He said:

"My object in making this departure from conventional lines is to see if by introducing a little musical novelty we could not fill the whole church on Sunday night. The conditions under which we have to labor are not equalled in any other city in the world. The Central Baptist church is in the middle of a block in which there are seven theatres. We have not a half-dozen families in the congregation who live within a mile of the church. We must draw on the floating church attendants, and it is with this in mind that the departure from regular lines was made.

"While I do not wholly approve of the introduction of anything that will mar the sacredness of church worship, I believe in using the best means of assembling the people I believe with Dr. Duff, that eminent preacher, who once said, 'I would be willing to knock two old shoes together if it would draw a crowd to which I might preach Jesus Christ.'

"Personally I would prefer a plain, ordinary service, but to reach the people I intend to compete in as dignified a way as possible with the attractions with which this church is surrounded.

"Next Sunday night we will listen to Charles Wold play sacred and classical melodies on his musical glasses.

Mr. Brownscombe Has Resigned

New City Treasurer Will Have to Be Appointed.

A startling event has happened in local civic circles owing to the resignation by Mr. Felix Brownscombe, of his well fulfilled duties as city treasurer, and collector for the water commissioners. Mr. Brownscombe's resignation was received by his many friends with the greatest surprise and deep regret. He has been treasurer for eleven years, and the collectorship of the water commissioners was given him on February 10, 1902.

The city clerk has received the treasurer's resignation, and it will be taken up by the city council at an early date.

Mr. Brownscombe yesterday says as his reason for resigning poor health. He said: "I have been connected with this office for eleven years, and during that time my relations with the council, and later with the water commissioners have been, to me, entirely satisfactory in every instance. I have received nothing but kindness from all the members, and under all circumstances."

Mr. Brownscombe who has been a faithful and painstaking civil servant was, previous to his appointment, in the insurance business. We hope to learn that his health will shortly show an improvement.

Uxbridge Duck Hogs Were Left

Uxbridge Journal says:—While the Uxbridge hunters at Scugog last week had a good run of luck in securing game, they were not so fortunate in getting it home. When they reached Port Perry they left the birds in two sacks, one containing forty, and the other thirty, in Mr. Bowerman's front house while they went up to secure a rig to carry them to Uxbridge. When they returned to the boat house the largest sack was gone. At first it was thought that some one was playing a joke, but the ducks not get turned up, and it is noticed they will.

Firemen May Go on Strike.

New York, November 14.—President Underwood, of the Erie Railroad Company, refused the demands for a reduction of working hours by the firemen employed on that road. A poll of the firemen will be taken by their officer to determine whether they will strike.

The Event of the Season

Carnival at the Roller Skating Rink on Friday Evening.

There will be ten valuable and artistic prizes offered for this event, which will equal and in some cases exceed what we gave at our former carnival a few weeks ago, as follows:

1st and 2nd prize for lady's and gents' comic costume.

1st and 2nd prize for ladies' fancy costumes.

1st and 2nd prize for ladies' and gents' fancy costumes.

1 prize each to lady and gent for best representation of Canada.

1 prize each for best lady and gent skaters in singles.

The rink management have decided to make masquerade optional, i.e., as to wearing of masks.

Peterboro' Man Wins Great Honor

Mr. W. McIlroy, Local C. P. R. Ticket Agent is President.

A despatch from Mobile, Alabama, says:—The annual convention of the Canadian Ticket Agents Association was called to order at Mobile, Ala., on Saturday, with 158 delegates present. President Wm. Bunton, of Peterborough, Ont., delivered his annual address. The feature of the session was the reading of a paper on "Railway Development in Canada," by H. J. Pettypiece, Forest, Ont. These officers were chosen:—W. McIlroy, president, Peterborough; C. R. Coleman, first vice-president, Truro, N. S.; R. J. Craig, second vice-president, Cobourg, H. J. Hanley, third vice-president, Kingston; F. De la Hooke, secretary-treasurer, London; F. R. Bowen, auditor, Chatham.

This is an exceptional honor not only for the newly elected president, but a unique compliment paid to a Canadian city, Peterborough, when a retiring president of this association who was a Peterborough man, the genial "Billy" Bunton was replaced by another Peterborough representative, Mr. W. McIlroy.

All hail the two Billys!

Funeral of Mrs. Chas. Maldens' Today

Yesterday morning, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Mrs. Chas. Maidens of Hastings, passed away after a lingering illness, aged seventy-six years. The deceased was the grandmother of Mrs. John Londerville, of Sophia street, east ward. She was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and her death will be much regretted.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at three o'clock to Trent Valley Cemetery, Hastings.

Senator Cox May Quit Directorship

A Montreal despatch says,—Sir William Van Horne has resigned from the directorate of the Dominion Coal Co., as a protest against the termination of the contract with the Dominion Steel Co., for the supply of coal to the latter, without the directors being consulted. Sir William is also a director of the Dominion Steel Company.

It was stated that Hon. George A. Cox, who will reach here today, will follow Sir William Van Horne's example, and retire from the coal company's directorate. Other directors may follow.

Much Land for Railway.

Topeka, Kan., November 14.—Thousands of acres of the most valuable farm land in Kansas, together with a large amount of land located in towns and cities of the state, is awarded to the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway by a decision handed down Saturday by the Kansas Supreme Court in the case of that railway company against one Watson. Mr. Watson, the defendant, is one of the many landholders occupying land along the Union Pacific right of way. It is believed that the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Colonel Hasselsein Has Resigned.

Halifax, N. S., November 14.—Lieutenant-Colonel Hasselsein has resigned command of the Halifax Regiment of Canadian Artillery, to which he was appointed in 1903. Enforced absences from the city due to failing health caused his resignation. He leaves this month for the South.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Last night the Hotel des Cops was full even to the bridal (we mean Befuddled) chamber.

The three main cells contained two drunks and one local man arrested for misappropriation of funds of a near relative. The last mentioned is somewhat contingent upon a case tried recently before the county judge. The magistrate will have a great grist to grind this morning.

Yesterday morning a whole library, fully illustrated by a practical series of object lessons on the subject of temperance, was given by Wm. Kelly on George street just in front of the City Hotel.

William was travelling northwards, crossed Charlotte street, and on arrival at the City Hotel, either the pavement flew up or William fell down.

In either solution of the mystery, William's face came into collision with the hard and unrelenting pavement with a result, that for some forty feet, the western pavement of our main thoroughfare at the spot noted, was made a bright crimson, smartly assuming a more somber tint.

Several employes of the Bell Telephone Company, working near the spot picked the unfortunate victim of drink up, as he bled like a ruptured water pipe. A large flask, half full of whisky, in his hip pocket was saved, by Kelly's body becoming the "Buffet state" in his face.

P. C. Adams soon arrived on the scene and escorted Kelly to the station. His shattered proboscis and split eye brow will undoubtedly be a constant warning against the evils of intemperance. His case will be tried this morning.

Income Not Wages by the Day.

Windsor, November 14.—Following the decision of the Court of Revision, sustaining the appeal of George Scott, an employe of the Michigan Central, against his assessment for income tax on the ground that wages by the day do not constitute an "income," an application will be made to the City Council for the remission of the income tax assessed against about 200 employes of the different railways here. The railway men relate they were unjustly assessed, as they are paid only by the day. The Scott case was brought as a test.

The Spanish Fraud Game in Quebec.

Quebec, November 14.—The Spanish fraud game is being attempted in Quebec, several citizens having received letters informing them of the estates left them in that country. All appear to be in the same handwriting, however, and are on the same kind of paper.

County and Township Taxes Explained

New Government Regulations Make Things to Thought Raised by County, Incorrectly.

Considerable change has taken place in the school law in as much inwhere the individual township was required to raise $150 for section per annum, the general statutory levy places this at $300, consequently the taxes are doubled under that heading. Also, under recent legislation, the county has to raise from the township, or from those sections not connected with urban municipalities for school purposes the sum of $1,072 in order to pay said schools the equivalent to the special legislative grant. The receipts from the municipalities under this heading and the payments to the schools in the several municipalities appears as follows:

Township	Levy	Payment to school
Asphodel	115.96	102
Belmont & Methuen	36 65	114
Burleigh & Anstruther	8.49	41
Chandos	10.27	44

The above does not include inspectors' salaries, costs of examinations, etc.

Italian Manufacturers are Angry.

Rome, November 14.—A committee from the City of Terni, headed by the mayor of that place, has come to protest against the placing of an order for armor plate for an Italian man-of-war with the Midvale Steel Company of Pennsylvania, and has been received by Premier Giolotti. The premier explained that the Government was desirous of protecting and favoring national production, but not against the interests of the State, and that national production must put itself in condition to stand foreign competition.

Survivor Loses His Feet.

Quebec, November 14.—Captain Lamoureux, of the schooner Terrible, whose frightful experiences while exposed in an open boat in the Gulf without food or water for several days, have already been related, had both feet amputated on Saturday to Jeffrey Hale hospital, as a result of gangrene having set in. The patient is in a very critical condition.

Local Wild Cat Story Discounted

Mr. Cyril Hill Killed a Large Wild Cat Near Montreal.

Yesterday a Times representative in conversation with Mr. Cyril Hill, one of Peterborough's recent but successful insurance men, who had seen an item in yesterday's issue of this paper regarding the shooting of a wild cat on a farm within a few miles of the city—got a story too good to keep, but which is fully corroborated.

Now this article in yesterday's issue was absolutely correct, and in view of the population of this city and the proximity of the killing of the lynx was sufficiently unique.

Mr. Hill, however, somewhat discounted our report by showing how he had, a few years ago killed a large wild cat within four miles of Canada's metropolis, the city of Montreal.

It seems that Mr. Hill, with a number of friends were out shooting within, as noted about four miles of say, the head office of the Bank of Montreal, in the city of that name. He heard the cries of a wild cat, and with true sportsman's craft, approached the ferocious animal within firing distance, and with a well-directed shot laid the cat low. A photographer, living near the scene, arrived in time to take a snap shot of Mr Hill's quarry, which picture was seen by a Times representative yesterday. The cat, which was a splendidly developed specimen of its species, was given, by Mr. Hill to the farmer on whose property it was killed as a keepsake, and was, by the latter stuffed and set up.

This somewhat discounts killing a wild cat near Peterborough.

Ban on the Y.M.C.A.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—On instructions from Bishop Dowling, the following announcement was made in the local Catholic churches on Sunday; "All Catholics who belong to the Y.M.C.A. or the Y.W.C.A., whether through ignorance of the laws of the church or otherwise, must understand that they cannot receive the sacraments and still remain members of those societies, owing to the fact that religious meetings are held there."

LAUGHED AT FIRST

But Changed His Mind on Investigation.

It often seems ridiculous what a simple thing can do in shaping our lives.

We do certain things because our fathers before us did, and don't stop to think that we might be better for a change.

A man tells how he changed from coffee to Postum Food Coffee and the remarkable difference it made in him.

"I have been a heavy coffee-drinker for years, got very nervous and my mind seemed dazed. I would go to work every morning with an unsteady hand, and actually endanger my life, as I am a building mechanic.

"I had read of the results that occurred by changing from coffee to Postum, but I was in such a condition mentally and physically that I never thought of it for myself. But I kept growing worse every day until I was advised to try Postum.

"I laughed at first, but finally tried it, and to my great surprise, I was dead sure I had at last found the real trouble and how to get rid of it.

"While using coffee, among all the other ills I was also troubled with sour stomach and gas, but thanks to Postum and the friend who advised me to use it, my stomach can now stand almost any kind of food. The whole change is a wonder to me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

300 Passengers Reach Quebec

Were Taken Off the Stranded Liner Kensington—Other Ships Probably Took Refuge.

Montreal, Nov. 14. — Apprehension was felt in local shipping circles yesterday morning because two of the steamers sent to the Kensington, which went ashore off Metane Sunday morning, had not yet reported. The Kensington had 615 passengers on board, and of these 300 were taken off by the Gaspesian. This boat arrived at Quebec at noon yesterday, and the passengers arrived in Montreal last night.

It is the general belief that the other two vessels sent to the rescue were unable to face the storm now raging along the St. Lawrence, and have put into some shelter in the coves.

MAY NEED TROOPS

Situation Beyond Control of Hamilton Detectives.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—The Street Railway Company officials are convinced that the local detectives and the special officers it brought here cannot cope with the element that is opposed to the operation of cars by other than union men. A conference was held yesterday morning with the mayor and police chief in regard to calling troops from Toronto and London. The chief is anxious that out side assistance be obtained. Manager Green is loud in denouncing the Mayor for not coming in help.

Hundreds of men, said to belong to unions, quit work this morning and "said for" the cars. In one molding shop last night the men worked, it is said, making iron balls to throw.

ARREST A SUSPECT

Victim of Assault Says She Chewed Man's Head.

Woodstock, Nov. 14.—Chas. O'Brien, 13 Dover street, this city, one of the men suspected by the police of knowing something about the dastardly assault on Mrs. J. D. Custer at her home at 174 Railway street at midnight on Wednesday last, was arrested by Chief Seats yesterday. O'Brien has been out of the city since the night of the crime, but returned to his home Sunday night. Mrs. Custer says she chewed the hand of one of her assailants in the melee. O'Brien wears a bandage on one of his hands, which, it is said, was not worn previous to the sight of the crime.

O'Brien is the son of respectable parents, and has worked at many places in the city.

GENERAL SHAFTER DEAD

Retired American General Died in California.

Bakersfield, Cal., Nov. 14.—General William R. Shafter, U.S.A. (retired), died yesterday.

General Shafter was born in Michigan in 1835. In 1861 when the call came for men for the federal army he was teaching school near his birthplace, but at once enlisted as lieutenant. His rise was rapid, and by 1864 he was colonel of the seventeenth colored infantry. Next year he was brevetted brigadier-general on account of his gallant and meritorious services during the war. When the Spanish-American war broke out in 1898 General Shafter was sent to Cuba, where he had charge of the military operations which ended in the fall of Santiago.

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER!

Indicates Feeble Blood and Worn-Out Nerves—Build Up, or Total Collapse will Surely Follow.

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; it acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was lassitude and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 33, Beeton, Ont., "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

APPENDICITIS AND BORIC ACID

When appendicitis first began to attract attention as a specific disease the grapeseed theory of its origin was advanced, but with the course of time it became apparent that while seeds or other foreign bodies occasionally were found in the inflamed appendix they were by no means regularly present, and that even when they were present they did not invariably produce trouble. While in other respects the disease is now very thoroughly understood, its causes are still a good deal of a mystery.

It is, of course, difficult to prove that appendicitis is more common now than it used to be. One does not know just how much to allow for the imperfect diagnosis of the old days. But it is commonly believed that there has been a marked actual increase in the last generation, for which some change in the general conditions of life must be responsible, if it can only be located. At any rate, while some cases are known to have been excited by blows upon the abdomen and others by acute indigestion due to easily traceable causes, there are others in which if acute indigestion preceded the attack the origin of the indigestion itself is a mystery.

A recent theory, advanced by an English physician in the columns of the London Lancet, is that the use of boric acid as a food preservative may have much to do with the increase of the disease. It is not contended that boric acid in any quantity is hurtful, but rather that a very large amount of it on one dish, or the presence of smaller amounts in several dishes partaken of together, will produce a condition in which bacteria are stimulated to do deadly work.

The Lancet editorially takes the view that the theory is worthy of investigation, and it may be expected that experiments will be made definitely with this end in view. Professor Wiley's tests showed that eight grains of boric acid a day was too much for the average man to take with impunity.

As the case stands, it amounts to little more than this, that the use of boric acid and the increase of appendicitis have occurred in the same period, and that boric acid in exceptionally large quantities can cause a condition favorable to appendicitis. It is an hypothesis awaiting proof, not a theory as yet entitled to acceptance.

Dual Languge In Manitoba

First Time in Ten Years the Fact that it Prevails was Brought Out.

Winnipeg, November 13.—For the first time in ten years, the fact that the dual language still prevails in Manitoba courts of justice was forcibly exemplified. Charles Bernier, a Frenchman, was arraigned for unlawfully wounding.

Counsel for the defence demanded that at least one half the number of jurors be familiar with his mother tongue. Court allowed the demand as there were no Frenchmen on the present panel.

His Lordship ordered that when the new panel was called the sheriff call enough men conversant with the French language to get the necessary jury for the Bernier trial.

Revolutionists Steal a New Machine Gun

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—The most recent exploit of the St. Petersburg revolutionists is the theft of a machine gun of the latest model and a large supply of cartridges. It is presumed that an expert gunner is involved, because all the necessary accessories were simultaneously abstracted from the armory.

The prefect of police has issued an order specially emphasizing the necessity of recapturing the gun.

FIND OF INDIAN RELICS.

Skeletons and Necklaces in a Mound at Port Colborne.

A staff of men, under W. C. P. Phillips, assistant curator of the Provincial Museum, Toronto, have been excavating the flag staff mound at Humberstone Club, Port Colborne, and were greatly surprised to discover one of the richest finds of Indian relics on record there. The mound contained nine skeletons, numerous bracelets, necklaces of beads, tomahawks, pipes, a copper kettle and three earthen pots. The relics will be sent to the Provincial Museum at Toronto for permanent exhibition.

When the steel flag pole was being erected about fifteen years ago many Indian bones were turned out in the excavation, and arrow heads were found in the pathway leading from the spot to the lake shore. Among the relics the most valuable were the three earthern vessels. These are shaped much like the jardinieres of to-day. They are about seven inches in diameter and about the same depth, and the ornamental design is a simple one. Two of the pots were chipped, but the other one is perfect. It is supposed that the vessels were used to hold water, as they are too soft to have been used over fires. One of the pipes is perfect, but the other is broken. The copper bracelets encircled the wrist bones and the necklaces the neck bones. The skeletons were not placed in any order and were about four feet from the surface. Mr. Phillips will continue his investigation through the greater part of the mound.

Shake a Weed.

A gentleman called at Elijah Goudy's house to see him, and was informed that he had gone out to look at his corn.

The gentleman went down to the field, which he found grown over with weeds of a gigantic growth, with a sickly looking stalk of corn peeping forth here and there. The gentleman looked across the field, but could not see the proprietor thereof.

Finally the man climbed upon the fence and shouted:

"Oh, 'Lige!"

To his surprise, a reply came from among the weeds near by in the familiar voice of Mr. Goudy.

The gentleman took a second look, but could not quite locate 'Lige, and after a moment's hesitation said:

"Shake a weed, so I can tell where you are!"—Calgary Herald.

ASIA FOR THE ASIATICS

Movement to Drive the British Out of India.

St. Petersburg, November 13.—Telegrams from London received here describe a Hindu meeting at Calcutta at which the aim of the national movement was declared to be Asia for the Asiatics.

The Russian papers, commenting on this, declare that the Japanese have been appealed to by the Hindus to co-operate in schemes for driving out the British from India, and that the appeal is widely and openly supported in Japan.

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

IS SECURED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,000 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a cold, bald prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodsell, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—out, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

"God speed ye!" said the tinker as he went away.

In such disfavor was the poor man that all would have been glad to have him go anywhere, so he left Hillsborough.

One day in the Christmas holidays a boy came to the door of Riley Brooke with a bucksaw on his arm.

"I'm looking for work," said the boy, "and I'd be glad of the chance to saw your wood."

"How much a cord?" was the loud inquiry.

"Forty cents."

"Too much," said Brooke. "How much a day?"

"Six shillings."

"Tob much," said the old man snappishly. "I used to git $6 a month when I was your age, an' rise at 4 o'clock in the mornin' an' work till bedtime. You boys nowdays are a lasy, good fer nothin' lot. What's yer name?"

"Sidney Trove."

"Don't want ye.'

"Well, mister," said the boy, who was much in need of money, "I'll saw your wood for anything you're a mind to give me."

"I'll give ye 50 cents a day," said the old man.

Trove hesitated. The sum was barely half what he could earn, but he had given his promise and fell to. Riley Brooke spent half the day watching and urging him to faster work. More than once the boy was near quitting, but kept his good nature and a strong pace. When at last Brooke went away Trove heard a sly movement of the blinds and knew that other eyes were on the watch. He spent three days at the job—laming, wearisome days after so long an absence from heavy toil.

"Waal, I suppose ye want money," Brooke snapped as the boy came to the door. "How much?"

"One dollar and a half."

"Too much, too much. I won't pay it."

"That was the sum agreed upon."

"Don't care. Ye hain't earned no dollar an' a half. Here, take that an' clear out," having said which Brooke tossed some money at the boy and slammed the door in his face. Trove counted the money. It was a dollar and a quarter. He was sorely tempted to open the door and fling it back at him, but wisely kept his patience and walked away. It was the day before Christmas. Trove had planned to walk home that evening, but a storm had come, drifting the snow deep, and he had to forego the visit. After supper he went to the Sign of the Dial. The tinker was at home in his odd little shop and gave him a hearty welcome. Trove sat by the fire and told of the sawing for Riley Brooke.

"God rest him!" said the tinker, thoughtfully puffing his pipe. "What would happen, think ye, if a man like him were let into heaven?"

"I cannot imagine," said the boy.

"Well, for one thing," said the tinker, "he'd begin to look for chattels, an' I do fear me there'd soon be many without harps."

"What is one to do with a man like that?" Trove inquired.

"Only this," said the tinker—"put him in thy book. He'll make good history. But, see, for company he's poor."

"It's a new way to use men," said Trove.

"Nay, an old way—a very old way. Often God makes an example o' rare malevolence an' seems to say, 'Look, despise and be anything but this.' Like Judas and Herod, he is an excellent figure in a book. Put him in thine, boy."

"And credit him with full payment?" the boy asked.

"Long ago, praise God, there was a great teacher," said the old man. "It is a day to think of him. Return good for evil—those were his words. We've never tried it, an' I'd like to see how it may work. The trial would be amusing if it bore no better fruit."

"What do you propose?"

"Well, say we take him a gift, with our best wishes," said the tinker.

"If I can afford it," the boy replied.

The tinker answered quickly: "Oh, I've always a little for a Christmas, an' I'll buy the gifts. Ah, boy, let's away for the gifts. We'll—we'll punish him with kindness."

They went together and bought a pair of mittens and a warm muffler for Riley Brooke and walked to his door with them and rapped upon it. Brooke came to the door with a candle.

"What d'ye want?" he demanded.

"To wish you merry Christmas and present you gifts," said Trove.

The old man raised his candle, surveying them with surprise and curiosity.

"What gifts?" he inquired in a milder tone.

"Well," said the boy, "we've brought you mittens and a muffler."

"Ha, ha! Yer consciences have smote ye!" said Brooke. "Glory to God, who brings the sinner to repentance!"

"And fills the bitter cup o' the ungrateful," said the tinker, and they went away.

"I'd like to bring one other gift," said Darrel.

"What's that?"

"God forgive me—a rope to hang him! But mind thee, boy, we are trying the law o' the Great Teacher, and let us see if we can learn to love this man."

"Ha, ha! Yer consciences have smote ye!"

"Love Riley Brooke?" said Trove doubtfully.

"A great achievement, I grant thee," said the tinker, "for if we can love him we shall be able to love anybody. Let us try an' see what comes of it."

A man was waiting for Darrel at the foot of the old stairs—a tall man, poorly dressed, whom Trove had not seen before and whom now he was not able to see clearly in the darkness.

"The mare is ready," said Darrel.

"'Tis a dark night."

He to whom the tinker had spoken made no answer.

"Good night," said the tinker, turning. "A Merry Christmas to thee, boy, an' peace an' plenty."

"I have peace, and you have given me plenty to think about," said Trove.

On his way home the boy thought of the stranger at the stairs, wondering if he were the other tinker of whom Darrel had told him. At his lodging he found a new pair of boots with only the Christmas greeting on a card.

"Well," said Trove, already merrier than most of far better fortune, "he must have been somebody that knew my needs."

A Polite War.

A little boy, with an interest in the meaning of unfamiliar words, said to his mother, "What is the meaning of 'civil?'" "Kind and polite," answered his mother. A puzzled look brooded for a second on the boy's face. Then he said, "Was it a kind and polite war that was in this country once?"

The Astor Partition Walls.

The filing of plans for alterations of the city home of John Jacob Astor at 844 Fifth avenue, New York, show that the central wall which bisects the grand staircase was erected at the command of Mrs. Astor to separate her portion of the graystone palace from that occupied by her son and family. Two of the Astors, John Jacob and William Waldorf, own the Astor House jointly. Of the Waldorf-Astoria, William Waldorf Astor owns the Waldorf side, while John Jacob owns the Astoria portion, and these twin hotels are divided by such a partition wall as existed in the Astor home, where the mother and son live side by side.—Argonaut.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locater may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 25p per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 35p per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

HE IS CORRECT

Dr Hamilton Proves That Piles Are Caused by Constipation and Strong Cathartics.

Knowing the frequency with which people suffer from this ailment, Dr. Hamilton made an exhaustive study into the cause of piles.

He found that the lower part of the bowels is like a network of blood-vessels, and if subjected to persistent pressure, a section will bulge out and form what is commonly known as piles.

The only effective mode of curing this trouble is the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which can be taken before retiring. Next day will bring wonderful relief.

"I suffered up to about the limit of human endurance with piles," writes Miss Lueiers, from Cornwall, Ont., "I was employed in a factory here, sort for a while had to give up work till I got better of this trouble I read in the Montreal Herald about Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and after using them for two weeks was cured. I can recommend these pills very highly; there are none better. They at once relieve and pervent a constipated condition of the bowels, and from my experience can be depended upon as a perfect safeguard against piles. Dr Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, I am sure, would be a benefit to ever girl or woman."

Take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and your system will be regenerated, revitalized, and made proof against disease.

Good for men, excellent for women, and most effective for children. All ages and both sexes find Dr. Hamilton's Pills a marvelous medicine. Although active, they do not gripe or cause inconvenience, system, thereby maintaining a high still they cleanse and purify the standard of health. Sold by all dealers, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail, from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Senator Cox Named as Mayor.

It has been suggested to The Times that the Hon. Geo A. Cox should be offered the mayoralty of this city for next year. Whilst the senator is one of Peterborough's most ardent supporters and a gentleman well worthy of the honor of being your mayor, such a situation could be not to entertained in the face of the law which demands that a mayor or other municipal officer must reside in or within two miles of the municipality for which official is nominated.

No Fever at the Albion Hotel.

Mr. P. Hogan of the Albion Hotel, Hunter street, east ward, called at The Times office yesterday and stated that the item contained in the local press of yesterday in regard to a "scarlet fever" card having been pinned on the hotel is incorrect. There is no fever of any kind on the premises.

The case seemingly referred to is in a small house in the rear of the hotel, which has no connection whatever with the hotel.

Local Official Lets Deer Go

A prominent official has recently returned from a deer hunt. Whilst out this fall, sentimentality, as it is alleged it has done on a former hunt, made him let a deer escape. The official in question, a few days ago was assigned to a choice "run-way." The deer came into the water, the official got busy with his canoe, caught up within gunshot, and the deer turning round, look him straight in the face. The official wilting quietly uncocked the rifle, placed it in the canoe and paddled for camp. On arrival other members of the party asked "Mr. ——— didn't you see a deer"? "yes" he replied "but the poor animal looked so splendid and so piteous I could not shoot it." Then the others dispensed sulphurous language.

Last Roller Rink Skating Carnival

On Friday evening of this week, the last carnival of the season will be held in the Charlotte street roller rink, and will, no doubt, be the event of the year.

It was with considerable surprise that the maskers and audience at the last roller skating rink carnival, viewed the prizes given for costumes and skating, as they far exceeded in value and beauty prizes usually given in such events.

At the carnival for Friday there will be presented prizes even exceeding, by far, those of the last event. To begin with, instead of four prizes on Friday coming, there will be ten valuable prizes contended for. On Friday night there will be a large contingent of the 57th regt. Band present, to discourse sweet strains.

The prizes for this event have already been ordered specially for the occasion by a local firm from Toronto.

Royal Hotel Bought by Mr. La France

Mr. John A. La France of Toronto, former proprietor of the American House at St. Catharines, has purchased the Royal Hotel on Hunter street from Mr. Jas. Flynn. The price paid we understand, was about $3,000. Mr. La France comes here well recommended. The chairman of the license commissioners, was supposed to notify him yesterday evening concerning his license. The new proprietor will take hold of the business on the first of December. There was considerable competition in the purchase, Messrs John Clancy, D. Flynn and J. Kelly all being after the business, but Mr La France put in the highest tender and secured the business.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that A. J. Russell Snow, barrister, of Toronto, who has been appointed a commissioner by the Ontario Government to investigate conditions at the Deaf and Dumb Institute here, as well as any charges that may be made against officials and others connected with the institute, has opened the investigation. Nothing was done beyond looking over some books of the institute. W. C. Mikel has charge of the investigation for the Government. After he has had an opportunity of perusing the books and documents of the institute and the correspondence connected with a charge made by a lady in Peterborough, the investigation will be continued. Mr. Mikel says that after this is completed he will take up any other charges made.

Eminent Doctors Praise its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a genuine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anaemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labors and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time"—that is their earning period—to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

LIBERALS' ULTIMATUM TO HOUSE OF LORDS

Amended Education Bill an Impossibility---A Secular System of Education Is Threatened.

Bristol, England, Nov. 15.—In a speech delivered here last night, Augustine Birrell, president of the Board of Education, said the Education bill as reconstructed in the House of Lords was a sheer impossibility. As the measure came from the House of Commons it was undenominational, but the Lords has fostered and bolstered up the denominational system. Mr. Birrell said he hoped the Lords would recognize during the committee stage of the bill that they had gone too far, and that a Liberal Government could not be carried on with advantage and sincerity if measures prepared in accordance with its pledges were mutilated and destroyed by an unrepresentative assembly.

London, Nov. 15.—The Liberal papers of yesterday comment upon the speech of Augustine Birrell, president of the Board of Education, at Bristol last night as an ultimatum on behalf of the Government to the House of Lords. The Tribune declares the Education bill is the last effort that will be made to reconcile popular control with religious education, and avers that if the present bill is destroyed it will be to substitute not a denominational, but a secular system of religious education.

A GRAND FINANCIAL STATEMENT SHOWN

Canada is known throughout the world for the stability and excellency of its banking system, and prominent among the strongest banks of the Dominion, is the Sovereign Bank. The American and foreign business of the Sovereign Bank has now attained an enviable position in the financial world. The chief business of the Bank, is however confined to Canada, and mainly concentrated in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec as yet, this portion of our wide Dominion being proved to be the safest territory in Canada for the banking business.

The half-yearly statement of the above named Bank, which is published in this issue, will make encouraging reading for the shareholders.

The present statement will afford conclusive evidence of its strong financial position. The deposits of the Bank have grown in the past few years to $15,578,000, while its assets total $25,343,401. Of this $3,916,842, or practically the entire capital, is in actual cash on hand and at bankers. The deposit with the Government amounts to $80,000, and the Bank's liquid assets aggregate over $10,000,000. The loans and discounts amount to $14,640,000. The paid-up capital of the Bank is within a fraction of $4,000,000, while the reserve fund has in the four years life of this successful Bank grown to the sum of $1,335,847.

A MOST HAPPY ENNISMORE WEDDING

On Tuesday at St. Martin's church, Ennismore, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Elizabeth Frances Hennessey, and Mr. James Garvey, son of Mr. Thos Garrey, all of Ennismore. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends.

The bridesmaid was Miss Katie Murray, of Peterborough, and the groom was supported by Mr. Herbert Hennessey, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony, the happy couple, with the guests, drove to the home of the bride, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold watch and chain, to the bridesmaid, a gold ring, and to the groomsman a gold pin. Among other presents were a $10 gold piece from Mr. Patrick Garvey, $5 in gold from Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gifford, and others too numerous to mention.

BANQUET HELD AT PETERBORO' HOUSE

Mine Host, James Read, proprietor of the Peterborough House, on Hunter street, has received many congratulations on the excellent manner in which he handled the complimentary banquet tendered to Mr. J. Tinker.

Mr Tinker a resident of this city for several years, with his wife are leaving for their old home in England, and friends took this opportunity of testifying to their friendship and desires for their safe return. Mr. Tinker has been connected with the C.G.E. works for some time.

About thirty sat down to supper, and enjoyed the spread, which Mr. Read had prepared, and a couple of pleasant hours were spent in speeches and songs. During the evening Chairman Brown read an address to Mr. Tinker, and Mr. Geo Greatrex presented him with a handsome gold ring on behalf of those present.

Mr and Mrs. Tinker left last night for Montreal, and will sail on the 16th inst. for England.

MESSRS. TURNER & SONS SELL FINE PROPERTY

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, have sold the beautiful residence owned by them, at No. 80 Gilmour street, to Mr. McConnell, from Indian Head. The purchaser is a retired farmer who has amassed a considerable fortune in farming in the far west Mr. McConnell has decided to locate in this city.

We understand that the price paid by him to Messrs. Turner & Sons, was quite considerable, as the property thus transferred was one of the finest in the city.

NEWFOUNDLAND BLUFF MAY BE ENOUGH

Threat of Arrest will Deter Newfoundlanders From Joining Americans.

St. John's, Nfld., November 15.—Sir Henry Morris, Minister of Justice for Newfoundland, stated to a press representative that the Newfoundland Government did not expect any trouble to result in view of the colony's determination to enforce the Bait Act, despite the recent modus vivendi. It is not believed that the fishermen of the colony, who can make as much by selling to local dealers or to Canadian vessels, will willing jeopardize their immediate liberty by engaging with the American vessels. For this reason it is believed that unless with the increasing scarcity of herring, the American captains greatly increase their wages they will be unable to obtain crews of Newfoundlanders. The mere threat of arrest proving of as much value to the colonial authorities as any overt act would be.

TO FORWARD RECIPROCITY.

Washington, D. C., November 15.—It is freely expressed, unofficially, however, by certain officials here, that the agitation of Premier Bond, of Newfoundland, and the statement of the latter's intentions to arrest Newfoundland sailors who, in accordance with the terms of the modus vivendi, but contrary to the provisions of the Bait Act, may enter the employ of American skippers, is merely a ruse to further the efforts of his Ancient Colony to secure reciprocity with the United States.

The officials of the State Department state that no action will be taken by the United States Government beyond insisting upon the protection of American interests. This will probably take the form of a note to the British Government.

STEAM HEAT'NG AS A CITY ENTERPRISE

The Council Not Yet Committed to the Scheme, Connected With Which Additional Data is to Be Furnished.

Generally speaking, it seems to have been taken for granted that the City Council in Committee of the Whole adopted a resolution to operate a steam heating system as a municipal enterprise. The fact is they did no such thing. On a vote of nine to three they adopted a measure to enquire into the cost of installing, operating, and other details connected with the Dominion District Heating System, "with a view" to taking up the matter under municipal ownership. On the strength of this the company will bring an engineer here, survey a central area of the city, estimate cost of laying mains and erecting a central station, and give details as to cost of maintenance and charges that should be made to consumers of heat. With this data to hand, the Council will then be in a position to decide definitely whether they can recommend the system to the ratepayers as a desirable enterprise to be entered into by the corporation. This is what was meant by Monday night's resolution, and nothing more.

* * * * *

But the majority of the Council are decidedly in favor of adopting the system as a municipal enterprise, providing the nature of the scheme will justify the cost of installing and operating, give sufficient revenue therefrom to defray all maintenance and provide a sinking fund for paying off the debentures issued. They must also satisfy themselves that the greatest possible benefit in the way of heating will be afforded citizens at the least possible expenditure. The District Steam Heating Company are indifferent as to whether they get a franchise for operation by a private company or install their system for the corporation. They have sublime faith in the merits of what they offer, arising from years of experience in other places. In a nutshell, they declare that the system is good, nothing but good; take it or leave it alone. "And they never have had to pay a cent for a franchise, and never will." Here are the words of Mr. McKendry Hanself, the father of the system in Canada, on which terms it is about to be installed in Hamilton, the Ambitious City.

* * * * *

Regarding "Municipal Ownership" our City Dads firmly believe in the policy, from His Worship down, although the latter believes in making haste slowly in the way of steam. The waterworks venture has proven so satisfactory an enterprise that the City Council are looking to this city eventually controlling all public systems of general utility.

* * * * *

By the way, if the city could adopt some measure for providing reasonably priced houses in which respectable working people could enjoy the comfort of steam, whether furnished by a private company or the corporation, the City Fathers would enjoy the everlasting gratitude of a large section of the community. It is not much use to go a-hunting for manufactories when working people cannot get house room at a living price within the city limits. This has become a live issue in Toronto, and Peterboroughn is not much better off in that respect than the Queen City. The lack of decent artisan dwellings engenders slums, alleys and rear premises, which in turn breed vice, crime and retrogression of the human race generally.

FOR TORONTO WORKINGMEN

Toronto Gentlemen Form Company to Erect Houses.

Toronto, November 15.—A number of Toronto gentlemen who are interested in industrial establishments, have completed arrangements for the formation of a company to erect workingmen's houses by the hundred. These will be rented at the lowest possible figure, and occupants given an opportunity to buy. The houses will be modern in every particular, and workingmen who seek them must have a certificate of character. Preference is to be shown men who have large families.

SAY A MILLION WAS BOODLED

San Francisco Relief Fund Said to Have Been Tapped by Grafters.

ROOSEVELT INVESTIGATES

Money Sent From Outside Places Never Reached Committee, or Was Misappropriated.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The Chronicle says: A new investigation is progressing in the course of developments in the local graft scandal. It now appears that many sums of money, large and small, sent from different States to San Francisco for the relief of the earthquake and fire sufferers, never reached the Relief Committee. Some of these amounts, which aggregated a large sum, were mailed to the care of Mayor Schmitz, F. J. Heney, Detective Wm. Burns, and about 100 Government agents have been making an investigation. President Roosevelt is the moving spirit behind the inquiry, and he declares that no man guilty of diverting the relief funds shall escape justice. The cases come within the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities, because of the interstate character of the postal service, which, it is alleged, was criminally tampered with.

A considerable sum of money was also sent through the express companies and Wells Fargo, which companies are now investigating the disappearance of $10,580 sent in one package from the citizens of Searchlight, Nevada, which the Relief Committee say they never received, and which the company says was delivered to the representative of the committee to whom it was addressed.

The crime of forgery is said to be included in the offences of the raiders of the relief contributions. It is said that in the aggregate the stealings will amount to a million dollars.

Canada contributed $100,000 to the San Francisco relief fund, and will be interested in the investigation.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventics are toothsome candy tablets. Preventics dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventics are thoroughly safe for children, and as effectual for adults. Sold and recommended in 5-cent and 25-cent boxes by J. D. Tully.

BYLAWS AT NEXT CITY ELECTIONS

At the coming municipal elections, besides the election of a mayor and aldermen, several private bills will have to be decided. These include those of the Canadian General Electric Company, giving them a fixed assessment after 1911, on their whole plant of $150,000.

Also a bylaw giving the Coates Co. free 100 acres of land; extend the waterworks mains to their property; and supply electrical horse power at $15 per horse power.

Then again there will be a bylaw giving the council authority to spend $38,000 for a new steel bridge across the river at Smith street.

There will also be the Collegiate Institute for which $23,000 is asked, and other items of interest including the borrow of $1300 to the Rapid Foot Co. This latter is receiving much favorable attention.

U. S. MAY BUILD A NEW LOCK AT THE SOO

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—The Free Press says today; Plans are well under way to bring before Congress early in the approaching session the desirability of an immediate appropriation for $4,000,000 for a new lock at the south Sault Ste. Marie ship canal.

The Lake Carriers' Association will urge that the entire cost be covered in one appropriation, in which event it is expected that the new lock can be begun next season, and finished in 1909. Col Davis, U.S district engineer, is preparing a report recommending a lock 1,350 feet long, 75 to 80 feet wide, and 20 feet deep, to be built just north of the present Poe lock.

The vessel interests aver that Chairman Burton of the House River and Harbor Committee is thoroughly in favor of the project.

A PRINCELY LOVER

Resigns Birthright and Income of a Million for Sweetheart.

London, Nov. 15.—Prince Eberwyn of Retheim and Steingirt became infatuated with Fanny Koch, daughter of a tradesman, who is mayor of a small provincial town, and declared his intention to marry her.

His father, Prince Alexis, and the other members of his family, did their utmost to dissuade him, pointing out that the laws of their prince's house would compel him to renounce all the honors to which he was born. Prince Eberwyn was obdurate. Thereupon a family council was summoned, and Prince Eberwyn in their presence formally renounced his birthright. He took a solemn oath never to dispute the right of his younger brother, Prince Victor, to succeed him as hereditary prince. Simultaneously he was compelled to resign as lieutenant of the Prussian Body Guards. His sacrifice involves the right of succession to many thousands of acres of land and an income estimated to amount to $1,250,000 annually. The wedding will take place within a week.

DAVID AND JONATHAN BY MR. NEWTON BEERS

An Entertainer Who Stands in the Front Ranks of Histrionic Talent —Exceptionally Versatile in Every Respect.

On the evening of Thursday, November 26th, an evening of "Edification and Entertainment" will be given in the Oddfellows' Hall, corner George and Hunter streets, under the joint auspices of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F. For this occasion the committee have secured the services of Mr. Newton Beers, whose dramatic recitals are world-famed. This talented historian will characterize in monologue his popular fraternal play "David and Jonathan," which unquestionably will prove a treat to all who are lovers of that which is good, and nothing but good, in the way of entertainment. Mr. Beers is charmingly versatile in face and character and his audience will not experience a dull minute the whole evening. The Oddfellows are to be congratulated upon securing the services of so distinguished an artiste for Thursday evening, when their capacious hall will undoubtedly be crowded to the doors. The admission is only 25 cents.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At yesterday's session of the police court, the Work Weary Club was well represented, with a predominent effluvia of unlaundered clothing predominating.

The first case tried was that of Mr. George Harris, who was arrested on Tuesday, and who pleaded guilty to the charge of d. & d. in a public place, and was fined $2 to be paid forthwith. He had not the coin, but a friend coming to his aid, paid the fine.

Next on the docket came Mr. Wm. Kelly, who as noted in yesterday's issue had a face to face argument with a George street pavement, with disastrous results to William's facial beauty. Yesterday Kelly's features resembled a "Turner's" sunset run over by a locomotive. His Worship, however, in view, perhaps of the damage done by the pavement which flew up and hit William on the nose, let him off with a $2 fine.

The case of the two young fellows charged with trespassing on the C.P.R. tracks, was next tried. Only one had appeared, his brother being unable to come. The boy present pleaded guilty to the charge. C.P.R. Detective Wright said that the practice of boys being around the cars was becoming too frequent and a serious accident might, of any time, take place and the C.P.R. Company would be blamed.

It seems that the boys were seen with a bag of grain which it was alleged had been taken out of a car.

The magistrate, to set an example imposed a fine of $5 in each case, giving five days wherein to pay the same.

H. H. Hiller, who as noted in yesterday's issue of The Times, was arrested Tuesday evening, and who appeared for trial at the police court, was yesterday afternoon granted bail in the sum of $1,000 of two sureties of $500 each. The sureties were George Hutchinson and Wm. E. Talbot. Hiller appeared on a charge of misappropriating $600 belonging to Sarah Hiller. The case was enlarged until Monday next.

COUNTESS DE CASTELLANE GETS DIVORCE

Court Finds Against Castellane Without the Calling of Witnesses---Will Not Be Allowed to Take Children From France.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The tribunal of first instance of the Seine, Judge Ditte, presiding, at noon yesterday, granted a divorce to the Countess de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould of New York, and gave her the custody of her children, who, however, will not be allowed to be taken from France without the consent of their father, Count Boni de Castellane.

The end of the famous case came suddenly. The court brushed aside the demand of the count's lawyers for an examination of the witnesses, and, as anticipated, the public prosecutor did not even ask to be heard.

Directly the court assembled Judge Ditte handed down the judgment, which is a sweeping victory for the countess. In granting her petition for divorce the court gave the countess the custody of her children, the count being allowed only the usual rights to see them and share in the control of their education, which was not contested.

The count is given the right to see the children at stated periods at the house of their grandmother, and keep them a month annually during the holidays.

The count's demand for an "alimentary allowance of $50,000 annually" was pronounced by the court to be without foundation in law, and was rejected.

The only point decided in the count's favor was the imposition of an inhibition on the countess to take the children out of France without their father's consent.

The court appointed the president of the Chamber of Notaries to liquidate the affairs of the husband and wife.

FOUND BURYING MAN EVIDENTLY MURDERED

Regina, Sask., Nov. 15.—Passengers arriving by last night's train from the North give an account of what is believed to be a terrible murder near Davidson. The alleged victim is a homesteader named McGregor. A neighbor, on calling at his shack yesterday, found three men preparing to bury him. A look at the deadbody satisfied him that it had been subjected to great violence. He at once alarmed his neighbors, and the three men were captured and are in custody.

It is said that they were all interested with McGregor in a threshing outfit, and quarreled when the time of settlement came.

TO BE SENT TO ENGLAND

Man Who is Physically Unable to Get Work Here.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The Immigration Department are taking steps to deport George Jones, an immigrant recently from Cardiff, Wales. Owing to having lost the sight of one eye and one of his thumbs in an accident some years ago, and also owing to general want of vitality, he is unable to support himself.

Upon his arrival here he was sent to Bolton to work on the C.P.R., but the contractors declined to employ him. He then went to Weston, where he has a niece, but as she was either unable or unwilling to assist him, he finally found his way back to the immigration offices.

He states that he was induced to sell his cart and donkey, which he had bought out of the amount paid him for his injuries and to come out to Canada, through the representations of the emigration agents in England.

OUT OF SORTS

People Not Really Sick Are Often Most In Need of Care.

The people who actually are most in need of kind words and medical treatment are not those who are really sick, but just "out of sorts."

The old-time energy, force, strength and happy spirits are lacking, the physical and mental powers are flagging, there is poor appetite, and they cannot get the good out of the food they eat. In nine cases out of ten this results directly from a weakened stomach, and no other treatment equals Mi-o-na to restore strength and health.

When the nerves and muscles are weak, if there is sleeplessness, irritability, and specks before the eyes, when the head aches and there is a dull pain in the back, and there is any distress and heaviness in the stomach, dizziness, and sometimes nausea, the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets for a few days will make a world of improvement, and continued use for a reasonable time will restore perfect health.

These tablets are not mere digestives; they absolutely strengthen all the organs of digestion, so that there is good appetite, perfect digestion and strong nerves, when they are used.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

TUBE FROM GAS JET UNDER BED CLOTHES

Toronto, Nov. 15.—By attaching a long rubber tube to the gas jet in his sleeping room, and placing it under the clothes of the bed upon which he had lain down to sleep, Charles Bartholomew, a citizen of East Toronto, met his death on Sunday night.

The fact that he did not call at the postoffice as usual on Monday and Tuesday caused alarm, and Mayor Richardson and County Constable Owen Cobley called at the house yesterday afternoon, forced open the door, and found Mr. Bartholomew dead. A noted addressed to the mayor and Mr. Cobley asked them to notify his brother, Thos. C. Bartholomew, of Norwich, Ont. There was a statement that he could no longer endure the suffering caused by disease, and that he was unable to undergo another operation.

BARON COULDN'T PAY $31

Says He Has Never Worked—Wife and Mother Take Care of Him.

New York, November 15.—Charles de Kitschendorf, who is said to be a German baron of the duchy of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, was in the city court yesterday to show why he should not pay a judgment of $31 obtained against him by Nicholas Cavour, a grocer, of No. 136 West 90th street. Cavour's lawyer said that he would apply for a receiver to find out if there was any property that could be attached to pay the grocer's bill.

The baron testified that he had never done any work in his life except when he was a trooper in the British army. "I have only one suit of clothes, no jewelry or any other property except my trooper's tunic, a hat and a cap," said the baron. "I had a watch once, but I put it in pawn and the ticket ran out. My wife takes care of my money and pays my bills." He said further that his mother sends him enough money to pay his board bills and leave a little over besides. He lives at City Island.

AFTER NIAGARA POWER

Brockville Receives a Reply From the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Brockville, November 15.—Mayor Stewart has given out the reply received from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in reference to Brockville's application for prices for 500 and 1,000 h.p. delivered here ready for distribution. The document states that the commission has obtained such tenders that enables them to give an estimate of $25 per h.p. for 1,000 h.p., including thirty years' sinking fund. "It should be noted," the secretary continues, "the commission is unable to give you a price on 500 h.p., but should you be able to induce other municipalities to co-operate as far west as Kingston, including Gananoque and Prescott, the estimated price would be reduced to at least $20 per h.p. The above prices are for 24-hours' continuous power."

TRADE TREATY WITH JAPAN

Portion of Duties Will Be Refunded as Evidence of Good Will.

Ottawa, November 15.—Collectors of customs throughout the Dominion have been notified that in the recent treaty with Japan, ratified on the 12th of July last, it is provided in effect that higher duties shall not be imposed on goods of Japanese origin than on similar goods of French origin. Collectors are therefore advised that the duties of customs if any, collected on goods of Japanese origin entered in Canada since 12th July, 1906, in excess of the duty payable in respect of like goods under the French Treaty Act, will be refunded, pending further legislation on the subject. This legislation is necessary in order to justify the Customs Department in collecting the lower duties, but the present order has been issued as an evidence of good-will to Japan.

1 prize each for best lady and gent skaters in singles.
The rink management have also made masquerade optional, i.e., as to wearing of masks.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs Emma Daigle, of Moncton, N B, Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, gave me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant of alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn, U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

MEDICINE AND SUPERSTITION

Conflicting emotions of satisfaction and dismay, of pleasure and resentment, will be excited by the frankness of Dr. Hirshberg, who contributes to the American Magazine an exhaustive attempt to what he calls popular medical fallacies. Let not grandma with her spring medicine or her contemporary old women friends with their household cures read this scoffing article lest their declining years be embittered and their faith in human nature shattered.

And yet there is more of comfort than of grief in the contributor's conclusions. Surely it is not distressing to learn that a boil is merely a "local excitement" and has nothing to do with the general condition of the system or the purification of the blood. Boils were formerly worth "$5 apiece" in the opinion of the sufferer influenced by tradition, but now they are worth what it costs to cure them, leaving you no better nor worse than before. And the flaxseed poultice that had such wonderful "drawing" qualities! Its only virtue is the heat retained in the water. In future do not despair of your boil if you are out of flaxseed; a hot water bag will meet the emergency.

And so the principle of theft is saving power in grandma's remedies. It is the grace, the virtue, of all her teas, whether sage, tapioca, or saxifrage. The same grace applies to the porous plaster, the liver pad, and the thousand lotions and liniments. You think it is the medicated article when it is the heat, the friction caused by application or by rubbing. The value of nearly all familiar remedies lies in the fact that they ease the patient's mind and satisfy the universal yearning to "take something for it." This is the learned contributor's cruel shot.

But he does not stop here. His scorn is relentless. Medicines are generally useless and conspicuously so in pneumonia, typhoid and tuberculosis. Our ignorance is shocking. We try to cure the nose bleed by dropping keys and pieces of ice down the neck, when in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the bleeding will stop of itself in a few minutes. Malaria is caused not by bad air but by the anopheles mosquito. Bad air is not in itself poisonous or even unhealthful. Pure air often contains as many dangerous germs as the foulest exudations from a sewer outlet. Obesity is not reduced by giving up water. Stocking dyes do not cause sores on the feet. It is not unhealthful to sleep after meals. And last, but perhaps not least, lime water taken internally will not cure warts.

Merely adding that a cold quickly cures itself in spite of medicine taken by the superstitious, and the sum of Dr. Hirshberg's criticisms is complete. The question then comes [illegible]

[illegible] about what we keep his council-chambers are we so fond of hanging our curtains that we shall suffer by the rulings of our grandmothers in the comfort of superstition more than the results of scientific deduction?

The meeting of the Premiers at Ottawa has called attention to the complexities and cumbrousness of our constitution. People say once more that we are "too much governed." For a population of about six millions we have a King and nine Viceroys, each with his Cabinet and official train. We have besides eighty-seven Dominion senators and two hundred and fourteen Members of the Dominion Parliament, all the members of the Provincial Legislatures. It may be doubted whether the King and the Viceroys have in the whole course of their existence been called upon among them to do a dozen acts of their own authority. This may be a necessity of such a constitution as that of a nation with a federal structure, which is the true designation of the constitution of Canada, saving that "dominion" must be taken in this case as qualified by the relation of dependence. For such a multiplication of the objects of political contention as they have is the disadvantages irrespective of the cost. It makes too many politicians as well as too much government.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law will mark it on the label of every Cough Cure containing Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupifying or poisonous drug. But it passes Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure as made for 20 years, entirely free. Dr. Shoop all along has bitterly opposed the use of all opiates or narcotics. Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is absolutely safe even for the youngest babe, and it cures. It does not simply suppress. Get a safe and reliable Cough Cure by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's. Let the law be your protection. We cheerfully recommend and sell it. J. D. Tully

Bank Sues to to Upset Transfer

Toronto, Nov. 13.—The Ontario Bank entered suit at Osgoode Hall this morning to set aside the conveyance of certain property on Bay street, adjoining the W. R. Brock Company's premises, made by its president, Geo. R. R. Cockburn, to his wife.

The writ was issued by Bicknell and Bain, acting for the bank, and it sues on behalf of itself and all other creditors of Mr. Cockburn.

The conveyance is dated October 25, and it was registered on the same day. The property consists of lots 4 and 5 and part of lot 3 on plan D24.

The bank asks for an order declaring that the conveyance was and is fraudulent and void, as against the plaintiff and the other creditors of the defendant.

It also asks for an order setting aside the conveyance and directing that the lands be sold for the satisfaction of the debts and liabilities of Mr. Cockburn.

A certificate of lis pendens against the property is also asked for.

The Ancient Peruvians.

The Peruvians under the Incas had a most admirable system by which officers of justice who failed to perform their duties were subjected to the same penalties that should have been imposed upon the criminal. The punishment which the statutes provided for theft was inflicted upon any magistrate who neglected to punish a thief.

The Name "Agag."

The name Agag, mentioned in Jewish history as that of an Amalekite king, was used in common by all sovereigns of that country.

Beethoven.

Beethoven could play from memory all the preludes and fugues contained in Bach's "Well-Tempered Clavichord." There are forty-eight preludes and the same number of fugues, and as each is in the most abstruse style of counterpoint the difficulty of this performance will be appreciated by every musician.

Nervous?

There are many causes of nervousness, but poor blood heads the list. The doctors call it anemia. The blood lacks red corpuscles. At your first opportunity, consult your doctor about taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Ask him if he has anything better for weakness, debility, nervousness. If he has, take it. If not, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Get well, that's what you are after.

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

IS SECURED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, bald prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the present [illegible] we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place in an enterprise that is [illegible] that is destined to be a big producer; or, really in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from sheep pastures, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some huge ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an excellent water power, with all rights, securing the water from Louis Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from [illegible] mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively exposed in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the result! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have developement, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $20,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The agerage value of ore from 18 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

CHAPTER VII.

THE clock tinker was off in the snow paths every other week. In more than a hundred homes scattered far along road lines of the great valley, he set the pace of the pendulums. Every winter the mare was rented for easy driving and Darrel made his journeys afoot. Twice a day Trove passed the little shop, and if there were a chalk mark on the dial he bounded upstairs to greet his friend. Sometimes he brought another boy into the rare atmosphere of the clock shop—one, mayhap, who needed some counsel of the wise old man.

Spring had come again. Every day sowers walked the hills and valleys around Hillsborough, their hands swinging with a godlike gesture that summoned the dead to rise. Everywhere was the odor of broken field or garden. Night had come again after a day of magic sunlight, and soon after 8 o'clock Trove was at the door of the tinker, with a schoolmate.

"How are you?" said Trove, as Darrel opened the door.

"Better for the sight o' you," said the old man promptly. "Enter, Sidney Trove, and another young gentleman."

The boys took the two chairs offered them in silence.

"Kind sor," the tinker added, turning to Trove, "thou hast thy cue. Give us the lines."

"Pardon me," said the boy. "Mr. Darrel, my friend Richard Kent."

"Of the academy?" said Darrel as he held to the hand of Kent.

"Of the academy," said Trove.

"Ah, I make no doubt, o' good hope," the tinker added. "Let me stop one o' the clocks, sō I may not forget the hour o' meeting a new friend."

Darrel crossed the room and stopped a pendulum.

"He would like to join this night school of ours," Trove answered.

"Would he?" said the tinker. "Well, it is one o' hard lessons. When ye come t' multiply love by experience, an' subtract vanity an' add peace, an' square the remainder, an' then divide by the number o' days in thy life, it is a mighty problem, an' the result may be much or little, an' ye reach it"—

He paused a moment, thoughtfully puffing the smoke.

"Not in this term o' school," he added impressively.

All were silent a little time.

"Where have you been?" Trove inquired presently.

"Home," said the old man.

There was a puzzled look on Trove's face.

"Home?" he repeated with a voice of inquiry.

"I have, sor," the clock tinker went on. "This poor shelter is not me home. It's only for a night now an' then. I've a grand house an' many servants an' a garden, sor, where there be flowers—lovely flowers an' sunlight an' noble music. Believe me, boy, 'tis enough to make one think o' heaven."

"I did not know of it," said Trove.

"Know ye not there is a country in easy reach of us with fair fields an' proud cities an' many people an' all delights, boy, all delights? There I hope thou shalt found a city thyself an' build it well so nothing shall overthrow it—fire, nor flood, nor the slow siege o' years."

"Where?" Trove inquired eagerly.

"In the Blessed Isles, boy, in the Blessed Isles. Imagine the infinite sea o' time that is behind us. Stand high an' look back over its dead level. King an' empire an' all their striving multitudes are sunk in the mighty deep. But thou shalt see rising out of it the Blessed Isles of imagination. Green—forever green are they—and scattered far into the dim distance. Look! There is the city o' Shakespeare. Norman towers an' battlements an' gothic arches looming above the sea. Go there an' look at the people as they come an' go. Mingle with them an' find good company, merry hearted folk a-plenty, an' God knows I love the merry hearted! Talk with them, an' they will teach thee wisdom. Hard by is the Isle of Milton, an' beyond are many. It would take thee years to visit them. Ah, sor, half me time I live in the Blessed Isles."

"Let's go to the Isle o' Milton," Trove suggested.

"Well, go to one o' the clocks there an' set it back," said the tinker.

"How much?" Trove inquired, with a puzzled look.

"Well, a matter o' 200 years," said Darrel, who was now turning the leaves. "List ye, boy. We're up to the shore an' hard by the city gates. How sweet the air o' this enchanted isle!

"And west winds with mugky wing
Down the cedarn alleys fling
Nard and cassia's balmy smells."

He quoted thoughtfully, turning the leaves; then he read the shorter poems, a score of them, his voice sounding the noble music of the lines. It was revelation for those raw youths and led them high. They forgot the passing of the hours and, till near midnight were as those gone to a strange country, and they long remembered that night with Darrel of the Blessed Isles.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE ax of Theron Allen had opened the doors of the wilderness. One by one the great trees fell thundering and were devoured by fire. Now sheep and cattle were grazing on the bare hills. Around the house he left a thicket of fir trees that bowled ever as the wind blew, as if "because the mighty were spoiled." Neighbors had come near; every summer great rugs of grain, varihued, lay over hill and dale.

Allen had prospered and began to speculate in cattle. Every year late in April he went to Canada for a drove and sent them south, a great caravan that filled the road for half a mile or more, tramping wearily under a cloud of dust. He sold a few here and there as the drove went on—a far journey, often, to the sale of the last lot.

The drove came along one morning about the middle of May, 1847. Trove met them at the four corners on Caraway pike. Then about sixteen years of age, he made his first long journey into the world with Allen's drove. He had his time that summer and 50 cents for driving. It was an odd business and for the boy full of new things.

A man went ahead in a buckboard wagon that bore provisions. One worked in the middle and two behind. Trove was at the heels of the first section. It was easy work after the cattle got used to the road and a bit leg weary. They stopped them for water at the creeks and rivers, slowed them down to browse or graze awhile at noontime, and when the sun was low,

Her big, dark eyes were looking into his own.

if they were yet in a land of fences, he of the horse and wagon hurried on to get pasturage for the night.

DISCIPLINE.

My life is full of weeds and fruits,
My garden blooms with stocks and cloves,
Yet o'er the wall my fancy shoots
And hankers after heathen loves.

Ah, why—my foolish heart repines—
Was I not housed within a waste?
These velvet flowers and sirup vines
Are sweet, but are not to my taste.

Oh, howling moor, a wattled hut,
A piercing smoke of sodden peat,
The savor of a roasted nut,
Would make my weary pulses beat!

Oh, stupid brain that blindly serves,
Oh, heart that strives and not endures,
Since flowers are hardships to your nerves
Thank heaven a wooden lot is yours!

Edmund Gosse.

A Winged Watch-Dog.

In the eastern part of the province citizens have been alarmed at the appearance of a large black fly which seemed to be attacking the maple trees. In old days it was the custom to think whole families of birds or insects injurious if one was, and only later and more careful investigation has shown that many hawks and other birds instead of being injurious to agriculture are really beneficial, keeping down mice and injurious insections. A citizen captured some of these flies and sent them to Dr. James Fletcher, the Dominion Entomologist at Ottawa, who wrote that instead of being injurious this species of fly was a good friend of the maples, preying upon another insect which bores into the tree.

I have somewhere seen it observed that we should make the same use of a book that the bee does of a flower. She steals sweets from it, but does not injure it.—Colton.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land as $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any constitutional, acquired or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Thirty years' experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure or no charge.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Remember the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine." Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 27 years. You can pay after cure.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 240 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 200 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—The German Reading Circle will meet this evening at the residence of Miss Effie Munro.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's church have decided to hold their annual congregational tea on Tuesday, November 27th.

—The regular prayer service of St. Andrew's church, was held last night. The subject was "The All-seeing Eye."

—The boat steamer Water Lily had to break through quite thick ice in the locks on her way south yesterday.

—The Finance Committee met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of dealing with the resignation of city treasurer Felix Brownscombe.

—His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto, will administer the rite of Confirmation to several members in St. John's church on Friday night.

—The water commissioners met in the city clerk's office yesterday afternoon to consider the resignation of their collector, Mr. Felix Brownscombe.

—Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will conduct a cottage meeting at the residence of Mrs. Selgwick, sr., Douro, next Tuesday, November 20th, at 8 o'clock.

—The Majestic Bowling Alley on Water street, was last night crowded to its utmost capacity, and this is saying a good deal as there are four alleys in full play.

—The Girl's Guild of All Saints' church have decided to give the proceeds from their concert on Friday night to the building fund for the new church.

—The Ketchecum Lake Hunting Club left camp, early yesterday morning after two weeks in the woods. This party has been the most successful so far this year.

—The Committee of the Whole Council and the Manufacturers' Association will hold a joint meeting tonight for the purpose of considering the request of the association in regard to the location of the new fire alarm boxes.

COUNTY WINS OUT IN FOLEY WILL CASE

By a judgment given at Osgoode Hall, the County of Peterborough wins out in the long discussed Mrs. Foley's will case.

The money involved was left by the late Mrs Foley for the benefit of the poor of the county. In the will several annuitants were mentioned, who were to receive portions of the income derived from the estate. Some of these annuitants have since died, and there is a yearly income of $200 or $300 per year, as well as $960, which has accrued. This money the county wished to make use of, in the maintenance of the house of refuge.

The above decision given was on an appeal against that of Chief Justice Falconbridge's former opinion.

The result of the judgment is practically that the county may spend $200 or $300 each year on the county house of refuge. This sum will be increased as the annuitants die, until finally an annual income of about $1,800 will be derived from the estate which in round figures approximates $48,000.

Mr. A. Dunn Buys an Hotel.

Mr A Dunn, formerly proprietor of the Southern Hotel, which was recently acquired by Mr. Chas. Nixon, and who has been out in British Columbia for the past few weeks, has purchased a large hotel in the North-west; the price paid, we understand is in the neighborhood of $25,000. Mr. Dunn will undoubtedly, as he did to the city, make a success in the hotel business out west. as "Ot" is a popular and well known boniface.

Lakefield Electric Road.

Messrs Larmouth, and J. Quart of Chemong, magnates of the local street railroad have driven over the long-talked of route between Peterborough and Lakefield, presumably with a view of seriously considering the building of an electric road between these two points. It is to be hoped that the final decision will be favorable, as such a road would mean, not only a gold shine to the company, but a great convenience to the public.

Mr. Brownscombe's Resignation.

Yesterday the resignation of Mr. Felix Brownscombe as city treasurer and collector of water rates, created much surprise and also much regret that so valued an officer of the city should quit his position. Mr. Brownscombe has been a faithful public servant, whose loss to the city will take much consideration and far spread search to refill.

Hunters Home From Bancroft.

Mr. W. J. McCallum has returned from a deer hunt in the neighborhood of Bancroft. With him were Messrs. W. Lamb, G. Kerr, W. Kerr, E. Kerr, L. Young and Geo. Connell. The party report that game is very scarce in that vicinity. Porcupines, however, were very plentiful and only too easily killed. The party succeeded in getting three deer.

Old Smithtown Residents Back.

Mr and Mrs. Aaron Nichols of Nebraska, formerly of the township of Smith, have returned home to visit with their children in Smith.

Mr. Nichols is eighty-one years of age, and Mrs. Nichols is eighty, quite a venerable as well as venerated couple.

Mr and Mrs. Nichols have thirty-eight grandchildren living, and twenty great grandchildren. They farmed in Smith for forty years, first settling near Selwyn.

Horse Falls on George Street.

Yesterday morning about 9.30 a man driving a buggy east on Brock street tried to cross George street. As the animal struck the crossing at the west side of George street, it slipped and fell. The driver, with great presence of mind held the animal so that no damage was done further than one shaft being broken. Had the intelligence displayed in preventing the horse from injuring himself been used in having the animal sharp-shod, one buggy shaft might have been saved.

New Pastor for Lakehurst.

The Presbyterians of Lakehurst and Rockcroft are to have an ordained minister, who will devote his whole time to the work of the Presbyterian church in that district. Rev. J. A. G. Stirling, of Toronto, will take charge of the work on Sunday and will henceforth be permanently stationed there.

A Trite Saying.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labors and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time"—that is their earning period—to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

PEOPLE ON HOUSETOPS SIGNALLING FOR HELP

Vast Areas in Oregon and Washington Submerged and Several People are Known to be Drowned.

Tacoma, Wash, Nov. 16.—A flood area of 300 square miles in North-Western Washington is the result today of heavy rains and melting snow, which for 48 hours have rushed from the slopes of the Cascade Mountains, causing nearly all the streams in the North-West to spread over lowlands Several persons are reported drowned. Seattle and scores of towns have been for the last 36 hours cut off from outside communication. Bridges have been swept away, railroad tracks washed out, telegraph and telephone wires torn down. As far as can be learned half a dozen lives have been lost.

ON SUBMERGED HOUSES.

When darkness fell last night watchers from the highlands saw nothing except an expanse of water, with here and there the tops of submerged houses, on some of which water-bound persons could be seen signalling for help. Some attempted rescues were made, but the mad rush of swollen waters, carrying trees, snags, lumber, and even houses, forced the rescuers back.

The Northern Pacific bridge across Stuck River went out yesterday, and soon after came a suspension of railroad traffic between Tacoma and Seattle, the tracks being under water in many places. The Northern Pacific is able to maintain its service to Portland.

HIGHER THAN FLOOD RECORD.

Advices received at the office of the Northern Pacific say the water to Green River canon is two feet higher than during the floods of 1903, when the railroad was tied up for two weeks.

What has occurred east of Auburn and west of the slopes of the Cascades can only be conjectured. That great damage has been done to property and live stock is evident, but all wires between Hot Springs and Auburn are down.

Every railroad in the North-West is tied up, and though a few trains are being run no attempt is made at a schedule. The tracks have been washed away in many places on the different roads.

At midnight rain was still falling heavily in this city.

WORST IN MEMORY.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 16.—Never since the white man came has the State of Washington suffered from such a storm as raged here last night and early today.

The storm, wind and rain, which for the past week has wrought havoc with coastwise shipping, yesterday swept inland, and is venting an unheard-of fury upon the whole State, especially the Puget Sound country, and extends even to the northern part of Oregon and the Panhandle of Idaho.

Railroads out of Tacoma and Seattle are demoralized, train service to Portland only from the latter city being maintained.

TOWNS UNDER WATER.

The creeks and rivers and brooks in the Cascades are roaring torrents. On Puget Sound the towns of Snohomish, Sumner, and Auburn are under water.

In Central Washington floods are raging in the Natches and Yakima Valleys.

The Clearwater is out of its banks and has done immense damage.

Although nothing has been heard from Walla Walla, it is only fair to presume that with floods east and west of there, the rivers in that part of the State are still on a rampage. At Portland a heavy wind is blowing, accompanied by a torrential rain. No damage has been done further than to put the electric lights and street cars out of commission.

The railways across the State are prostrated, and no news has been received here from Eugene, Oregon. At a late hour last night reports were very discouraging.

Thomas Weller Not The Thos. Weller

It seems that a possible case of mistaken identity is now on the cards.

Thomas Weller, of Toronto, has writter to the local postmaster stating that he is not the Thomas Weller now in jail for threatening to shoot Miss Annie Coon a week or so ago. The writer says that he was working on the dredge at Peterborough until a few weeks ago, when he went to Toronto. He saw the item about "Thos. Weller" being sent to jail in one of the Peterborough papers.

Well, sir, why I am writing these few lines is to let you know it isn't me, and I know lots of people at Peterborough. I guess they think it's me, sir, I have been in Canada just 3 years now, and reading this paper and seeing this in it, it fairly upset me, and sir, I haven't been brought up in a police court in my life, and I haven't missed church six times since I have been out here. If my parents were to happen to learn of this, sir, they would go crazy. I was working on the dredge nearly three months. I was working on those two bridges, one near Indian River, and one at Keene. Well, sir, I guess I shall be put off this job, as they cannot work much in the winter, and I would like to go back to Peterborough again if I could strike a good job in the stables, or anything. I can get good references from England. I liked Peterborough, and I would have stayed there if I could have got a good job there. Well, sir, I have sent you the piece of paper, and sir, will you be so kind to see if there is any mail for me there, and send it on to me. I was working at Hamilton, where the big strike was. I came back to Toronto Saturday, sir.

I am, yours truly,
THOMAS WELLER,

No Fever at the Albion Hotel

In our issue of Tuesday last there appeared a report of the meeting held by the local Board of Health. In this report there was a statement that scarlet fever existed in the Albion Hotel, east ward. This statement we are pleased to be able to say is altogether incorrect, as we are assured both by personal investigation, and also by the medical health officer, Dr. Bingham, that no scarlet fever cases or has existed in the Albion Hotel.

Mr Hogan the proprietor of the Albion Hotel, takes every precaution to keep his place in the most sanitary and perfect condition

Unfair Criticism of Aldermen's Views

Some Citizens Should Learn to Differ With the City Dads Without Throwing Uncalled for "Mud."

It is hardly fair to besmirch the characters of nine of our City Aldermen with insinuations of "graft" and questions of "what there is behind or in front" of their attitude on Monday night, because they expressed themselves in favor of municipal steam heating, should the system be installed at all in Peterborough. Neither the inherent or acquired characteristics of the gentlemen who serve this city on its Council Board are such as to warrant dishonorable epithets, whether implied or affirmed. And in the words of Samuel Weller, of Pickwickian fame, one would need "a pair o' patent double million magnifying' gas (no—steam) microscopes" to discover the "grafty" permeation the atmosphere of our City Hall. The nine Aldermen in question may be over-zealous in the matter of municipal ownership of a steam heating plant; but they undoubtedly will not object to read citizens' opinions on the subject in the press, providing the "mud" is eliminated from such letters. Let all controversy then be conducted on a basis as clean as the system of heating by steam.

* * * * *

Evidently many citizens are sceptical of the practical utility of the scheme as a benefit to the community, whether operated privately or publicly. Taking the history of this world it finds that all innovations on existing principles beyond the ken of ordinary mortals have been marked by scepticism. Columbus, with his then advanced theories as to the extent and shape of this planet, experienced his share of unbelief; Geo. Stephenson met also with considerable opposition on this same question of steam; navigation of the seas without sails in its inception, was pronounced the visionary proposition of steam fanatics, and so it has continued down to the present age, each advanced theory in advancement of the comfort and convenience of humanity meeting with its full share of opposition—from the tallow candle to coal oil lamps, and thence to electric lighting; from the mail to telegraphy and on to the telephone; and so it will continue to the end of the world. Why, even the electrical wizard, Edison, has not been free from the attacks of sceptics; but he is the monarch of electricity today, and has beaten down all opposition. Take his later inventions, the motor car, for instance; people doubted its practicability at first, and even when in successful operation were sceptical of its ever coming into general use, until a few weeks ago Mr. Edison astonished the world by overcoming the problem of cost in inventing a horseless carriage capable of running 15 years at its original expense for motive power. All of which goes to show that one should not decry the ultimate general utility of an innovation on present accepted methods, simply because it is an innovation.

* * * * *

In the system of district steam heating has been adopted to satisfaction elsewhere, and the company claim that it has, it will probably like gas and electricity, eventually grow into a public necessity in spite of its adverse criticism. The question of under whose control it is operated, municipal or otherwise, has nothing whatever to do with the practicability of the system, whether applied here or somewhere else.

* * * * *

By-the-bye, some people were sceptical about the street car service to be offered by the present company when they secured their charter, and there seem sceptical as to its appreciation by the public as a general need. Well, we have emerged from this atmosphere of scepticism, the street car service under Mr. Tarrant's management is good, and the public appear to know it.

DO NOT DOSE THE STOMACH

Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei. Sold Under Guarantee.

The only scientific and common sense way to treat catarrh of the nose and throat is by a local application that will kill the catarrhal germs.

Ordinary stomach dosing is worse than useless. Taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the head can have no good effect, and often leads to serious derangement of the digestive organs.

By breathing Hyomei three or four times daily through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its medicated, healing air penetrates to the most remote parts of the nose, throat and lungs, searches out and kills all catarrhal germs, and soothes and heals any irritations in the mucous membrane.

Our faith in the wonderful merit of Hyomei as a cure for catarrh is such by the guarantee given with every Hyomei outfit that the money will be refunded unless the treatment gives satisfaction.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the treatment gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Gananoque Profits By a Peculiar Will

Kingston, Nov. 15.—Gananoque has been willed a fringe of land skirting Half Moon Bay, which is about two miles south of the town.

The property is willed by the late David Wallace of New York. He cleared out the bay, made a stone pulpit, and held religious services there every Sunday evening during last season, the congregation sitting in their boats.

In this will he asked that Gananoque rear a parson and keep up the religious services. He also left a goodly sum to keep the grounds in a seemly state.

CANADIAN BOAT SINKS U.S. BOAT

Steamer Seguin, Owned in Toronto, Has Big Hole in Her Own Hull

ANOTHER STEAMER BURNED

Fire Destroys the James Swift, the Property of a Kingston Man—No Lives Lost.

Sarnia, Nov. 16.—The Canadian steel steamer Seguin and the Steel Trust tow barge Sir Isaac Lothian Bell came together, bow on, in St. Clair rapids on the Canadian side of the river last night. The Bell sank in two minutes in twenty feet of water, with a twenty foot hole in her. The night was perfectly clear. The crew were in no danger, as the Bell was right. The Seguin is at Sarnia dock, resting on the bottom, with her bow stove in above the water line, and a big hole in her bow under the water line Her hold is full, and she leaks about eighteen feet of water.

The Bell was in tow of the John D. Rockefeller, and proper signals were given. The Seguin, with a load of lumber from Parry Sound, was on the American side She passed the Rockefeller, and then seemed to swerve, hitting the tow barge Bell bow on. The place of the accident is very dangerous to navigation, there being a swift current. An officer on the Seguin was asked the cause of the accident, and simply said, "It was just an accident."

The Bell was built in Bay City, Mich., about seven years ago. The Seguin had a very large cargo of lumber, which will have to be shifted, and the hole in her bow under the water line repaired before she can continue on her down trip.

The Seguin is owned by W. H. Smith of Toronto. She was built in Owen Sound in 1890. Her gross tonnage is 818.

This is the second boat the Seguin has sunk The City of New York was sunk by her in Lake Erie.

"JAMES SWIFT" BURNED.

Detroit, Nov. 16.—Fire broke out in the after end of the Canadian steamer James Swift, in the St. Clair river, last night, and it is believed that the boat is a total loss. The crew made heroic efforts to check the flames, but were finally forced to beach the blazing ship on the American shore, and flee for their lives in the yawl boat. She is on the beach near Light. No. 5. The Swift was bound for a Georgian Bay port, light, where she was to load timber. The boat was owned by D. Noonan, Kingston, Ont. She was built in 1893, and was 107 feet long and 23 feet beam.

Mr. M. W. Matchett Takes New Position

Mr. F. E Bell Retiring Sec. of the P. Fuel and Cartage Co. is Replaced.

Mr M. W. Matchett, who for several years has been secretary of the Central Milling Company, has accepted the position of accountant in the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, replacing Mr. Frederick E. Bell, who has retired. Mr. Matchett assumed his new duties a few days ago.

A new secretary has not yet been appointed for the Central Milling Company, but a meeting of the directors will be held at an early date to make the appointment.

EASTERN ONTARIO ORES

T. H. Crowley Thinks There is Great Mineral Wealth in Haliburton, Peterboro' and Hastings.

The Toronto News of yesterday's date contains the following concerning a gentleman well known in this district:

"I have prospected extensively through Haliburton, North Peterborough and North Hastings, and believe that those districts are rich in mineral deposits," said Mr. T. H. Crowley, who is at the Rossin House today.

"Between Bancroft and Kinmount," he added, "there is a range nearly 40 miles in length, containing rich and varied deposits, including graphite, iron, asbestos, magnesia, corrundum and mica in three colors. These can all be successfully treated by the electrical process. Copper has been found in North Hastings, and native copper has been discovered also in North Peterborough in substantial quantities. Oxide pyrite, which is a copper formation, is scattered all through the three counties, and gold, conglomerate and lead, is found in Galway township, Peterborough county, while an American syndicate is now erecting crushing preparatory to beginning active development.

"The Cobalt country is so tremendously developed that it is not surprising, I conclude, when very little capital has as yet been applied to the development of these fields right at our doors, but their development must come, for the minerals are there, and in abundance.

Woman Caught Men In Hencoop

Held Two Until Policeman came—There Were Fined for Trespass.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—Mrs Mary A Wells 86 Sheridan avenue, apprehended, alone, two men early yesterday morning in her chicken coop.

Mrs Wells was awakened by hearing a noise in her yard. Investigation revealed two men and a dead chicken. Mrs Wells crept silently up to them, and so surprised were they that they made no endeavor to get away. P. C Stemman was called, and he finished the good work begun by Mrs Wells. The men gave their names as Ernest Kline and Fred Crapper.

They pleaded not guilty to stealing the chickens. A fine, plump Plymouth Rock purled lay on Mr Corley's desk in the police court yesterday, as main evidence of the deed that stalked abroad.

"She slapped me on the face," said Kline.

"I couldn't miss it," retorted Mrs. Wells. Kline is bald-headed.

"That is the man!" inquired Mr Corley.

"Well, with all the rest of you around I am not sure," said Mrs. Wells to Mr. Corley, Clerk Webb, Detective Verney, and the staff inspector, whose hirsute growths are conspicuous by their absence, put their hands to their heads.

"I don't think they were stealing chickens," said his Worship. "I'll fine them $1 and costs or ten days for trespass."

"And the chicken?" asked Mr Corley.

"Return it to Mrs. Wells."

Great Doings at the Army Barracks

Last night, at the Salvation Army barracks a special meeting was held, when those who were in attendance, had the pleasure of hearing an illustrated address on "Love and Sorrow," by Capt. Hurd, travelling financial secretary of the Army. Capt. Hurd is a very forceful speaker, and last night's meeting was well attended.

Col. Gaskin, the general secretary of Toronto, will be here on Saturday, and also Brigadier Hargrave, of Montreal. These gentlemen will speak at the special meetings to be held on Saturday and Sunday, to which the public is invited.

The doctors say it will be a fortnight before she will be able to get out.

U. S. TROOPS FIGHT

Five Men Slashed When Artillerymen Attacked Infantry.

Cheyenne, Wyo. Nov. 16.—A desperate fight occurred on the streets of Cheyenne last night, when a detachment of artillerymen from Fort Russell attacked a number of infantrymen, all on leave. Each side fought desperately with knives. Five men were cut and slashed, one of whom is expected to die. The wounded were taken to the hospital.

The cause of the fight is an old feud existing between the two arms of the service.

THE LOCATION OF NEW FIRE ALARM BOXES

To Be Reconsidered With a View to Meeting Requirements of City Manufacturers ---Appointment of City Scavengers to be Considered.

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night when there were present: Mayor Henry, Ald. Aldermen Moore, Adams, Graham, Wilson, Elliott, Tovey, Bell, Hicks, Johnston, Duncan and McIntyre.

The meeting was called for the purpose of locating the fire alarm boxes under the new electrical system.

A deputation of the Manufacturers' Association was present with a view to securing the best possible consideration for the city factories when the alarm boxes are located. The deputation consisted of Mr. E. G. Patterson, of the Canadian General Electric Co; Mr. Preen, jr. of the Brinton's Limited Carpet Factory; Mr. Denham, of the Quaker Oats Co; Mr. James English, of the Wm. English Canoe Co; Mr. Larmonth, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co.

Mr. Patterson addressed the committee, and asserted that the Manufacturers' Association were a unit in considering that the factories are entitled to an alarm box within the immediate vicinity of their buildings. This would not only be in the interests of the manufacturers, but also of the city generally, as so vast a number of Peterborough citizens are depending upon the welfare of its industries. The Manufacturers' Association also offered that the new system should electrically ring the number of boxes as that in case of fire citizens could discern where the fire is by the number of alarm rings.

The Clerk asked that the box be removed from Albert and Park streets to their gates, the Wm. Hamilton Co. want one immediately in front of their factory, and other industries similar consideration. Mr. Preen said the Brinton Company would pay cost of wiring from the city limits to their factory, providing the city furnish the box. The Quaker Oats Co. ask for a box on Hunter street.

Mr. Robert Fair, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, sent a letter to the council through Ald. Wilson, that his association would heartily endorse any action of the council in the direction of placing fire alarm boxes at each factory.

Mr Denham offered that the idea of the factories having a box outside their premises is that any outsider could ring the alarm on noticing a fire within the building. It often happens that a fire is first discovered from the exterior of the building concerned.

Mr Larmonth asked for a box at corner of Simcoe and Queen, which would serve both the Gas Works and the Peterborough Cereal Co.

The committee decided to rearrange the proposed plan for locating new fire alarm boxes, with a view to meeting the needs of our manufactories.

Ald. Tovey suggested that every fire alarm box have a green light, so that one could know on sight at night just where an alarm box is.

This was considered a good suggestion, and Mr. Larmouth, of the Peterborough Light & Power Company may be asked to furnish such lights free.

A SANITARY MEASURE.

Ald Elliott suggested that city scavengering be done by the corporation, to assure the cleaning of back places and removing all garbages and ashes in the interest of public health. There are approximately 2,000 houses in the city not connected with the sewers, and these residences might be taxed say $2 a year for scavenger services while citizens having sewer connections might perhaps be taxed $1 a year for the carting away of garbage and ashes from their premises. This would bring in a yearly revenue of about $3,000, which would pay for public scavengering, and the salary of a sanitary inspector. Under this system Ald. Elliott offered that citizens would effect a saving in their present system of scavengering, whether connected with the sewers or not.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That the matter be referred to the Fire, Water & Light Committee to report. Carried.

Ald Elliott's proposed measure was considered to be a move in the right direction.

THE MILK BYLAW.

Ald. McIntyre raised the question of authorizing the police to see that all dealers in milk have their license according to the milk bylaw, pending the appointment of a sanitary inspector.

Ald Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre,—that the milk vendors be notified that they must take out a license at a fee of $1, for the privilege of peddling milk, on or before December 1st. And that the city clerk write out such notices, and that the police serve such notices, and he instructed to enforce the bylaw.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

MONTREAL TO NEW YORK

Direct Water Route Between the Two Cities is Proposed.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 16.—The application of the Richelieu Canal Company was under consideration by the International Waterways Commission here yesterday. Canadian interests are said to be behind the proposition, which will open a direct water route between Montreal and New York. It is learned that Lake Champlain will be the storage basin for the canal, and that the company wants to use 9,000 cubic feet per second from the waters of the lake.

CHANCE TO PROVE THE GRAIN COMBINE

Grain Commission to Meet in Winnipeg Next Week, and Grain-Growers After Dealers.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15—J. R. Boyle, secretary of the Grain Commission, has notified the Grain-Growers Association of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the Grain-Dealers' Association, and the Grain Exchange, that the commission will hold a lengthy session in Winnipeg all next week.

Mr. Boyle said the Grain-Growers' Association had appealed to the commission for an opportunity to prove the assertion that a combine exists among the Grain-Dealers Association for keeping down prices to the producers of grain in the west. They will be represented at the sitting next week by a special counsel.

The same privilege will be extended the Grain Exchange and grain dealers if they wish to exercise it. There have been many intimations by the grain growers of a combine, and some statements have been made by witnesses in this direction. The Grain-Dealers' Association members have already denied these imputations.

The session next week promises to be more or less sensational.

EXPECTS A MAJORITY

Mr. Cephas Goode Continues to Receive Proxies for Ontario Bank Meeting.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Mr. Cephas Goode reports that the blank proxies which were sent out recently on behalf of the Ontario Bank Shareholders' Association, are being filled in and returned in large numbers. There are 505 shareholders, and Mr. Goode is confident of securing a majority.

He continues to receive letters, expressive of more or less indignation, from the bank's shareholders. A Parkhill man writes that he has 45 shares, all of which he bought this year—20 of them previous to the annual meeting on May 31st, at 143 1-2, and the remainder at 134 1-4. He increases his holdings on the strength of the Ontario Bank reports.

A Montreal shareholder sends proxies on behalf of himself and sister. He expresses the belief that it is not two years since new stock was issued to the unfortunate shareholders at a premium of 20 per cent.

"At the time," said he, "I told the manager here that the directors should be ashamed of themselves that, after having lost one million of the shareholders' money, they had the impudence to levy a tax of 20 per cent. on the stock that was worthless, and that the bank should be wound up, as it was only keeping for the benefit of a succession of worthless managers."

Mr Goode states that the shareholders intend to have a meeting shortly when counsel will probably be retained to watch their interests in the investigation now going on.

THE ORDER OF THE GARTER

King Haakon Invested With it by King Edward.

London, November 16.—King Haakon last night invested King Haakon, of Norway, with the Order of the Garter, at a special charter held in the throne room at Windsor Castle. The investure was attended with great pomp and ceremony. Although the knights of the order are elected from time to time as vacancies occur, there has not been an investure like the one yesterday since 1856, when the late Queen Victoria conferred the honor upon Napoleon III. and Victor Emmanuel, then King of Sardinia. King Edward is the only surviving member of the Royal House of Great Britain who participated in that historic event.

Queen Alexandra, as "the Lady of the Order," whose predecessor lived two centuries ago, was present.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition.

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50 At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

CONDITIONS IN SAN FRANCISCO

The story of San Francisco as it is today is a very sad one. The great and beautiful city has fallen upon evil days. While yet the ruins were smoking and walls, weakened by the earthquake, were falling, the people were full of hope and courage. They saw in imagination a more beautiful city arising to take the place of that which had been destroyed, and to become the metropolis. There was something admirable in the courage expressed. It seemed as if the spirit, which inspired the old Argonauts, had seized upon the hearts of their descendants, and that the world was about to see a marvelous exhibition of recuperation. Unhappily this has not been the case, but on the contrary something almost like paralysis appears to come upon the people. The streets are yet covered with debris in very many places. Almost the only kind of building undertaken is of wooden shacks, and very many of these remain empty. Millions of money and vast quantities of all kinds of supplies were sent to the stricken city, and instead of these being administered in the spirit in which they were contributed, a perfect carnival of graft was inaugurated. To add to the seriousness of the situation, crime and violence have become horribly conspicuous. "A Crimson Record" is the title used by that conservative paper, the San Francisco Chronicle, for the heading of an article describing the prevalence of crime, in the course of which it makes such statements as the following: "The city is infested with known criminals, who do not work, but are well supplied with money. Brutal robberies occur in broad daylight and in crowded streets. Neither man nor woman feels safe out of doors after dark. They hardly feel safe at their own firesides." This is a terrible condition, and as yet there seems to be no sign of improvement; nor will there be any as long as a police force, which owes its existence to a corrupt organization, and police judges, who are indebted to the criminal class for their positions, have control of the administration of the law. The city by the Golden Gate is fast becoming a byword and a reproach. The old-fashioned principles of honorable living never were respected there as they ought to have been. Doubtless there were tens of thousands of right-living men and women in San Francisco, but the city prided itself upon what it called its freedom, but others called its laxity, and it is suffering the consequences now. This is a simple truth. We do not want to preach a sermon, but there are laws in the moral universe, and disregard of the one will bring its own punishment just as surely as disregard of the other. And this is the lesson of San Francisco, which other cities would be wise to heed.

BACHELORHOOD AND MORAL LEPROSY

An element of the population which, perhaps, does not take itself with sufficient seriousness or, at least, is not aware of its dangerous tendencies will be surprised, if not grieved, to learn that, according to Dr. Hirsch, "the bachelor is a moral leper and a coward." Ever since the world began the bachelor has been exposed to various suspicions which may or may not have been well founded, but it has been usually admitted that there are bachelors and bachelors, as different in glory or ingloriousness as the planets. That a bachelor, through reason of his bachelorhood, is a coward and a moral leper is a proposition at once startling and unexpected.

Starting with the well known poetic principle that "none but the brave deserve the fair," laid down by Mr. Dryden, it must be admitted that on this hypothesis a bachelor is, indeed, a coward, or has the general reputation among the ladies. But though he may have thus laid himself open to the charge of cowardice, it does not necessarily follow that he may be also accused of moral leprosy, even if of his own volition he declines to assume the responsibilities of matrimony. It might be said as well of the estimable woman who elects to remain in a state of single blessedness that she is "spreta morality," not because some one has said in his haste "All old maids are moral lepers."

Generalization from specific cases are usually unfortunate. If a red haired man murders a peddler it is not safe to argue therefrom that all red haired men have an uncontrollable impulse to murder peddlers. If some bachelors, as do some married men, disport themselves wickedly it is not to be accepted that all bachelors or all married men are a menace to a moral community. It is possible—in fact, it has been not infrequently demonstrated in history—that a man of his own impulse and wish may remain a bachelor through a long and useful life, conforming to all the moral obligations and avoiding every leprous spot. It is even possible that he may have decided that his own moral responsibility is increased and his moral worth augmented by his refusal to take unto himself the blessings of a wife and family.

Of course the disinclination of an attractive bachelor to make some fine woman a happy wife may be reprehended on the seeming ground of selfishness, though even this is not always successfully established. But to declare that a man is a moral leper because he remains single is like calling a man a snake because he does not chew his food in the manner required by Dr. Fletcher or Mr. Gladstone. Surely it is hard enough for the bachelor to stand up under the reprobation of President Roosevelt without undergoing so grievous a castigation from Dr. Hirsch. Let us argue with the bachelor and try to persuade him how mistaken is his view of life, but let us not begin by calling him names which possibly do not fit his individual case. Let us not discourage and dishearten him at the outset, for who, even with reformation in sight, can contemplate a moral leper without a shudder and loathing!

A $50,000,000 MINING DEAL!

Is the Latest From Toronto's Imaginative Rumor Factory.

Toronto, November 15. The rumor is spreading in Cobalt that the manipulations going on in Foster stock are due to a deal being on for the amalgamation of the Foster, Lawson, Kent Lake and University, the whole to be added to the Standard Company, according to the rumor, to be increased $50,000,000.

This would be a gigantic merger, and would take the greater portion of the Cobalt mines into one big corporation. That something is going on in connection with the Foster is the general belief, and it is backed by many things otherwise inexplicable.

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

IS SECURED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,500 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the setting today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment in such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,500 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Loats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the element of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively exploited in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar K. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodsell, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to roast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $30,000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. B. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The average value of ore from 18 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

Ten tons of ore at $15.00 per ton	$1,500.00

ADVERTISING PAYS

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

That first day some of the leaders had begun to wander and make trouble. For that reason Trove was walking beside the buckboard in front of the drove.

"We'll stop tonight on Cedar hill," said the boss about midafternoon "Martha Vaughn has got the best pasture and the prettiest girl in this part o' the country. If you don't fall in love with that girl, you ought t' be licked."

Now Trove had no very high opinion of girls. Up there in Brier Dale he had seen little of them. At the red schoolhouse even they were few and far from his ideal. And they were a foolish lot there in Hillsborough. It seemed to him—all save two or three who were, he owned, very sweet and beautiful. But he had seen how they tempted other boys to extravagance and was content with a sly glance at them now and then.

"I don't ever expect to fall in love," said Trove confidently.

"Waal, love is a thing that always takes ye by surprise," the other answered. "Mrs. Vaughn is a widow, an' we generally stop there the first day out. She's a poor woman, an' it gives her a lift."

They came shortly to the little weather stained house of the widow. As they approached, a girl, with arms bare to the elbow, stood looking at them, her hand shading her eyes.

"Co' boss! Co' boss! Co' boss!" she was calling in a sweet, girlish treble.

Trove came up to the gate, and presently her big, dark eyes were looking into his own. That very moment he trembled before them as a reed shaken by the wind. Long after then he said that something in her voice had first appealed to him. Her soft eyes were, indeed, of those that quicken the hearts of men. It is doubtful if there were in all the world a lovelier thing than that wild flower of girlhood up there in the hills. She was no dream of romance, dear reader. In one of the public buildings of a certain capital her portrait has been hanging these forty years and wins from all who pass it the homage of a long look, but Trove said often that she was never quite so lovely as that day she stood calling the cows—her shapely brown face aglow with the light of youth, her dark hair curling on either side as it fell to her shoulders.

"Good day," said he, a little embarrassed.

"Good day," said she coolly, turning toward the house.

Trove was now in the midst of the cattle. Suddenly a dog rushed upon them, and they took fright. For a moment the boy was in danger of being trampled, but leaped quickly to the backs of the cows and rode to safety. After supper the men sat talking in the stable door, beyond which, on the hay, they were to sleep that night, but Trove stood a long time with the girl, whose name was Polly, at the little gate of the widow.

They seemed to meet there by accident. For a moment they were afraid of each other. After a little hesitation Polly picked a sprig of lilac. He could see a tremble in her hand as she gave it to him, and he felt his own blushes.

"Couldn't you say something?" she whispered, with a smile.

"I—I've been trying to think of something," he stammered.

"Anything will do," said the girl, laughing, as she retreated a step or two and stood with an elbow leaning on the board fence. She had on her best gown.

It was a curious interview, the words of small account, the silences full of that power which has been the very light of the world. If there were only some way of reporting what followed the petty words—swift arrows of the eye, lips trembling with the peril of unuttered thought, faces lighting with sweet discovery or darkening with doubt—well, the author would have better confidence.

Their glances met. The boy hesitated.

"I don't think you look quite as lovely in that dress," he ventured.

A shadow of disappointment came into her face, and she turned away. The boy was embarrassed. He had taken a misstep. She turned impatiently and gave him a glance from head to foot.

"But you're lovely enough now," he ventured again.

There was a quick movement of her lips, a flicker of contempt in her eyes. It seemed an age before she answered him.

"Flatterer!" said she presently, looking down and jabbing the fence top with a pin. "I suppose you think I'm very homely."

"I always mean what I say."

"Then you'd better be careful. You might spoil me." She smiled faintly, turning her face away.

"How so?"

"Don't you know," said she seriously, "that when a girl thinks she's beautiful she's spoiled?"

Their blushes had begun to fade, their words to come easier.

"Guess I'm spoilt, too," said the boy, looking away thoughtfully. "I don't know what to say, but some time, maybe, you will know me better and believe me." He spoke with some dignity.

"I know who you are," the girl answered, coming nearer and looking into his eyes. "You're the boy that came out of the woods in a little red sleigh."

"How did you know?" Trove inquired, for he was not aware that any outside his own home knew it.

"A man told us that came with the cattle last year. And he said you must belong to very grand folks."

"And how did he know that?"

"By your looks."

"By my looks?"

"Yes, I—I suppose he thought you didn't look like other boys around here." She was now plying the pin very attentively.

"I must be a very curious looking boy."

"Oh, not very!" said she, looking at him thoughtfully. "I—I—well, I shall not tell you what I think." She spoke decisively.

She had begun to blush again.

Their eyes met, and they both looked away, smiling. Then a moment of silence.

"Don't you like brown?" She was now looking down at her dress, with a little show of trouble in her eyes.

"I liked the brown of your arms," he answered.

The pin stopped. There was a puzzled look in her face.

"I'm afraid it's a very homely dress, anyway," said she, looking down upon it as she moved her foot impatiently.

Her mother came out of doors. "Polly," said she, "you'd better go over to the postoffice."

"May I go with her?" Trove inquired.

"Ask Polly," said the Widow Vaughn, laughing.

"May I?" he asked.

Polly turned away, smiling. "If you care to," said she in a low voice.

"You must hurry and not be after dark," said the widow.

They went away, but only the moments hurried. They that read here, though their heads be gray and their hearts heavy, will understand, for they will remember some little space of time, with seconds flashing as they went, like dust of diamonds in the hourglass.

"Don't you remember how you came in the little red sleigh?" she asked presently.

"No."

BEARS PLENTIFUL IN CANADA.

Berry Pickers This Season Have Reported Many Encounters.

So large are the blueberries grown on the shores of the Saguenay River between Tadousac and Chicoutimi that they are known to the trade as Saguenay grapes. There are miles of natural plantations of the berry bushes, and the gathering of the fruit is the important industry of the scattered population.

The crop has been good this year, although the fruit is smaller than usual, owing to long droughts. Other fruits, like raspberries and blackberries, have been very scarce from the same cause. Probably that is the reason why the bears have been more troublesome than ever. In Quebec province bruin is protected by law through the long season when his fur is thin, and in consequence his family is increasing rather rapidly in some sections.

On the Gatineau a mother looking after her little ones saw two of the children standing pretty close to a big surly brute, who was gobbling up the berries gathered by the children. The bear must have grown angry at their presence, for, making a dash at the little party, he struck the tiniest one a fierce blow with his forepaw, and then stalked away. The blow sent three long claws right through clothes and flesh and broke two ribs.

It was probably the same beast which [illegible] and [illegible] a little girl of 6 or 7 years [illegible] to see a fine young bear [illegible] at a quick walk. She begged the brute to let her alone. "See," she said, "if you will I'll give you all my blueberries," and with that she emptied her lard pail of fruit on the path and stepped aside. The bear accepted the invitation quietly and deliberately lay down to enjoy the feast at his ease, allowing the terrified child to step past and make her way safely to where the older children were waiting.

On the Saguenay the pickers were holding a festival a little while ago when at dinner time a couple of great white-nosed bears and two cubs came running toward them from the woods. The whole party being unarmed decamped hastily, pursued by the beasts, which were rapidly gaining on them when they reached the waterside, where the canoes were. They embarked safely, but one of the women then discovered to her anguish that the bundle she had snatched up was not her baby, which had been left in the shade of some trees.

In an instant she was in the water making for shore again. The party followed, to find the young woman running at all speed toward her baby, the four bears trotting leisurely after her. With paddles and sticks and stones and much shouting the berry pickers followed the bears, which, finding themselves pursued in turn, charged right through the crowd, made for the water and swam away to the other side. The baby was found peacefully sleeping.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon, and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $5 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lease shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any constitutional, acquired or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Thirty years' experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure or no charge.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Remember the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine." Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 27 years. You can pay after cure.

WE CURE Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Diseases, Secret Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question List for Home Treatment.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 2½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

What Does It Mean?

Dr. Hamilton Gives a Full and Satisfactory Explanation.

Look at your tongue. Is it coated? Sometimes it's heavily coated sometimes it's clear and red.

Study this out and you'll find some interference with the functional activity of the body.

This means the bowels are not regular, the liver is sluggish and the blood is contaminated.

Strong cathartic pills act so destructively on the intestines as to provoke deadly sickness; this often frightens people from taking medicine when they badly need it.

To the multitude of dangerous purgatives now on the market, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a notable exception, they neither gripe, cause sickly feeling or headache, yet they cleanse and purify the entire system in one night. No other laxative acts with such mildness and certainty. Giving proper stimulus to the liver and kidneys, strengthening the stomach and lending valuable aid to digestion, it's small wonder that such marvelous results accompany Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mr. Geo O'Hegarty, of Amherst, N. S., writes: "Last winter I worked in a lumber camp and neglected my health. I was dreadfully constipated and had a headache that fairly made me reel at times. I was sick and miserable, and hadn't the slightest ambition to work or stir around. I felt heavy and dull and had a bad taste in my mouth. I sent into the city for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I knew were good for my condition. They fixed me up very quickly and have kept me in good condition ever since. There are other men in the camp that use Dr. Hamilton's Pills also. They say they wouldn't be without the pills for ten times their price."

Every dealer in the land sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills—25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Ketchecum Club Get Sixteen Deer

The Ketchecum Hunt Club members have returned home. This is the forty-third year in which Mr. Harry Winch and his associates have chased deer in this locality.

This year the Ketchecum Club secured sixteen fine deer, including seven does and nine bucks. A number of the latter possessed well formed heads.

One of the members of the club yesterday stated that round the Pencil Lake, hunting grounds, have been depleted of deer during the week preceding the hunting season, by a party of hunters from Gooderham. It is stated that from 12 to 18 deer were illegally slaughtered and the hunters of the Ketchecum Club are determined to put a stop to such selfish and unlawful sport.

Mr. Robt. Stuart, of the Quaker Oats Co. secured his full number of deer.

That old-time hunter and expert in wood craft, Mr. Alex. Sampson, and his son, had charge of the hunt.

The deer arrived in the city last night in charge of Mr. Nelson Windover, who is now the occupant of the Cochrane farm.

William Primeau Arrested for Theft

Wm. Primeau, of the fifth ward, was arrested yesterday by P. C. Adams. According to a telegram received from Constable O Julian, of Parry Sound, he is wanted in that town on a charge of theft. Primeau recently returned to the city from the Parry Sound district. No particulars of the alleged theft have been received. It is expected that a constable will arrive today from Parry Sound to take Primeau back.

Mr. D. O'Connell at Toronto.

The following of local interest appeared in a report of Osgoode Hall proceedings,—

Stitt vs. Hastings.—D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for plaintiff, appealed from judgment of Mabee, J., at the trial at North Bay, withdrawing from the jury and dismissing an action for the alleged malicious prosecution of plaintiff by defendant upon a charge of theft of lumber. Plaintiff is a saw-miller in the District of Parry Sound, and defendant a lumber dealer. There was negotiation between them for an exchange of lumber between the parties, and the question should have been put to the jury, and the judge should not, without putting the question, and other, have ruled the want of reasonable and probable cause was not shown. R. McKay for defendant, contra. Reserved.

Mr. F. Scrimger in the City.

Mr. F. Scrimger, an old Peterborough boy, who once operated a successful broker's office here, but who now holds an important position with the Goldie McCulloch Co., of Galt, is calling on his many friends in this city. "Fre" is the same old boy as ever, and does not look a day older than when he lived here. Mr. Scrimger came here to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, Mr. R. Mowry, who was laid to rest yesterday afternoon in the Little Lake cemetery. The funeral of Mr. Mowry was held from the family residence, 499 Aylmer street, and was largely attended.

Veal Passed off as Venison.

A number of the Gold Lake Hunt Club, yesterday told The Times a story regarding this year's hunt, that is worth repitition. It is alleged that one member of the club, owing to having killed no deer went out and took a shot at a settler's calf. The bullet went true and the calf died.

This part of the story is not so bad, but when this member of the club brought home the veal and passed it off on his friends as "venison" the sportsmen's spirit rose in revolt. Hence the "give away" as to the kind of venison distributed.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST CURRENCY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will shot that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which in the long run, so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

Local Milk is Being Inspected

Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., is now kept busy, and is busy inspecting and testing the milk sold by the various city dealers in Metcal fluid. The Times has already published the results of one or two of the doctors tests, which, it is pleasing to learn, stood a high and thorough test. It is of course beyond reason to expect any paper to publish every and all the individual tests of milk with the respective names of the owners of such milk appended.

Should the vendors so desire, the test of their milk as sold will be published but neither does the Board of Health authorize such advertisement nor could a paper, in reason, be expected to do such work.

As far as the consumer is concerned it is gratifying to learn that, as a rule the milk of this city is of a good standard.

Mr. E. A. Baker, Piano Tuner for Heintzman & Co., will be in this city next week. All orders left at LENDRUM'S Photograph Gallery will be attended to.

Ald. Frank Adams to Be Treasurer

The resignation of Mr. Felix Brownscombe as city treasurer and collector of water rates, is to be followed by the appointment of a most acceptable and able successor, as Alderman Frank Adams has decided to accept the position. The chairman of the Finance Committee, Ald. Mason, made public the statement yesterday that the Finance Committee would recommend that the City Council appoint Ald. Adams to fill Mr. Felix Brownscombe's position. The offer was made to Mr. Adams, and he considered the proposition seemingly favorably.

That the appointment is a popular one no one will deny. Already a great many people have learned the fact and the unanimous opinion is that the city has made a wise choice.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labors and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time"—that is their earning period—to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

MEANS DEATH OF CHINESE LABOR

Report to British House Indicates Gross Immorality in the Compounds---Will Leave it to the Colony.

London, Nov. 17.—Both Houses of Parliament last night debated the unpleasant subject arising from the recent unauthorized publication of the contents of the Bucknill report, which gives the results of an inquiry into the conditions of Chinese labor in South Africa, and which reveals the systematic practice of unnatural vices in the Chinese compounds there. Notice of this debate was given by R. C. Lehmann, Liberal, who in the House of Commons obtained leave to move the adjournment of the House to discuss the "prevalence of gross immorality in the Transvaal," as disclosed by the Bucknill report, and the imperative necessity for the Government to take immediate steps to stop this state of affairs, especially by a more rapid and systematic repatriation of the Chinese."

The Government has hitherto declined to publish this report, on the ground that it was confidential. Among the Radicals the hope seemingly pertains that this scandal may be used in justification of the abolition of Chinese labor.

STRANGERS NOT EJECTED.

The motion that all strangers should withdraw having been rejected by 326 votes to 25, Mr. Lehmann before a crowded house moved the adjournment in a studiously moderate speech declared the country was in the presence of a great moral disaster, and asked the government for information on specific points, and what it intended to do in the matter.

Winston Spencer Churchill, parliamentary secretary to the Colonial office, replied on behalf of the government. He said it had been decided not to publish the Bucknill report, because it was unprintable, and because the evidence upon which it was based had been obtained confidentially. It was undoubtedly true, Mr. Churchill said, that such vices existed in many compounds, but the opponents of Chinese labor always recognized that such a state of affairs was almost inevitable, and the responsibility rested largely in the first place with Hon. Alfred Lyttelton. Public duty, Colonial Minister said, would be quite untrue, however, as alleged, that these practices amounted to an open public scandal, or were tolerated by the police or mine managers. These evils had long been foreseen, then why this belated intervention on the part of the bishops and archbishops? asked Mr. Churchill.

LEAVE IT TO COLONY.

The revelations of the Bucknill report, although they did not bear out the statements alleged, nevertheless disclosed a condition of affairs sufficiently unhealthy and unnatural to seal the fate of Chinese labor. It was a matter, however, that should be left to South Africa, which was on the eve of responsible government.

Mr. Lyttelton then declared that no shred of evidence of this horrible and monstrous system of vice had yet reached him while in the Colonial Office.

Other members spoke on the subject, and then Premier Campbell-Bannerman said the government had every reason to believe the evil would be diminished, if not altogether eradicated.

IN NEARLY ALL COMPOUNDS.

The question was raised in the House of Lords by the Archbishop of Canterbury, who asked if the government had any information thereon. Lord Elgin, the colonial secretary, said the evidence of the Bucknill report went to show that the practices prevail in nearly all the compounds and in his opinion in saying that the view that the permanent adoption of a system of Chinese labor was unobjectionable. The grosser allegations, however, were not substantiated by the report.

Lord Lansdowne, foreign secretary in the late ministry, defending the late government, said the opposition would go as far as possible to assist the government in stamping out the evils.

Mrs. Arch. Morton's Funeral Today

This afternoon the last mortal remains of the late Alice Ann Buck, the beloved wife of Mr. Arch. Morton who passed away at the family residence, Lundy street, on Thursday, will be laid to rest. The deceased died after a long illness the result of a tumorous growth, which developed about ten months ago.

Mrs. Morton was born in Thorneybee, and was the daughter of the late George Buck, of Asphodel. She was married to Mr. Morton thirty-one years ago. Six children were born.

The late Mrs. Morton was a member of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Today's Great Rugby Game in Hamilton

Tigers' Captain May be Unable to Play In Dominion Championship Game.

Hamilton, Nov. 17.—The Tiger Football Club are having considerable worry these days trying to arrange suitable accommodation for the spectators at today's big game.

Special trains will be run from London, Peterborough and Toronto, and as a special rate has been secured by the Montreal team, it is expected that fully 2,000 people from out side points will witness the game.

The officials for the game have been agreed upon as follows:

Frank D. Woolworth, New York, referee.

C. G. Cobbau, Montreal, and J. L. Counsell, Hamilton, touch-line judges.

Percy Bakerville, and D'Arcy McGee, Ottawa, goal judges.

J. B. Hay and W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, linesmen.

J. Hagar, Montreal, and D. M. Cameron, Hamilton, timers.

Dr. A. B. Wright, Toronto, penalty timer.

The Tigers and their final practice yesterday afternoon. Captain Dumoulin is on the disabled list, and was not out to practice yesterday. He was in bed and under the doctor's care, but he will doubtless be in shape for today's game.

In case Captain Dumoulin is unable to play, Nobs Harrison will be played at full-back, and Tope moved up to center-field.

Must Be Qualified to Handle the Dead

Undertakers and Embalmers Would Have Funerals Limited to "the Eligible"

Toronto, Nov. 16.—The undertakers and embalmers have published a draft of the Act which they purpose presenting to the Legislature for approval at its next session.

The Act proposes that there shall be a board of embalming examiners for the Province, to consist of five members appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, no person to be eligible unless he has had five years' experience as a practical embalmer. The board is to elect its own chairman and secretary, and be attached to the Provincial Secretary's department. The secretary alone shall be salaried.

The duties of the board shall be to grant licenses at $2 each to all individuals or concerns engaged in the business of undertaking, and any who may hereafter desire to enter the business must pass an examination prescribed by the board and pay a fee of $5. All licenses are issued upon co-operation with the board, and also with the provincial board of health in the municipality where they are located. The board has at all times power to revoke licenses after investigation, and with approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. No one can carry on the business of embalming without this license.

The subjects upon which applicants for licenses will be examined are: Anatomy, sanitary science, the care, preservation, embalming, transportation and burial of dead bodies, and they shall demonstrate their proficiency, if desired, by operation.

Any person who does embalming without a license shall be fined not less than $25, nor more than $200 for every offence.

After the passing of the Act everyone desirous of entering the embalming business must make written application to the board, accompanied by a fee of $10, and the certification of two reputable citizens that he is over 21, of good moral character, has High School entrance education, and two years' apprenticeship with a reputable undertaker.

Mike Ward Dead; Killed in Ring

Sarnia Boxer Dies After Being Knocked Out by Harry Lewis.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 17.—Michael Ward, the pugilist, of Sarnia, Ont., died yesterday morning as the result of a knockout in a fight on Thursday night with Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia.

Ward died from cerebral hemorrhage, according to the physicians who attended him. Excepting a very brief period of consciousness shortly after he was knocked out, Ward was unconscious until his death. Four physicians worked over him all night. Harry Lewis, Referee Ed. Ryan, of Detroit, and Frank O'Brien, Lewis' trainer, were arrested last night. Other arrests and prosecutions are anticipated.

Lewis and his friends assert that it was not the knock-out blow which caused Ward's death, but the heavy fall to the floor that followed it. They claim that the floor was not sufficiently padded. Others assert that terrific final blow caused his death.

Physicians succeeded in restoring him to consciousness for a few moments, but he relapsed again into a comatose condition and was taken to the hospital where he died.

The knockout came in the ninth round after a fairly even fight.

HOCKEY.

If arrangements can be made, the Princeton University Hockey team may be seen on the ice here this coming season. A letter has been received from the secretary of the club, stating that a tour of Canada is being arranged for this season, and games in Peterborough would like to be arranged for on Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st and 2nd.

In view of the fact that none of the large American colleges have ever sent hockey teams to Canada it is thought that this team should prove a good drawing card here.

EIGHT CARS STARTED

Crews and Special Officers Armed and Policemen With Drawn Batons at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Nov. 17.—Eight cars, with crews armed, and from six to eight special officers, also armed, started out yesterday afternoon shortly after two o'clock. At the corner of King and James streets thirty policemen were lined up with drawn batons. No casualties occurred on the first trip. The cars were not anticipated, and only small crowds were on the street. The cars were not run last night, and will not be started today on account of the football crowds expected here.

Rockefeller's Daughter is Dead.

Cannes, France, November 17.—Mrs. Chas. A. Strong, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, died at three o'clock yesterday morning in the Hotel de Parc. Mrs. Strong has been ill for some time and suffered a paralytic stroke on November 12, after which she sank slowly until the end. The body will be sent to America.

Cossacks Pursuing Terrorists.

WEALTH OF UNITED STATES

Dollar Bill Mathematics—The Increase is 21 Per Cent.

Washington, November 17.—The United States census bureau estimated the total wealth of the United States in 1904 to be $106,881,115,000. This shows an increase in wealth over the estimates for 1900 of nearly 21 per cent.

Converted into one dollar bills, placed end to end, the string would be long enough to reach from the earth to the moon and back 30 times.

Bomb Was Thrown at Rome Cafe

Fashionable Crowd Stampeded by the Explosion and One Man is Seriously Injured.

Rome, Nov. 16.—A bomb was exploded in front of the Cafe Aragno in the center of the city yesterday. The fashionable throngs at the cafe were thrown into confusion, and one man was seriously wounded. The perpetrator of the deed was not apprehended.

At the time of the explosion the cafe was filled with fashionable people, and the Corso was crowded with the regular afternoon promenaders. A young man came into the cafe and took a seat at a table outside. He carried a handbag, partially covered by a light overcoat on his arm. He deposited the bag and his coat on a chair at his side and ordered something to drink. Before the waiter served him the young man suddenly rose, and saying audibly, "I have forgotten something," hurried away, leaving his handbag and coat behind. This caused suspicion, and a young man who had been sitting near the stranger, sprang up and cried, "Bomb!" "Bomb!"

This warning, however, came too late to give the crowd time to escape, for the explosion came almost at the same instant. The neighborhood of the cafe was immediately occupied by the police. The wounded man was taken to an hospital, and will probably die. The bomb, which was of a chemical composition, contained several pounds of nails and metal balls.

The young man is supposed to be an anarchist, and the theory is advanced that he attempted to blow up the cafe out of revenge for having been prevented from demonstrating last Sunday in commemorating the hanging of the Chicago anarchists 19 years ago.

Smoking Becoming Expensive.

London, November 17.—The smokers of pipes are threatened with an increase of 50 per cent. in the price of briars. This is owing to a combination of circumstances. The chief cause is strikes in the two great pipe-making districts, St. Claude, France, and Nuremberg, Germany, which have practically stopped the output for three months. There has also been a scarcity of good briar in Italy, which produces the best roots. The earthquake in Calabria so shattered the industry that the workers there turned to other occupations. Furthermore, the rise in the price of vulcanite and silver has increased the cost of mouth-pieces and furnishings.

In the Oddfellows' Hall, corner George and Hunter streets, on Thursday evening next, Mr. Newton Beers will present his dramatic characterization of "David and Jonathan," which he has successfully offered in over 2,000 Oddfellow Lodges, thereby delightfully entertaining more than 300,000 Oddfellows and their friends. This event of the season will unquestionably be liberally patronized, as the entertainment will be one of interest to all ages and all classes.

Public Steam Heating Further Discussed

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Without wishing to enter into newspaper controversies with regard to the merits of district heating we still must refer to a gross error made in the issue of a local contemporary of the 4th inst. In an interview published with one of the Aldermen who voted in the minority on Monday evening last he is quoted as saying that the writer made the statement that "eight per cent. of the population of Lockport was served by the heating plant in that city." What I did say was that eighty per cent. and over of the people were served, and I am quite sure that none of the aldermen would knowingly misrepresent my statements made. If really eight per cent. were served his comments would be upheld, but as it is I wish merely to correct the error with the question of whether a franchise shall be granted to a company or whether the city shall take over the plant and operate it, we have no opinions to offer and if we had we would not presume to enter into the debate. If the citizens of Peterborough do so now decide to have a plant, they will assuredly demand one later on because from a sanitary, labor saving and economical standpoint, there simply is no comparison between the new and old methods. The more the system is investigated the more it will appeal to unbiased judgment.

May I now refer to the letters of "Business Men." The first letter was a misrepresentation of facts from beginning to end. Take his quotation of the price of steam in Chatham. No such price as he gave has ever been quoted nor such system of measurement has ever been used. We have over the signatures of 311 the users of heat in Chatham, letters as strong as English language can make them stating that the Steam Heating Company was a boon to Chatham, and that the service is most satisfactory as to price, convenience and comfort. Last winter was the first of operation. The company started with ten takers at the close of the season and thirty-two buildings were served. Since then applications have been pouring in; the only trouble is to accommodate all who apply, as rapidly as the demands calls for. As I have said with the arguments for civic control or against we have no word to say, but we make this offer that anyone will introduce the writer to "Business Men," this company will pay all his expenses to any town or city of the hundreds now using district steam heat, then let him through your paper or any other give his experience and we shall be delighted to abide by that. No man's opinion are worth while without investigation. The more our system is investigated by unbiased and intelligent men the better we like it, and we shall be happy to give any citizen or body of citizens every opportunity to make such investigations. Can you suggest anything fairer.

Yours truly,
J. M. McKENDRY.

WERE GOVERNMENT SHIPS NEGLIGENT?

Thought That They Might Have Aided Vessels on Prince Edward Island Coast. Censure for Officials.

Charlottetown, Nov. 16.—The Federal officials of the Marine and Railway Departments come in for a great deal of censure and popular indignation in connection with the recent three serious wrecks on the Prince Edward Island coast. It is claimed, with apparent good reason, that the two government steamers, Minto and Stanley, both powerful boats, ought to have rendered assistance. As it was, nothing was done effectively by either of these boats, and nothing was attempted within reasonable time. The railway superintendent, G. A. Sharpe, comes in for censure because when the Stanley had failed to reach the scene of the disaster, and he was applied to by Lloyds' agent here, Mr. Hyndman, he refused a special train to carry a lifeboat from Charlottetown to the scene of the wreck, unless Mr. Lord, the marine agent, or Mr. Hyndman would first pay the railway $60 for that service. Mr. Lord would not pay, and so, in as far as the Federal officials were concerned, help was not only not given, but was actually refused. It was left for a private citizen to pay, as he did for the transportation of a Government lifeboat over a government railway to save the lives of men who were actually drowning at the time.

A BAD SYSTEM.

The Patriot, the Liberal government organ here, endeavors to throw all the blame upon these two officials, and to shield the government, by practically calling for their dismissal. Mr. Lord was appointed by the late Conservative government, while Superintendent Sharpe is an appointee of the Liberal government. And, of course, there are any number of good party men who would like to have one or other of the two offices concerned. But the fault is, in part, at least, the fault of a bad system, or want of system, that has prevailed from the beginning of things Federal here. Neither the post office inspector, the agent of the marine department nor the railway superintendent have power of themselves to act without special instructions from Ottawa in any matter in which the cooperation of another department is concerned. Hence in so simple and so urgent a matter as sending a lifeboat, belonging to the marine department, over the government railway, the two authorities at Ottawa must be communicated with by wire and their consent secured.

Eastwood Party Home Today

Messrs. S. Wilgowright and Bruce Lee, who have been at the Eastwood camp, Scory Creek, Cavanagh township, have returned home. The remainder of the party arrived at Buckhorn yesterday evening, and will reach Peterborough early this morning. The members are:—Thomas Eastwood, of Buckhorn, captain; Isaac Eastwood, Nathan Neill, John McBurney, Andrew Hall, Herbert Snowden, Herbert Reagby, Peterborough; "Sammy" Simpson, Toronto; Charles Birkmer and W. Long, Buckhorn. Up till Wednesday night the company had secured thirteen deer. They also had a large number of partridge.

Hart House Club Has Good Sport

The members of that well-known organization, who are all true sportsmen, the Hart House Hunt Club, have returned from their annual outing in the back country.

The club composed mainly of sportsmen from Young's Point, including Messrs. W. J. Gill, W. Jeart, B. Heard, Dick Heard, S. Dumoulin, T. R. Darcy, and W. H. Darcy.

While out this fall the club killed fourteen splendid deer, and two fine bears.

Earthquake Shocks in Jamaica.

Signalling Lessons in This City

The following taken from the most recent militia orders from Ottawa, will be of interest to many of our gallant lads of the 57th Regiment, viz.:

The establishment of garrison classes of instruction in signalling, as hereunder, is authorized.

At St. John, N.B., in March and April.

At Halifax, N.S., in April and May.

At Peterborough, Ont., in March and April.

At Ottawa, Ont., in January and February.

At Kingston, Ont., in April and May.

The classes will commence on dates to be fixed by the officers holding the higher commands, for a period not exceeding six weeks.

One officer and one non-commissioned officer will be detailed by the Assistant Adjutant General for signalling, as instructors for each of the classes.

The assistant adjutant general for signalling will make arrangements for, and conduct, where possible, the examination to be held at the termination of the period of instruction.

Officers and non-commissioned officers of the active militia, including the signalling corps, will be allowed to attend the day classes should vacancies exist, (vide G.O. 42 25) 1906, and to draw pay and allowances, (vide P. & A. Regulations 1st May, 1906, articles 277 and 280.)

When Run-Down, "Draggy," Used-up

You Lack the Vigor, Courage and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply.

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich, pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. At once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowsman, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the chains of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

A CURIOUS EPISODE

A recent despatch from London was published in some newspapers stating that the British Government has issued orders that in Malta in future equal religious toleration must prevail. The despatch is late in appearing. English exchanges just at hand show that the facts of the affair became public here a couple of weeks ago.

The circumstances are so remarkable that the wonder is that more stir was not made about them.

Malta being an island peopled chiefly by Italian Roman Catholics, while the dominant power is British and Protestant. The supposition might be natural that the Protestant masters had been refusing fair play to the other religion. The supposition would be wrong. The exact opposite is the fact. The case in Malta has been a denial of religious toleration to Protestantism by the Roman Catholic church.

This seems to have been going on since the British occupation of Malta nearly a hundred years ago. A curious illustration of British political latitudinarianism in connection with considerations of race and creed! The Maltese being strong Catholics, the British on the conquest of the island in 1812 apparently tacitly allowed to continue unquestioned local customs or bigotry which forbade the public practice of any other religion, and the extraordinary situation continued throughout the whole nineteenth century, and into the twentieth! That it comes to an end now is due to a culminating offensiveness of intolerance by the Italian Archbishop of the Island.

Two incidents brought the matter to a head. One was the appearance in the island of a Protestant missionary, Rev. John McNeill, who engaged the Theater Royal, Valetta, in which to hold services. He did hold some, then was ordered by the British Governor, Sir Charles Clarke, to stop. This action by the Governor was in consequence of a protest made by the Archbishop, who based his representation on what seems to have been the previous acquiescence of Britain in the idea idea that there must be no religious services other than Roman Catholic allowed. There was no charge that Mr. McNeill's services were objectionable otherwise. A previous incident had been equally unpleasant. A naval chaplain, being about to read the English service at the funeral of a British seaman, had followed the body on foot to the place of burial vested in his surplice; the Archbishop strongly protested against the chaplain's action; and a Governor's order was actually issued reserving the privilege of so doing to Roman Catholic chaplains only.

These matters being stirred up in the Imperial Parliament the following despatch was sent by the Colonial Secretary to the Governor of Malta:

The Secretary of State to the Governor,

Downing street, 15th August, 1906.

Sir,—The circumstances connected with the mission services held in the Theatre Royal at Malta, during last May, by the Rev. J. McNeill, have directed the attention of His Majesty's Government to the general question of the treatment of different religious denominations in that Island. The only basis which His Majesty's Government can admit for the settlement of the question is that all denominations should be treated with perfect equality. They are not aware of any pledges given by their predecessors, or of any circumstances peculiar to Malta, which preclude them from proceeding on that basis, or would justify them in denying to one religious body privileges granted to another. There is fortunately but one respect in which the existing conditions need alteration in order to carry out the principle of perfect equality and mutual toleration between different religions. The only practical restriction upon the religious ceremonies of other denominations than the Roman Catholic church is that they are not permitted to take place in public. Whatever may have been the grounds on which it was originally imposed, such a restriction is plainly inconsistent with the principle which His Majesty's Government desire to see followed, and you will accordingly raise no objection in future to the holding in public of the religious ceremonies, provided, of course, that they are bona fide religious ceremonies, and not in the nature of demonstrations intended to give offence.

In order to make clear beyond doubt the view which His Majesty's Government take of the question, I propose to advise His Majesty to issue Royal instructions amending the present intentions in the insertion of the following clause; "It being our intention that all persons inhabiting our said island should have full liberty of conscience and the free exercise of their respective modes of religious worship, we do hereby require our said Governor and Commander-in-Chief to permit all persons within our said island to have such liberty, and to exercise their respective modes of religious worship, provided they be contented with a quiet and peaceable enjoyment of the same, not giving offence or scandal to the Government."

His Majesty's Government trust that the people of Malta, recognizing the principle of toleration which inspires the decision conveyed in this despatch, will accord to the public ceremonies of other churches and denominations the same respect as to those of the Roman Catholic church. If, however, disturbance should be caused by evil-disposed persons they must, of course, be repressed, if necessary, by the whole power of the Government, and the persons causing them dealt with in accordance with the law; but His Majesty's Government earnestly hope that you will be confronted with no such necessity, in carrying out a policy based on the fundamental principles of British liberty.

I have, etc.,

ELGIN.

The episode seems a bit significant at the present time, when in France, Spain and Italy, all thoroughly Catholic countries, there is the gravest friction between a large part of the people and the ecclesiastical policy. What has caused this is but dimly understood among English-speaking peoples, but if the spirit of the Archbishop of Malta is illustrative of the ecclesiastical spirit generally in Southern Europe, the revolt there against clericalism is not strange. In Malta, the Catholic church authorities had evidently very extraordinarily the upper hand, yet not content with the substance must grasp at the utmost shadow until they over-reached themselves. But, after all, it is the way of human nature everywhere. Give any organization or any man too much power, and the chances are a hundred to one the power will be abused.

Motorists Killed by His Companions

Chauffeurs Had Just Held Up a Cab and Were Making Their Escape

New York, Nov. 16.—A hold-up by six men in an automobile in Central Park West early yesterday, cost one of the automobilists his life. He was run down by the big touring car when the hold-up men were making a dash for liberty, and so severely hurt that he died in an hospital soon afterwards, without regaining consciousness. He was Wiggo Brandt, a chauffeur, 31 years old. The police believe that the hold-up was intended merely as a prank by half a dozen chauffeurs who were returning from a ball in Harlem. On account of the death of Brandt, however, they are now searching for the other occupants of the car and arrests are expected to follow.

THE VICTIMS.

The victims of the hold-up are Milton Roblee, formerly owner of the Hotel Belleclaire, his friend, W. G. Chittick, and a chauffeur, who was driving the two men to their homes. They were driving along Central Park West when, at 71st street, an automobile containing six persons appeared in sight travelling south. As the machine neared the cab the automobile stopped and three of the six men jumped out. Two of them jumped on the box of the cab, while the other ran to the horse's head.

CRIED FOR HELP.

The cabman's cries for help brought a policeman to the scene, and as the three men in the automobile saw him coming, they shouted a warning to their companions. The latter made a rush for the automobile, and two of them had succeeded in boarding when the big machine was sent away on the jump. Brandt, who was standing on the step, was thrown heavily to the ground by the sudden start, and a rear wheel of the car passed over his body. His companions fled, leaving him unconscious. He died without giving any information about his companions.

At Brandt's boarding place it was learned that his mother had come here from Connecticut the day before, and the young man had planned to begin housekeeping within a few days.

Over One Thousand Feet of Ore Vein Opened
Ore Vein is Over Thirty Feet Wide on Surface

In the Lowest Tunnel a part of the Vein has been opened. It is 12 feet wide and the ore will average

OVER $500 00 TO THE TON

For the purpose of installing a mill to extract gold from its ores and for the requirements of the company, the Tribune Gold Mining and Milling Co.

makes this first offering of its stock at

FIVE CENTS PER SHARE
Par value $1.00

PAYABLE IN TEN EQUAL MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Stock certificates will be issued when each monthly installment is paid.—No forfietures.

$20.00	" 20.00	" " "	4000	"
$25.00	" 25.00	" " "	5000	"

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $25.000 to the ton. The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $18.00 to $20.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M. E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M. E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P. GRISWOLD, M. E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The average value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M. E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $13.00 per ton	$1,300.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $5.00 per ton	500.00
Net daily production	$1,800.00
Net monthly production	$45,000.00

The Officers and Directors of the Company are men of high standing in Chicago, who have had extended experience in mining.

Bank and other references furnished.

Send orders for stock at once. The shares offered at Five Cents will be quickly taken. The next offering will be at a higher price.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 2½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"I think it's very grand," said she. "It's so much like a story."

"Do you read stories?".

"All I can get. I've been reading 'Greytower.'"

"I read it last winter," said the boy. "What did you like best in it?"

"I'm ashamed to tell you," said she, with a quick glance at him.

"Please tell me."

"Oh, the love scenes, of course," said she, looking down with a sigh and a little hesitation.

"He was a fine lover."

"I've something in my eye," said she, stopping.

"Perhaps I can get it," said he. "Let me try."

"I'm afraid you'll hurt me," said she, looking up, with a smile.

"I'll be careful."

He lifted her face a little, his fingers beneath her pretty chin. Then, taking her long, dark lashes between thumb and finger, he opened the lids.

"You are hurting," said she soberly, and now the lashes were trying to pull free.

"I can see it," said he.

"It must be a bear, you look so frightened."

"It's nothing to be afraid of," said the boy.

"Well, your hands tremble," said she, laughing.

"There," he answered, removing a speck of dust with his handkerchief.

"It is gone now, thank you," said Polly, winking.

She stood close to him, and as she spoke her lips trembled. He could delay no longer with a subject knocking at the gate of speech.

"Do you believe in love at first sight?" he asked.

She turned, looking up at him seriously. Her lips parted in a smile that showed her white teeth. Then her glance fell. "I shall not tell you that," said she in a half whisper.

"I hope we shall meet again," he said.

"Do you?" said she, glancing up at him shyly.

"Yes."

"Well, if I were you and wanted to see a girl—I'd—I'd come and see her."

"What if you didn't know whether she was willing or not?" he asked.

"I'd take my chances," said she soberly.

There were pauses in which their souls went far beyond their words and seemed to embrace each other fondly with arms of the spirit invisible and resistless. And, whatever was to come, in that hour the great priest of love in the white robe of innocence had made them one. The air about them was full of strange delight. They were in deep dusk as they neared the house. For one moment of long remembered joy she let him put his arm about her waist, but when he kissed her cheek she drew herself away.

They walked a little time in silence.

"I am no flirt," she whispered presently. Neither spoke for a moment.

Then she seemed to feel and pity his emotion. Something slowed the feet of both.

"There," she whispered; "you may kiss my hand if you care to."

He kissed the pretty hand that was offered to him, and her whisper seemed to ring in the dusky silence like the dying rhythm of a bell.

CHAPTER IX.

A LITTLE after daybreak they went on with the cows. For half a mile or more, until the little house had sunk below the hill crest, Trove was looking backward. Now and ever after he was to think and tarry also in the road of life and look behind him for the golden towers of memory. The drovers saw a change in Trove and flung at him with their stock of rusty, ancestral witticisms. But Thurst Tilly had a way of saying and doing quite his own.

"Never see any one knocked so flat as ye was," said he. "Ye didn't know enough t' keep ahead o' the cattle. I declare, I thought they'd trample ye 'fore we could git yer eye unsot."

Trove made no answer.

"That air gal had a mighty power in her eye," Thurst went on. "When I see her totin' you off las' night I says t' the boys, says I: 'Bid is goin' t' git stepped on. He ain't never goin' t' be the same boy ag'in.'"

The boy held his peace, and for days neither ridicule nor excitement—save only for the time it lasted—was able to bring him out of his dream.

That night they came to a wild country, where men and cattle lay down to rest by the roadway, a thing Trove enjoyed. In the wagon were bread and butter and boiled eggs and tea and doughnuts and cake and dried herring. The men built fires and made tea and ate their suppers and sang, as the night fell, those olden ballads of the frontier, "Barbara Allen," "Bonaparte's Dream" and the "Drover's Daughter."

For days they were driving in the wild country. At bedtime each wound himself in a blanket and lay down to rest beneath a rude lean-to if it were raining, but mostly under the stars. On this journey Trove got his habit of sleeping out of doors in fair weather. After it, save in midwinter, walls seemed to weary and roofs to smother him. The drove began to low at daybreak, and soon they were all cropping the grass or browsing in the briers. Then the milking and breakfast over a campfire, and soon after sunrise they were all tramping in the road again.

It was a pleasant journey, the wayside glowing with the blue of violets, the green of tender grass, the thick sown, starry gold of dandelions. Wild fowl crossed the sky in wedge and battalion, their vedettes out, their lines now firm, now wheeling in a long curve to take the path of the wind. Every thicket was a fount of song that fell to silence when darkness came and the low chant of the marshes.

When they came into settled country below the big woods they began selling. At length the drove was reduced to one section, Trove following with the helper named Thurston Tilly, familiarly known as Thurst.

He was a tall, heavy, good natured man, distinguished for fat, happiness and singular aptitudes. He had lifted a barrel of salt by the chimes and put it on a wagon; once he had eaten two mince pies at a meal; again, he had put his heels six inches above his head on a barn door, and any time he could wiggle one ear or both or whistle on his thumb.

It was not easy to dispose of cattle in the southern counties that year, but they found a better market as they bore west, and were across the border of Ohio when the last of the drove were sold. That done, Trove and Thurst Tilly took the main road to Cleveland, whence they were to return home by steamboat.

It led them into woods and by stumpy fields and pine odored hamlets. The first day of their walk was rainy, and they went up a toteway into thick timber and built a fire and kept dry and warm until the rain ceased. That evening they fell in with emigrants on their way to the far west.

The latter were camped on the edge of a wood near the roadway and cooking supper as the two came along. Being far from town Trove and Tilly were glad to accept the hospitality of the travelers.

They had come to the great highway of travel from east to west. Every day it was cut by wagons of the mover overloaded with Lares and Penates, with old and young, enduring hardships and the loss of home and old acquaintance for hope of better fortune.

A man and wife and three boys were the party, traveling with two wagons. They were bound for Iowa and, being heavy loaded, were having a hard time. All sat on a heap of boughs in the firelight after supper.

"It's a long, long road to Iowa, father," said the woman.

"It'll soon be over," said he, with a tone of encouragement.

"I've been thinking all day of the lilacs and the old house," said she.

They looked in silence at the fire a moment.

"We're a bit homesick," said the man, turning to Trove, "an' no wonder."

Direct Water Route Between the Two Cities is Proposed.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 16.—The application of the Richelieu Canal Company was under consideration by the International Waterways Commission here yesterday. Canadian interests are said to be behind the proposition, which will open a direct water route between Montreal and New York. It is learned that Lake Champlain will be the storage basin for the canal, and that the company wants to use 9,000 cubic feet per second from the waters of the lake.

WANT BOARD OF ARBITRATION TO SETTLE DISPUTES

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Fearing that the present agitation for increased wages has reached a point where it threatens the successful operation of railroads, the executive officials of all lines west of Chicago have decided to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to become a board of arbitration for the settlement of all disputes between the employes and the railways. The commission has not yet reached the point of making a committee to make such a request of the commission, but the plan has received general approval.

The question which led to the arbitration scheme is the concerted demand which has been made by the engineers of twenty-seven roads for an increase in wages averaging from 12 to 15 per cent. Although no specific conference has been held between the railroad people and the heads of the labor organizations regarding the subject, it is said that the latter leaders are not unfriendly to the plan.

Fear Lieut. Peary Has Been Lost at Sea

Halifax, Nov. 16.—Fears are expressed that Lieutenant Peary has been lost at sea.

The Theodore Roosevelt, the vessel bringing Peary home, was due at Sydney last week. She was last reported at Battle Harbor, on the Labrador coast, by the steamer Virginia Lake. The Roosevelt was badly battered by storms and the officers of the Virginia Lake, said that all her boys had been out for firewood. With two blades of her propeller gone, the Roosevelt was able to make only four miles an hour.

For more than a week severe storms have swept the Newfoundland coast, and, in her damaged condition the Roosevelt may have been unable to weather the gales.

Babies.

"Milk for babes but meat for men." When a man can no more eat a man's food, but exists on a milk and cracker diet he is gone back to babyhood. He may be a big man but he has a baby's stomach.

Success in life depends largely on the stomach. The man with the baby's stomach finds himself also with a baby's peevishness and perversity. He has the baby's exaggerated personal sensitiveness and jealousy. He is an annoyance to his friends and an anxiety to his family. No man can be stronger than his stomach. A weak stomach argues a weak man. And a "weak" stomach is the common starting point of most of the so-called "weaknesses" which affect the great organs—heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc. How can it be otherwise when the body and all its organs are dependent on the stomach for their nutrition? The "weak" stomach drags the organs down with it, because being weak it is unable to convert food into nutrition, and the organs of the body being starved, of necessity become weak, as a consequence of starvation.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the weak body strong in the only way physical strength can be made, which is by food, properly digested and assimilated. The cures of "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" or sluggish liver, "weak" kidneys, etc., which follow the use of "Golden Medical Discovery," are all due to this perfect nutrition of the body, the proof of which is the remarkable gain of sound, solid flesh, which invariably marks the cure.

"STOMACH TROUBLE."

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connolly, of 533 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad that I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat, and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have employed and been treated by the best doctors in this city but got no help whatever. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others catarrh, others dyspepsia. I have bought and tried everything I saw advertised for dyspepsia and stomach trouble, but continued to get worse all the time. About twelve months ago I was in such a condition that my friends had some fear about my recovering. I called a doctor and he found me in a very bad shape. Hands and limbs were cold and dripping with cold sweat. He told me that I had a very bad case of chronic indigestion. I was under his treatment until this spring (1905), but did not improve any. By some way or other I happened to get hold of a vial of your 'Pellets,' and I thought they helped me. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start, and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel up-top, and better than I have for ten years."

GAINED SIXTEEN POUNDS.

"It was twelve years ago that I derived so much help from Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Olive Stevens, of North Harvey, Cook Co., Ill. "I was afflicted with a scrofulous tumor in the left side of my neck. It was fully as large as a large sized walnut, and so painful that I could get but little sleep at night. I doctored with several physicians but received no benefit. The tumor grew rapidly and became inflamed and my general health became impaired.

"I grew very weak. One physician said I would be in consumption in a very short time. Our home physician said I would have to have the tumor removed, but afterward told my husband that I had heart trouble and he would not dare give me chloroform or other, so he told me to be very careful; gave me medicine but did me no good. I went to Kinkipoo, was there three months, and while there took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and used 'Legal's Solution,' as directed in your pamphlet. While away I gained sixteen pounds, the tumor became smaller, and now is healed, and to-day there is not a sign of it. I feel confident I shall never be troubled with it again. We think there is no medicine like Dr. R. V. Pierce's, and we have recommended it to a great many who have taken it with very favorable results.

"The 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured my neck entirely."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse and regulate the bowels.

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any constitutional, acquired or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Thirty years' experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure or no charge.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Remember the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine." Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 27 years. You can pay after cure.

WE CURE Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Diseases, Secret Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question List for Home Treatment.

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

Is SECURED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.

2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.

3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.

4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a mud, hoist prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

Here is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the possibility of locating some ledge which an ore shoot may be found. This is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and QUEERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who at the same time, want a chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the Town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an excellent water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toads Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is connected in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively exposed in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar K. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before. We know that this is a plain statement, made not to scare or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

Pale Faced Girls

Thousands Using Successful Cure For Paleness and Anaemia

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she dozes, but doesn't sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be supplied and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton had invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing so prompt in building up the young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that assists her system by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwan, of Haliburton, speaks for itself;

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed.

"Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness was hanging over my head.

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box or five boxes for $1, by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

This is the close season for beaver does not expire for seven years. The trappers were tried at Sundridge, and fined $60 and costs each.

Are You Tired, Nervous and Sleepless?

Nervousness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are not fed on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggist to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. For 50 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Hunting Party Had to Fight Fire

One of the many parties which left for the deer country had a narrow escape from a forest fire.

Mr. Louis Houedry, of the Laroque hunting party, who has returned, reports that one of them thoughtlessly threw a lighted match to one side. Before they realized that anything was wrong, the grass and bushes were blazing fiercely and it seemed as if the fire would spread to the adjacent pine woods. The party made a vigorous fight, however, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they spread very far. A number of them were badly singed in doing so, and some had their clothes ruined.

Mr. E. A. Baker, Piano Tuner for Heintzman & Co., will be in this city next week. All orders left at LENDRUM'S Photograph Gallery will be attended to.

Mullen Bros.' Horse Runs Away.

Yesterday some excitement was caused on Reid and Sherbrooke streets, when the delivery horse of Mullen Bros. ran away. The horse frightened by a car dashed up Reid street to Sherbrooke street; east on Sherbrooke to Water street and up Water street to the corner of Charlotte where the rig was upset and the horse brought to a standstill. The damage done was as nothing compared with the record for speed made by the horse.

Mr. J. H. Gardiner Has Good Sale

Mr. J. H. Gardiner, the local auctioneer, on Thursday held a most successful sale of horses and cattle for Mr. John Bradshaw, of South Monaghan, Northumberland County. Cows sold as high as $42.50 each, and a two-year-old filly, sired by John L. Patterson's Albert Edward, imported Scotch Clyde, was sold at $194, which is a record breaker for a colt of this age.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventics are toothsome candy tablets. Preventics dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventics are thoroughly safe for children, and as effectual for adults. Sold and recommended in 5-cent and 25-cent boxes by J. D. Tully.

Charge Against Primeau Withdrawn.

In our issue of yesterday an item appeared to the effect that Mr. W. A. Primeau had been arrested for theft. It appears that the charge was not substantiated as yesterday, the chief of police received a telegram from the chief of police at Parry Sound, stating that the charge of theft against Primeau had been withdrawn, and asked him to give Primeau his release.

NASAL CATARRH AFFECTS HEARING.

MR. R. J. ARLESS.

FINDS RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

Mr. R. J. Arless, 401 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Quebec, is an old gentleman of wide acquaintance, having served thirty-eight years in the General Post-office of Montreal, a record which speaks for itself. Concerning his use of Peruna, Mr. Arless says:

"I have been afflicted with nasal catarrh to such a degree that it affected my hearing.

"This was contracted some twenty years ago by being exposed to draughts and sudden changes of temperature.

"I have been under the treatment of specialists and have used many drugs recommended as specifics for catarrh in the head and throat—all to no purpose.

"About three years ago I was induced by a confrere in office to try Peruna.

"After some hesitation, as I had doubts as to results after so many failures, I gave Peruna a trial, and am happy to state that after using eight or ten bottles of Peruna I am much improved in hearing, and in breathing through the nostrils."

Hunters Salt Country to Get Deer.

Some of the returned hunters from the north country explained to a Times representative yesterday, that the reason a certain hunting club obtained more deer than the other clubs that were out this fall, is due to the fact that the clubs question "salted" the ground in their immediate vicinity. It is said that the club in question, through their guides, who live in that part of the country, spread oatmeal and salt broadcast round their territory, thus drawing the deer by their proverbial love of salt and such food as oatmeal. Whilst we cannot vouch for the truth of this charge it is not beyond possibility.

Hamilton Tigers Defeat Montreal 11-6

10,000 People Saw Great Game—Fullback Tope of Winning Team Breaks His Leg.

Hamilton, Nov. 17.—The largest crowd of the year witnessed the Dominion championship game today. The west side of the grounds was a sea of mud, and it happened to be Montreal's luck to have this for the first half. The Rowers' Club was out to force and made themselves heard. Russell took Stinson's place on Montreal's back line.

By a score of 11 to 6, Hamilton Tigers, champions of the O.R.F.U., defeated Montreal, winners of the Quebec Union, in the semi-finals for the Dominion championship. The Tigers will now meet the winners of the intercollegiate in Toronto in final game Tigers won on their merits. They out-kicked and out-tackled the easterners; in fact, the tackling of Montreal was the worst here in years. There was a lot of scragging on the lines that escaped the officials, and many a knee and elbow was nicked out to the unfortunates who had the ball.

Tigers played under a handicap after the first quarter.

Tope, their star fullback, had his leg broken just at quarter-time, and Harrison, who took his place, while relieving brilliantly at times, could not be relied upon. Craig, at center half for Montreal, put up a hard game, but was given little opportunity to make any of his dazzling runs. The same can be said about Moore of the Tigers. About ten thousand witnessed the game.

Dr. Morrison's Ideas Are Endorsed

Many Lindsay parents and possibly a number of teachers will agree with the views of Dr. Morrison. Excessive home work is making slaves and unhappy drudges instead of bright, happy-hearted children. There is no time for the mother to teach her daughter household duties or fancy work—no time for the father after his day's work to win the confidence of his boy and enter sympathetically into the happenings of the children. It is a fact that the shoulders of many of the children are unnecessarily deformed by the persistent carrying of heavy school bags containing books needed for the getting up of home-work.

California's Stand Against the Jap

Will Ask Congress to Pass a Japanese Exclusion Bill at the Coming Session.

San Francisco, November 9.—California means business in her stand against the Jap. The hubbub raised because the San Francisco school board voted to make the Japs attend separate schools again, according to the system in vogue before the fire, has done nothing to lessen the growing dislike of the Japanese of the Pacific slope.

It has, on the contrary, greatly aggravated it, until now there is no doubt that California, backed up to a certain extent by other far western states, will make a strong effort to force Congress at the coming session to pass a Japanese exclusion bill different in no material respect from the act by which the Chinese are barred. To this course both Republican and Democratic parties state they are committed by planks in recently adopted platforms.

The Japs are hated worse than Chinamen because they take up many forms of employment not entered by the Chinese.

Mr. E. A. Baker, Piano Tuner for Heintzman & Co., will be in this city next week. All orders left at LENDRUM'S Photograph Gallery will be attended to.

Trouble Feared Which May Bring Britain and United States in Collision.

Montreal, November 17.—Word has been received in Montreal of the first attempt of Premier Bond of Newfoundland to enforce the Bait Act, which forbids the employment of Newfoundland fishermen by the Gloucester fleet of American boats.

The Newfoundland solicitor with police inspector O'Reilly, on a Government revenue cutter, yesterday boarded the American herring schooner, Ralph Hall, at Bay of Islands, and attempted to arrest some local fishermen.

The captain of the Ralph Hall advised them not to interfere while the men were in his service, and the officials retreated. They consulted a magistrate at Bay of Islands, and he in turn telegraphed the Government for instructions to summon the fishermen under the Bait Act for resisting the authorities.

It is feared that the Newfoundlanders will refuse to obey the summons, and that would immediately cause a number of new complications.

Up to the present time 300 Newfoundland fishermen have shipped on American vessels, and hundreds are now awaiting a chance to join the Gloucester fleet.

When the fishery is in full swing it is expected that nearly 700 Newfoundlanders will be fishing for Americans on American vessels. A noticeable feature of the late developments is the contempt with which the announcement regarding the enforcement of the Bait Act has been received by the local fishermen. They look upon the present act of the Premier as a pointy of spite and small revenge, which he has made his own.

The fishermen are determined that there shall be no interference with their rights, and as the Government is evidently determined to enforce the Bait Act, there is every indication of a clash between the native fishermen and the authorities.

A Bay of Islands correspondent of the St. John's News writes contemporaneously of the story that twenty-five armed policemen were on their way from St. John's to enforce the Bait Act. He says: "It is wondered where the 300 men would be jailed, and what they would be doing while the few Bona (Italian) officials and the twenty-five armed policemen from St. John's were in charge."

Deer Admired at G. W. Fitzgerald's

The splendid display of deer lying at Mr G. W. Fitzgerald's carriage works brought in Friday night by his party, were admired by many scores of citizens. The deer, several of which were splendid sets of horns weighed respectively, in their dressed state, 190, 180, 180, 150, 140, 125 down to 110 pounds each. Among those who joined in this party's hunt were Messrs. Gunsolus, Fitzgerald, Evans, Sheehy, Cottingham, Mitchell, Barrett, Hoolley, Gibbs, Sharp and Mitchell.

They report having had a splendid time, and having encountered no more snow than fell in the city.

A Local Advocate for Use of Peat

Dr. J. W. Kirby, the coroner of this county on Saturday received for his personal use a car load of peat, which took many cart loads to transfer from the railroad tracks to the cellar of his fine residence on Sherbrooke street.

The doctor is nothing if not an inventive genius. To begin with, as can easily be supposed a car load of peat necessitates some considerable storage space. To enable him to comfortably stow so large a volume of this recently introduced fuel, Dr. Gray invented and himself installed an ore-weed car running on rails from one of his cellar windows throughout the whole length of that spacious part of his house. The box runs by gravity the whole length of the cellar, and is controlled by ropes from where the peat is taken from the delivery wagon. When the box arrives at the exact spot the fall is to be placed, by the pull of a rope, the bottom of the travelling receptacle is opened by a pull at one of the ropes and as the box returns for another load the bottom automatically connects itself in readiness for another load.

It might be noted that the doctor burns the peat in a furnace heating the hot water system of his house, which is made after a model of his own invention, and which is a marvel of simplicity and practical utility. Dr Gray is an ardent advocate of peat for all heating and cooking purposes, saying it costs only one half the amount paid for coal.

Biggest Warship on the Planet

It Has Just Been Launched by Britain's Ally, Japan.

Tokio, November 19.—The launching of the new battleship Satsuma took place yesterday at Yokosuka, in the presence of the Emperor. The keel of the Satsuma was laid on May 15 of this year. She has a length of 482 feet and beam of 83 1-2 feet. Her draught is 27 1-2 feet. Her tonnage, which is 19,200, exceeds that of England's biggest battleship, the Dreadnought, by 1,200 tons. It is the gift of the Emperor and the Crown Prince.

Her horsepower, it is said, will be 18,000. Her speed will be 20 1-4 knots. While this is slower than the Dreadnought, it is expected that the Satsuma's Mymabara boilers will give her greater steaming capacity. The armament will consist of four 12-inch guns, ten 10-inch, and were 12-inch guns. The Japanese naval architects have utilized in the construction of the Satsuma the valuable lessons learned in the late war.

Japan is jubilant over the launching of the great battleship at Yokosuka. The jubilation is due to the fact that not only is it the biggest warship in the world, but that it was designed and constructed by Japanese exclusively. The British Admiralty has wired congratulations.

The Imperial Diet has been consulted to meet on Christmas Day.

P. C. Meharry Goes "Kid" Hunting

On Saturday evening P. C. Meharry was called to the Peterborough Book store to arrest Joseph Shearer on a charge of stealing a number of articles, viz., post cards, etc. On arriving there, Joseph, better known to his companions as "Pig," was missing, and it required a long and diligent search before Joseph was discovered hidden under a box, with difficulty "Pig" was extricated from his stronghold and marched off to the Shelter to await trial on Monday morning.

So far so good, but Mr. Joseph objected to nothing short of a police call holding him and disappeared in miraculous from his prison as he had concealed himself before the arrest. Up to a late hour last night there were no tidings of the escaped prisoner, so it is up to P. C. Meharry to go hunting again.

Mr. H. Cook's Funeral Held Yesterday

Mr. William Cook of this city, was in Midland, Ont., yesterday attending the funeral of his brother, Mr. Harold Cook, who passed away there on Thursday. The late Mr. Cook was 52 years of age, and his death was caused by heart disease.

The deceased was formerly resident in this city moved to Midland some twenty years ago.

He was so mourned by a wife and six children living in Midland, four brothers and two sisters also survive. They are William, of Peterborough, John, of Harwood, Garrett, of Midland, Simon, of Kenora, Mrs. Whalen, of Parry Sound, and Mrs. Vanatta, of Midland.

WILL DISCOUNT THE DREADNOUGHT

New Battleships Will Discard the Powerful Twelve-Inch Gun

MORE DESTRUCTIVE WEAPON

Guns Weighing 85 Tons Likely to be Installed in New Battleships—To Carry Eight.

London, Nov. 19.—Through many of the recent measures of the British Admiralty are open to the sharpest criticism and have been not unjustly criticized, there is one department, that concerned with the designing of warships, where the present Admiralty is far in advance of all foreign naval administrations, and of past admiralties in this country. The brilliant success of the Dreadnought is still fresh in the minds of all the great armored cruisers of the Invincible type represent in their class what the Dreadnought represents in the class of battleship; but there are indications that the naval authorities have in view yet larger and more powerful battleships than even the Dreadnought, armed with guns which will throw hers into the shade.

These new ships are not the vessels to be begun in the present financial year, but the battleships of the 1907 program, which are not, unhappily, to be laid down until March or April, 1908. In them there is some reason to believe that the 12-in. gun will be finally abandoned and replaced by a new and far more powerful weapon.

It is impossible by way of reply to the new German ships to put more 12-in. guns into a battleship. The Dreadnought's battery represents the utmost number of guns that can be used in action with real advantage. The conditions necessitate the introduction of a new type of monster gun.

The pattern selected is believed to be a 13 1-2 gun forty-five calibers long. That is to say, the gun will be forty-five times 13 1-2 in. in length or roughly 50 1-2 feet long. Its weight will be about eighty-five or eighty six tons. A gun of the same caliber, but of old design, and much weaker power, is carried today by the Royal Sovereign class. The old gun fires a 1,250-lb. shell, which is 400-lb. heavier than the projectile fired by the Dreadnought's weapons. The penetration through wrought iron of the muzzle is 51-in. in the case of the Dreadnought's guns. It should be 62-in. or 63-in. at the very least in the case of the new weapons.

Probably the new British battleships will have eight big guns so mounted that all can fire on either broadside and six ahead or astern.

Fairview Promises to Be a Great Camp

Indications are That Another Tonopah is Found—Strikes of the Most Substantial Kind Being Made.

Goldfield, Nev. Nov. 12.—As development work progresses along the principal vein system of Fairview, its remarkable continuity and the persistence with which values hold indicate conclusively that another Tonopah is in process of exploration. In these features as well as with respect to the values carried by the ore and the general formation, the two camps are practically identical. With every foot of work done along the great series of veins that pass from the Nevada Hills through the Fairview Eagle, and then traverse the properties of the Eagle's Nest and Hailstone, showing tremendously rich values in silver and gold the entire distance, it appears that Fairview's ore bell will prove the most plethoric producer of southern Nevada.

Along the course of Tonopah's main ore channell there have been opened up several of the greatest silver-gold producers of recent years, mines that have sufficient ore blocked out to insure a heavy and regular tonnage output for many years to come. But Fairview's remarkable series of veins undoubtedly show more uniformity of values and appear to extend to much greater limits than those of southern Nevada's oldest of her new mining camps.

In addition to the extremely significant discoveries on the Eagle's Nest, Fairview Eagle, and Hailstone, all of recent occurrence, prospectors are finding high grade values a great distance farther to the northeast from the Nevada Hills, generally reckoned as the center of the camp. Late reports from Fairview jest of strikes of high grade silver ore several miles to the northeast of the Hailstone and Eagle's Nest, the ore showing abundantly in horn silver. On the "Hot Onion" group, north of the foothills, above the desert, ore having a value of $200 to $500 in silver and gold has been exposed at surface, undoubtedly proving the regularity of the principal vein system for miles, as the property is directly on the course of the channel. This important discovery extends the proved zone of the district a distance of eight to ten miles in length.

The developments to date to the Eagle's Nest and Hailstone properties are of special importance as proving the practicability of the high unlimited area of the district. Following the operational developments on the Eagle, consisting of the opening up of eight to ten feet of $320 ore, came practically the same results with exploration work on the Eagle's Nest, and this estate is now producing high grade shipping ore, having a general average value of $304 per ton.

Then, to add to the wave of excitement resulting from such extremely important discoveries, the Hailstone, Fairview Eagle, the Eagle's Nest and Fairview Eagle, has opened into a mining estate that presents every earmark of a big mine. The continuity of the main vein system of the camp has during the past month been positively proved at uniform width and richness a distance of over 6,000 feet, and the discoveries of recent date miles further to the north and east prove that the possibilities of Fairview are practically unlimited in mineral resources and stamps it as one of the greatest mining regions of the Silver-Brush state.

Joining the Nevada Hills mine on the west and lying directly on the trend of its rich veins is the Caldwell-Farnsworth group recently sold to the Nevada Hill's Florence company. Leasers are now actively engaged in developing this territory, and gratifying results are being obtained. Indications point to the opening up of another bonanza mine which will add lustre to the already splendid record of the camp.

RUEF A GOOD BLUFFER

Says Rockefeller Was Also Indicted the Day Before.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Abraham Ruef, who, with Mayor Eugene Schmitz, was indicted yesterday on charges of extortion, went to the home of Superior Judge Murasky last night, where he surrendered himself. The representatives of a surety company accompanied him, and there signed Ruef's bonds, which amount on the five counts to $50,000. An order of release from custody was then made by the judge.

When asked for a statement, Ruef said: "John D. Rockefeller was indicted yesterday, and I am indicted today. The matter is too absurd to be worth a statement from me. All I ask is an immediate trial on the charges on which I have been indicted by the grand jury."

LOSS TO CHEESE FACTORIES

Large American Exporter Fails and Several Factories are Losers.

Brockville, November 19.—It is reported that certain patrons of all but two cheese factories, usually represented on the Gouverneur cheese board, are poorer more or less by the failure of W. D. Grant, an American exporter of Utica, N. Y., to meet his obligations. The greatest sufferer in St. Lawrence County is the Richville factory, which held Grant's cheques for something over $4,000. It is alleged that the entire shortage in Gouverneur and vicinity is about $15,000. One statement who sold for a number of factories reports a loss of nearly $9,000.

It is stated that Mr. Grant has effected a settlement at 25c on the dollar.

Mr. Ghent is Improving.

Mr. C. A. Ghent the Havelock barrister, who was badly hurt last Thursday, we are pleased to say is improving. Mr. Ghent whilst riding along the Norwood road was thrown badly out of the saddle and over his horse's head by the animal stumbling. His face was badly cut, one cut below the eye requiring severe stitches. He was otherwise cut and bruised.

BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

Lady of Fifty Looks Like Sixteen.

A Nashville lady found a way to beautify her complexion without the use of drugs or face creams.

"Before I began the use of Grape-Nuts," she writes, "I was convinced I could not live long. I was sick all the time, heart trouble, kidneys seriously affected, eyesight bad, sense of smell was gone and hearing very poor.

"My family thought I had dropsy and could not get well, and I only ate Grape-Nuts because I slept after afterwards—did not dream I could be entirely cured, had quit all treatment and given up hope.

"After spending a large sum of money and being under the best physicians for three years without relief, I commenced eating Grape-Nuts food three times a day and now I am sound as a dollar, am in perfect health, fifty years old and my complexion is better than some girls at sixteen.

"I never have headache, nerves are strong, sight so much improved I need no glasses, heart and kidneys in perfect condition.

"Your Grape-Nuts alone cured me and I cannot find words to express my thanks to the Postum Co. I have told hundreds of people what cured me. It was simple food that I could digest."

"There's a reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

It sometimes amazes persons what damage has been done by improper eating, not knowing any better way. A change to Grape-Nuts soon tells the story. Read the famous book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

CANADA'S ANGER AND DISTRUST OF BRITAIN

Important Dry Goods Change

Robert Fair & Co., Limited, Succeed Mr. Robt Fair.

A new firm has sprung from the old established and successful business hitherto carried on by Mr. Robert Fair, on George street, under the name of Robert Fair & Co., Limited. Mr. Fair during some twenty-five years by integrity, industry, enterprise and thorough knowledge of every detail of the drygoods trade has built up a very large and admirable business. Mr. Fair has an enviable connection, not only with the wholesale trade of Canada, but with the leading wholesale houses and mills of England, Ireland, Scotland, France, and Germany.

The new firm, a limited liability company—"Robert Fair & Company, Limited"—incorporated under the Ontario Joint Stock Companies Act, with a capital of $75,000. Under the arrangement, Mr. Fair has included in the partnership, Mr. George R. Browning, who has been associated with the business for the past four years, and Mr. J. F. Moore, recently of Napanee, both of whom are skilled in the details of their respective branches of the trade. These three gentlemen practically form the Board of Directors, and active members in the management of the business of the company.

P. S. Representatives to Advisory Council

Miss Johnston and Messrs. Plewes, Reid and Jordan—J. J. Rogers for Separate Schools.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—The public school representatives to advisory council are: Miss Harriett Johnston, Phoebe street school, Toronto; J. W. Plewes, principal of public and model schools, Chatham; Thomas Agnew Reid, principal public school, Owen Sound; Alexander Austin Jordan, principal public school, Port Hope.

The separate school representative is J. J. Rogers, principal separate school, Lindsay.

After ten days come work in the scrutiny of the thousands of votes polled by the educationists of the province, the candidates above mentioned were found about noon on Saturday to be elected to the advisory council on education. No official return has yet been made, but the registrar, F. Nudel, will consult the minister about making a complete official return during the week. The above names comprise the public and separate school representatives only. It is reported that Miss Johnson secured about 3350 votes, some 60 ahead of the next on the list. Those who just failed of election are said to be Joseph W. Rogers, Toronto; S. J. Keys, Cornwall; Thomas McJanet, Ottawa; William Wilson, Toronto Junction, and John Burchill, Oshawa. All the candidates met with strong support, and one who had resigned after the issue of the ballots was almost elected, James E. McDonald, Cornwall, 2,256 Mr. Rogers a close run in the separate school contest.

Child's Legs Badly Scalded

We are pleased to note that little Miss Pearl Howden of 194 Sherbrooke street, who was so badly scalded in improving though still suffering much pain.

This child's accident, and she is only some seven years old was most serious.

It seems that in the mother's absence, from the kitchen, the child took the kettle filled with boiling water from the kitchen stove, and on trying to replace it fell dragging the kettle upon herself. The poor little one's legs were so badly scalded from knees to feet that the skin peeled off. Dr. Gray was at once summoned and did all that lay in medical skill to relieve the little girl's sufferings.

PIRACY ON CHINA COAST

Shipping Men in Hong Kong Alarmed by Its Recrudescence.

Hong Kong, November 19.—One of the armed pirates captured on the British steamer Chanwai, in West River, yesterday, was beheaded by the Chinese authorities. Three others, on a charge of looting stores and kidnapping, have been given life sentences in prison.

Soldiers encountered a gang of bandits on Kerr Channel and a desperate fight ensued. The former were being hard pressed, when a patrol arrived and ten of the outlaws were taken prisoners. Warning messages have been sent along the river and coasts to put vessels on their guard. Much alarm exists in shipping circles on account of the revival of piracy.

Prof G. M. Wrong of University of Toronto Startles "the Spectator."

London, Nov. 19.—Prof. G. M. Wrong of Toronto University, in a letter to the Spectator, referring to an article in the Spectator of October 13, says there are probably few people in Canada who could read the obviously well meant comments with other than profound irritation.

Prof. Wrong doubts whether many people in England understand how watchful, how painfully watchful, the Canadian public now is of the conduct of the British foreign office in such matters as the Newfoundland dispute.

"Since the Alaskan boundary award there has been a smouldering flame in Canada in the hearts of ninety-nine out of every hundred of her citizens. Lord Alverstone course in that matter did more towards breaking up the British empire than anything during the last quarter of a century. When you read this statement you will probably think it is grossly exaggerated, but it is not."

Prof Wrong says since the Alaskan award he had excellent means of observing the tone of our most thoughtful youth towards Great Britain and is obliged to admit with deep regret that distrust and alien anger are now to be found, where not many years ago, they were wholly wanting.

The editor of the Spectator in a foot note says, "Our correspondent's somewhat heated language will, we fear, not help to that calmness of mind which is essential in all international disputes. Were real injury to the interests of Canada threatened, we would be the first to insist that these interests be defended at all costs without any thought for the consequences. But though determined to stand by Canada in any matter of vital importance, we will never tread the vicious circle in which Canada is encouraged to ask for more than it give were an ill-prudent nation.

"If war were to result from the boundary or fishery quarrel, not on us, but Canada the brunt must fall. Canadian homes, not English homes, would suffer the miseries of war. Though this is not a reason or giving in to all American demands, it is reason for proceeding with care, and moderation. That Earl Grey has shown reasonable and moderate temper in his conduct in the Newfoundland dispute is our firm conviction.

The St James' Gazette, concluding a brief comment, says the Newfoundland affair may be a larger difficulty than the size of the colony seems to warrant.

It will be remembered that Prof. Wrong preached most eloquently in St. John's church a week ago yesterday.

Woman Jumped From Fifth Storey Window

New York, Nov. 17.—Holding an umbrella over her head, a young woman hurled herself from the fifth storey window of a house in east 54th street yesterday. Before she had fallen 20 feet the umbrella turned inside out. Her head struck a railing, and she was crushed to death.

The police have been unable to identify the woman, who is about 30 years old, and wore good clothing and jewels. She died before the eyes of scores of persons, while outside the door of the room from which she had leaped a man was waiting for her.

Do You Seek Health?

Consult Dr. Hamilton And You Will Be Shown the Way.

Thousands are in the same boat—all sickly, bilious and feeling far from well.

Trouble is the system is clogged with impurities which need to be cleared away.

Before downright sickness arrives you should cleanse and purify the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

At once you feel their mighty influence building up weak spots, clearing out disease, and putting you again on your feet.

These purely vegetable pills change your tired, worn-out condition to one of health and vigor, because they supply the body with nourishing blood that builds up and enlivens the entire system.

Mr. John Whitley, of Stanwood, P. O., Ont., knows the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and says: "I wouldn't be alive today had it not been for Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Last winter I was sick with grippe, and when spring came I was weak, bilious and rheumatic. I used enough medicine to cure twenty times, but I didn't get any help till I tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They purified my blood, took the yellow color out of my face, put new tone in my stomach, and increased my appetite. The bilious attacks and rheumatic pains gradually departed, and Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a new man of me. I proved their merit, and proclaim them a medicine for all men."

If better health and prompt recovery are important, get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut today. At all dealers. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But It's Dangerous.

You have to work hard. This uses up lost of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

ENERGY AND MR. EDISON

The expectations of Mr. Edison, respecting the storage battery which he has perfected, are such as to provoke a degree of wonder. Yet it is certainly too early to characterize them as extravagant.

The fact is the race of men is still a group of children in its relation to the problem of energy. For centuries, for milleniums, probably, we depended on the wind and the mountain stream. It was only yesterday that we thought out the steam engine. That is a crude machine—even in its elaborated and perfected form a mere pioneer makeshift. Consider the latest turbine steamer on its path from continent to continent. It may seem wonderful to the unimaginative mind that the great ship is able to shuttle the sea at such speed, or at all. Yet how primitive is the method by which power is secured to move her. Her dynamics are in truth in the stored-up energy of the sun, but this is released awkwardly, painfully, blunderingly, by the sweating labor of miners, railroad brakemen, coal heavers, and stokers, and in so crude a form that the huge hulk is big enough only to hold energy sufficient for a week's travel, the machinery of that energy itself constituting half the burden. Meanwhile, the very sea and air through which the ship travels, not alone in their restlessness, but in their chemical and electric constitution, are palpitant with power anxious to do with infinite ease more than is now achieved through grueling labor.

The dynamo is as yet beyond the steam mill, as the latter is a step beyond the wind mill, the water wheel, and the sail—though it is not through pure mechanism that energy will be most economically appropriated. The storage battery is a conserving engine of much promise, although as at present known, it has accomplished little.

The whole world is a-throb, energy, power eager to be at something, is chained and chambered on every hand. The mighty processes of nature are at play—they must be taught to work. It is time assuredly for some wise men to devise means to persuade the unemployed giants into our service, to induce them to do for us at our will far more than Mr. Edison expects of his new storage battery.

THE HILL PLAN

Listen to this from the Chicago Tribune of the 12th:

It is true, as President Hill said, that "Canada is merely a portion of our own western country, cut off from us by accident of original occupation and subsequent diplomatic agreement." It is equally true that it would profit both Canada and the United States to draw closer the commercial tie between them. The tightening of the tie would be, as Mr. Hill pointed out at some length, of peculiar advantage to Chicago. It would make the Canadian North-West, with its immense possibilities, tributary to Chicago. Nature meant that it would be like Minnesota and the Dakotas. If the merchants and manufacturers of the city were more given to making far-reaching plans for its future it would not be necessary for Mr. Hill to dilate to them on the local benefits of Canadian reciprocity.

And the far-reaching plans in the eyes of The Tribune would, materialized, sidetrack Ontario producers and build up a North-West sentiment opposed to trading with this Province. What should be thought of a public man in Ontario advocating a trade policy fashioned for us in Chicago and Washington?

Agnes McCharles of Sudbury Gets $10,000 For Prize

The will of the late Agnes McCharles, of Sudbury, Ont., formerly of Bruce County, will be entered for probate by the executors very shortly. Deceased left a considerable estate, and two clauses of his will are of public interest.

A bequest of $10,000 to the University of Toronto is made in the following clause: I give, devise, and bequeath to the Provincial University of Toronto the equivalent of $10,000 on the following terms and conditions, namely, that the interest therefrom shall be given from time to time, but not necessarily every year, like the Nobel prizes in a small way: (1) To any Canadian from one end of the country to the other, and whether student or not, who invents or discovers any new and improved process for the treatment of Canadian ores of minerals of any kind, after such process has been proved to be of special merit on a practical scale; (2) Or for any important discovery, invention, or device by any Canadian that will lessen the dangers and loss of life in connection with the use of electricity in supplying power and light; (3) Or for any marked public distinction achieved by any Canadian in scientific research in any useful practical line.

The Nobel prizes, on which his bequest is modelled, are those founded by the late Swedish millionaire, Alfred Bernard Nobel, as a reward for those who have rendered some signal service to mankind in the realms of science, medicine, art, or in the promotion of peace throughout the world.

Mr. McCharles, who died on Aug. 5th at Victoria Hospital, Montreal, was widely known among mining men as one of the first to become interested in the Sudbury nickel mines, and enjoyed quite a reputation as a well-informed man of the world. His letters to the press will be remembered by many.

A Town a Year Old.

A little over a year ago there was no such place as North Battleford, but in the West towns grow so rapidly that in its last issue The North Battleford News is able to look back in a somewhat "first settler" fashion and tell of the progress that has been made. "With this issue of The News we commence a new year, and in so doing we are led to reflect upon the progress of the town during the last twelve months, and also upon the progress of The News during that time. When The News was first published the town was practically in embryo, only a few business houses and dwellings being either erected or commenced. Since that time the town has attained wonderful progress and has grown to the size and dignity of a town such as in many parts of the Dominion it has taken years to produce. Although at the present time building is not so brisk, still the progress continues, and it is expected now that we have secured incorporation that progress will continue and be even more marked. The possibilities for the future of this town are unlimited, and we do not think we are exaggerating in predicting that in ten years time North Battleford will have attained the size and dignity of a large and progressive city."

Canned White Man.

A missionary bishop of the Episcopal Church was in the habit of introducing among the Eskimos many things to amuse them, in order to gain their attention to his preaching. But these sons of the Arctic regions were impressed by the white man's canned food more than by anything else he brought. One day the bishop decided to spring a genuine surprise on the natives. He had with him a talking machine, with records of the Eskimo tongue. He gathered his charges all around him in the little meeting-house, and started the machine. Everybody was puzzled. At last a smile broke out upon the face of one. "Canned white man!" he said in glee.—The Watchman.

Losing Hair

That is too bad! Been coming out for a long time, has it? So much the worse! But it is not so bad as it might be, for you can stop this falling, and you can stop it quickly, too! There is one remedy, just one—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. We speak from long experience.

Changes Made in Canadian Offices

London, Nov. 17.—After consultation with Lord Strathcona, and in accordance with instructions from Hon. Frank Oliver, Mr. Bruce Walker has made several changes among the Canadian commercial agents in Great Britain and Ireland. J. Webster goes to Glasgow from Dublin, where the office will be temporarily closed. Offices will be opened at Aberdeen, Londonderry, and York. The Aberdeen agent's territory is to be north of a line drawn across Scotland through Perth. H. W. Murray, the agent at Cardiff, goes to Exeter.

Mr. Walker recommends the purchase of one motor omnibus to be used in carrying the products of Canada through the Midland counties and the North of England, also three light democrats for use in the Welsh and Scotch hills. The motor exhibition car is at present at Peterborough. It has its electric motors removed so as to decrease the weight of the vehicle by a ton and a half. Mr. C. F. Just has been reinstated at the Charing Cross office. A vigorous policy will be adopted. Local booking agents will be roused up, and efforts to secure British emigrants will be redoubled.

MILLIONS IN OIL

STOCKS - THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD - BONDS

$50,000,000 This is the estimated output of COBALT, the World's Wonder Silver Camp, for the year 1907.

COBALT'S STOCK RECORD

"Hudson Bay" was marketed at 80 cents and advanced to $100.00 per share—"Foster" started at 80 cents, advanced to $3 00—"Buffalo" started at 50 cents, advanced to $2 50—"McKinley-Darragh" started at $1 25, advanced to $3 25—"Trethewey" started at $5.00 advanced to $12.50—"Kerr Lake" started at $30.00, advanced to $100.00—"University" started at $10.00, advanced to $15 00—"Nipissing" started at $4 00, advanced to $32,00—AND ALL WITHIN A FEW WEEKS.

Reader, are you sharing in the immense riches that are being taken from Cobalt's treasure vaults? If not, you are losing an opportunity perhaps never to be recalled.

We are now engaged on the organization of a Cobalt company which owns ONE OF THE MOST VALUABLE PROPERTIES, located right in the center of the rich silver zone.

Send your name and address, so that we may mail you literature now under preparation.

THE S. S. NESBITT COMPANY, COBALT MINING BROKERS

Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Canada

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 600 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 250 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 350 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

der. It's been hard traveling, an' we've broke down every few miles. But we'll have better luck the rest o' the journey."

Evidently his cheerful courage had been all that kept them going.

"Lost all we had in the great fire of '35," said he thoughtfully. "I went to bed a rich man, but when I rose in the morning I had not enough to pay a week's board. Everything had been swept away."

"A merchant?" Trove inquired.

"A partner in the great Star mill on East river," said the man. "I could have got a fortune for my share—at least $100,000—and I had worked hard for it."

"And were you not able to succeed again?"

"No," said the traveler sadly, shaking his head. "If some time you have to lose all you possess, God grant you still have youth and a strong arm. I tried—that is all—I tried."

The boy looked up at him, his heart touched. The man was near sixty years of age. His face had deep lines in it; his voice the dull ring of loss and failure and small hope. The woman covered her face and began to sob.

"There, mother," said the man, touching her head, "you'd better forget. I'll never speak of that again—never. We're going to seek our fortune. Away in the great west we'll seek our fortune."

His effort to be cheerful was perhaps the richest color of that odd scene there in the still woods and the firelight.

"We're going to take a farm in the most beautiful country in the world. It's easy to make money there."

"If you've no objection I'd like to go with you," said Thurst Tilly. "I'm a good farmer."

"Can you drive a team?" said the man.

"Drove horses all my life," said Thurst, whereupon they made a bargain.

Trove and Tilly went away to the brook for water, while the travelers went to bed in their big covered wagon. Trove lay down, with his blanket on the boughs, reading over the indelible record of that day. And he said often, as he thought of it years after, that the saddest thing in all the world is a man of broken courage.

They were up betimes in the morning, and Trove ate hastily from his own store and bade them all goodby and made off, for he had yet a long road to travel. He got to Cleveland late in the afternoon.

CHAPTER X.

THE second week of September Trove went down the hills again to school, with food and furniture beside him in the great wagon. He had not been happy since he got home. Word of that evening with the pretty "Vaughn girl" had come to the ears of Allen.

"You're too young for that, boy," said he the day Trove came. "You must promise me one thing—that you'll keep away from her until you are eighteen."

In every conviction Allen was like the hills about him—there were small changes on the surface, but underneath they were ever the same rock bound, firm, unmoving hills.

"But I'm in love with her," said the boy, with dignity. "It is more than I can bear. I tell you, sir, that I regard the young lady with—with deep affection." He had often a dignity of phrase and manner beyond his years.

"Then it will last," said Allen. "You're only a boy, and for awhile I know what is best for you."

Trove had to promise, and as that keen edge of his feeling wore away doubted no more the wisdom of his father. He wrote Polly a letter quaint with boyish chivalry and frankness, one of a package that has lain these many years in old ribbons and the scent of lavender.

He went to the Sign of the Dial as soon as he got to Hillsborough that day. Darrel was at home, and a happy time it was, wherein each gave account of the summer. A stranger sat working at the small bench. Darrel gave him no heed, chatting as if they were quite alone.

"And what is the news in Hillsborough?" said Trove, his part of the story finished.

"Have ye not heard?" said Darrel in a whisper. "Parson Hammond hath swapped horses."

Trove began to laugh.

"Nay, that is not all," said the tinker, his pipe in hand. "Deacon Bywaymer hath smitten the head o' Brooke. Oh, sor, 'twas a comedy. Brooke gave him an ill sounding word. Swackhammer removed his coat an' flung it down. 'Deacon, lie there,' said he. Then each began, as it were, to bruise the head o' the serpent. Brooke, poor man, he got the worst of it. An', sad to tell, his wife died the very next day."

"Of what?" Trove inquired.

"Marry, I do not know; it may have been joy," said the tinker, lighting his pipe. "Ah, sor, Brooke is tough. He smites the helping hand an' sickens the heart o' kindness. I offered him help an'-sympathy, an' he made it all bitter with suspicion o' me. I turned away an' said I to meself: 'Darrel, thy head is soft. A babe could brain thee with a lady's fan.'"

Darrel puffed his pipe in silence a little time.

"Every one hates Brooke," said Trove.

"Well, I'd another chance to try the good law on him," said Darrel presently. "In July he fell sick o' fever, an' I delayed me trip to nurse him. At length, when he was nearly well an' I had come to his home one evening, the Widow Glover met me at his door.

"'If ye expect money fer comin' here, ye better go on 'bout yer business,' Brooke shouted from the bedroom. 'I don't need ye any more, an' I'll send ye a bushel o' potatoes by 'n by. Good day.'

"Not a word o' thanks!" the tinker exclaimed. "Wrath o' God! I fear there is but one thing would soften him."

"And what is that?"

"A club," said Darrel. "But God forgive me! I must put away anger. Soon it went about that Brooke was to marry the widow. All were delighted, for each party would be in the nature of a punishment. God's justice! They did deserve each other."

Darrel shook with happiness and relighted his pipe.

"Mayhap ye've seen the dear lady," Darrel went on. "She is large, bony, quarrelsome—a weaver of some fifty years—neither amiable nor fair to look upon. Every one knows her—a survivor o' two husbands an' many a battle o' high words.

"Brooke, poor man, he got the worst of it."

"'Is it a case o' foreclosure, Brooke?' says I to him one day in the road.

"'No, sir,' he snaps out. 'I had a little mortgage on her furniture, but I'm going t' marry her for a helpmeet. She is a great worker an' neat an' savin'.'

"'An' headstrong,' says I. 'Ye must have patience with her.'

PLENTY OF CRANBERRIES

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 17.—An abundance of cranberries for the markets of the United States and Canada is definitely assured by the heavy shipments for the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade. The amount of berries already shipped in car load lots to points west of New York, and to Canada alone equals the total crop of last year, and the shipments at the present time exceed the total crop of 1905 by at least 50 per cent.

The shipments for the holiday markets this year are estimated at 200,000 barrels. Since May carloads have been held back for later trade during the winter, a conservative estimate places the full crop for this year at 250,000 barrels.

Dumont's Dream--- Aeroplanes for All

Paris, Nov. 17.—The poor man's automobile, safer, faster and cheaper, is M. Santos Dumont's expectation for a flying machine now that his aeroplane, The Bird of Prey, has showed great success in flying. He said:

"The practical aeroplane will be for the air what the democratic bicycle is for the earth.

"My present aeroplane was intentionally built large to overcome many obstacles as to principles. But with increased power, which means added, the size can be reduced. Increased speed adds to the safety as a powerful motor is more easily manipulated. We can, therefore, look forward to a practical aeroplane which can be comfortably housed in every home.

"The aeroplane will be much less expensive than the auto car. There will be no expensive tires to burst, and no bad roads to jolt them to pieces. There will be no collisions. Next year people will be able to go to their shops on their aeroplanes.

"The only danger would be the risk of a broken rudder, and I cannot see that a rudder would break itself.

"When the automobile was first introduced the man in the street treated those who had the temerity to operate them as madmen. Men will drive aeroplanes as they now drive automobiles. The day is not far distant when the aeroplane, as a means of locomotion, will replace in the air the bicycle on the earth."

$ YOUR DOLLAR $

IS SECURED BY

1st - Sixty six mining claims.

2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.

3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.

4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a cold, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real, and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that dazzle, whether with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar R. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made by the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 On1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

THEY JOIN

Nevada Hills, . . per share, $3.00
Nevada Hills Florence, " 20 cts.

Nevada Hills Florence Company

Joins the great Nevada Hills Property on the north, and it can be said further that the trend of the vein is directly through it. The Nevada Hills Florence Company owns the Florence No. 3, Blue Bell, Little Fellow and Tripod claims, which are included in this group. The company has a capitalization of 1,250,000 shares of a par value of $1 each, full paid and non-assessable. There is a treasury reserve of 250,000 shares.

The offering is a block of 100,000 Shares at 20 Cents per Share

Following are the officers of the Company; President, S. L. Caldwell; Vice-President, Charles Farnsworth; Treasurer, Clarence Edsall; Secretary, F. L. Ballard. They are all well known residents of Colorado Springs and refer to any bank in that city.

The property belonging to the NEVADA HILLS COMPANY is covered by two full claims and two fractions. Running through the group is an immense vein of great richness, carrying big values in gold and silver. The first shipment from the mine brought in net values of over $200 per ton, and now nothing less than $300 per ton is sent to the smelters. Shipments continue steady and heavy and recently a $30,000 lot of ore was sent out from the mine. It is one of the great bonanzas of Nevada and ranks with the Comstocks (only 60 miles distant), which have produced hundreds of millions of dollars worth of the precious metals. The Nevada Hills vein is yielding bountifully from several openings. The trend of the Nevada Hills vein is directly through the Nevada Hills Florence group, which joins it on the west. The ore has been opened up in the one property and the stock has a ready sale on the market at better than $3 per share. Ore has not yet been opened in the Nevada Hills Florence group—that's the difference and that is why our offering is made at 20 cents per share. But this figure will not long prevail. There are many veins outcropping on the surface and a little work may open rich ore therein at any moment. It will mean an immediate advance in the price of the stock. Altogether Nevada Hills Florence at 20 cents is the safest speculative mining investment offered. The enormous possibilities for extraordinary profit are apparent.

Superior Value.

When buying a newspaper the same rule should apply as when buying goods. You want the best for your money—There is one "best" in Canada and it should be in every home. You should have your own local paper without doubt, but you should also have the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. It can be had at the price of the cheapest—one dollar a year—and is certainly the greatest family and farm paper on the continent. Their premium picture given free to all subscribers, entitled "A Tug of War," is away ahead of the ordinary premium pictures and will adorn any home. The Family Herald is certainly very superior value this season.

Lost Three Fingers by Buzz-Saw.

A practical illustration of the slang expression "Don't monkey with the buzz-saw" was given at the Cavendish Lumber Company's mill at Lakefield, when Gordon Graham, aged 14 years lost three fingers of his right hand. It seems that the young lad was playing with another employe, when his hand came in contact with the revolving saw, the result being as noted. Dr. W. A. Baker dressed the wound.

Quaker Oats Plant to be Enlarged

It is reported on seemingly good authority that the Quaker Oats Co. will shortly make important additions to their present large local factory, owing mainly to vastly increased demands for space since the installation of their flour manufacturing plant. This together with increasing demands for other products this factory will undoubtedly necessitate a great enlargement of their present plant.

Copper Coins are Scarce.

Local banks are deploring a shortage of copper coins. Application has been made to Ottawa for aid in breaking this stringency of these subsidiary coins, but so far without success, as it seems that there is a shortage of "coppers" all over the country.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yea criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weaknesses, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to obtain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anteversion, and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound.

Mr. Jas. Fuller Has Paralytic Stroke

Mr. Jas. Fuller, who resides at 123 Chamberlain street, was stricken with a paralytic stroke Saturday morning while working in the carpenter shop of the C.G.E. Works. The Dan Spence ambulance was called, and Mr. Fuller conveyed to his home. Dr. Bradd was summoned and it was found that Mr. Fuller had suffered a very severe stroke. It is hoped however, that he will soon recover.

Second Attempt to Budge Vessel Was a Failure.

Quebec, Nov. 19.—Another attempt was made to float the steamer Bavarian last evening at high tide, but failed, and now it is judged the stranded vessel cannot be hauled off Wye Rock unless in parts.

The tide was at the highest point it can reach this fall, for the reason that the heavy north-east blow caused the water to rise more than two feet over its normal height. There was at the same time any amount of assistance, and all the various boats tugging at the big wreck could do was to haul her forward, but they could not stir her off where she caught last evening by the keel. After working a half hour or more the task had to be abandoned, but another trial will probably be made today, though everything indicates the chances for floating the vessel are poor.

W. R. Hearst's Election Expenses

New York, Nov. 19.—Somewhat of a sensation was caused in political circles here when William R. Hearst, who was candidate for Governor on the Independence League And Democratic tickets, filed with the secretary of State at Albany a statement showing that he had spent the sum of $256,370.22 in his efforts to win the election. Not since the law requiring candidates for public office to file a list of their expenses went into effect a number of years ago has anyone seeking the favor of the voters admitted the spending of one-tenth of that sum for election purposes. The sum, in magnitude, is far and away greater than any others recorded in the books of the State for that particular purpose.

Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate for Governor, who was elected, spent, according to his report, only $818.55, which would equal something like eight cents for every 100 votes cast for him, as against over 30 cents cost to Hearst for each individual vote he received.

The new Pure Food and Drug Law will mark it on the label of every Cough Cure containing Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupifying or poisonous drug. But it passes Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure as made for 20 years, entirely free. Dr. Shoop all along has bitterly opposed the use of all opiates or narcotics. Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is absolutely safe even for the youngest babe—and it cures. It does not simply suppress. Get a safe and reliable cough Cure by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's. Let the law be your protection. We cheerfully recommend and sell it. J. D. Tully.

To Bring Duchess and Young Princess

Duke of Connaught Will Visit Canada as Inspector of British Forces, Not as a Royal Prince.

London, Nov. 19.—The Canadian Associated Press understands the Duchess of Connaught will accompany the Duke to Canada, who goes as inspector-general of the forces, and not as a prince of the blood royal on the tour.

The Duke of Connaught is now 56 years of age. He served in Canada during the Fenian Raid of 1870, and visited this country about fifteen years ago. Prince Arthur of Connaught, who passed through Canada a few months ago, is his only son, and eventual heir to the throne of Saxe-Coburg.

The Duchess of Connaught was Princess Louisa Margaret of Prussia.

Princess Patricia was born on March 17, 1886, and is therefore only 20 years of age.

Steamer Dix, Carrying People from Seattle Across the Puget Sound, Sunk After a Collision.

Seattle Wash., Nov., 20.—The steamer Dix, Captain P. Lermon, bound from Seattle to Port Blakely with passengers, sunk two miles north of Alki Point, shortly after seven o'clock last night, after having collided with the steamship Jeanie, Captain P. H. Mann, of the Alaska Coast Company.

Forty-three passengers and members of the crew of the Dix are missing, and thirty-six were saved. The Dix is a total wreck. The Jeanie was not injured in the least. The master of the Dix was saved. The collision occurred while the sound was almost as smooth as a mill pond, and after the boats had been steaming within sight of each other for a quarter of an hour.

IMPORT WAS SLIGHT.

The Jeanie was backing when she collided with the Dix and the impact was very slight. The Dix was struck abaft of amidship on the starboard side. She listed heavily to port for a brief period, righted herself then sank stern first. There was hardly time to launch life rafts or boats before she was almost entirely submerged. Passengers jumped from the decks into the water; women screamed, and officers and men called orders that could hardly be heard above the din. The passengers from the Dix who could swim made their way to the sides of the Jeanie and were dragged aboard. The Jeanie was not moved until after all who had reached her had been hauled aboard. Then she cruised about picking up several who managed to stay above water. It was after ten o'clock before the Jeanie left the scene of the catastrophe and steamed to the Virginia dock, with her thirty-nine survivors.

The Jeanie of the Alaska Coast Company had finished unloading at the Great Northern docks at Smith's Cove, and had started for Tacoma shortly before seven o'clock just about the same time the Dix left the Flyer dock for Port Blakeley.

LAST TRIP FOR NIGHT.

There were no passengers on the Jeanie The Dix was making the last trip of the night and was well filled with passengers.

When within about two miles north of Alki Point the steamers were within a short distance of each other, steaming along converging lines. The captain of the Jeanie says he signalled for the Dix to pass him, and that his whistle was answered. The Dix was then within speaking distance of the Jeanie and to the port of her. Suddenly Mate Dennison, who was at the wheel of the Dix, rather hard over to starboard, as if to cross in front of the other vessel. Captain Mixon of the Jeanie, who was on the bridge, saw that an accident was imminent, and calling out a warning to the man at the wheel of the Dix, gave the signal to reverse his own engines, and his vessel was slowly backing away when the two came together with only a slight crash. For a moment all was still, then a panic followed. When the Dix began to sink stern first, some passengers and members of the crew leaped into the sea. Other passengers huddled in groups on the decks, or knelt in prayer. The women, who had little chance for their lives, stayed with the sinking steamer and were drowned as in a trap.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At yesterday morning's session of the police court H. H. Hillier, remanded from last week on a charge of misappropriation of $600 belonging to Sarah Hillier, was tried.

R. F. McWilliams appeared for the plaintiff, while Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, looked after the defendant, H. H Hillier.

Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the case for the Crown.

Mrs. S. Hillier the first witness said that she was a widow of the late Joseph Hillier. There was insurance of $1,000 in Court Peterborough Canadian Order of Foresters, payable to herself. She said she entrusted H. H. Hillier with the cheque to deposit in the Ontario Bank to her credit. He went away and brought Mrs. Hillier $283 for funeral expenses and really money. She got a separate cheque for $30. He did not bring back any savings bank account to show. She supposed that he had deposited it to her credit. He paid for some coal and other sundries without order or authority. After some time she discovered there was nothing to her credit in the bank and Hillier threatened her with violence if she mentioned anything about the matter. Mr. Fredenburg, C.R., of the Foresters gave her the cheque.

The Bank of Montreal accountant, testified to Hillier having deposited $750 to his own credit in May.

Mr. Dean, teller in the quondam Bank of Ontario at the time of the original transaction, remembered Hillier as the depositor of $750 to Hillier's own account.

The accused was committed for trial which will likely be before the county court the second week in December.

His Honor Judge Weller decided to renew H. H. Hillier's bail at $400, of two sureties of $200 each. Messrs. Wm. Talbot and George Hutchinson will again act as bondsmen.

Yesterday a special session of the police court was held when Joseph Shearer was allowed to go on suspended sentence, being admonished by his worship to mend his ways.

Shearer, who is only a boy, living at 614 Water street, was charged during the morning session with stealing a number of private post cards from A. H. Stratton's book store on Saturday evening. He has appeared in police court on different occasions on charges of theft. He took $20 once before, also some goods from a house where a sale was going on. The magistrate thought the boy had a pretty bad career. He was remanded until the afternoon. He could not be kept at the children's shelter as he has run away every time. Mr. O'Connell appeared for the lad and made a strong plea for clemency.

Mr. John P. Hurley Died Suddenly

The very many friends in this city, as well as a host of acquaintances in Toronto, Detroit and other cities, of Mr. John P. Hurley, learned yesterday with deepest regret that this former Peterborough resident had died suddenly in Quebec on Sunday.

Mr. Hurley was born and raised in this city and was for many years G. T. R. ticket agent here. Mr. Hurley was 37 years of age, and a young man possessed of many endearing qualities and a bright business man.

Some years ago he was located in Detroit where he carried on a large insurance business. Recently Mr. Hurley accepted the position of inspector for the Empire Accident and Surety Co., of London, Ont., His headquarters were at Quebec. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. E. Hurley, King street, two sisters; Miss M. Hurley, residing with her mother, and Sister Carmalita of Lindsay.

The remains will be brought here for burial and will likely arrive today when arrangements for the funeral will be made.

Good Amount of Taxes Still Due

Mr. Green the local occupant of the "Seat of Cæsar," is glad the 15th of November has passed into innocous desuetude, as the rush for the few days preceding that date was terrific at the tax office.

On this date the last payment of taxes was due to save extra expenses. The total amount of taxes to be collected is $125,742.68. The first payment and all that was collected previous to the second payment, or what was collected during the past week amounted to $18,134.17, making a total of $112,742.68 already collected. This leaves a balance of uncollected taxes of $13,121.08. The court of revision will in all probability cut off about $3,000, thus leaving about $10,121.08 still to collect.

Salvation Officers Have Gone Home

Col. and Mrs. Gaskin, of Toronto, the former being general secretary of the Salvation Army in Toronto, who with Brigadier Hargrave, of Montreal, officer in charge of this province took part in the army services here on Sunday, left yesterday morning for Toronto and Brigadier Hargrave left to visit the corps at Trenton and other towns along the front.

They arrived from Toronto Saturday night and were met at the station by the local band and escorted to the barracks, where an interesting meeting was held. The attendance on Sunday night was unusually large.

HOW LONG TARIFF WILL CONTINUE

High Protection Will Remain While Non-Manufacturing People Submit

PROF. OSLER ON NEW TACK

Says People of England Would Be Infinitely Better Off if Tobacco and Beer Were Dumped in the Sea.

London, Nov. 19.—The Liverpool Post and Mercury in a long editorial refers among other matter to a company recently formed in Canada to manufacture tin plates and sheet steel, and asking a protective duty of 33 1-3 per cent.

"This is the way," says the Post, "Canadian manufacturers respond to the Chamberlain suggestion that they be content with the industries they have and leave others to this country. Under a protective tariff they are just as likely to do that as are to tax our food for the benefit of the Canadian Manufacturers Association. So long as non-manufacturing Canadians will submit to be taxed for the benefit of the manufacturers, a high tariff system will continue, but no longer.

"Referring to the cablegram received by Strathcona from Hon. Mr. Oliver re the discovery of copper in New Ontario and the investment in the Yukon district, the Post says there is a good deal of lead and some good in the Rossland—Nelson district B.C., but the mines there, from a financial point of view, can scarcely be described as prosperous.

Professor Osler, addressing a meeting at the Working Men's College, said, "If all the beer and spirits could be dumped into the sea for a year the people of England would be infinitely better off, and if all the tobacco were also dumped into the sea it would be good for the people and hard on the fish."

The King's Daughters also met last night. This evening at eight o'clock, in the Sunday school, an address on "A Women's way through unknown Labrador," will be given by Mrs. L. Hubbard. On Wednesday evening an open meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held.

An address by a brotherhood man on "The forward movement among men," will be given.

On Thursday evening the choir will practice.

On Friday at 4.15 the Mission Band will meet.

On Saturday afternoon the Girl's Auxiliary will meet and tea will be served from 4 to 6.

Patrick McAuliffe's Funeral Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock the last mortal remains of the late Patrick McAuliffe, who passed away yesterday morning will be given sepulture in the Ennismore church. The late Mr. McAuliffe, who died from appendicitis was only 15 years of age. He was a son of Leonard McAuliffe of Emily, his mother dying while he was an infant. He has since lived with his aunt Mrs. Murray, 111 Rubidge street. Patrick was attending the Central public school, and his many friends will learn with regret of his demise. Besides a father, two brothers, William and Joseph, and one sister, Mrs. C. A. Costello, as well as his aunt, are left to mourn his loss.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

RUGBY.

The Toronto Star of last night, in its report of the Hamilton-Montreal game, says of a Peterborough boy as follows;

"Ben Simpson was the best man on the field. He made the longest run of the game, a sprint of 55 yards, and his punting made the Montrealers' efforts look cheap. When Ben was laid out lobster did the receiving, and did it well.

Rev. J. R. Webb for Murray St. Church

Rev J. R. Webb, pastor of Point St. Charles Baptist church, Quebec, has been unanimously invited by the Murray street Baptist congregation to succeed Rev. Freeman J. Scott as pastor of that church.

The report of the Pulpit Committee was unanimously adopted on motion of Mr. T. F. Matthews and Dr. Scott. The invitation will be extended to Mr Webb at once and it is expected that his duties here will begin the first Sunday in January.

Rev. Mr. Webb is a graduate of McMaster University, Toronto. Mr. Webb is a young man with a good appearance and gave a stirring address here last month on the Grand Ligne mission work in Quebec.

Rev. F. J. Scott, the retiring pastor of the church, and Mrs. Scott expect to leave for Bolivia early in January on foreign mission work under the auspices of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Terrorists Kill a Soldier

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Nov. 20.—A daring terrorist attack was made in the streets yesterday on a collector of the government Alcohol stores, who was escorted by two soldiers. The terrorists killed one soldier, wounded the collector and seized a bag containing $1,000. The remaining soldier fired wildly, killed a passer-by and wounded another, whereupon the terrorists dropped their booty and escaped.

Says Canada Wants Italians to Come

Rome, Nov. 20.—Minister of Foreign Affairs Tittoni Saturday received the Marquis Doria, commercial agent of the Italian Consulate at Montreal, who has just returned to Italy after accomplishing his mission to Canada, where he enquired into the question of new outlets for Italian emigration, with the object of deviating it from the too-congested centers in the United States. He found the Canadian Government to be most favorably inclined towards emigration from Italy, and ready to pay a subsidy of $40,000 yearly to a direct line of steamers between Italy and Montreal. Emigrants, the Marquis added, are needed in Canada, and will be welcomed, especially in Ontario.

County Council's Final Meeting for Year

The final meeting for the year of the Peterborough County Council will be held next week, beginning on Tuesday, Nov. 27. All the business for 1906, will be wound up and also all matters pertaining to the new county House of Refuge.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held on Friday evening at the home of Mr H. Walker.

COFFEE IMPORTERS

Publish a Book About Coffee.

There has been much discussion as to Coffee and Postum lately, so much in fact that some of the coffee importers and roasters have taken to type to promote the sale of their wares and check if possible the rapid growth of the use of Postum Food Coffee.

In the coffee importers' book a chapter is headed "Coffee as a Medicine" and advocates its use as such.

Here is an admission of the truth most important to all interested:

Every physician knows, and every thoughtful person should know, that habitual use of any "medicine" of the drug-stimulant type of coffee or whiskey quickly causes irritation of the tissues and organs stimulated and finally sets up disease in the great majority of cases if persisted in. It may show in any one of the many organs of the body and in the great majority of cases can be directly traced to coffee in a most unmistakable way by leaving off the active irritant—coffee—and using Postum Food Coffee for a number of 10 days. If the result is relief from nervous trouble, dyspepsia, bowel complaint, heart failure, weak eyes or any other malady set up by a poisoned nervous system, you have your answer with the accuracy of a demonstration in mathematics.

"There's a reason" for Postum.

STRIKE ON PEARY'S SHIP, CREW SUFFERED GREATLY

PONTIFF IS SAD

Over Church Being Fought By Her Own Children.

Rome, Nov. 19.—The Osservatore Romano has published a letter from the Pope to Cardinal Respighi, Vicar-General of his Holiness, requesting him to offer special prayers for the enemies of the Church, this being the only means left the Pontiff in the present "sorrowful condition of the Church, now fought and oppressed by many of her own children who have become her enemies." Continuing, the Pope refers to and quotes from the Bible, particularly Hebrews v., 7. This letter is regarded as of special importance now, it being evidently inspired by the situation in France, and is taken to indicate that the Pope believes he has exhausted all other means to reach a satisfactory understanding in the French difficulty.

Fifteen More Deer Arrived Yesterday

Yesterday Mr. Tom Eastland, the well-known bonifase of Blackhorn, drove down to the city with Mr. Andy Hall. These gentlemen were the last of the Eastland hunting party to come to the city. Messrs. Herb. Snowden and Isaac Eastland arriving on Saturday with two deer. "Tom" brought down 13 yesterday, two having been left at his hotel. This makes a total of eighteen shot by the party, or the full government allowance of two for each member of the party.

Their deer ran well into size and included several large bucks with good sets of horns. When Mr. Eastland is the "Man behind the gun," there is no "buck fever," but a dead deer.

AN AWFUL RECORD

191 Suicides in New York City in Three Months.

New York, November 22.—One hundred and ninety-one persons committed suicide in New York City during the three months previous to July 1 last, says the report of Health Commissioner Darlington, sent to Mayor McClellan yesterday. Sixty-two persons were killed by electric cars during the quarter, forty-one of the total number being in Brooklyn.

The total number of deaths by accident and negligence during the three months was 995.

Two persons over 100 years old died, Rebecca Machaler, 101, and Rose Lacmine, 103.

British Capture Boer Raiders.

Ferreira and all His Followers Fall Into the Hands of Colonial Patrols.

Cape Town, Nov. 19.—Ferreira, the leader of the Boer raid from German South-West Africa into the northern part of Cape Colony, and all his followers were captured yesterday by colonial patrols.

This latest Boer "uprising" was never taken very seriously, but the British authorities were doubtless a little uneasy lest it should gradually assume more serious proportions. Ferreira and his followers were little better than a band of brigands.

Indescribable Hardships Said to Have Been Endured—Hardest Time of Any Ship Afloat.

North Sydney, N.S., Nov. 20.—"A letter to his brother from Henry Shortall, one of the crew of the Roosevelt, Commodore Peary's Arctic steamship, gives particulars of a strike among the crew of the vessel at Hopedale, one of the most northerly ports on the Canadian Labrador, when the expedition was at that place on October 22. Shortall states in his letter that the mate, boatswain, four sailors and four firemen refused to go further in the Roosevelt on account of her unseaworthy condition.

She was leaking badly at that time and had her stern crushed in. They had then the third rudder in use, two having previously been lost in the ice floes. The crew were in a state of starvation, and were living in such squalor and filth that their physical condition would be permanently impaired. The hardships they endured in the polar regions were indescribable.

Members of the crew demanded a survey on the Roosevelt, but neither Commander Peary nor Captain Bartlett would consent to this, and neither would they consent to the crew going to St. John's by the steamer Virginia Lake, as they wished to do. Shortall says they had the hardest time of any ship that ever was afloat, that the story of their sufferings and hardships would fill a volume and that under no circumstances would any of them ever again go north on a similar expedition.

When the Roosevelt left North Sydney she had three boilers, but before she reached Greenland two of them had burst. He also stated that the ship was anything but strong, was unfit for Arctic work, and, as he expressed it, "after getting into heavy ice she used to go together like an accordeon playing music." She was altogether too light for the work of forcing through the ice to the pole, and when she reached Hopedale there was only one pintle in her rudder, and the crew objected to going further in her, fearing that she would be lost.

On the way north, he says, they landed part of the stores. Commander Peary telling them that in fifteen months' time there would be a relief ship down to them, but such a ship never came, nor did they get the stores promised to come by her. Since August last they have been living on two meals a day, and criticized the commander in the strongest terms possible.

All of Peary's crew came from Newfoundland.

CABLE STEAMER DAMAGED

The Burnside Met Rough Weather—Attempt at Flatlay.

Seattle, Wash. Nov. 19.—The United States cable steamer Burnside, Captain Henry W. Stamford, arrived at Sitka yesterday, according to advices to the Post Intelligencer, with deck seams opened, after encountering very rough weather. The work on the cable laying will not be delayed longer than a few days, however. During the trip the vessel was entirely submerged at times, and firemen tried to mutiny.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Simple Way to Overcome the Dangers of this Disagreeable Disease.

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, with many annoying symptoms. In this climate there are few who do not suffer from this disagreeable disease, often in a chronic and dangerous state.

Fortunately, within the last few years, a simple and reliable treatment for catarrhal troubles has been found—Hyomei, a combination of healing and germ-killing oxiems, that, when breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaches the tiniest cells in the respiratory organs, carrying its healing and health-giving properties to every part where the catarrhal poison is present.

Used in this way, Hyomei kills all catarrhal germs, drives the poison from the system and heals all irritation that may be present in the mucous membrane.

If you have the ordinary catarrhal symptoms, such as offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, cough, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, hoarseness, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, coughing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we unqualifiedly agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for the symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

PALE AND ANXIOUS

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored, and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 524 King St. East, Toronto, who says: "After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism, which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound, and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 9? 1906

UNITED STATES AND JAPAN

A recent Washington despatch says that the relations between the United States and Japan are creating a great deal of anxiety. The killing of the Japanese sealers, following so closely by the open hostility to the people of that nation in California, has created a situation which, if not exactly strained, may easily become so, if there are any more "pin pricks." The most formidable cause of anxiety is the probable action of congress in regard to Oriental exclusion. The labor unions in the Western States have been passing resolutions calling for the extension to the Japanese of the same treatment as is accorded to the Chinese, and that question is almost certain to be brought up in the congressional session which opens in December next. The very fact that such legislation is proposed will arouse the resentment of the Japanese almost as much as its passage would. Some men high in official circles in Washington say that the adoption by Congress of such a measure would mean an instant declaration of war by Japan, and the correspondent who sends out the story adds:

A sudden war with Japan would prove disastrous to the United States, particularly if this country were placed on the defensive. Our fleet in the Pacific and Orient is no match for the Japanese fleets, and Japan, striking a sudden blow, could do vast damage. In the event of war with Japan the Philippines would be certain to pass from our control, for Japan, near at hand, could quickly land an overwhelming army in the archipelago and readily subdue the small American garrison.

But not alone the Philippines would be in danger. Before the bulk of the American fleet could get around to the Pacific the Japanese could take the Hawaiian islands, and another fleet, sailing to unprotected Alaska, could work inestimable damage. Alaska and Hawaii would be almost helpless in the face of an invading Japanese fleet and army.

The portion of a conservative California newspaper on the question of Japanese in the public schools is well indicated by the following comment from the Sacramento Union: We can see no reason why the Japanese or other unwelcome race should have the right to invade our schools which our people maintain for their own purposes. Under our system, our schools, while they are styled public schools, are strictly subject to such regulations as may be made for them by those by whom they are maintained. The protest against mixed schools, is, in the judgment of the Union, well founded and entirely justifiable. Our schools are maintained for the training of our own children, not as agencies for the Americanization of foreign and alien races which have no natural or possible part in our civilization.

Revolution Menaces Cuba's Future

New York, Nov. 10.—According to a Havana despatch to the Herald, it behooves the United States to be extremely careful in dealing with the Cuban question. Developments reveal an ugly situation, fraught with danger to both countries. Whatever solution may be had, whether the United States establishes a protectorate or makes way for another Cuban republic, a revolution is not the worst result that now threatens.

There is a conspiracy on foot to blow up English railway property with dynamite, if, after the contemplated election, The United States hands the government over to the Liberals and ends its control of affairs. This is the sworn plan of a large body of influential and wealthy Cubans to force England to compel the United States to continue a supervisory government.

One Cuban told the Herald correspondent he had 500 pounds of dynamite, which he would use for this purpose, and that bands of radical Cubans in Havana and in Cienfuegos have been formed to do the same with American sugar estates.

On the other side, Juan Gualberto Gomez, a negro leader of a majority of the Liberals came out yesterday with an open threat of revolution if the Americans do not go away on time and leave the government to the Cuban people. His fire was drawn by the discovery of the movement to demand some form of protectorate after the election has been held.

The movement has reached considerable proportions and now embraces several hundred native Cubans of high intelligence, representing many millions of capital. Its platform, which will be urged on the Roosevelt administration and upon Congress, is most carefully guarded, as it is certain of denunciation by the Liberals, who soon may be put in power and would frighten sympathetic Cubans of property from openly embracing it, lest they later lose their all.

Watford's Wordsworth.

Watford, the prettiest village of the Western Ontario plains, domiciles a poet, not unknown to local fame, but until now unscanned by metropolitan eyes, says The Toronto World. His name, in the language of the good folk of his particular bailiewick, is Dad Williams, but, with a winning modesty, he merges his rugged personality in the Co. part of Harris & Co., the publishers of that compendium of household rural knowledge, yclept Watford Guide-Advocate.

Dad Williams is a remote Gadsby, or Billee Glynn, or The Khan. Like his city prototypes, he writes things now and again that won't scan, but they, nevertheless, see the light of printers' ink. Take, for example, the following, dedicated to "Pippins," much sought after in Watford:

He sat down be-cider
As they went to press,
She slipped on the peelings
And the evapor-ator.

Purely bucolic, and somewhat strained, but bearing the marks of native talent untrained. The pun on the last word is atrocious, as all puns should be, but it fetches the public.

Then, what a picture of domestic gaiety is brought to mind by

"True to the core."
The maiden said,
And swung the peeling
Around her head.
It lit and formed the letter Q.
He called next day,
But 'twas skidoo.

Disfigured by a taint of slang in the concluding foot, but otherwise a rural gem. The word "skidoo" is an Americanism, and is accounted for by the fact that Dad once wrote copy for The Brooklyn Eagle.

But Watford's Wordsworth rises to his true dignity when he treats of The County Fair. Here he is at home, in fact is secretary-treasurer of his own show. You fairly see the variegated scene as you read:

Yards of tidies and miles of lace,
Horses that can trot and some that pace,
Bangles as long as a giraffe's neck,
Beets by the bushel and onions by the peck,
Apples rosy and peaches rare,
For beauty and flavor beyond compare;
Jam and jellies to suit all tastes,
Pretty girls in new shirt waists,
Farmer boys with beribboned whip,
And saucy fakirs that give you lip.

It is all there, and if you read it it makes you homesick.

But for this once, enough of Poet Dad, as fine a man as ever walked, in spite of his sack of verse-making.

THE BUCKINGHAM CASE

Will Be Proceeded Without Fear or Favor to Anyone.

Ottawa, November 10.—The charges against the thirteen Buckingham men indicted by the coroner's jury in connection with the deaths of men in the labor riots will be proceeded with a week from today. It has not yet been definitely decided what the charge will be. Mr. Edmund Guerin, of Montreal, who will be Crown prosecutor, says the occurrence will be probed to the bottom, regardless of who is implicated.

3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a bald, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a dozen group of claims, located from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 25 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do, it is being driven 9 or 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (except 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15? 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Nevada Hills Florence Company

Joins the great Nevada Hills Property on the north, and it can be said further that the trend of the vein is directly through it. The Nevada Hills Florence Company owns the Florence No. 3, Blue Bell, Little Fellow and Tripod claims, which are included in this group. The company has a capitalization of 1,250,000 shares of a par value of $1 each, full paid and non-assessable. There is a treasury reserve of 250,000 shares.

The offering is a block of 100,000 Shares at 20 Cents per Share

Following are the officers of the Company; President, S. L. Caldwell; Vice-President, Charles Farnsworth; Treasurer, Clarence Edsall; Secretary, F. L. Ballard. They are all well known residents of Colorado Springs and refer to any bank in that city.

The property belonging to the NEVADA HILLS COMPANY is covered by two full claims and two fractions. Running through the group is an immense vein of great richness, carrying big values in gold and silver. The first shipment from the mine brought in net values of over $200 per ton, and now nothing less than $300 per ton is sent to the smelters. Shipments continue steady and heavy and recently a $30,000 lot of ore was sent out from the mine. It is one of the great bonanzas of Nevada and ranks with the Comstocks (only 60 miles distant), which have produced hundreds of millions of dollars worth of the precious metals. The Nevada Hills vein is yielding bountifully from several openings. The trend of the Nevada Hills vein is directly through the Nevada Hills Florence group, which joins it on the west. The ore has been opened up in the one property and the stock has a ready sale on the market at better than $3 per share. Ore has not yet been opened in the Nevada Hills Florence group—that's the difference and that is why our offering is made at 20 cents per share. But this figure will not long prevail. There are many veins outcropping on the surface and a little work may open rich ore therein at any moment It will mean an immediate advance in the price of the stock. Altogether Nevada Hills Florence at 20 cents is the sanest speculative mining investment offered. The enormous possibilities for extraordinary profit are apparent.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,
Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"'I can manage her,' said Brooke. 'The first morning after we are married I always say to my wife: "Here's the breeches. Now if ye want 'em, take 'em, an' I'll put on the dress."'"

"He looked wise, then, as if 'twere a great argument.

"'Always?' says I. 'God bless thee, 'tis an odd habit.'

"Well, the boast o' Brooke went from one to another an' at last to the widow's ear. They say a look o' firmness an' resolution came into her face, an' late in August they were married of an evening at the home o' Brooke. Well, about then, I had been having trouble."

"Trouble?" said Trove.

"It was another's trouble—that of a client o' mine, a poor woman out in the country. Brooke had a mortgage on her cattle, an' she could not pay, an' I undertook to help her. I had some money due me, but was unable to put me hand on it. That day before the wedding I went to the old sinner.

"'Brooke, I came to see about the Martha Vaughn mortgage,' says I."

"'Martha Vaughn!'" said Trove, turning quickly.

"Yes; one o' God's people," said the tinker. "Ye may have seen her."

"I have seen her," said Trove.

"'At 10 o'clock tomorrow I shall foreclose,' says Brooke, waving his fist.

"'Give her a little time—till the day after tomorrow. Man, it is not much to ask,' says I.

"'Not an hour,' says he, an' I came away.

"But, God be praised," said Darrel, "Brooke was unable to foreclose that day, an' the next was Sunday, an' bright an' early on Monday morning I paid the debt."

"Mrs. Vaughn has a daughter," said Trove, blushing.

"Aye, an' she hath a pretty redness in her lip," said Darrel quickly, "an' a merry flash in her eye. Thou hast yet far to go, boy. Look not upon her now or she will trip thee. By an' by, boy; by an' by."

There was an odd trait in Darrel. In familiar talk he often made use of "ye"—a shortened "you"—in speaking to those of old acquaintance, but when there was man or topic to rouse him into higher dignity it was more often "thee" or "thou" with him. Trove made no answer and shortly went away.

CHAPTER XI.

CHRISTMAS eve had come and the year of 1850. For two weeks snow had rushed over the creaking gable of the forest above Martha Vaughn's to pile in drifts or go hissing down the long hillside. A freezing blast had driven it to the roots of the stubble and sown it deep and rolled it into ridges and whirled it into heaps and mounds or flung it far in long waves that seemed to plunge, as if part of a white sea, and break over fence and roof and chimney in their down rush. Candle and fire light filtered through frosty panes and glowed dimly under dark fathoms of the snow sheet now flying full of voices. Mrs. Vaughn opened her door a moment to peer out. A great horned owl flashed across the light beam with a snap and rustle of wings and a cry "Oo-oo-oo!" lonely, like that, as if it were the spirit of darkness and the cold wind. Mrs. Vaughn started, turning quickly and closing the door.

"Ugh, what a sound!" said Polly. "It reminds me of a ghost story."

"Well," said the widow, "that thing belongs to the only family o' real ghosts in the world."

"What was it?" said a small boy. There were Polly and three children about the fireplace.

"An air cat," said she, shivering, her back to the fire. "They go round at night in a great sheet o' feathers an' rustle it, an' I declare they do cry lonesome. Got terrible claws too."

"Ever hurt folks?" one of the boys inquired.

"No; but they're just like some kinds o' people—ye want to let 'em alone. Any one that'll shake hands with an owl would be fool enough to eat fishhooks. They're not made for friendship, those owls."

Presently she sat down by a table, where there were candles, and began reading aloud from a county paper. She read anecdotes of men remarkable for their success and piety, and an account of Indian fighting, interrupted, as a red man lifted his tomahawk to slay, by the rattle of an arrow on the buttery door.

It was off the cross gun of young Paul. He had seen everything in the story and had taken his gun of the said Indian just in the nick of time.

She read also the old sweet story of the coming of the Christ Child.

"Some say it was a night like this," said she as the story ended.

Paul had listened, his thin, sober face glowing.

"I'll bet Santa Claus was good to him," said he. "Brought him sleds an' candy an' nuts an' raisins an' new boots an' everything."

"Why do you think so?" asked his mother, who was now reading intently.

"'Cos he was a good boy. He wouldn't cry if he had to fill the wood box, would he, mother?"

That query held a hidden rebuke for his brother Tom.

"I do not know, but I do not think he was ever saucy or spoke a bad word."

"Huh!" said Tom reflectively. "Then I guess he never had no mustard plaster put on him."

The widow bade him hush.

"Er never had nuthin' done to him, neither," the boy continued, rocking vigorously in his little chair.

"Mustn't speak so of Christ," the mother added.

"Waal," said Paul, rising, "I guess I'll hang up my stockin's."

$50,000,000 This is the estimated output of COBALT, the World's Wonder Silver Camp, for the year 1907.

COBALT'S STOCK RECORD

"Hudson Bay" was marketed at 80 cents and advanced to $100.00 per share—"Foster" started at 80 cents, advanced to $3 00—"Buffalo" started at 50 cents, advanced to $2 50—"McKinley-Darragh" started at $1.25, advanced to $3 25—"Trethewey" started at $5.00 advanced to $12.50—"Kerr Lake" started at $30 00, advanced to $100.00—"University" started at $10.00, advanced to $15.00—"Nipissing" started at $4 00, advanced to $32.00—AND ALL WITHIN A FEW WEEKS.

Reader, are you sharing in the immense riches that are being taken from Cobalt's treasure vaults? If not, you are losing an opportunity perhaps never to be r called.

We are now engaged on the organization of a Cobalt company which owns ONE OF THE MOST VALUABLE PROPERTIES, located right in the center of the rich silver zone.

Send your name and address, so that we may mail you literature now under preparation.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS
Rich Gold Field in New Ontario
Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Manchuria is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz but showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainy River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 600 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 25% per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

Splendid Views of the South

Yesterday a Times representative called at the Roy Studio to see the large, interesting and artistic collection of snap shots taken by Mr. R. M. Roy during his outing in the Southern States with the ticket agents' convention in Mobile, Ala., Chattenooga, Ten., New Orleans, La. etc.

Mr. Roy has taken a splendid lot of pictures that portray in life-like clearness the scenes visited by the tourists. Prominent in most of these pictures is our own Billy Buntin, who is shown in every position from occupying a full share of the front seat of a huge auto-car, to distributing nickels to a lot of nigger piccaninies whilst Mr. Roy did the rest with his camera. Mr. W. McIlroy of the C.P.R. office also appears in many of the scenes. One scene among the collection is that of an "An Heuser Busch" car, containing the malt extract that makes St. Louis, Mo, famous. It has been alleged that this car was attached to the special train conveying the ticket sellers convention, but this it seems is not authenticated as the various railway G.P. A.'s along the route took good care to have a water wagon ready on each arrival of that particular train.

Another remark concerning this trip is the report that from various stations at which the party stopped, telegrams were sent ahead warning owners of "nickle-in-the-slot" weighing machines to strengthen the springs of such machines before the Peterborough contingent arrived.

The party, when asked regarding the weather in the South, noted that at Chattenooga, Tenn., the weather was very cold, in fact they ascended the historic "Look-out" mountain in a blinding snow-storm. Even at New Orleans heavy overcoats were called into requisition. Still there be those who regard this "Canada of Ours" as a place of cold and snow.

Next 15-Day New York Excursion.

Nicholls Party Had Great Success

The Nicholls hunting party of North Smith, who have been for the past two weeks at the head of Eagle Lake, have returned. This jolly lot of expert hunt smen succeeded in killing ten deer—six bucks and four does. The bucks were fine large ones weighing from 175 to 225 each. The party had four dogs and had fine weather. They captured one buck that had a wob-like formation between the spikes of his antlers, which will be preserved. They also secured a number of partridge, some rabbits and a big owl. The Nicholls party enjoyed their outing, and are looking forward to another trip next year. The members are Stephen Nicholls, sr., captain; Stephen Nicholls, jr., Joseph Perry, Peter Nichols and Albert Nichols.

Local Hunters' Have Luck.

Mr. J. D. Collins and Mr. J. E.A. Fitzgerald, who have been with a hunting party in the Parry Sound district, have returned home. There were seven in the camp, and they succeeded in killing ten deer, several fine bucks in the lot. The party consisted of Messrs. Collins and Fitzgerald, of Peterborough; Black, Lacey and Bowie, of Cobourg, and two Mr. Mitchells, from Montreal. Their camp was located in Proudfoot.

City Offered Gas and Electric Plants

As there has for some time been an undercurrent, and even sometimes openly expressed opinion that the city should own and operate the lighting of this city, it will be of interest to note that the Peterborough Light and Power Company, want to sell out their electric light business and the gas business. They are prepared to give the city the first opportunity to purchase the business of the two companies, and their solicitors have written the city clerk to that effect.

A rough estimate of the cost of the two plants is about $200,000, with what the company has expended on extensions, alterations and improvements since.

The company will not sell its power plant or any of its dams, as all the electrical power, which can be developed at these dams will within the next few years be required for their own milling business and street railway.

The company does offer, however, to furnish the city with 500 electrical horse power, which is sufficient to run the electrical light plant for a period of three years at a cost of $15 per horse power.

Mr Robt. Stuart, of the Quaker Oats Co, of Chicago, is in the city and consequent upon his visit is the following letter received by City Clerk Armstrong;

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough;

Gentlemen, — The Peterborough Light and Power Company, Limited, are prepared to dispose of their business and to give the city first opportunity of acquiring the same at cost, free from all encumberance.

If the city will purchase the business the company will furnish the city power at $15 per h.p., sufficient to provide for the present business and extensions of the lighting system for three years on the usual terms.

The company will further agree to furnish the city with an additional 500 horse power on the usual terms for manufacturing purposes at $15 per horse power for three years, as part of the above offer.

The city may terminate such power contracts at any time on giving three months' previous notice in writing of its intention to do so.

Yours truly,
J. H. LARMONTH,
Manager.

St. Andrew's Church Notes.

The following are the announcements for the week at St. Andrew's church;—

This afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society will be held, and at eight o'clock, a meeting of the Young Men's Guild.

On Wednesday evening the weekly prayer meeting will be held.

On Friday evening, the Boy's Guild will meet at eight o'clock.

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry-bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

Canadian Divine With Many Titles

Rev. Dr. Marsh Kindly Spoken of by the Press of Hamilton.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Rev. Dr. Marsh, has accepted a call to Springville and Bethany, as pastor in the Presbytery of Peterborough.

A Hamilton contemporary has the following concerning this well known divine;

"Rev Dr. Marsh has decided to accept the call of the congregations of Springville and Bethany, in the Presbytery of Peterborough, and Hamilton will soon lose a citizen whose work in the interest of science has made his name prominent all over Canada Dr. Marsh, while a deep student of science and an ardent lover of astronomy, in which he is one of Canada's foremost authorities, is an earnest Christian and a progressive citizen He will be missed in Hamilton, not only in astronomical circles and as presiding of the Hamilton Astronomical Society, but in all the Protestant churches, for he was ever ready to assist in any church work.

"His observatory on Aberdeen Avenue, has been the haunt of scientific men. Hundreds have received the first desire for scientific study there and its loss to Hamilton will be great.

"Dr Marsh expects to be settled in his new home by the beginning of december. His induction takes place towards the end of this month."

It might be added that the doctor withdrew from active church work a few years ago to take a post graduate course at Chicago University where he obtained his Sc. D. He is a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of England—his nomination having been supported by such men as Sir Robert Ball, Prof. Bradley of Allegheny, and Prof. Rambaut, of Oxford University.

He is a member of the Council of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, president of the Hamilton Astronomical Society; vice-president of the Hamilton Scientific Association, and a member of the Astronomical Society of Belgium. Last year Dr. Marsh was a member of the Canadian Government Eclipse expedition to Labrador.

Will the City Let to Chinks?

It is rumored that the present too numerous "Chink" laundries of this city are flourishing so well, and to detriment of competing white competition that George Thompson, proprietor of two Chinese restaurants in Ottawa, and one in Kingston had been endeavoring to locate a Chop Suey restaurant here. He has had considerable difficulty in securing premises, but it is rumored, is trying to get the store now occupied by Sheridan clothing store.

This shop belongs to the city and it is hardly probable that the city fathers will rent premises to Chinese to compete with white local citizens.

Junk Dealer Loses His Horse

Yesterday morning as a rag and junk dealer, of Hebraic type, and by name Mendel, lost his horse. It seems that Mendel was looking after some rags from in "Brooklyn," and had left his house and cart standing on the road near McAlister's mill. When he came back horse and rig were nowhere to be seen. The junk man is still searching.

The animal was a large red one and on the wagon there was a large iron shaft. Information about the missing horse would be gladly received by the owner.

JAPAN MAY GO TO WAR WITH UNITED STATES

DO NOT FEAR THE CHINESE

Japan Does Not Think They are Becoming a Menace.

London, November 21.—The Tokio correspondent of the Telegraph says that the Japanese authorities and newspapers ridicule the theory fostered in Europe that China is awakening to such an extent as to become a menace. The admiration some foreign critics displayed at the recent manoeuvres of the Chinese army are regarded as ludicrous and superficial. It is certainly not shared in by the Japanese officers who were present. Any increased fear abroad of the yellow peril, based on the remodelling of the Chinese army on western lines, is a ridiculous nightmare.

According to the Telegraph's Tokio correspondent, the fact is commented upon that in the recent competitive examinations at Pekin for Government appointments, Chinese students, trained in America and Great Britain, defeated those trained in Japan. The reason is that a full curriculum is compulsory in America and England, while superficial studies are permitted in Japan.

Port Hope Pioneer Passes Away

Death of Mr. John Harcourt, a Well-Known Resident.

After a long illness, Mr. John Harcourt, one of Port Hope's most respected citizens, has passed away in his 83nd year. The deceased was born in Armagh County, Ireland, and with his parents settled near Port Hope in 1831. For the past 38 years he resided in Port Hope, and had charge of the Government weather signal service. He was the oldest member of Home Circle No. 4, he was a member of St. John's Episcopal church. In 1849, he was married to Miss Margaret McConkey of Hope township, by whom he is survived, together with six sons, Joseph, Cobourg; Matthew, Detroit; George and Richard, C.P.R., Toronto; John V., Grand Trunk agent, Port Hope; and Will J., Detroit; and three daughters, Mrs W. Kerr, Cobourg; Mrs E. T. Hamily, Port Hope, and Miss Margaret, at home.

WATCH MAKERS

Require Steady Nerves for Fine Work

Sitting at a workbench day in and day out is tedious work, and if the workman suffers from headache, nervousness and indigestion, as he is liable to do from his sedentary occupation, he requires special food to put him right. A Seattle man writes;

"I am a watchmaker and have sat pretty constantly at my bench for 15 years, and have suffered badly from indigestion and its many evil effects, such as headache, dizziness, nervousness, etc. I always had a weak stomach until I began to use Grape-Nuts.

"I didn't seem able to find anything that would digest properly with me for breakfast or supper, and my four children inherited the weakness from me.

"Now, I place 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts in a dish, then set it in the oven. When good and hot I eat it with cream. This with some other food gives me a nice hot breakfast. For the children we give each one 2 teaspoonfuls with warm milk, which softens it and they like it better.

"We have practically the same for supper and are not troubled in sleep with an overloaded stomach. With this diet we keep our digestion in fine condition and our continual good health and fat rosy boys prove that we are on the right track.

"I have gained in weight and have found a food in Grape-Nuts that has saved me lots of doctors' bills for the children, and has given me a clear head, steady hand and good discretion for the past two years.

"One must have a steady nerve and feel well to work on fine watch work, and the use of Grape-Nuts twice a day has kept me right up to the mark." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Paris Newspaper Thinks That Before Long the American and Japanese Armies Will Clash.

Paris, November 21.—Although the Paris newspapers, even those that are unwilling to recognize hostilities toward the world in general, to the Anglo-French alliance speak in a friendly manner towards America, there are some journals that believe Japan and America are bound to fight soon, and that appear eager to keep the subject before their readers.

Yesterday the Echo de Paris said that Japan's next war will be with the United States, and while the Government's desire peace, it is impossible to eradicate America's aversion to the yellow race which, the Echo says, is both instinctive and rational.

To show Japan's feelings and with the possible implication that war is not so far off as some think, the Echo digs up a Japanese review, which says that the Panama canal will quadruple the danger to Japan.

The Echo says that Tafe has decreed a war, and that the geographical positions of the two countries, and their commercial rivalry, can only result in a clash of arms.

FIGHTS TO PREVENT HANGING

Negro Sentenced for Murder, Battles Desperately Against His Executioners.

Milledgville, Ga., November 21.—With the fury of a tiger, Minna Dearmaux, a negro, fought the sheriff and his deputy, who entered his cell yesterday to escort him to the scaffold. After a hard fight the negro was overpowered and hanged. Previously he had tried unsuccessfully to kill himself with a broken glass bottle. Dearmaux was convicted of killing another negro in a card game.

Local Company is Incorporated

The Ontario Gazette this week contains the following notice of incorporation of a company in which this city and county are interested, viz;

Mr. W. H. Cluxton Has Been Honored

Mr. W. H. Cluxton, one of Peterborough's veteran life insurance agents, who has been nearly half a century local agent for the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Company, has recently resigned the above agency. A few days ago Mr. Cluxton was presented with an elegant easy chair by the company whom he had so long served with such marked efficiency. The following letter was received with the gift, from the office of the company at Montreal;

W. H. CLUXTON.

Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Company,
Montreal, Nov. 15th, 1906.

W. H. Cluxton, Esq.,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Mr. Cluxton, — We have instructed Messrs. Henry Morgan & Co., of this city, to forward to you a leather, upholstered easy chair, which we trust you will receive in good order. This is to mark the occasion of your retirement after having spent forty-eight years in the agency service of the company. Such a length of service is quite unique in our experience and the directors desire to mark the occasion by presenting you with this slight token of their appreciation and esteem. We trust that you will yet have many happy years of life and that the best of health may enable you to enjoy your retirement.

With kindest regards,
Believe me,
Yours very truly,
J. Garnet Thompson,
Resident Manager.

Mr Cluxton's hosts of friends in this city and county, whilst regretting to see him give up the office he has so ably filled, will be pleased to learn of this slight recognition of his valuable services.

Harold Armstrong With Ottawa Team

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—So far as can be ascertained at this early date, the Ottawa Hockey Club will start practice with no less than thirteen men. Harold Armstrong, the big Smith's Falls defence player, will be here in a few days, together with Percy LeSueur, the Smith's Falls goal-keeper. The latter will be the regular custodian for the Ottawas, and it is probable Moore and Armstrong will fight it out for the point position. Beside the regular forwards, it is probable Bob Harrison and A. F. Young, the two Victoria players, will be seen wearing red, white, and black this season. Neither man will admit he is too old to play, but their intended presence with the ex-stanley Cuppers is now common talk. They are both speedy skaters and beautiful stick handlers and figured among the most prominent forwards in the Federal League last winter. Besides these two men there will be Tom Smith, Hamby Shore, and Billy Hague.

INCREASE MEANS OVER $12,000,000

Shareholders Think the Pennsylvania Railroad Has Taken a Serious Step

INCREASING WAGES 10 P.C.

The Company Will Pay From $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 a Year More to Its Employes.

Philadelphia, November 20.—The general increase in wages of 10 per cent. on the Pennsylvania system, which Vice-President Pugh intimates will involve an increase in the annual wage list of $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, is a serious thing for the company, as serious that many persons will be inclined to wonder whether the directors foresaw such a step clearly when they raised the dividend rate to 7 per cent.

Last year the total gross earnings of the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburg, both directly and independently operated, were approximately $256,000,000. An increase of $12,000,000 (5 cent. of labor last year would have meant 4.7 per cent. on gross. In other words, the operation ratio would have been 4.7 points higher than it was. Even on this year's volume of earnings, which, roughly speaking, will be 10 per cent. greater than those of 1905, $12,000,000 would be upwards of 5 per cent.

The higher wage scale, of course, will affect the 1906 accounts for but one month. Next year the gross earnings are expected to be greater than this, but naturally there will be a certain increase in the labor necessary to handle the increased business. This will have to be paid for on the higher scale, at least until such time as a reaction in industrial activity forces a reduction in wages.

The Pennsylvania Railway has 135,110 employes.

Prince of France Now a Fishmonger

Grandson of Marshal, Louis Napoleon Murat, Sells Food to Peasants.

St. Petersburg, November 20.—From the marshalship of the Tsar [illegible] supply of the finest [illegible] in three generations.

Prince Louis Napoleon Murat, who is a direct descendant of Napoleon Bonaparte's famous marshal and who married a Mingrelian princess and owns a magnificent chateau on the Circassian coast in the Caucasus, is now devoting his energies to importing Scotch herring.

He has just imported 450 tons from Scotland and is arranging for the regular monthly delivery of 4,000 barrels. The prince says he is assured of a steady market and soon all the peasants in the neighborhood of his establishment will be eating herrings to the profit of Marshal Murat's descendant.

Quaker Oats Plant Makes 2000 Bbls.

Immense Increase in Output of Flour Today at Q. O. Co. Mills.

Today the Quaker Oats Co. in their local mills, increased their output of flour from 600 barrels per diem to 2,00 barrels a day. During the past three weeks a host of skilled mechanics have been at work installing a number of machines to enlarge the output of flour, owing to the rapidly increasing demand for the Quaker flour.

Wants Commission to Go to New York

Toronto, Nov 21.—Magistrate Denison has now come to the part in the Ontario Bank inquiry when he considers it absolutely essential that evidence shall be obtained from the brokers in New York City as to just what was done with the large sums of money General Manager McGill is presumed to have sent them from time to time.

In the police court yesterday morning, after hearing further evidence from Mr. Pope, he pointed out that, unless depositions were obtained from the brokers, there would be nothing to show that the funds in question were not still to the credit of "C. McGill," that the funds, instead of being lost, as was originally suggested, in stock speculations, were not presently intact, to be drawn on at a later date by the defendant.

Crown Attorney Curlay replied that he did not see how he could attend to the issuance of a commission within ten days, but that no unnecessary time would be lost.

The magistrate accepted the statement as satisfactory.

The New-York Daily Tribune

Of course, a great deal depends on your own taste in the matter of newspapers. The Tribune is written by intelligent gentlemen for intelligent gentlemen. If that is not what you want, try something else. If you want a publication that serves up so much gore and so many thrills in every issue, and do not care whether what you read is true or false, it is money thrown away to buy The Tribune. If, however, you are looking for a daily history of this world, carefully collated and sifted and presented in the most attractive form that the facts and the laws of good taste will permit, you cannot make any mistake in reading The Tribune every day. But The Daily Tribune is more than a continuous history. It is, as it has been for over sixty years, the great exponent of progressive national thought, and fills a larger place in American history than any other newspaper. It contains special articles on nearly every subject which interests intelligent and clean-minded people, to say nothing of the illuminating and instructive editorial articles and reviews of books, music, art and drama. Just by way of knowing the best of life, why don't you invest $1 and get The Daily and Sunday Tribune by mail for one month? With The Sunday Tribune goes a handsome Illustrated Supplement and a Magazine, with colored covers, equal to anything sold for ten cents.

Heir to Million Fatally Hurt

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Michael Patrick Laffey, formerly of Ottawa, but lately employed in a livery establishment, is said to be dying. He is heir to one million dollars, and was to have been married shortly to Miss Marguerite Barron, 202 Nicholas St., Ottawa.

Laffey was one of the unfortunate passengers in the train wreck near Kamloops last week. He was on [illegible] and received injuries [illegible]

The young man has had an adventurous career. He was born in Dublin. His parents died within a month of each other, when the lad was only four years old, bequeathing him — their only child—a fortune of a million dollars when he became of age. Laffey will be 21 years old on January 16 if he lives.

After spending ten years at school the young man exhausted the funds that had been provided for his education, and being fairly well equipped with learning anyway, he faced the world. He came to Canada with a determination to earn a living by any honest means until he should come into possession of the wealth willed him by his parents.

He eventually reached Ottawa, and was employed for a while in the Russell House. Fond of travelling, he paid a visit to New York, and there in the summer of 1904 first met Miss Barron. It was very much a case of love at first sight. Miss Barron returned to Ottawa, and her new acquaintance followed her. Friendship grew into a strong attachment, and soon the young lovers became engaged. The lady's parents gave their consent to the marriage, and it was to have taken place next May.

Mr Laffey went West shortly afterwards and took employment on a ranch. Here he was kicked by a horse and received almost fatal injuries. When he recovered he went towards the coast, and has been in British Columbia since, always corresponding regularly with Miss Barron. She received a letter two weeks ago. Miss Barron is a bright, attractive girl about the same age as her lover.

Belleville Man Dies on Way to Coast

Belleville, Nov. 20.—Word was received in this city yesterday of the sudden death in Winnipeg of A. E. Fish, the well-known shirt manufacturer. He left this city about two weeks ago on this annual trip to the Pacific Coast. The cause of death is not given.

He leaves a widow, and one son, Herbert, the manager, of the shirt factory here, also two daughters, Miss Lillian, a trained nurse at Rochester, and Miss Edna at home. He was 58 years old. The news received by yesterday's mail several large orders from Winnipeg, written on the 16th, and an hour later a telegram came announcing the death.

Japanese Squadron to Visit America.

San Francisco, November 21.—Collector of the Port Stratton has been notified to prepare for the reception of a Japanese squadron, which will come to this port in the spring. The visit will assume much international importance, and every courtesy is to be offered the officers and squadron. The Tokio Government has appropriated 500,000 yen for the expenses of the cruise. Vice-Admiral Sotcharlo Kataoka, commander of the third squadron at Port Arthur, under Admiral Togo, is to be in command.

MASS MEETING TO TALK ABOUT FUEL

ENGLISHMAN'S OPINION

Man in Montreal Not at all Pleased With Conditions in Canada.

London, Nov. 21.—"Good Old Yorkshire," Montreal, writing to the York shire Post, is out with a sledge-hammer for Canadians and their manners, because of daily attacks made upon Englishmen by "innocent yellow papers published here."

He says that the expectoration habit meets you everywhere, that politeness is unknown in restaurants and dining halls, and that putting the knife in the mouth is general. He says that as for sports all amateurs are roped in with prescribed. "Jack Canuck has got a swollen head, and if he asks your opinion about habits, sports and manners, and you suffer from him, you are asked, not politely, "Why did you come here?"

Why Fort William Failed to Land the Coates People.

A friend in Fort William writes The Eye Opener, Calgary, that they, too, have their troubles with a bum council in that town. He gives us a line on what it is like. Last summer the Coates Manufacturing Co. told the council that they had a notion about erecting a plant in Fort William and all they wanted was a free site. It appears that all the aldermen are real estate grafters, and they could not agree upon whose land they should buy. The Coates people were kept waiting so long that they got tired and would have nothing further to do with the Plunderbund. Now the council is being roasted to a finish by the people for letting such a valuable industry get away.

Was Dead 5 Minutes After Making Boast

New York, Nov. 21.—Daniel Patterson, a Paterson, N.J., cotton broker, who was one of the party of four in the automobile in which Tom Cooper, the bicycle and automobilist, was killed in Central Park on Monday night, died yesterday. Miss Helen Lambert, another member of [illegible] in a critical condition, and is not expected to live through the day. The fourth member of the party, a young woman, who gave her name as Virginia Vernon, and said her home is in Jersey City, has a broken leg, and is suffering from shock. It is believed that she will recover.

A new story of the accident was told last night by Miss Lambert. She said that the collision was due to Cooper suddenly turning out to avoid a collision with a cab in the roadway. He was compelled to swing far to the left, and had safely passed the cab when the headlights of a stalled automobile loomed up scarcely more than 100 feet away. The speed of the automobile was so great that Cooper could not control it, and an instant later it crashed into the stalled car. Miss Lambert said the automobile part was returning from a visit to a Harlem road house.

Just before they entered the cab for the ride through the park, Cooper said to his friends, "Now I'll give you the fastest ride of your life." Five minutes later Cooper was dead, his companions were lying unconscious in the park, and the big machine in which they rode was a wreck.

Flour Mill Destroyed.

Harding, Man., November 21.—The flour mill of the Harding Milling Company was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday, resulting in a loss of $24,000 with $15,000 insurance. The warehouse adjoining, containing $6,000 worth of flour, was saved. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Sasketchewan in Alarming Condition as a Result of Shortage of Coal.

Winnipeg, Nov. 21.—R. S. Lake, M. P., for Qu'Appelle, yesterday said that too much stress could not be laid on the serious condition of the Province of Saskatchewan through the shortage of coal there. He said that the present severe weather would undoubtedly cause untold suffering, as no preparation could be made to withstand the extreme cold that was certain to come in the not very distant future. There was no coal of any account in the province, and not a particle coming in.

At Moosejaw it is so serious that a mass meeting has been called for Thursday night to discuss the fuel question.

SNOW TIES UP RAILWAYS.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 21.—Snow has fallen continuously for 48 hours from Thursday to Saturday night, accompanied by a strong north-east wind. It was one of the worst storms experienced in this district for years. The streets and sidewalks are buried beneath snowdrifts, in many instances five and six feet deep, and ris with great difficulty that pedestrians can make their way from one place to another. Business on Friday and Saturday was practically paralysed. The C.P.R. trains are all several hours overdue, and are reported to be snow-bound both east and west. The first train to reach Brandon from Winnipeg since Friday night arrived here at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. It was the Brandon local due at 12.15 on Saturday night. Trains from the west are running about 24 hours late, as the storm is reported by the C.P.R. as being general as far west as Medicine Hat.

NO COAL AT INDIAN HEAD.

Indian Head, Sask., Nov. 21.—A severe snowstorm raged here on Thursday afternoon until Sunday night, drifting the country roads and delaying trains for many hours. The coal supply in town, with the exception of the furnace coal in residences, [illegible] There is none on sale in dealers' sheds. The situation is more than serious; it is alarming.

C.P.R. TO THE RESCUE.

Regina, Sask., Nov. 21.—In connection with the coal famine now actually felt throughout the province, the minister of agriculture yesterday received a wire from Premier Scott, stating that Second Vice-President Whyte had wired him to the effect that there is an ample supply of bituminous coal at Fort William, and that the C.P.R. is prepared to handle any quantities required in Saskatchewan with the utmost despatch.

Despatches received by the department from Strawboon and Bladworth notify that not a pound of coal exists at those points. Other places are similarly situated.

"BLACK HAND" AGAIN

Alleged Members Wreck Front of Buffalo Butcher's Store With Dynamite.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 21.—Four men, believed to be members of the "Black Hand Society," at five o'clock yesterday morning exploded a stick of dynamite on the doorstep of the store of Dominico Bellismo, a wealthy butcher at No. 140 Canal street. No one was injured, but the front of the brick building was badly shattered.

About two weeks ago Bellismo received several letters signed by the "Black Hand Society," demanding money and threatening death if he did not obey.

NOW CONSUMPTION STARTS

Tired When You Waken—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out—Snap All Gone.

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start today. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this.

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body—with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

CAUSE FOR REFLECTION

Nearly three years ago the Iroquois holocaust, in Chicago, made the world shudder. Some six hundred lives were sacrificed at the shrine of economy in theatre building and supervision. As in so so many railway disasters, the catastrophe is charged up to "accident." Two hundred and seventy-two suits at law have been instituted against the responsible owners and managers by those who sustained grievous losses and sufferings because of that preventable sacrifice of human life. But the philanthropic owners and managers have managed to plead and prove that they are bankrupt, so the dismissal of the suits by Judge Lanning, in the United States Court at Trenton, N. J., is the best consolation that is offered to the bereaved. Now rises the counsel for the Iroquois Company to assure the public that, though the company has no money left to compensate the victims of the calamity, it has managed to pay all its business debts. Here comes a long pause for reflection.

THE BRITISH MINISTRY

The irrepressible Education problem is stirring the British people, their politicians and their ministers, as profoundly as the Reform Bill stirred their grandfathers in the stormy thirties. The principle involved and the attitude of the parties need not be described here. Our present interest is in the coming battle between the Commons and the Lords. The latter have thrown out the preliminary measure sent up from the Lower House, and the people are eagerly looking for the next move of the Liberal Cabinet.

The Cabinet finds itself in the familiar position of a Government with an overwhelming majority. Over and above its proper Liberal majority there are fifty Labor representatives, counted as good Liberals. Realising their unexpected power, this party-within-a-party very naturally felt disposed to give a harmless display of their strength, as a wholesome lesson on tactics for the party at large. One of their first tests was a proposal that members of Parliament should draw a salary of fifteen hundred a year. The Premier received this in his always gracious manner, said some nice things about the intelligence and patriotic devotion of the new wing of the Liberal army, and gave them mild hopes of carrying their measure some day.

Taking this little incident as indicative the independent tone of the excess majority, we can sympathise with Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman in his uphill task in trying to whip unruly feminists into line. It's prime business from now on is to unite his followers into one mighty fighting body, with which to overawe the Lords on this question of Education. Unfortunately for him, and for the cause of unsectarian schooling which he leads, these fifty members, by splitting into two factions among themselves, are turning Liberal strength into Liberal weakness, and at a critical time in the history of the party. The friends of progress should watch closely the play of parties in this great movement.

TWO MEN COMMITTED

Sent on For Trial After Women Identified Them.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 20.—On the charge of being the perpetrators of one of the worst outrages ever committed in this city, Chas. O'Brien and Jas. Curris were committed for trial yesterday. The prisoners are charged with the brutal assault on Mrs. J. D. Casler, a widow, who lives alone at her home, on the night of November 11.—Mrs. Casler, in court, positively identified the men as her assailants. The particulars of the crime are of the most revolting nature. The prisoners were taken into custody four days ago, after a diligent search by the police.

Montreal's Famous Melons.

In spite of the climate and soil of the Southern States, in the matter of musk melons Canada continues to lead. But this is not Canada as a whole, but one little suburb of Montreal, Outremont, where the soil and the heat back of Mount Royal form an ideal combination for the growth of the melon. And apparently the demand for building lots is encroaching rapidly on the one locality where this melon is grown. The ordinary musk melons are sold in New York at from 10 to 20 cents each, but the Outremont melon is sold in a few of the first-class fruit stores of New York at from $1 to $3 apiece. In Montreal they sell at from 50c to 70c each. It is estimated that about 3,000 of these melons find their way into the dining-rooms of New York hotels every summer, and they are all contracted for early in the spring. The melon is from three to six times the size of the ordinary melon, and in flavor it excels its smaller brother as much as it does in size.

Good Color.

The way colored folk have of picking up phrases which they hear used by white people about them is amusingly illustrated by a conversation which was overheard recently on the streets of a southern city, says The Calgary Herald.

"Howdy, Mis' Mandy? How is you?" called one dusky aunty to another.

"Oh, I jes' 'tollable, Mis' Johnson. How you feelin'?" was the response.

"Why, I'se feelin' mighty peart, I is," confided Mrs. Johnson. "I suttenly does feel fine."

"Wellum, yo' sho' is lookin' well," agreed her friend. "Yo' color's so good."

The Lure of the West.

Here is another reason, from The Kingston News, why young men go West: "Mr. George Dickson, M. E., a son of Mr. C. Dickson, of the Inland Revenue Department, was in Pincher Creek, Alberta, a few days ago, when he took advantage of the duck shooting season to shoulder his gun and start out with two friends. The three of them bagged 96 ducks in one afternoon, and gave a pair to every family in town. It was a great contrast to Kingston conditions, where one man stayed out two days on the duck hunting grounds, and brought back one paltry pair."

SEEING THE KAISER

King and Queen of Denmark on a Visit to Berlin.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—King Frederick and Queen Louise of Denmark, arrived here yesterday from Copenhagen, paying their first official visit after their accession to the throne. They were welcomed at the railroad station by Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria. The streets through which the royal party passed were guarded by the whole of the garrison of Berlin, a special act of courtesy on the part of the Emperor. The Burgomaster welcomed the visitors at the Brandenburg Gate, the king replying to the civic address with a speech of over five minutes. The third carriage of the royal procession contained the Danish Minister for foreign affairs, Count Raben Levetzau and Countess Levetzau, formerly Miss Moulton of Boston, who carried her right arm in a sling. The bones of her hand were broken when she was thrown from her horse in a riding accident at Copenhagen Friday last.

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,000 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, hold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Tunts Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the proolem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has prededed yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.

The ore values of these mines vary from $10.00 to $20,000 to the ton The outcroppings on the surface average $11.00 to the ton. The large ore body of ore opened by tunnels runs from $10.00 to $30.00 to the ton.

The companies mines have been thoroughly examined and favorably reported on by

FOUR MINING ENGINEERS

A. V. OLIVER, M.E., says: "It is difficult to report on the value of this mine in terms that will not seem extravagant."

J. E. McINTYRE, M.E., says: "The work on the vein shows from 80,000 to 100,000 tons of ore."

H. P GRISWOLD, M.E., says: "The vein is from 10 to 30 feet wide and is a true fissure vein. The average value of ore from 15 test assays was over $14.00 to the ton."

C. W. PHILLIPS, M.E., says: "I have not seen its equal anywhere, considering the small amount of investment required."

When the mill is in operation it will give the following results:

100 tons of ore at $15.00 per ton..... $1,500.00
Deduct cost of mining and milling, $3.00 per ton..... 300.00
Net daily production..... $1,200.00

Nevada Hills Florence Company

Joins the great Nevada Hills Property on the north, and it can be said further that the trend of the vein is directly through it. The Nevada Hills Florence Company owns the Florence No. 3, Blue Bell, Little Fellow and Tripod claims, which are included in this group. The company has a capitalization of 1,250,000 shares of a par value of $1 each, full paid and non-assessable. There is a treasury reserve of 250,000 shares.

The offering is a block of 100,000 Shares at 20 Cents per Share

Following are the officers of the Company; President, S. L. Caldwell; Vice-President, Charles Farnsworth; Treasurer, Clarence Edsall; Secretary, F. L. Ballard. They are all well known residents of Colorado Springs and refer to any bank in that city.

The property belonging to the NEVADA HILLS COMPANY is covered by two full claims and two fractions. Running through the group is an immense vein of great richness, carrying big values in gold and silver. The first shipment from the mine brought in net values of over $200 per ton, and now nothing less than $300 per ton is sent to the smelters. Shipments continue steady and heavy and recently a $30,000 lot of ore was sent out from the mine. It is one of the great bonanzas of Nevada and ranks with the Comstocks (only 60 miles distant), which have produced hundreds of millions of dollars worth of the precious metals. The Nevada Hills vein is yielding bountifully from several openings. The trend of the Nevada Hills vein is directly through the Nevada Hills Florence group, which joins it on the west. The ore has been opened up in the one property and the stock has a ready sale on the market at better than $3 per share. Ore has not yet been opened in the Nevada Hills Florence group—that's the difference and that is why our offering is made at 20 cents per share. But this figure will not long prevail. There are many veins outcropping on the surface and a little work may open rich ore therein at any moment. It will mean an immediate advance in the price of the stock. Altogether Nevada Hills Florence at 20 cents is the safest speculative mining investment offered. The enormous possibilities for extraordinary profit are apparent.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"One'll do, Paul," said his sister Polly, with a knowing air.

"No, 'twon't," the boy insisted. "They ain't half as big as yours. I'm goin' t' try it, anyway, an' see what he'll do to 'em."

He drew off his stockings and pinned them carefully to the braces on the back of a chair.

"Well, my son," said Mrs. Vaughn, looking over the top of her paper, "it's bad weather. Santa Claus may not be able to get here."

"Oh, yes, he can," said the boy confidently, but with a little quiver of alarm in his voice. "I'm sure he'll come. He has a team of reindeers. 'An' the deeper the snow the faster they go."

Soon the others hurval their feet and hung their stockings on four chairs in a row beside the first.

Then they all got on the bed in the corner and pulled a quilt over them to wait for Santa Claus. The mother went on with her reading as they chattered.

Sleep hushed them presently. But for the crackling of the fire and the push and whistle of the wind that room had become as a peaceful, silent cave under the storm.

The widow rose stealthily and opened a bureau drawer. The row of limp stockings began to look cheerful and autumnal. Little packages fell to their toes, and the shortest began to reach for the floor, but while they were fat in the foot they were still very lean in the leg.

Her apron empty, Mrs. Vaughn took her knitting to the fire and before she began to ply the needles looked thoughtfully at her hands. They had been soft and shapely before the days of toil. A frail but comely woman she was, with pale face and dark eyes and hair prematurely gray.

She had come west, a girl of nineteen, with her young husband, full of high hopes. That was twenty one years ago, and the new land had poorly kept its promise.

And the children—"How many have you?" a caller had once inquired. "Listen," said she, "hear 'em, an' you'd say there were fifteen, but count 'em, an' they're only four."

The low, weathered house and sixty acres were mortgaged. Even the wilderness had not wholly signed off its claim. Every year it exacted tribute, the foxes taking a share of her poultry and the wild deer feeding on her grain.

Presently there came a heavy step and a quick pull at the latchstring. An odd figure entered in a swirl of snow—a real Santa Claus, the mystery and blessing of Cedar hill. For five years every Christmas eve in good or bad weather he had come to four little houses on the hill, where, indeed, his coming had been as a godsend. Whence he came and who he might be none had been able to guess. He never spoke in his official capacity, and no citizen of Faraway had such a beard or figure as this man. Now his fur coat, his beard and eyebrows were hoary with snow and frost. Icicles hung from his mustache around the short clay pipe of tradition. He lowered a great sack and brushed the snow off it. He had borne it high on his back, with a strap at each shoulder.

The sack was now about half full of things. He took out three big bundles and laid them on the table. They were evidently for the widow herself, who quickly stepped to the bedside.

"Come children," she whispered, rousing them, "here is Santa Claus."

They scrambled down, rubbing their eyes. Polly took the hands of the two small boys and led them near him. Paul drew his hand away and stood spellbound, eyes and mouth open. He watched every motion of the good saint, who had come to that chair that held the little stockings. Santa Claus put a pair of [illegible] in it. They were copied to each [illegible] of red morocco at the top of the leg. Then, as if he had some relish of a joke, he took them up, looked them over thoughtfully and put them back in the sack again, whereupon the boy Paul burst into tears. Old Santa Claus, shaking with silent laughter, replaced them in the chair quickly.

As if to lighten the boy's heart he opened a box and took out a mouth organ. He held it so the light sparkled on its shiny side. Then he put his pipe in his pocket and began to dance and play lively music. Step and tune quickened. The bulky figure was flying up and down above a great clatter of big boots, his head wagging to keep time.

The oldest children were laughing, and the boy Paul began to smile in the midst of a great sob that shook him to the toes. The player stopped suddenly, stuffed the instrument in a stocking and went on with his work. Presently he uncovered a stick of candy long as a man's arm. There were spiral stripes of red from end to end of it. He used it for a fiddle bow, whistling with terrific energy and sawing the air. Then he put shawls and tippets and boots and various little packages on the other chairs.

At last he drew out of the sack a sheet of pasteboard, with string attached, and hung it on the wall. It bore the simple message, rudely lettered in black, as follows:

Merry Crismus. And Children I have the honnor to remane, Yours Respectfully
SANDY CLAUS.

His work done, he swung his pack to his shoulders and made off as they broke the silence with a hearty "Thank you, Santa Claus!"

They listened a moment as he went away with a loud and merry laugh sounding above the roar of the wind. It was the voice of a big and gentle heart, but gave no other clew. In a moment cries of delight and a rustle of wrappings filled the room. As on wings of the bitter wind, joy and good fortune had come to them and in that little house had drifted deep as the snow without.

The children went to their beds with slow feet and quick pulses. Paul begged for the sacred privilege of wearing his new boots to bed, but compromised on having them beside his pillow. The boys went to sleep at last, with all their treasures heaped about them.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. H. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Give Up Cosmetics And Seek The Cause of Your Bad Color.

When it's so easy to bring back the bloom of youth to remove the blemishes and fill the hollows, isn't it foolish to plaster on cosmetics?

Sallowed skin and fallen in cheeks are produced by disorders of the alimentary canal.

Remove the cause—correct the condition that keeps you from looking as you ought. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and very soon you'll have a complexion to be proud of.

Just imagine how much happier you will feel when those pimples and murky look have gone.

Danby dame came to Miss Vrooman, a well known resident of Belfast, from using Dr. Hamilton's pills. I used to look so yellow I thought it might be jaundice. There was simply no color in my cheeks at all. Today my skin is clear and never gets that murky, dull appearance, it had before. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have also given me a good appetite and improved my general health also."

Not only the complexion, but every organ of the body is strengthened, cleansed and made healthy by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Buoyancy, vim and a feeling of vigor invariably follow their use. Sold in yellow boxes by all dealers; 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Warrant Out for Arson.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of John Cochrane, a farmer of Asphodel township, on a charge of arson. A report was given in a former issue of The Times regarding the burning of the barns and outbuildings of John Westlake, Cavendish township. The entire building with all Mr. Westlake's farm implements, grain, etc., were destroyed. On Monday afternoon County Magistrate Edmison issued the warrant for John Cochrane, upon whom suspicion rested.

Mr. Turner's Talking Parrot.

Yesterday several local citizens who happened to meet in Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons' large establishment on George street, were to use a slang expression "Knocked silly," by the vocabulary and distinct enunciation of a West African parrot confined in a cage on the ground floor. This bird which is azure white with pink rings about the breast and neck is, when the white plumage is raised a salmon pink in the under part of the feathers. What attracted attention from those present was the clear, clean-cut talk of this bird. The parrot is almost uncanny in its understanding powers. Instead of answering "Polly wants a cracker," to a suppositional question of say, "How do you do, Polly?" this bird when one of those present said, "Now dance Polly," at once set to work to execute a well-timed waltz to the tune of music supplied by the parrot. When asked to kiss the speaker or shake hands the bird would at once comply, fully comprehending the exact order given. Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., has already refused $100 for this bird.

Peterboro' Club to Buy Property

There were rumors yesterday that the Peterborough Club is contemplating purchasing the former, but still active premises of the Bank of Montreal, as a club house. By this we mean the building at the south-east corner of Water and Simcoe streets, as it is an open secret that the Bank of Montreal will eventually occupy the premises occupied by the recently defunct Bank of Ontario. A Times representative in conversation with a leading member of the Peterborough Club, was yesterday told that, whilst the former building had been under discussion as a purchase, they had another property in view.

Settlers Did Not Hunt Illegally

A few days ago it was reported in a local contemporary that certain members of the Eastwood hunting party, who have recently returned from the north country, reported on arrival home that the settlers in the district where the above-named party had hunted, had said that the settlers of that district had been killing deer out of season.

Yesterday a Times representative interviewed the various members of the Eastwood party on this subject, and ascertained that, not only had none of the party kicked about deer being killed by the settlers, but that they knew of no deer, in that district being killed out of season by anyone.

Had to Buy a New Hat.

A few evenings ago four gallants of this city with their Sunday girls drove out towards Lakefield. Everything was lovely during the drive. During the drive back, whether, owing to darkness a protruding tree limb caught it, or whether an evening zephyr blew it away, one of the young ladies lost her hat. To avoid complications on her arrival home fatless, one (or perhaps more) of the boys drove down and purchased a new hat for the lady at a cost of some $5. These drives are full of fun but this one became expensive.

Weak Kidneys Bright's Disease and Diabetes

Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative to Cure the Cause, If You Suffer From These Symptoms.

Here are the symptoms of Kidney complaint: Urine laden with sediment, brick dust in settling, cloudy colored urine, greasy froth or scum in it, urinary nausea in urine, unusual desire to urinate, pain in passing water, pain in the back and over the kidneys, hot, dry and itching skin, hair dry and brittle, puffed joints, legs feel heavy, sleeplessness, dullness, loss of weight, chilly sensations, loss of memory, worry, general debility, irregular heart, heart disease, disorders of eyesight, trouble with hearing, waxy skin, fevers, shifting from one foot to the other in standing. An improvement or cure in any one of these ailments is often followed by worse ones. Most sufferers get their effects from comparatively slight kidney disorders. Kidney remedies called kidney physics are practically nothing as cathartics, not on the bowels. They excite the kidneys to unusual action, they cause over-strain. These diuretic remedies are themselves the frequent cause of serious kidney disease. Don't try to doctor the kidneys themselves, for you will only harm them. Their only strength is nerve power. Dr Shoop's Restorative vitalizes the nerves that operate the Kidneys. Sold by Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

Dr. Coughlin is Given a Welcome

Dr. Coughlin, formerly of this city, but recently appointed superintendent of the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Institute, was given a right royal reception in that city on Monday night.

Before commencing the work of the day, Dr. Coughlin, escorted by Professors Coleman and Deyo, entered the assembly rooms, where were gathered the teachers, officers, pupils and attendants of the institution. As senior teacher, Prof. Coleman called upon the new superintendent for a few remarks.

The doctor in his characteristic thoughtfulness and excellent style, delivered a most admirable speech, in which he expressed hopes that all present, both teachers and pupils would apply themselves zealously to their duties.

China Hall May Move South

In a former issue of The Times it was noted that China Hall, at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, is about to be occupied by the Dominion Bank, who now occupy quarters in Richard Hall & Son's old store on Simcoe street. The lease for China Hall has not run out yet, and, therefore, no move will be made until then unless Mr. Wilson can secure other suitable premises.

It is understood, however, that the China Hall will be located in the store now occupied by George Hutchinson, stove merchant.

SEARCH FOR KRUGER'S GOLD

Thousands are Spent in the Hunt—Schemes for the Gullible.

London, November 20.—Since the late Boer war a new phase of treasure hunting has been in vogue. Some one started a rumor that ere his departure from the Transvaal the late president had a quantity of bar gold, variously estimated at a value ranging from one to several millions, conveyed up the country and buried. The story received so much credence that the British Government at Pretoria has provided special permits and police assistance to various persons who professed to be able to guide a search party to the hiding place.

The degree of gullibility that even intelligent and educated men can attain when excited by treasure mania was amusingly illustrated by a well known instance. A young Boer from one district supposed to contain the treasure called upon a doctor near Johannesburg and told a strange story. He said that one night while riding to the farm of a relative he saw lights in a wooded kloof or gorge, and reconnoitering cautiously he saw a party of men removing boxes from a wagon and burying them.

Carefully noting this spot he got away unobserved and returned next day, when he unearthed a box, which on being broken open be found to contain oars of gold and quantities of Kruger sovereigns minted on the one side only. In confirmation of the story he produced three discs of gold which appeared to have been struck on one side with an imperfect die.

His object on calling on the doctor was to borrow £50 in order to procure a wagon and oxen to remove the treasure. He was asked why he did not bring away the portable coin and thus make himself independent of outside financial aid. His explanation was ingenious. He feared to bring more lest he might be found with them upon him.

It is estimated that more than £10,000 has been expended by the various search parties that have undertaken the search for the Kruger millions.

THE WHOLE THING

That's the Way a Tennessee Man Looked at Coffee.

The following letter is so interesting and contains so much good hard sense about the coffee question, we publish it for our readers:"

"I laughed at the idea that coffee injured me, notwithstanding the trembling hands, sallow, muddy complexion, the tired, listless feeling and aversion to mental or physical effort. Also the terrible monoplits in the night when my heart would palpitate so violently that it seemed each moment it would wear itself out and become forever still.

"When I married, my cofee days came to an end—my good wife refused to serve it to me, placing Postum on the table instead.

"This was done over my protest. I had had experience with Postum—a straw colored liquid with an insipid taste. But the cup she set before me was not so bad, and in a way I even enjoyed it. But we had not then fully learned how to make Postum properly—by long boiling.

"Then the results came. The old heaviness after meals no longer troubled me, the heart palpitation stopped. I found more enjoyment in out-of-doors exercise, and, best of all, I found myself at the office getting through my work with an ease I had never known before.

"Many persons have spoken to me about Postum in such a way as to leave no doubt they do not know how to make it. You might as well set these cr vegetables on the back of the stove and let them steep, as to prepare Postum that way.

"I say to such, 'boil it'—boil it till it has a dark, rich color and then you will have a beverage that will 'wake and hold you.'" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Milk Inspection Bylaw Comes into Force December 1st.—The Mayoralty Election.

It is satisfactory to see that Ald. Elliott has taken up the question of a City Scavenger being regularly employed to dispose of domestic refuse, garbage, etc. This is a sanitary move in the direction of more healthy conditions in the city, and one that should recommend itself to all citizens. Under existing conditions people have no means of disposing of their refuse and garbage unless it be on some convenient vacant lot or alley way, which course is resorted to in nine cases out of ten. Others again, allow it to accumulate in the rear of their premises until spring, when a man is employed to cart it away, should such a one be secured conveniently and at a reasonable price. If not, why then the garbage heap has another twelve months' lease of life in which to wax fat in microbe germs, to the menace of the community. And citizens are not altogether to blame for this state of things. It is a well known fact that the last two or three springs citizens have had the greatest difficulty in engaging scavengers at any price. Ald. Elliott is to be commended for his attitude on this question, and even though a small annual tax be charged in support of a public scavenger—those enjoying sewer connection say one-half less than others not having this privilege—a saving would be effected financially, and the danger of an epidemic of some contagious disease appreciably reduced.

MAYORALTY ELECTION.

Here's a pretty mess!
In a month or less,
Two jolly Aldermen
The Mayoralty may contest.

Here's a how de do!
One of these ambitious two,
With a "legal" turn of mind
The velvet chair will seek to find.

But here's a state of things!
A want of unison it brings.
And one'll make a hard, cau(d) fight
To snow the other out of sight.

'Tis a pity, don't you see,
Such a state of things should be,
For one must meet defeat,
And lose his Aldermanic seat.

MILK MUST BE PURE

Ald. McIntyre is to be commended for the energy he has displayed in pushing through to completion his milk inspection bylaw. He was not satisfied, however, with merely the passage of the bylaw, but insisted that, pending the appointment of a Sanitary Inspector, who could also assume the duty of inspecting milk, the police should be authorized to enforce the bylaw. Not content with this, Archie is, with commendable forethough, going to secure samples of Peterborough milk and forward the same for comparison with milk sold in Toronto. This bylaw comes into force December 1st, after which all milk dealers must have a license, their milk must be inspection proof, and Ald. McIntyre is going to see that it stands the test. And our citizens will unquestionably give Ald. McIntyre credit for this much needed measure.

LOOKING FORWARD.

When one looks at the reformation in things public and general during the past one hundred years on this old planet of ours, yclept, for want of a better name, earth, one is inclined to offer that hellamy was not far astray in the seemingly extravagant ideas set forth in his book, "Looking Backward". We seem to be rapidly approaching an era of municipal ownership of all public services, such as water, light, power and gas, to say nothing of a public heating system, which will surely come in its turn. People are growing so accustomed to turning on a switch for this, that, and the other, that it is but fair to assume they will eventually anticipate touching a button to fill their houses with operatic melodies or the discourse of their favorite preacher. Women cultivate art and science to such an extent in preference to domestic science, that municipal cooking institutions may yet become a crying need. And, in fact each succeeding generation is becoming so highly educated that to live becomes more and more of a degradation each decade. All of which may possibly develop Bellamy's suggested State control of all industry and labor, a system under which each citizen must devote his or her share of labor in the public interest, with an aftermath of years of rest and ease at the public expense. By the way, it's about time the State recognized the services of we newspaper men in the public weal. Many of us have burnt the candle at both ends of the twenty-four hours sufficiently long to look for a "send-off" in which we might enjoy the fruits of our labor. We would not object to a state or any other control under which we might rejoice and be glad a year or two at least after laying aside the pencil forever.

Look to Detectives to get the Murderer

Ordered to Leave no Stone Unturned in Discovering Man who Killed Horace Grigg.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—Montreal detectives yesterday received orders to leave no stone unturned in bringing about the arrest of the highwayman who caused the death of Horace Grigg of Toronto.

Montreal seems infested with a band of highwaymen at present. Again, last night, Wm. Henderson of Colonial avenue, was held up by two men on Pine avenue, and relieved of his watch and chain and all the money in his possession.

CANADIAN HOTEL WAS DYNAMITED

Blown Up and Burned During Fight Between French and Italians.

TWO PERSONS WERE KILLED

None Others Were Injured in Explosion—No Arrests Have Yet Been Made.

Victoria, B.C. Nov. 22.—The Boundary district, which, because of its proximity to some of the more lawless mining camps to the south of the United States boundary, has been the scene of several tragedies lately, notably the Carmi double murder, was the scene of another outbreak Monday night, in which two people lost their lives. Nine were injured, and a hotel demolished and burned.

The scene of the trouble was at Niagara, a small mining camp, boat seven miles up the north fork of Kettle River from the city of Grand Forks, and the origin of it seems to have lain in a quarrel between the two factions, one French and the other Italian, who were quarreling during the day.

During the altercation some parties were heard to say they would blow up the Canadian Hotel, in which the row took place, and this was actually what occurred about midnight. Dynamite was taken from the storehouse of Contractor Tierney, three boxes being used. When the blast went off Louise King, a girl of eighteen, was talking with her mother, and was literally blown to pieces, her trunk alone remaining intact. Her mother seems to have escaped, though with serious injuries. The only other death was that of an Italian, whose name is unobtainable.

Following the explosion, which demolished one side of the hotel, a fire broke out, and the major part of the hotel was burned to the ground.

The free fight of the Italians and French in the afternoon was prolonged into the night preceding the explosion, and a veritable night of terror seems to have been the result Throughout the night indiscriminate rifle shooting (among drunken railway laborers was going on, and several travelers narrowly escaped being struck by flying bullets.

Dr. Dickson of Grand Forks went up to Niagara at daybreak, and brought those who had the worst injuries to the hospital. No arrests have yet been made by the police officials

McAllister's Mill Closes Down

Yesterday the McAllister mill on Hunter street in the east ward, closed down. This mill, which was formerly operated by Mr. C. H. McAllister, has for some months been run by one of the local banks, owing to Mr. McAllister's severing his connection with this business. The building is owned by the Quaker Oats Company, and it is reported that this company will instal a complete new set of modern machines to manufacture their products.

The new Pure Food and Drug Law will mark it on the label of every Cough Cure containing Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupifying or poisonous drug. But it passes Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure as made for 20 years, entirely free. Dr. Shoop all along has bitterly opposed the use of all opiates or narcotics. Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is absolutely safe even for the youngest babe—and it cures, it does not simply suppress. Get a safe and reliable cough Cure by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's. Let the law be your protection. We cheerfully recommend and sell it. J. D. Tully.

Large Lynx Killed In Douro

Following on the recent story contained in The Times regarding a large lynx shot near this city a week or two ago, comes a report from Douro that another animal of the same species has been killed there.

It seems in this densely populated and well travelled part of the country, that yesterday morning a powerful lynx, nearly as large as a good sized dog, was shot by Mr. John Loudergan, of Douro. The animal was first seen near the Indian River cheese factory by Mr. Frank Devlin. The lynx was easily treed and thus soon killed by Mr. Loudergan. The residents in the vicinity where the animal was found, are more than pleased that their sheep, pigs and chickens are thus given a new lease of life. The lynx will be mounted and placed on exhibition here.

Mr. T. Cavanagh's Case Has Begun

Yesterday afternoon the autumn non-jury session of the High Court of Justice, opened with Mr. Justice McMahon presiding. The attendance was small.

The following members of the bar were present; Messrs. A. P. Poussette, R. E. Wood, Geo. Edmison, D. O'Connell, G. Gordon, John Green, H. A. Ward, of Port Hope, R. Mc Dennistoun.

The first case called was that of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company versus Mr. T. Cavanagh, of this city. The plaintiffs claims that the defendant being a shareholder in the above-mentioned joint stock company, refused to pay various calls of 10 per cent., each upon the stock of the company. The plaintiffs claim that the defendant is indebted to them to the amount of $500 and interest thereon. The plaintiffs further claim the amount of $50, being balance on goods delivered to defendant, and also claim $15 for unreturned packages.

The defendant denies that he ever was or is a shareholder in the plaintiff's company, or that he ever subscribed for shares therein. As to the sum of $50, mentioned in the claims above, the defendants brings that sum into court to satisfy the plaintiffs' claim in that behalf. The defendant denies any indebtedness to the plaintiffs in respect to the $15 mentioned for packages, or for any interest, as set forth in the claim.

A. P. Poussette and H. A. Ward acted for the plaintiffs, and R. E. Wood for the defendant.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, the president of the company, was the first witness called for the plaintiffs, and to Mr. Poussette stated that in September, 1903, he entered into an agreement re the organization of the Port Hope Brewing and Malting Company. He remembered that Mr. Cavanagh agreed to take five shares of stock in the company. He explained to the defendant the nature of the agreement. He had sent a notice to the defendant that allotment of stock had been made, and distinctly remembered sending notices of calls upon the stock of the company.

The continuation of the case will be completed in tomorrow's issue.

Failure of the Action to Upset By-law at Lakefield

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Chief Justice Meredith yesterday dismissed the motion of W. J. Leahy to quash local option bylaw passed by the village of Lakefield last January

Mr Leahy alleged many irregularities, but the chief justice decided that they were trivial in importance.

The hotelkeeper charged the temperance people with bribery in having promised to build a hotel and supply a free stable and reading-room His lordship says that this is but a fair reply to the charge of the "antis" that there would be no accommodation if local option came into force and the hotels were closed The local optionists were quite right in promising this.

Board of Trade to Consider Water Supply

It is expected that the Board of Trade will hold a meeting in The near future, when the question of filtration of the water supply of the city will be discussed. This matter has been under consideration for some time, and, in one in which the public are interested. The president will call a meeting at which the members of the board will have an opportunity of expressing their views.

Notwithstanding the proposed consideration of this subject, it is not considered likely that The City Council or the Water Commissioners will take any active steps in the matter in the near future, as an expert who was secured to give a report on the cost of filtration has stated that he had never been asked to figure on a plant in any place where the water was as good, naturally as that with which Peterborough was supplied. If the water was as good as that there could be no very urgent necessity for a filtration system being installed at a cost approaching $100.000.

MR. NEWTON BEERS AT I.O.O.F. HALL TONIGHT

In His World-Famed Dramatic Presentation of "David and Jonathan —An Exceedingly Popular Fraternal Play.

This will be an evening of edification and entertainment at the Oddfellows' Hall, corner George and Hunter streets, where Mr. Newton Beers will characterize in versatile monologue his eminently successful fraternal drama, "David and Jonathan." This popular entertainer is preceded by a reputation for an irresistable originality of his own, which has drawn large and enthusiastic audiences wherever he has entertained, and unquestionably tonight's experience will prove no exception to the rule. The event is under the joint auspices of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges. Oddfellows, and all arrangements have been perfected for seating comfortably a large audience.

RE-ARRANGEMENT OF CITY FIRE ALARM BOXES

Tenders for Snow Ploughing not Yet Awarded—Bell Telephone Company's New Central Station

The Board of Works met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Hall and Aldermen Adams, Duncan, Wilson, Graham and Elliott.

SNOW PLOWING.

Tenders were received for snow plowing and on motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald Elliott, the matter was left in the hands of the street commissioner and the street inspector to report to the committee.

GEORGE STREET EXTENSION.

Steps will be taken to get a conveyance of those properties required for the extension of George street, the owners of which have entered into an agreement with the corporation for such conveyance. There are some properties, however, necessary for this extension, concerning which arbitration proceedings will have to be instituted.

TO IMPROVE CROSSINGS.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That gravel be placed on the crossings at the corners of London and George, and Dublin and George streets.

CEDAR STREET SEWER.

Messrs. Crowe, Green and others were a deputation to urge upon the Board the completion of the sewer on Cedar street. It appears that contractor Sheehy refuses to finish this sewer on account of difficulties encountered in excavation by reason of quick sand. Mr. Sheehy has completed 500 feet, leaving 200 feet more to finish. Chairman Ald. Hicks pointed out that the Board could not compel the contractor to construct the sewer; all they could do would be to impose a penalty on Mr. Sheehy should he not finish the work within the contract time, December first. The chairman thought the difficulties at Cedar street no more than those encountered on Romaine and Aylmer streets The engineer will endeavor to get Mr. Sheehy to finish this sewer up to Mr. Lang's property, which will relieve pressing needs until next spring.

Mr. Sheehy explained the other evening that this particular street is composed principally of quick sand, which readily returns into the excavation. Consequently he is afraid at this season of the year that this quick sand saturated with water will freeze into an unworkable mass, and thus block up the street till spring, should he make an effort to continue the sewer work at this late season.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COM.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. Adams and Aldermen Johnston, Graham, Duncan and Elliott.

Ald Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the request of the Bell Telephone Co., to erect their new central station on Hunter street, adjoining D. Bellegham's property, be granted.—Carried.

The reason for the council's permission being necessary for the erection of this building is that the bylaw governing the fire limits provides that all buildings within that district must be three stories high. The Bell's new building, however, although only a two-storey one will be fully as tall as the average three-storey one. Hence the company's reasonable request was granted.

PUBLIC SCAVENGER.

Ald Elliott reported that public scavenging is in vogue at the city of Brantford, with highly satisfactory results. The charge to the average ratepayer for this work, which is done monthly is but $1.80 a year. Ald. Elliott, however thought it advisable to postpone the introduction of this measure until next year. He accordingly moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, that this council recommend the appointment of a public scavenger to the council of 1907.—Carried.

FIRE ALARMS LOCATED.

The committee rearranged the location of fire alarm boxes as follows;

Cor Queen, and Simcoe streets.
C.P.R. station.
Cor King and George streets.
At Aylmer street, south of Rink street
At gate house, G.G.E.
At Lock street, for Brinton's Limited carpet factory.
Cor McDonald and Park streets.
Cor McDonald and Reid streets.
At Auburn mills.
At Allison's store, Water street north
Cor Dublin and George streets.
McDonnel and Waterford streets
Hunter and George streets.
Westcott and Aylmer streets.
Sherbrooke and Park streets.
Burnham and James streets.
Hunter and Mark streets.
Hazlett and Concession streets.
Hunter and Park streets.
George and Barnardo avenue.
Rink and George streets.
London and Park streets.
Charlotte and Stewart streets.
At Dixon Park.
At the Quaker Oats factory.

The committee consider this to be a very equable arrangement of the alarm boxes, and one which will also meet the requirements of our manufactories, churches and public institutions. This plan will be submitted to Chief Rutherford for his ratification.

Human Bones Used as Cudgels

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Human bones were used as cudgels and ossified arms and legs swung by medical students played the star part in bludgeons in a fracas with the dental students on the football field at Northwestern University. It was the day the football teams of the dental and medical departments of the institution met for their annual game.

Between the halves the friends of the teams clashed. Each dental student carried a grotesque papier mache cane, which they wielded with effect on the medics. When the medical students saw their opponents rushing toward them they suddenly drew forth from under their overcoats, leg and arm bones tied with red and purple ribbons, and with these clubs, smashed the heads of the invaders unmercifully.

The dental students were soon put to flight and during the last half of the game the medical students, wildly swung their gruesome weapons while urging their team to victory.

HOCKEY.

On Friday night the annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held in the Oriental parlors to receive reports and election of officers. At the present time the prospects for this season are the very brightest.

THE SCOURGE OF CONSUMPTION

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired, Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late.

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH, NOVEMBER 22 1906

LOSS OF MONEY AND CONFIDENCE

London is growing, but nothing in it is growing as fast as its debt, and the rapid growth of this is charged to municipal ownership of public utilities. In twenty years the debt has risen from $65,000,000 to $190,000,000—out of all proportion to the increase in population. The cost of salaries, office expenses, pensions, etc., in the metropolitan works rose between 1886 and 1905-6 from $200,000 to $1,425,000; expenses for "inquiries," from $25,000 to $54,000; sewerage, fire brigade, etc., (compared with the present total, including the new ownership departments), from $1,770,000 to $3,800,000.

The biggest enterprise has been the buying of about one hundred miles of street railroad and the construction of many miles more. About a third of the cost has been obtained from local borough councils through which the lines run, a resource which recent elections to these local bodies have doubtless in most regions cut off. An omnibus line was started, but the courts stopped it as an excess of authority. After assessing one-third the cost of tramways on the boroughs and a second third on the account of street improvements the best "profits" the politicians can figure out for the tram department proper are $35,420 for the year ending March, 1906. Other experiments are a Thames river steamboat service which hardly anybody uses, income $1 to every $13 expended; direct construction of works instead of by contractors, admitted loss up to 1902 $357,725, and the manufacture of brick that are said to be mostly unfit for use.

The loss of money in municipal ownership in London has brought about a loss of confidence, and the indications are that London has had about enough.

Cruiser Rurik Has Been Launched.

Barrow-in-Furness, November 21.—The Russian cruiser Rurik, named after the cruiser sunk by the Japanese in the Straits of Corea, in August, 1904, was launched Saturday. She is of 15,900 tons, heavily armed, and is expected to steam 21 knots. It is claimed that the Rurik is the most powerful cruiser afloat. She is extensively armored and will mount four 10-inch, eight 8-inch, twenty 4.7-inch, and fourteen smaller guns.

Montreal Police blow

Montreal, Nov. 21.—Another "hold-up game" was played Sunday morning, the victim being an elderly Englishmen named Henderson, who was passing along Pine Avenue at six o'clock, when people were going to early mass. Two men crossed the street, and, while one asked Henderson for a match the other grabbed the old man and called on signal to strike. Henderson was knocked down, and when he recovered consciousness, found that all his money, his watch and chain, keys, etc., were gone. Considerable indignation is felt at the failure of the police to protect citizens from this highway robbery business.

Mme. Calve May Leave the Stage

Paris, Nov. 21.—The vague rumors which have been circulating here for several days, to the effect that Mme. Calve was betrothed to a rich American and would never again appear on the operatic stage, are apparently confirmed. Last night, having quietly let her apartments, the singer left Paris for a long period, after confiding the news to a few intimate friends, but demanding apledge of secrecy regarding the name of her future husband. The future husband of Mme. Calve is described as a rich American artist, passionately fond of music, who for a long time has never missed a performance by Mme. Calve, but who, until recently, had not sought an introduction. Just at the time when the American decided to ask for Mme. Calve's hand in marriage an accident to an electric apparatus rendered him blind, the last vision before he lost his sight being the face of the signer.

THE MODERN HOTEL.

A Product of the Times, It Is Made by the Guests.

Among the silly and absurd articles appearing from time to time concerning hotel and tavern keeping, one tells us again and again how the modern hotel is shown to disadvantage when compared with the inns of colonial days. In these articles the writer dilates and expatiates on the hospitality of the old time tavern, and the cold, indifferent and almost cruel treatment received from the hands of the modern hotel man. Of course every one knows if he will drop sentiment for a moment and give the subject a little sober reflection that the modern traveler, tourist or hotel guest would absolutely refuse the accommodations afforded by the inn of a hundred years ago. The only advantage of a hotel of those times lay in the fact that the lack of material comforts drew from the traveler a warmer fellow feeling and greater sociability—a condition in which one man was more his brother's keeper than prevails today. Again, the travel by coach and the small number thrown together, en route or at the hotel, made closer acquaintanceship not only possible, but far more desirable than in our day of big hotels and big crowds.

The modern hotel is a product of the times. The wants, desires, whims, fads and, on top of all these, the imperative demands of those who travel have made the hotel of today what it is from the standpoint of food, accommodations, method of service and management and from every point of view. The hotel keeper of today responds to the bidding of the guests. One might almost say of the man and woman who travel: "Here is your hotel. You have planned it, furnished it. You have outlined its methods of management, and it is what you believe should be comprehended in the modern hotel."

The colonial tavern, which would not be tolerated for a moment in our days, was adapted to its times. To speak of it as being superior to the modern hostelry is to claim that the old stage-coach, which left you more weary and worn at the end of a hundred miles than the palace coach does today at the end of a thousand miles, was a superior vehicle of travel to those used on the modern railroad.

The Hazel Tree.

A curious survival of the days when the magicians of Europe sought indefatigably for the philosopher's stone is the superstition that attaches to the hazel tree. The old alchemists used to make their divining rods out of hazel twigs, and they fostered the belief that it would mysteriously direct its owner to hidden treasures, if it was manipulated with the absolute faith that was required in all those occult enchantments of the middle ages. As time went on, the "rod of Jacob," as a branch of hazel was universally known, gathered new powers. Not only would it lead to the discovery of buried hoards, but it would also act as an infallible agent in locating run away servants and escaped criminals. It was a sure guide to underground springs as well, and was an unfailing charm against the lightning.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a bald, bald prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, We want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Tunk Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the schemes of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the painted kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 23 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Lee H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

WEDDING STATIONERY

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS are always in order. The season for the final result of being a disciple of Cupid finds expression in the Hymeneal ceremony at the altar—that occasion when "two hearts that beat as one" are joined together—pronounced one.

For this auspicious occasion the printing must be elegantly dignified—must be appropriate in appearance to this one time of life when everything "best" is donned—when happiness reigns supremely.

Marriage Announcements
Marriage Invitations
Marriage Reception Cards
Post Nuptial Reception Cards

All of these we are able to supply in a proper form and printed artistically. Our work is conducted under the supervision of skilled typographical mechanics and may be unhesitatingly presented to the most fastidious critic.

Our charges for such work are moderate—yet good printing is ever valuable. However, we give quality for our figures, and an order entrusted to our care will be speedily, carefully and satisfactorily executed.

No work can be well done which has to be done hurriedly. Time is necessary for the accomplishment of faultless printing. We will fulfil all expectations if given ample time for completion.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 25% per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 2½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

Tom shortly rolled upon the little jumping jack, that broke away and butted him in the face with a loud squawk. It roused the boy, who promptly set up a defense in which the stuffed hen lost her tail feathers and the jumping jack was violently put out of bed. When the mother came to see what had happened order had been restored—the boys were both sleeping.

It was an old little room under bare shingles above stairs. Great chests filled with relics of another time and country sat against the walls. Here and there a bunch of herbs or a few ears of corn, their husks braided, hung on the bare rafters. The aroma of the summer fields—of peppermint, catnip and lobelia—haunted it. Chimney and stovepipe tempered the cold. A crack in the gable end let in a sift of snow that had been heaping up a lonely little drift on the bare floor. The widow covered the boys tenderly and took their treasures off the bed, all save the little wooden monkey, which, as if frightened by the melee, had hidden far under the clothes. She went below stairs to the fire, which every cold day was well fed until after midnight, and began to enjoy the sight of her own gifts. They were a haunch of venison, a sack of flour, a shawl and mittens. A small package had fallen to the floor. It was neatly bound with wrappings of blue paper. Under the last layer was a little box, the words "For Polly" on its cover. It held a locket of wrought gold that outshone the light of the candles. She touched a spring, and the case opened. Inside was a lock of hair white as her own. There were three lines cut in the glowing metal, and she read them over and over again:

Here are silver and gold.
The one for a day of remembrance between thee and dishonor.
The other for a day of plenty between thee and want.

She went to her bed presently, where the girl lay sleeping, and, lifting dark masses of her hair, kissed a ruddy cheek. Then the widow stood a moment, wiping her eyes.

CHAPTER XII.

LONG before daylight one could hear the slowing of the wind. Its caravan, now reaching eastward to midocean, was nearly passed. Scattered gusts hurried on, like weary and belated followers. Then suddenly came a silence in which one might have heard the dust of their feet falling, their shouts receding in the far woodland. The sun rose in a clear sky above the patched and ragged canopy of the woods—a weary multitude now resting in the still air.

The children were up looking for tracks of reindeer and dreaking paths in the snow. Sunlight glimmered in far flung jewels of the frost king. They lay deep, clinking as the foot sank in them. At the Vaughn home it was an eventful day. Santa Claus—well, he is the great captain that leads us to the farther gate of childhood and surrenders the golden key. Many ways are beyond the gate, some steep and thorny, and some who pass it turn back, with bleeding feet and wet eyes, but the gate opens not again for any that have passed. Tom had got the key and began to try it. Santa Claus had winked at him, with a snaring eye, like that of his aunt when she had sugar in her pocket, and Tom thought it very foolish. The boy had even felt of his greatcoat and got a good look at his boots and trousers. Moreover, when he put his pipe away, Tom saw him take a chew of tobacco—an abhorrent thing if he were to believe his mother.

"Mother," said he, "I never knew Santa Claus chewed tobacco."

"Well, mebbe he was Santa Claus' hired man," said she.

"Might 'a' had the toothache," Paul suggested, for Lew Allen, who worked for them in the summer time, had a habitual toothache, relieved many times a day by chewing tobacco.

Tom sat looking into the fire a moment.

Then he spoke of a matter Paul and he had discussed secretly.

"Joe Bellus he tol' me Santa Claus was only somebody rigged up t' fool folks an' hadn't no reindeers at all."

The mother turned away, her wits groping for an answer.

"Hadn't ought to 'a' told mother, Tom," said Paul, with a little quiver of reproach and pity. "'Tain't so, anyway—we know 'tain't so."

He was looking into his mother's face.

"'Tain't so," Paul repeated with unshaken confidence.

"Mus'n't believe all ye hear," said the widow, who now turned to the doubting Thomas.

And that very moment Tom was come to the last gate of childhood, whereon are the black and necessary words, "Mus'n't believe all ye hear."

The boys in their new boots were on the track of a panther. They treed him presently at the foot of the stairs.

"How'll we kill him?" one of them inquired.

"Just walk around the tree once," said the mother, "an' you'll scare him to death. Why don't ye grease your boots?"

"'Fraid it'll take the screak out of

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in this field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Are You Often Bilious?

Read This and Learn How to Prevent Attacks.

Biliousness is merely a term applied to a condition that exists when the body is over-loaded with bile.

The complexion turns yellow, eyes look dull, pimples, itching and eczema break out, headaches are ever present.

Biliousness has two great causes, constipation and defective liver action.

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken they not only correct the bowels, but act directly on the liver, regulating its bile secretion.

Unlike ordinary medicines which purge and give temporary relief, Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the condition which causes biliousness; thus permanent cures are effected.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure biliousness and liver ills under all circumstances.

We prove this by the statement of Mr. Fenwick Luddington, of New Harbor, N.S., who writes: "Three months ago I had no expectation of ever getting free from periodical bilious attacks. They were preceded by dizziness and dreadful headaches. If I stooped over my head would swim and a nauseous feeling crept into my stomach.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills fixed up my liver, drove all the bile out of my blood and made me a well man in a few months. Today I enjoy a good appetite, excellent digestion, and the best of health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills today. Sold by all dealers: 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

London, Ont. Man Runs Amuck.

A man claiming to be Chas. Douglas of London, Ont., tried a day or two ago to carve up a New York policeman with his knife because the latter told him to "move on." Charley had bills stuffed in each of his many pockets amounting to $667.10 altogether. Charley could have gone to the Bowery with the odd 10 cents, and had more fun than trying to knife the cop, although it must be confessed that ten cents' worth of Bowery tangle-leg might have impelled him to try and carve up the whole force, let alone one surly officer.

Mr. Montgomery unluckily got his leg caught between the axle and a brace and then was dragged a considerable distance. Mr. Adamson pluckily held the reins. The horse tried to run away, but was caught by some men passing by. Mr. Montgomery had his legs badly bruised and was rather shaken up. Mr. Adamson escaped uninjured.

OUT OF SORTS

People Not Really Sick Are Often Most In Need of Care.

The people who actually are most in need of kind words and medical treatment are not those who are really sick, but just "out of sorts."

The old-time energy, force, strength and happy spirits are lacking, the physical and mental powers are lagging; there is poor appetite, and boy cannot get the good out of the food they eat. In nine cases out of ten, this results directly from a weakened stomach, and no other treatment equals Mi-o-na to restore strength and health.

When the nerves and muscles are weak, if there is sleeplessness, irritability, and specks before the eyes, when the head aches and there is a dull pain in the back, and there's any distress and heaviness in the stomach, dizziness, and sometimes nausea, the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets for a few days will make a world of improvement, and continued use for a reasonable time will restore perfect health.

These tablets are not mere digestives; they absolutely strengthen all the organs of digestion, so that there is good appetite, perfect digestion and strong nerves, when they are used.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. The E. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. James Fuller Passes Away

The many friends of Mr. James Fuller, will regret to learn that he passed away yesterday morning, owing to an attack of paralysis.

The late Mr. Fuller was born in Funbridge, in the County of Kent, England, 68 years ago. The deceased was highly respected in this city and will be missed by a large number of friends. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and a Conservative in politics. He leaves, besides his wife, four sons and three daughters. They are, Hugh, Percy and Arthur of this city, and Mortimer, of Minnesota, and Mrs. J. A. Tully, Mrs. A. E. Metheral, of this city, and Miss Edith at home. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at three o'clock, from the family residence, 123 Chamberlain street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Baby Meharry's Funeral Today

This afternoon at 2.30 the last mortal remains of the late Ellen Letitia Meharry, daughter of Robert Meharry, who died Tuesday night at ten o'clock, at the age of one year and six months will be taken from the family residence, 378 Maitland street, to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

The Bereaved will have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement.

When the tip of a dog's nose is cold and moist, that dog is not sick. A feverish dry nose means sickness with a dog. And so with the human lips. Dry, cracked and colorless lips mean feverishness, and are well ill-appearing. To have have beautiful, pink, velvet-like lips, apply at bedtime a coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. It will soften and heal the skin ailment. Get a free, trial box, at our store, and be convinced. Large nickel capped jars, 25 cents. J. D. Tully

Has the Ambulance Ever Been Delayed

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, are out with a letter in an evening contemporary of last night declining a proposal that their firm should take charge of the Dan Spence ambulance, saying that they want something "of a more hustling nature than driving an ambulance." Now, Mr. Editor, no one denies, or could deny that Messrs. Turner are entitled to a front seat among hustlers, but it might be noted that during the past few years, whenever a call has been made, particularly in emergency cases, for the ambulance, that the ambulance caretaker or driver were what in slang terms might be styled "Johnny on the spot." No complaint, as far as I know, has ever been heard of any lack of "hustle."

Yours truly,
HUSTLER.

Brooch of Cobalt Silver.

Mr. F. R. Clarke of Messrs. Clarke & Sons, jewellers at the corner of George and Brock streets, yesterday made a brooch out of virgin silver that came from Cobalt. On arrival at Mr. Clarke's store this nugget of pure silver weighed forty-one pennyweights, and has no trace of ore whatever attached. The nugget was in the form of a large sized ring, and had evidently had, when originally mined contained a piece of quartz in the center. The Times yesterday examined the nugget in its crude as well as its finished state as a brooch. Mr. Clarke has made a most artistic job from this silver freak of nature.

Mr. Joe Guerin Leaves the City.

Yesterday one of Peterborough's best known telephone line men Mr. Joseph Guerin, who has done good service for the Peterborough Cereal Co., the Bell Telephone Co., and other local electrical concerns left yesterday to accept a good position with the C.P.R. Telegraph Co. Mr. Guerin is now foreman of a large gangs of men working for the above noted company with headquarters some eight miles east of Toronto.

Mr. P. Hogan's Neice Dead.

Yesterday Mr. Patrick Hogan, proprietor of the Albion Hotel, received a telegram, conveying the sad intelligence that his niece Miss Maud Masterson, of Oscoda, Michigan, has passed away on Tuesday night. Miss Masterson who was twenty years of age, leaves to mourn her loss her parents, four brothers, and her uncle Mr. Hogan. The funeral was held yesterday.

Local Banker Transferred.

Mr. George O. Easton, teller in the Bank of Montreal here, is transferred to the bank's branch in Vancouver, B.C., and will be succeeded by Mr. T. Sealey, of Edmonton. N.B. Mr. Easton's many friends, while congratulating him on his promotion, will regret his removal from Peterborough, he is not only well known in social but in Rugby circles.

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health.—Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it to a crucial test by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday High Constable Cochrane left for Gooderham, Haliburton county, to bring to the city for trial John Cochrane, of Cavendish, who is charged with burning Mr. John Weatlake's barns a couple of weeks ago.

This is partly the result of a telegram sent by Crown Attorney Wood to Constable Kennedy of Gooderham on Tuesday, which had the effect of causing his arrest. He will likely be tried before County Magistrate Edmison this week.

Isaac Dormer was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constables Mehaffy and McGinty. It is said that a young woman laid information that Isaac had threatened to kill his wife who lives in the east ward with a revolver. It seems that Isaac has been on one of his "periodicals," and has not been fulfilling his marital obligations of late. When arrested Isaac had neither a revolver, nor other lethal weapon on him, only a couple little half pints. He will face the magisterial music at ten o'clock this morning.

Servia's Prince Made Them Deny Story

Threatened to Kill Premier Because of Report of His Insanity---Violent in His Actions.

London, Nov. 22.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph forwards what purports to be an account of the origin of the official denials of the present condition of George, Crown Prince of Servia. When Prince George heard the newspaper reports of his insanity, he rushed with his riding whip to the foreign office, and burst into the room of Premier Pasics, shouting; "You dog, you intend to confine me your future master! I'll kill you. I'll trample upon you, you canaille."

The premier had much trouble in calming the prince, who then proceeded to the press bureau, where Director Ivanitch, under the orders of the prince, composed the official denials in his presence. When this had been done, George departed, flourishing his whip, and crying; "These Swabian and Hungarian dogs shall eat their words."

Similar scenes were enacted at the palace, where, the correspondent says, it is reported the Prince illtreated his brother, Prince Alexander, who is a quiet youth.

LEWIS PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Boxer's Father is a Physical Wreck as Result of Death.

Detroit, Nov. 23.—Harry Lewis pleaded not guilty in the supreme court at Grand Rapids yesterday to the murder of Mike Ward, who died from Lewis' knockout blow. Judge Stuart fixed bail at $10,000. Lewis has hope of furnishing bonds for his freedom. He will probably be given an early trial.

"I want to do something for Mike Ward's mother," said Lewis, "I can't bring her son back to her, but I would give my life if I could. I can do something, however, to make her independent in her old age."

Grand Rapids sporting men talk of holding a vaudeville entertainment to raise funds. They propose having a three-round boxing match between Lewis and his trainer, Frank O'Brien, but it is doubtful whether the authorities would stand for another boxing bout.

Jacob Besterman, Harry's father, is a physical wreck. He has lost twenty-five pounds since the accident, and goes about as though in a trance.

France Hopes for English Alliance

Senator Villaine Denounces Suggested Military Convention Which Premier Admits Wanting.

Paris, Nov. 22.—Senator Gaudin de Villaine created a sensation in the Senate yesterday by making a vicious attack on the foreign and interior policy of the government. After expressing regret at the fact that the Catholics had not the courage to reply to their persecutors as the Terrorists did in Ruada, M. de Villaine charged the government with playing into the hands of Great Britain, and demanded to know whether the report that a military convention had been signed between Great Britain and France, as a prelude to the great adventure in which Foreign Minister Pichon and War Minister Picquart had embarked with Premier Clemenceau, was true.

Mr. Clemenceau, in reply, after warmly defending M. Pichon and Gen Picquart, announcedd that he could not say anything regarding the Franco-British understanding. He did not believe that a military convention existed, but he declined to be drawn into a trap which would place him in the position of discouraging the hopes of all Frenchmen.

The Senate then by the great majority of 213 to 32 votes rejected the interpellation and passed a vote of confidence in the government.

Ottawa Society Turned Out in Full Force to Witness Ceremony.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The third session of the tenth Canadian Parliament was opened yesterday afternoon with the accustomed ceremony in the Senate chamber—an event which apparently never loses aught of its interest to the residents of the Federal Capital. Both floor and gallery of the Senate chamber were crowded to their utmost capacity, among those present being an unusually large number of visitors from out of town points.

His Excellency the Governor-General was attended by a brilliant military retinue. From Government House to Parliament Hill he was accompanied by an escort furnished by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards. A guard of honor met him upon his arrival at the Parliament House, which was signalized by the firing of the usual salute from Nepean Point battery.

SENATE TO ADJOURN EARLY.

The Senate will remain in session, it is expected, long enough to dispose of the debate on the address, and will then adjourn over the Christmas holidays.

In the Commons, Mr. F. F. Mardon of South Essex, will move the address today, which will be seconded by Mr. Joseph Demers, member for St. John and Iberville. The Commons will sit till about the 19th of December, and then adjourn for a fortnight over the holiday season.

Some years ago the Dominion Parliament passed legislation that permitted of juvenile offenders being placed under the supervision of the Children's Aid Society in certain cases where this was considered more in the interests of the culprits than confinement in jail or reformatory. It is understood that legislation will be introduced to permit an extension of that system, which has shown most encouraging results.

OUTLINE OF WORK.

The speech from the throne refers, as was expected, to the work of the insurance commission and the readjustment of the Provincial Subsidies, to the intended tariff revision, and the reform of the election law. In addition thereto is promised legislation to give effect to the treaty made in our behalf with the Empire of Japan, increased Parliamentary representation for the two new Prairie Provinces, a comprehensive revision of the Dominion Lands Act, certain changes in the Post-Office Act, and a bill to provide for the more effectual supervision and inspection of canned foods, meats and fish.

How It Pays to Make Friends

Fairview, Nevada, Nov. 23.—The recent visit of Miss Florence Roche to Fairview, recalls to mind the manner in which she became the owner of some valuable mining property here, which she had never seen until this trip. Miss Roche lives at Grimes ranch, and it was there that she became acquainted with George Bertchy, who made frequent stops when going to and from Fairview in December and January, at the time he and Norton were the sole pilgrims to this present mecca of the gold hunters. As assistant hostess of the Grimes ranch, which is famous for its hospitality, and as well known as the overland stage road, this young lady so impressed Mr. Bertschy with her womanly graces that he located for her the "Sunlight" claim, one of the best known in the district, and one that may prove to be worth thousands of dollars.

As a further testimony to her charming personality Harry Jamison named for Miss Roche the Florence claims, one of which was bought by the Nevada Hills, and the other being purchased by Dr. Caldwell, of Colorado Springs, who turned it over to the Nevada Hills Florence Mining Company, which has recently come into the limelight by reason of an over subscription of its first allotment of treasury stock. After purchasing the "Florence No. 3," Dr. Caldwell located the "Blue Bell and "Little Fellow" fraction, while laboring under the impression that he owned the ground. After selling the "Tiger" claim to Caldwell for $10,000 cash, Mr. Pinney gave the purchaser the benefit of his discovery, and the "Blue Bell" and "Little Fellow" fractions became the property of the company that was organized and took the name of "Florence." Just recently the Fairview Mining and Leasing Company acquired a lease on the ore shoot, and they are to begin work at once.

And so it was that an amiable young lady acquired a small fortune through friendships, and has her name linked indelibly with the future of this great camp; for the Nevada Hills Florence Mining Company has the ear marks of a big winner, both by reason of its location, and the values that have been found on its estate.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

THE TURF.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club, which was not very well attended, it was decided to leave the matter of a winter meeting over until a latter date. It is likely that another meeting will be held on Monday, to discuss the question of holding winter races.

Last season the race had to be called off on account of the unfavorable weather. The general feeling among the members of the club is that a winter race meet should not be made a success.

HOCKEY.

The Trinity College School of Port Hope have organized a hockey team for the coming winter. Mr. Allan Campbell, of this city, is one of the members of the executive committe. They will undoubtedly have a fast team.

• • • •

The annual meeting of the city hockey league will be held at the Oriental Hotel this evening at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

• • • •

The Pill Pounder hockey team will make application for admittance to the city league at the annual meeting tonight. This announcement has caused considerable interest. The Pounders will be able to place a strong team on the ice and no doubt will be a valuable addition to the league. Several of the drug men figured on the city league teams last year, and it has been deemed advisable to get them together and play under the name of Pill Pounders.

Virtual Slavery is Stopped in Congo

Brussels, Nov. 22.—The Government of the Congo Independent State has accepted the recommendation of the commission of inquiry into the administration of that State, and has abolished compulsory labor in the district of Katanga. Hereafter the natives will pay their taxes in money.

SIX SAILORS DROWNED IN TORONTO BAY

Toronto, Nov. 23.—The steam barge Resolute, owned by Haney and Miller, foundered three-quarters of a mile outside of the eastern gap yesterday morning before daybreak, during a heavy storm from the westward, and six of her crew were drowned. Five of the men went down when a lifeboat turned turtle in the breakers, and the sixth, after clinging for half an hour to a piece of wreckage, with Captain John Sullivan, the commodore of Haney and Miller's fleet, weakened and went down to death, while Captain Sullivan, grimly holding on and battling the heavy seas and benumbing cold, was almost miraculously swept through the western gap, and rescued from a boom in a slip near the Canadian Shipbuilding yards, where the wreckage brought up.

The story is one of a mighty battle against fall gales on Lake Ontario. The crews of two other coal vessels, the barge Locke, in tow of the Resolute, and the three-masted schooner St. Louis, owned by Sylvester Bros., which were anchored in the shelter of the western sandbar, were in peril when the gale shifted from east to west, and were taken off by the lifeboat, manned by the Wards, Hector McDonnell, and other residents of Ward's and Fisherman's Islands down near the Eastern gap.

The storm is the second bad one which has swept Lake Ontario this fall.

The men drowned were:

John Harrison, chief engineer, Deseronto.

Thomas Topping, assistant engineer, Deseronto.

David White, sailor, Prescott.

Harry Gregory, fireman, Toronto.

John Barnes, sailor, Port Colborne.

Nelson Neilson, sailor, Toronto.

Hon. Charles Hyman Resigns His Seat In House of Commons

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Hon. Chas. Hyman yesterday resigned his seat as member for London. He will run again it is understood.

The reason for Mr. Hyman's resignation, of course, is the evidence of corruption by persons working in his interests in the bye-election last year. It is not certain whether the Minister of Public Works will stay in the South, where he was going for the benefit of his health, until the new bye-election is held. If he continues to hold his position in the Cabinet it is likely the new election will not be long delayed, as Mr. Hyman's presence in Ottawa would be desirable.

CONFLICT WITH SPANISH BISHOPS

Complaints Lodged Against Them of Violation of Criminal Code

DEFAMATION NOW CLAIMED

Civil Marriages and Those Performing Them Placed Under the Ban of the Church.

London, November 22.—The Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs has drawn up a note to the Vatican denouncing the Concordat concluded between the Holy See and the Conservative Government during the Premiership of Senor Maura. The Concordat of 1851, is also denounced in the same document, and the Vatican is invited to initiate negotiations with the object of drawing up a new Concordat more in harmony with the spirit of the present day.

The conflict between the Spanish bishops and the Radicals is about to enter a new phase. In their recent pastorals the bishops have stated that all persons who have contracted civil marriage are living in concubinage, and that the mayors who performed the marriage ceremony have been guilty of acts which place them outside the pale of the Church. This statement is an injurious defamation, and under Spanish law constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by fine, imprisonment, or exile. Many mayors have consulted lawyers on the point, and acting on legal advice, have lodged complaints in the courts against the archbishops and bishops under the criminal code.

The Freethinkers of Valencia, many of whom have contracted civil marriages, first set the example by lodging complaints against Archbishop Guisasola, and Freethinkers all over Spain are taking proceedings against other bishops who issued pastorals containing similar statements. This action of the Radicals and Freethinkers has produced a tremendous sensation in clerical circles, and the first decisions in the courts are awaited with feverish interest. The whole situation arising out of religious questions in Spain has reached a very acute stage.

Radicals and anti-Clericals held a meeting, in conjunction with the Republicans. Violent speeches were delivered against the religious orders. The authorities took great precautions to prevent disturbance, but these were unnecessary, as the whole affair passed off quietly. All demonstrations in the streets were forbidden lest there should result collisions between the Clericals and anti-Clericals.

The proposed Law of Associations is a very lengthy document. The bill embodying the Government proposal with regard to the associations will be submitted to Parliament at one of its first sittings. The new bill will, of course, apply to associations of all kinds, and under it trade unions will be given enormously increased facilities for carrying on the work. In Government circles there is a strong feeling of confidence that the bill will be speedily passed by the Legislature. In Clerical circles the proposed law has produced a tremendous commotion, while among the Radicals it is contended that the Government should take a further step forward and give complete freedom of action to every form of religious belief in Spain, as the present time is believed to be very favorable for such a change in the law.

The new Spanish Ambassador has presented his credentials at the Vatican. In the addresses exchanged between His Holiness and the Marquis Ojeda, the latter used much more emphatic expressions of devotion to His Holiness than even his predecessor did on a similar occasion, when the relations between Spain and the Vatican were entirely normal. This outside forms a striking contrast with the anti-Clerical news from Madrid. At the Vatican, the Marquis Ojeda's expressions are taken as conveying a disavowal of the projected law of associations, as it is assumed that the Ambassador would not have adopted the attitude which he did without precise instructions from his Government.

Cut His Throat and Ran Through Park

E. A. Freakley Also Tears Bandage From Wound—He Suffers From a Delusion.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Clad only in his shirt, and with his throat cut, Ernest A. Freakley, 21 Berryman street, climbed out of a rear window of his home, jumped a fence, and ran through Ketchesum Park to Pollard street. He was captured and taken to No. 5 police station.

For two years past Freakley has been unwell, and is under the delusion that some person wants to attack him. He is 35 years of age, and married.

Freakley was taken to the General Hospital. Although he suffered from the loss of a quantity of blood, the injury is not serious. Freakley persists in tearing the bandages from his throat, thus aggravating the wound.

Immigration Agents Face Nasty Charge

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Some half dozen Government immigration agents, who were employed to travel with immigrants on the C.P.R. between here and the west, have been laid off on account of an allegation that they have been collecting expenses which they had not incurred. An investigation is proceeding, and if the charge is established, offenders will be required to make restitution. Some of the agents, it is said, have admitted irregularities, but others protest their innocence and ask for reinstatement. It is alleged that the agents in question, or some of them, have been receiving payment for Pullman car fares which were not paid. Doubt having arisen as to the vouchers accompanying the accounts, enquiries were made of the railway company, and it was then discovered that the alleged payments had not been made.

Heresy Trial is a Bitter Necessity

Church Cannot Allow a Preacher to Destroy People's Faith in the Bible, Says Bishop.

Concord, N.H., Nov. 22.—The chief feature of the 105th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New Hampshire in this city were the addresses by the Bishop, Right Rev. William W. Niles, D.D., LL.D., and his coadjutor, Right Rev. Edward M. Parker, D.D. Bishop Niles made the following reference to the Crapsey trial in the course of his address: "I pity the man who can bring himself to go on destroying his innocent followers' faith in their Bible, which he has solemnly declared to be 'The Word of God.' But if we can do that dreadful work, can the Church allow him to do it as a heretic? Can she consent to do it through him? A thousand times no. Be the trouble, the difficulties, the pain of an ecclesiastical trial what they may be, the Church has no option. She must keep the faith and protect her children from being robbed of theirs."

Negro Murderer Asks to be Hanged

Center, Texas, Nov. 22.—Dick Marrett, a negro, who killed Dr. Paul on Saturday, will be executed today. After the funeral yesterday friends of the murdered man were so wrought up that an attack on the jail was imminent. The accused sent for District Attorney Embodon, waived all his legal rights, and requested to be hanged. Judge Davis agreed to take up the case in the morning, accept a plea, pronounce sentence, and let the execution take place immediately. Company M, Third Infantry, from Beaumont, came here last night and guarded the jail.

Alleged Fire-Bug Arrested.

Night Constable Cochrane, brought into the city last night aman, named John Cochrane, who as noted in a former issue of The Times was arrested in Gooderham, on a charge of setting fire to John Westlake's barns. He will come before his Worship this morning.

MR. NEWTON BEERS IN "DAVID AND JONATHAN"

Oddfellows' Hall Crowded Last Night With an Enthusiastic Audience—A Masterly Presentation of a Thrilling Fraternal Drama.

Mr. Newton Beers, the exceedingly impressive and talented impersonator, was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience last night when the Oddfellows' spacious hall on George street, was crowded to the doors. Mr. Beers is not only an Oddfellow entertainer standing in the first ranks of histrionic art, but he is also a gentleman every inch of him, and reflects no small measure of lustre on the order he has the honor to represent. His presentation last night consisted of an exceedingly intelligent and sympathetic characterization, in irresistible monologue, of his continent-famed fraternal play, "David and Jonathan;" and this talented artiste held the large audience under complete control for fully one hour and three-quarters. In fact Mr. Beers carried his audience spell-bound with him through the adventurous lives of David and Jonathan, whose wondrous love for each other under most extraordinary circumstances proved the foundation upon which the fraternal brotherhood of such meritorious societies as the Oddfellows is raised. Last night this skilfull entertainer demonstrated most clearly, in his wonderful delineation of his characters, that while David was the progenitor of Christ, Jonathan was the progenitor of brotherhood.

The story of "David and Jonathan," too well known to render it necessary for one to detail the story of the play as presented by its one-man, and an able one at that, impersonation last night. Suffice it to say, that Mr. Beers faithfully portrayed the remarkable adventures of Saul, David and Jonathan, from the Vale of Elah, where Saul and his army faced the Philistines, and where the shepherd boy and harpist, David, killed the giant Goliath, through the several succeeding thrilling scenes which terminate in the death of King Saul and his son Jonathan at the battle of Gilboa, followed by the ascension to the throne of Israel of David, Samuel's anointed one.

The play is one of pathos and humor in which Mr. Newton Beers is equally a master, and without the aid of artificial surroundings or the use of any stage make-up whatever. He is wonderfully and irresistably versatile in mimetic power, and during his masterly delineation his audience lost sight of their own personality and live in the characters presented to them. If he is stronger in any one of the many characters impersonated, it is in that of the insane jealous Saul, and his impressive characterization of this haunted king in the lonely cave, where the spirits of slaughtered innocents haunt their royal murderer. His marvelous work in this last scene cannot be readily forgotten by those who have the privilege of witnessing it.

Mr. Beers is so natural in his work that he cannot fail to please the most critical, and the following list of characters in his dramatic monologue production of last evening will give our readers some idea of the phenomenal versatile powers;

Saul ... ... Mad King of Israel
Jonathan .....The Crown Prince
David ... ...The Lion of Judah
Goliath ... ...The Anakim Giant
Abiathar ... ... The High Priest
Huahai ... ...A Scribe of Hebron
Zadok ... ...Saul's Counsellor
Abner ... ... Saul's General
Doeg ... ... Saul's Bodyguard
Hector ... ...A Palestine Captain
Ira ... ...A Keskite Boy
Merab ... ...Daughter of Saul
Michal ... ... Daughter of Saul
Lydia ... ... Wife of Jonathan

THE ODDFELLOWS' ORDER.

At the conclusion of Mr. Beers presentation of "David and Jonathan," the talented dramatist gave a brief address on Oddfellowship, in the course of which he characterized the I.O.O.F. as the greatest beneficiary society in the world. It has a membership of 1,300,000, and pays out $10 a minute in benefits. It has $100,000 invested in homes for the aged and orphan children. And the Order is but some 86 years old. Besides the male members of this great society, the Rebekah Lodge (ladies) has forged on to 300,000 members since 1869, and it is claimed that this branch of the I.O.O.F. will shortly reach the million mark.

NOTES.

Mr. Newton Beers is performing before large audiences every night. He leaves for Brantford at 8.15 this morning.

Mr. Beers' last visit to Peterborough was 28 years ago, and he regretted his inability to stay over a day and see the many improvements here since that date.

Conservative Club to Have Lectures

The program of addresses in connection with the Young Conservative Club's Thursday evening smoking concerts, is nearly complete.

Mr. Burnham gives "The Life and Work of Sir John Macdonald," on November 29th.

Mr. Moore gives "William Lyon Mackenzie" on December 13th.

Mr. Peck gives "William Pitt" on January 5th, 1907, and Mr. Denniston, "Lord Randolph Churchill," on February 2nd.

An Onyx and Oak Grate Exhibited

Yesterday Mr. McPherson the well-known local plumber and electrician who recently moved his establishment into the premises vacated by Messrs. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, yesterday inserted in his north window a grate on exhibition that is a credit, not only to those who made it, but to Mr McPherson who has it for sale. This grate is surrounded by a blackwood mantle and sides in what is termed by the trade "Mission style wax finished oak." Between the asbestos lined, smokeless gas grate and the oak, is a broad onyx fitting that has a rich appearance. Mr. McPherson is carrying on an up-to-date and strictly modern establishment.

DO NOT DOSE THE STOMACH

Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei. Sold Under Guarantee.

The only scientific and common sense way to treat catarrh of the nose and throat is by a local application that will kill the catarrhal germs.

Ordinary stomach dosing is worse than useless. Taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the head can have no good effect, and often leads to serious derangement of the digestive organs.

By breathing Hyomei three or four times daily through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its medicated, healing air penetrates to the most remote parts of the nose, throat and lungs, searches out and kills all catarrhal germs, and soothes and heals any irritation in the mucous membrane.

Our faith in the wonderful merit of Hyomei as a cure for catarrh is shown by the guarantee given with every Hyomei outfit that the money will be refunded unless the treatment gives satisfaction.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER!

Indicates Faulty Blood and Worn-Out Nerves -Build Up, or Total Collapse will Surely Follow.

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success is Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; it acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous, buoyant spirits.

A case where there was lassitude and lack of strength is told by Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 39, Beeton, Ont.. "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite ran down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

ARTIC RESEARCH

Peary has come back without the Pole, but his rounds out a record of daring and endurance which has been exceeded by no other Arctic explorer and approached by few. He has not failed for lack of trying, nor has he failed for want of equipment and support. American generosity has done its best for him, andd he has done his best to make that generosity effective. The silent resistance of the "white north" alone has beaten him back. It is not to be expected the other explorers will accept the verdict. Hardships will be borne under the Arctic circle by martyrs to science and to ambition so long as there lies aught hidden there to be found. To the unimaginate man or to the man concered deeply in other things, it will seem ridiculously in excess of the possible gains; but to the man bitten with the fever of Arctic exploration—a fever that no ice field can chill—it will always be well worth while.

INDIAN RIVER

—Miss Mary Smith and sister, Louisa, are visiting friends in Tweed.

—Misses Mary and Fanny O'Leary, of Peterborough, spent last Sunday at home.

—Mr. Frank Walsh and sister, of Keene, were visiting friends in Douro on Sunday last.

—Mrs. Richard Walsh and sister-in-law were visiting at Mr. Richard Sheehen's on Monday last.

—Mr. Hall and Mr. Breckenridge are paying 35 cents per bushel for oats and 83 cents for No. 1 peas. Wheat remains at 70 cents per bushel.

—Mr. Wm. Wright arrived home from Manitoba, where he spent the last three months. Mr. Wright reports the crops good in the west, more especially the wheat crop.

—Mr. John Lonergan, who had the misfortune to get his breast bone broken some time ago, is able to be out again. Mr. Lonergan says he could hear the bones knitting together when it had been broken about seven days.

—The committee of the County Council, composed of Messrs. Johnson, Buck, Carey, Stenson and Moloney, visited Evans' bridge on Monday last and disposed of the timber and flooring of the old structure. Mr. Belcher, County Engineer, also inspected the bridge and reported everything satisfactory.

—The North Star hunting party arrived home on Friday, 16th inst., it being the fifth successful season for this party. In the four preceding years they did not have a manager well qualified and experienced in the deer hunting sport. This season Mr. Stephen Murphy assumed full control of the party and kept this man in their places while traveling through the plains and also acted in the capacity of cook.

Gashed Arm of the Gallant Constable

Bob Cook of Orangeville Defeats Three Policemen, and Escaped After the Tussle—A Desperate Man.

Orangeville, Nov. 21.—One of the liveliest times ever experienced by Orangeville's police occurred yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, the cause of the disturbance being "Bob" Cook, a notorious character in this vicinity, and who has thus far successfully regarded the law as being powerless in bringing him to justice.

He was summoned to appear at Grand Valley about three weeks ago for creating a disturbance, but refused to appear, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Chief Speers was notified of his whereabouts, and together with High Constable Hughes and Night Constable James Halbert, at once went after their man. Finding the law-breaker in the east end of the town, they undertook to arrest him, but Cook, who is regarded as the strongest man in the county, at once showed fight. The constables endeavored to throw him to the ground, but he drew a large knife and made a terrible gash in Halbert's left arm. He then made a thrust with the knife at Hughes' throat, but fortunately missed. Cook's next move was to pelt stones at the constables, who seemed to be utterly powerless in his hands.

The officers were unarmed, and could offer no defence, so they returned uptown. Cook then proceeded on his journey, and was seen in the town in the evening, when boarding a west-bound train.

He has made the threat that he will never be taken alive.

Curious French Market.

There is a curious old market near Paris in which everything is sold at secondhand. Working girls can fit themselves out there from head to foot. As a writer says: Mimi can sell her old felt hat and buy a straw one, exchange her old dress for a new one and, if she likes, buy a steak and a salad for her dinner, a paper bag of fried potatoes, sweets and some flowers for her window. Democracy is king here, and no more attention is paid to the millionaire who is looking for something marvelous which he may pick up cheap than to the man with a wooden leg who wants a new boot in exchange for a dozen sardine tins, five gloves and a stocking.

A Parthian Shot.

"I hear," said Mrs. Gaddie, "that your husband's got a job as superintendent of a cemetery and you're going there to live."

"Well?" replied Mrs. Naybor shortly.

"Well, I was thinking it would be an awful ghostly and creepy sort of neighborhood."

"Perhaps, but the neighborhood will not be prying into our business."

Probably a Hopeless Case.

Mr. Upmore—You know Bilsford? He tries to put up a bold and plausible front, but I understand his case thoroughly. He's meretricious through and through. Mr. Gaswell—Why—er—I thought he was operated on for that a few months ago.—Chicago Tribune.

RAILWAY REGULATIONS.

Mr. E. H. Harriman Critized Government Regulation -Secretary of State Root's Reply.

Kansas City, Nov 21.—At the Commercial Club banquet last night E. H. Harriman criticized Government regulations of railroads, and Secretary of State Root vigorously replied.

Mr Harriman said: President Roosevelt said that the executive and legislative departments of the government should be given additional power to deal with public organizations. It is impossible for a railway company or large organization to carry on its business properly if the people are constantly criticizing and suspecting.

Turning to Secretary Root, Mr. Harriman said; "It is often important to a city or country whether we develop a territory or leave it dormant. Often we cannot give development a start because of the action of certain people for political prestige."

Secretary Root said; "I believe that the just means of regulating traffic and railway affairs is through the railways themselves. A wise law would be one that would force the railroads to combine in keeping the law—a law that would prevent the railroads from breaking the law. It is necessary, it is essential to freedom and independence, that the railroads should be held under control to prevent discrimination. The slight advantage that the Railroads would gain by more power—the power that Mr. Harriman asks for—would be so greatly offset by the evil that such a proposition would not be considered for a moment."

Invest in something tangible.

Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 9,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Wests Coules creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the extreme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 ov 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tully, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Bonfoham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 25 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 20 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $20 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

'em." said Paul, looking down thoughtfully at his own pair.

"Well," said she, "you'll have me treed if you keep on. No hunter would have boots like that. A loud foot makes a still gun."

That was her unfailing method of control, the appeal to intelligence. Polly sat singing thoughtfully, the locket in her hand. She had kissed the sacred thing and hung it by a ribbon to her neck and bathed her eyes in the golden light of it and begun to feel the subtle pathos in its odd message. She was thinking of the handsome boy who came along that far May day with the drove and who lately had returned to be her teacher at Linley school. Now he had so much dignity and learning she liked him not half so well and felt he had no longer any care for her. She blushed to think how she had wept over his letter and kissed it every day for weeks. Her dream was interrupted presently by the call of her brother Tom. Having cut the frost on a window pane, he stood peering out. A man was approaching in the near field. His figure showed to the boot top mounting hills of snow and sank out of sight in the deep hollows. It looked as if he were walking on a rough sea. In a moment he came striding over the dooryard fence on a pair of snowshoes.

"It's Mr. Trove, the teacher," said Polly, who quickly began to shake her curls.

As the door swung open all greeted the young man. Loosening his snowshoes, he flung them on the step and came in, a fox tail dangling from his fur cap.

He shook hands with Polly and her mother and lifted Paul to the ceiling. "Hello, young man" said he. "If one is four, how mahy are two?"

"If you're speaking of new boots," said the widow, "one is at least fifteen."

The schoolteacher made no reply, but stood a moment looking down at the boy.

"It's a cold day," said Polly.

"I like it," said the teacher, lifting his broad shoulders and smiting them with his hands. "God has been house cleaning. The dome of the sky is all swept and dusted. There isn't a cobweb anywhere. Santa Claus come?"

"Yes," said the younger children, who made a rush for their gifts and laid them on chairs before him.

"Grand old chap!" said he, staring thoughtfully at the flannel cat in his hands. "Any idea who it is?"

"Can't make out," said Mrs. Vaughn; "very singular man."

"Generous, too," the teacher added. "That's the best cat I ever saw, Tom. If I had my way the cats would all be made of flannel. Miss Polly, what did you get?"

"This," said Polly, handing him the locket.

"Beautiful!" said he, turning it in his hand. "Anything inside?"

Polly showed him how to open it. He sat a moment or more looking at the graven gold.

"Strange!" said he presently, surveying the wrought cases.

Mrs. Vaughn was now at his elbow.

"Strange?" she inquired.

"Well, long ago," said he, "I heard of one like it. Some time it may solve the mystery of your Santa Claus."

An ear of the teacher had begun to swell and redden.

"Should have pulled my cap down," said he as the widow spoke of it. "Frostbitten years ago, and if I'm out long in the cold I begin to feel it."

"Must be very painful," said Polly, as indeed it was.

"No," said he, with a little squint as he touched the aching member. "It's good. I rather like it. I wouldn't take anything for that ear. It—it"— He hesitated, as if trying to recall the advantages of a chilled ear. "Well, I shouldn't know I had any ears if it weren't for that one."

CHAPTER XIII.

A REMARKABLE figure was young Sidney Trove, the new teacher in district No. 1. He was nearing nineteen years of age that winter.

"I like that," he said to the trustee, who had been telling him of the unruly boys, great, hulking fellows that made trouble every winter term. "Trouble—it's a grand thing—but I'm not selfish, and if I find any I'll agree to divide it with the boys. I don't know but I'll be generous and let them have the most of it. If they put me out of the schoolhouse I'll have learned something."

The trustee looked at the six feet and two inches of bone and muscle that sat lounging in a chair—looked from end to end of it.

"What's that?" he inquired, smiling.

"That I've no business there," said young Mr. Trove.

"I guess you'll dew," said the trustee. "Make 'em toe the line; that's all I got t' say."

"And all I've got to do is my best. I don't promise any more," the other answered modestly as he rose to leave.

Linley school was at the four corners in Pleasant valley—a low frame structure, small and weathered gray. Windows, with no shade or shutter, were set, two on a side, in perfect apposition. A passing traveler could see through them to the rocky pasture beyond. Who came there for knowledge, though a fool, was dubbed a "scholar." It was a word sharply etched in the dialect of that region. If one were to say "skoliurr" he might come near it. Every winter morning the scholar entered a little vestibule which was part of the wood shed. He passed an ash barrel and the odor of drying wood, hung cap and coat on a peg in the closet, lifted the latch of a pine door and came into the schoolroom. If before it it would be noisy with shout and laughter, the burr of tongues, the tread of running feet. Big girls in neat aprons would be gossiping at the stove hearth; small boys would be chasing each other up and down aisles and heaping the whittled desks of pine; little girls in checked flannel or homespun would be circling in a song play; big boys would be trying feats of strength that ended in loud laughter. So it was the first morning of that winter term in 1850. A tall youth stood by the window. Suddenly he

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which our news many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz ever matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. R. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few minutes he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Look For Blood Humors

They Crop Out Constantly, Showing the System Needs Purifying.

You're not satisfied with your looks. How can you be with such disfiguring pimples, such rough unsightly skin?

Blood is full of humors, and it's no wonder you look and feel poorly.

You are languid,
Appetite is miserable,
Sleep is hard to get,
Snap and vim are lacking.

High time to improve matters—but what's the proper remedy?

Experience proves that Dr. Hamilton's give instant effect. They tone the entire system, fortify the blood, and impart a feeling of new life in a few days.

Unlike strong purgatives, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are exceedingly mild. They are made from concentrated vegetable extracts such as Mandrake and Butternut, and can be taken by young or old, with absolute safety.

"I learnt something very valuable after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Miss Effie Thomson of Meridan. "I used to have ugly pimples that much embarrassed me. The tonic and purifying effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely restored me. My health is splendid and my complexion a great credit to this marvelous medicine."

Let your medicine be Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They do cure so thoroughly. Sold by All dealers. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1 By mail from N. C Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Pseudo Salvationist Works His Graft

Supplementing our report of the theft committed as described below, in yesterday's issue, we might note that the following despatch from London, together with a comment on it from the Lindsay Post, have been received as follows:

London, Nov. 19. — W. Eaton, aged 16, a Salvation Army emigrant, to Canada, who quickly returned, was charged with stealing his father's watch and chain, and was sentenced to two months in jail.

The prisoner is the young English youth who formerly worked for Mr E. Mason, and later for the Lindsay Lumber Co. Mr. R. M. Fee, of the Saddler and Fee firm on Saturday morning gave him a cheque of $50 to cash at the Ontario Bank for one or two men's wages. The check was given the boy shortly before eleven o'clock, and he got the money and boarded the train for Peterborough.

Chief Nevison was put wise and communicated with the Peterborough police but the lad eluded the force by purchasing a ticket to Toronto, and passing back through Lindsay again. He was then lost sight of, and must have embarked at once for England, where he has evidently been practising his old dodges, with the result that he has been sent down for two months.

While in Lindsay young Eaton pretended to be a full fledged Salvation Army convert, and made it a point to tell when giving his "experience" how he used to steal, but had been converted.

Bell Telephone Co. New Premises

The plans and specifications for the proposed new central Bell Telephone offices, which are to be erected on Hunter street, have now been prepared, subject, perhaps, to some slight alterations. The new offices will be 37 feet, which is seven feet more than that required in height.

The main office will be 67ft. 6 in. in length and 30 ft., in width. A storehouse will be erected to the rear 32 feet by 16 feet, making the whole structure 99ft. 6 in. in length. As scaled above the height of the building will be 37 feet above the sidewalk.

The basement will reach a half story above the sidewalk. In this will be installed the generators, engines and main rack.

On the first floor will be the business office, manager's office and operator's cloak rooms. The interior will be finished chiefly in birch to present an attractive appearance.

A relay rack, storage batteries and operating room will be located on the second floor.

The building will be constructed of brick, pressed brick, trimmed with cut stone being the material proposed for the southern end, facing Hunter street. The main doors will be situated at the southern corner facing the street.

Mr. Donald Walker is Improving

The many friends in this city of Mr. Donald Walker, recently porter of the Windsor Hotel, at Regina, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Walker is doing as well as could be expected after his recent mishap.

It seems that Mr. Walker who was acting in the Windsor, in the capacity as above noted when the hotel was destroyed by fire.

Walker was severely burned in the blaze in which seven or eight persons lost their lives. He jumped from a third storey window to escape. He is a native of Orillia and was employed at the Oriental last winter. Later he was engaged in the paint shop of the C.G.E. works. He has several relatives in the city. Mr. Walker left for the west a few months ago.

Mr. John Knox is Now Able to Work

We are pleased to note that Mr. John Knox the well known local ginger beer and cider manufacturer, whose latter establishment is located on Queen street, was yesterday able to be out and attend to business.

Mr Knox on Wednesday had a serious accident in his factory whereby his sight was threatened with annihilation and his face so seriously injured that the doctor called in attendance had to insert some fifteen stitches in his wounds. Mr. Knox was engaged in filling a siphon at the machine when the siphon unexpectedly burst and the pieces of flying glass struck him on the face inflicting serious cuts and injuries. We are pleased to say that this prominent citizen is now convalescent.

Steve Holland to Sell Out His Hotel

Stephen Holland, better known to his intimates as "Steve," it is reported, has sold out the American Hotel to Mr. David Flynn, of the east ward. The deal between the parties concerned has been completed, subject, however, to the action of the License Board. There is little doubt, but that the board will transfer the license, as Mr. Flynn is a man of excellent standing and has good recommendations, and Mr. Holland has a good name in the city. A meeting of the board will be held at an early date to consider the matter.

Hockey Played on Roller Skates

Next Wednesday evening, November 28th, will be the first Peterborough Hockey Club night at the roller skating rink. At a meeting of the executive Wednesday night it was decided to hold a hockey match, including skating contests for both ladies and gentlemen, and also to have races on the roller skates. As there has never been an exhibition of hockey on roller skates in Peterborough before, this game will doubtless be well patronized, and will likely be an interesting contest to witness.

Auto-Bus Laid Up for the Year.

On Saturday the auto-bus will be laid up for the season in one of Mr. Alex. Elliott's many outhouses. In conversation with Mr. I. Eastwood yesterday a Times representative learned that the auto-bus during last summer earned good dividends for its owners. Next spring Mr. Ernest Hannah, who acted very efficiently as chauffeur during the end of the past season, will again be at the throttle when the spring season opens

Miss L. G. Maxwell is a Bride.

On Wednesday night Miss Lizzie G Maxwell, in St. Luke's church, was by the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Robert George Long of this city. Mr. Long is foreman for the Holland & Greaves Lumber Company of the north shore. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about sixty invited guests. The bride was given away by her father, while Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. J. L. Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's.

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore, he dug "papoose root" for her, for that was their great remedy for female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower pelvic region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded. A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure if persisted in for a reasonable length of time. The "Favorite Prescription" is a harmless agent, being wholly prepared from native medicinal roots, without a drop of alcohol in its make up, whereas all other medicines, put up for sale through druggists for woman's peculiar ailments, contain large quantities of spirituous liquors, which are very harmful, especially to delicate women. "Favorite Prescription" contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on each bottle wrapper. It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out," or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office, or school-room, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure.

MILLIONS IN OIL.

The undersigned has about completed arrangements with the NEVADA HOME OIL COMPANY to place on the Canadian market a limited number of shares of the capital stock of this splendid proposition. Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

It seems that the man who, as noted in yesterday's issue of The Times had threatened to use a revolver with murderous intent upon the sharer of his joys and sorrows, although in strict fact not at present living with the lady, was, on Wednesday night, some hours after his arrest by P. C. McGinty and P. C. Mehaffy allowed to go on his promise of good behavior.

Peterboro' Presbytery to Meet.

The next meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough will be held on Tuesday, Dec 11th, in Port Hope. At this sitting some very important business will come up. The committee appointed at the last meeting to consider the question of church union will bring in its report. The matter of the separation of Knox church from St. Paul's will also be taken up and, it is expected, will be sanctioned. Arrangements will likely be made for the ordination of Rev. A. Bright as pastor of Knox church.

Convincing Exhibition of a New Gas That Costs One-Third Present Prices.

Last night a Times representative saw a really wonderful exhibition of a new style of illuminating gas exhibited at 292 Dalhousie street in the grocery store of Mr. J. S. Richardson.

The company controlling the patent for this new gas embraces as members, several well-known citizens of Peterborough, whose names will be announced in due time.

In Mr. Richardson's store is a miniature gas plant in full working order, where those interested in what will produce a cheap and sufficient light may see the same in operation for a few days, or until the regular office of the company is established on George street, which will doubtless be within a few days time.

The light produced by the new process is absolutely marvellous in its brilliancy and economy, and, as a medium for cooking purposes is unsurpassed, being entirely free from odor, soot or any tendency to soil either kettles or other utensils used on a stove.

It might be noted that last night a new 32 candle power electric light, held beside one single jet of the gas looked positively yellow by comparison.

The company that will manufacture the plants for making this gas, either in private residences, stores, hotels or other places, is already formed and no stock is now for sale. As this new gas is absolutely safe in process of manufacture and produces a light that far discounts electric light in its intensity, it will doubtless be eagerly sought for by a long suffering public, who had been, to use a slang term, "soaked" for their domestic and shop lighting and heating.

Splendid Concert at St. Paul's

Last night St. Paul's church Sunday school was crowded to its utmost capacity, the attraction being a concert given under the auspices of the orchestra of that church. A splendid program was rendered as follows:

1—"The New Arrival," by the orchestra.
2—"The Old Brigade," by the male quartette, Messrs. Gillespie, Bennet, Crane and Knapman.
3—A selected number, by Miss Helen Davis.
4—"Hope Sublime" by the orchestra.
5—Recitation by Miss Mabel Pringle.
6—Piano solo, by Miss Gladys Steward.
7—"The Parting Hour," by the orchestra.
8—"The Request," by the orchestra.
9—"Last Night," by a quintette, Miss Davies, and the Male Quartette.
10—"The Garden of Sleep," by Mr. Merritt.
11—"The Slight of Ages," by Miss Moore.
12—A selected number by the Mandolin Club.
13—"The Breakers," by the orchestra.

City Keeps Men on the Look Out —Resolute May Be Raised From the Lake.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Thursday the lake, outside of the western gap, as far as eye could reach, was flecked with cotton-topped rollers which battered and tore at the submerged Resolute, and set the stout barge Locke and the good schooner St. Louis thrashing back upon their anchors in a manner which threatened to tear them from their holding, and send these two vessels to destruction upon the beach.

Yesterday only an occasional fleck of white was to be seen, the barge had disappeared, and out to the southward, with her nose still pointing to the westward, lay the St. Louis, gently rising and falling to a moderate sea from up the lake. The spars of the Resolute were still standing, and from the mainmast, a bit of canvas whipped to and fro in the wind.

Along the sandbar beach the breakers still crashed in, carrying with them bits of wreckage from the Resolute. Two men slowly paced to and fro up and down the sand.

CROWDS WATCH THE SCENE.

Over on the northern pier of the channel several score people—many of them women—gazed out to where the wreck lay. They was not much to see, yet hour after hour they stood there. Every time one of the watchers on the beach raced into the shallow water to pull something ashore they became morbidly curious, and there was a sign of disappointment when the patrol straightened up, and tossed aside only another bit of the debris from the old barge.

The arrival of an undertakers wagon about ten o'clock, and the simultaneous appearance of a gasoline launch in the gap caused a flurry of excitement, and when the undertaker turned the launch, the crowd gathered around eagerly.

"Where is the body of the second engineer, Topping?" inquired the undertaker.

"Don't know," replied the skipper of the launch.

"Well, I was sent down by his brother to take charge of it," asserted the man on the dock.

"I haven't heard anything of it," replied the man in the launch, and away he went.

THE BODY NOT RECOVERED.

It was erroneously reported that Topping's body had been secured on the beach at ten o'clock, but this is incorrect. No bodies have yet been found, but a sharp outlook is being kept. The chances are that they will not be recovered for some time.

Mr Frank Sullivan, son of Capt. Sullivan, of the destroyed steam barge Resolute, called upon Property Commissioner Harris yesterday morning, and gave information to locate the bodies of the six drowned sailors. Topping was beaten from the wreck about 100 feet south of the west end of the south pier at the western gap, and the other men were thrown into the water about 100 yards east of where the barge sank.

Commissioner Harris will place a patrol on the lake shore to the western city limits, and also on the shore of the western sandbar, to keep a lookout for the bodies.

Call for Independent Inspection of Banks

Mr. H. C. McLeod, General Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has written a very interesting letter to The Toronto Globe on the subject of bank inspection. Mr. McLeod says:

Through the press and from the platform the banking system of Canada is lauded as being the best in the world. In many particulars the system is admirable, our elastic bank currency and the readiness with which the banking requirements of new districts are met by branch extension being its strongest features. However, it is not without defects, some of them of vital importance. Of these the most prominent is the lack of external inspection, which experience in the western hemisphere has demonstrated to be essential. The public have been reminded of this necessity by the recent failure of the Ontario Bank and the leading papers of the country are almost a unit in demanding reform in this particular. The reasonableness of the demand is made clear by a review of Canadian banking history since 1867 and before, and is confirmed by the experiences of our near neighbors prior to the civil war. In 1840 there were in existence in Canada forty-one banks; since then seven have been incorporated and have commenced business, making a total of forty-eight banks. Of this total twelve have failed and some others have saved themselves by amalgamation. The failures are, therefore, twenty-five per cent. within a period of twenty-six years, the last ten of which were years of unexampled prosperity, with steadily rising deposits, conditions under which even insolvent banks seldom close their doors. Most if not all, of the above mentioned failures were fraudulent, and it is now plainly evident that a few hours examination by a skilled banker would have disclosed an insolvent condition in any one of the banks, years before it collapsed. In each of the two most recent disasters a correct diagnosis could have been made ten or more years ago. Some urge that the Government should call for special returns, but what value should attach to special returns from the Bank of Yarmouth, from the Ontario Bank, or from any of the other wrecks gone before? They would simply have enlarged the piles of incorrect and deceptive bank returns in the Finance Department. What is written by one having unusual facilities for observation is eminently true. "It is extremely rare to find a bank has failed without some of the officers committing fraudulent or illegal acts to hide it." There is at least sufficient truth in the above to dispose of the suggestion of special returns and to dispel faith in the returns of badly managed banks.

Some Canadian bankers, including one writer, whose words are entitled to great weight, contend that Government inspection has failed in the United States. Under the National Bank Act of that country there has been a somewhat imperfect system of bank examination, and a more imperfect system by some of the State Bank Departments. I say imperfect, for under the national system there were employed last year 73 examiners, whose duties required the making of no less than 11,516 inspections each year. For the forty-three years during which the National Bank Act has been in operation there have been established 7,966 banks. Of these 469 have failed, the failures being equal to 5 1-2 per cent. of the whole number for the period. As for the banks other than national, with a more imperfect system of inspection, or no system at all, the failures reached 17 1-2 per cent. The comparison of the percentages appears as follows:

National banks failed in 43 years	5 1-2 per cent.
Other U. S. banks failed in 43 years	17 1-2 per cent.
Canadian banks failed in 26 years	25 per cent.
National banks failed in 26 years (same period)	5 per cent.

External inspection must not be regarded as an unfailing cure; it has its limitations, and the best that can be said of it is that it is a preventative that if properly applied, will make bank failure almost unknown. An inspector cannot discover an embezzlement until after the act is committed; neither can he avoid a ruinously bad debt made before his visit, but the progress toward failure is generally slow and in the majority of cases a prudent inspector would, by his advice and authority, save the situation and direct the management into safe channels.

The subject of the establishment of an effective bureau of inspection is one of the utmost importance, for unless it is founded on conservative lines, in which the interests of all sound institutions are carefully conserved, much more harm than benefit would ensue. Bank shareholders are the parties with the major interest at stake, and for the present the subject would be better left to them and to their representatives, in the hope that a satisfactory solution of the problem may be reached.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Evans

Mr. Chas. James, was on Thursday evening the host in a most interesting social event, at his residence 391 Aberbrooke street when the fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Evans was celebrated.

There were about forty guests present, who took advantage of the auspicious event, and who all enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

During the evening Mr. H. Potter and Miss Ida Jackson sang several songs in good style. When the hour of twelve o'clock arrived the guests partook of a most sumptuous repast Mrs. F. Andrews, Mrs. Wm. James and Miss Gertrude Allen, very ably attended to the guests wants.

Mrs. J. W. Lendrum Passes Away

Yesterday morning Mrs. John W. Lendrum passed away at the home of her son Mr. W. G. Lendrum, 699 Water street. The deceased was 64 years of age, and had resided in Peterborough for the past thirty years. Mrs Lendrum was predeceased by her husband just six weeks ago Thursday.

The late Mrs. Lendrum is survived by a family of five.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock to Little Lake cemetery. The funeral service will be held at 699 Water street, at 2.30 o'clock. Mrs. Lendrum's demise will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

Senator Kerr Has Passed Away

Local Barrister Loses a Parent Whom the Whole Country Will Mourn.

It was with deep feelings of regret that the many friends in this city yesterday learned of the death of Senator Wm. Kerr, of Cobourg, father of Mr. F. D Kerr, of the legal firm of Denniston, Peck and Kerr of this city. Mr. F. D. Kerr will have with sympathy in the loss of his revered and honored father. A Toronto despatch says:—

Hon William Kerr, K.C., LL.D., of Cobourg, senator of the Dominion of Canada, died shortly after nine o'clock last night at the Toronto General hospital. The Senator was operated on last Thursday morning. The operation was performed by Drs. W. P. Caven and G. A. Peters, and it seemed to have been successful, but the distinguished patient's advanced age was against his rallying from the shock. He had been at the hospital since November 5. He was surrounded by members of his family when he and came. The deceased statesman took a leading part in politics, and was for a term 1874-8, elected to the House of Commons. In 1897, he was appointed to the senate in succession to Sir Oliver Mowat, and distinguished himself by close and earnest attention to his duties.

The late senator was the son of the late Francis William Kerr, of Fermanagh, Ireland, who settled in Amelisburg, Prince Edward County, Ont.

In 1829, he received his early education at Newtonville, under Rev. Dr. Ormiston. Afterwards entering Victoria University, Cobourg, he obtained the degree of B.A. in 1865, M.A. in 1868, and LL.D in 1887. His legal studies were carried on in the offices of Smith & Armour, of Cobourg, the last named being the late chief justice of Ontario. He was called to the bar in 1859, and practised throughout in the town of Cobourg. For many years he enjoyed the largest legal business in Northumberland. Mr. Kerr in 1867 was elected mayor of Cobourg.

A Liberal in politics, he always was one of the leaders of his party in the Midland district. He was president of the West Northumberland Reform Association for a lengthened period, and represented his party in the house of commons from the general elect on 1874 to the general election, 1878, defeating the Hon. James Cockburn, speaker of the house of commons, by 23 on a majority. He was unseated, however, on petition, but was returned over the Hon. Sidney Smith, postmaster-general, by 156 majority. Mr. Kerr was an unsuccessful candidate for the same riding in 1878, 1882, and 1885, being defeated by narrow majorities. In 1887 and 1891 he was again offered the nomination but declined. Previous to the general election of 1896, the nomination was unanimously offered to him by the Liberal convention of West Northumberland, but was again declined. In 1897 he was raised to the senate succeeding Sir Oliver Mowat.

In 1896 he was elected a benchor of the Law Society of Ontario, and as early as 1876 was created a Queen's counsel by the Ontario Government. He was a member of the board of regents, and a senator of Victoria University, and held the office of vice-chancellor of that institution from the time the office was first created. He founded the Pumshon chair there for valedictory oration. He was a member of the Methodist church, and he married Myra, third daughter of the late John Field, Cobourg, and sister of John C. Field, ex-M.L.A., and Cornelli C Field, M.L.A.

Four sons and three daughters survive, being W. F. Kerr, county crown attorney, Cobourg; C. F. Kerr, barrister; John M. Kerr of Beatty, Kerr & Verner; Frank D. Kerr, barrister, Peterborough; Miss Helen and Miss Mabel at home, and Mrs D. W. Macdonald, Edmonton.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at Cobourg, at 2.30.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The Englishman who was picked up by the police on Thursday evening as insane is still in the county jail. This man is some forty years of age, and threatened to kill a gentleman in St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was confined for a short while. He has been in this country about two months, but has no friends in Canada. The prisoner refused to speak when brought to the police court.

Brute in Human Form Assaults Girl

A Belleville despatch says:—A few minutes before six o'clock last night a little girl, nine years old, named Dorothy Mackenzie, had been over the street on a message. She was returning to her home on Coleman street, across the river, when in the middle of the lower bridge she was seized by a man who grabbed her around the neck. The little girl screamed, which drew the attention of some young men on the other side of the bridge. The unknown man ran to the edge of the bridge, jumped into the river, and started to wade across. The police were sent for, and in a few minutes the entire force were on the scene, but despite the most deligent search could not find the man.

He was seen by a number in the water of the river, but owing to the darkness, they could not see which direction he took. He is described as tall and heavily set. The little girl in the tunnel grabbed his hat, which is in possession of the police. It is a new stiff christy, bought at a local store, and will probably be a good clue for the police. The little girl's neck is badly scratched.

During the past three weeks there have been half a dozen similar cases and at present women are afraid to venture out.

Dummer Residents Get Presentation

Some fifty friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. John Vansickle, who have been residents of the 9th con. of Dummer for the past fifteen years, and who on Saturday last took up their abode in Methuen, met at their home and as a token of their regard, presented them with two very handsome rocking chairs, accompanied by a neatly worded address, which was read by Miss Birdie Andrews.

The address was signed on behalf of friends in Dummer by Messrs. W. M. Sedgewick and Geo. Gardner.

Mr. Vansickle replied in appropriate terms, thanking the donors for their kind words and gifts and assuring them that their kindness would not soon be forgotten.

Mrs. (Hon.) Hamilton Leaving Town.

Mrs (Hon.) Robert Hamilton will today close her beautiful residence "Auburn," for the winter. Mrs. Hamilton will today or Monday visit her son Mr. Miles Hamilton, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Fenelon Falls, and after pay a series of visits with her many friends throughout this county. Owing to Mrs. Hamilton's wide-spread popularity, the social world of Peterborough will during this coming winter, miss an agreeable hostess and her many acquaintances, will regret the absence of an ever welcome friend.

Cherbourg, France, Nov. 23.— The fortin German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the British Royal mail steamer Orinoco collided at nine o'clock last night. The Kaiser Wilhelm had touched here on her voyage out, while the Orinoco was coming into this port. The commander of the Orinoco claims that he signalled that he would go to starboard of the North German Lloyd vessel. Let the latter hold her course across the Orinoco's bows, and only went to port of the Orinoco when it was too late. The grinding of the Orinoco's bow into the steerage of the German vessel instantly killed four persons, disemboweling a girl eleven years years old. Five passengers are said to be injured. On the Orinoco three men and a woman were killed, six women and a man were injured, and five persons were knocked overboard and drowned.

WON'T RUN THROUGH PEACE RIVER DISTRICT

The Sun Life Assurance Company

The Sun Life of Canada has issued an official statement giving the results of the investigation of the Company by the Royal Commission. The investigation was a very severe one, probing to the bottom the wide and varied transactions of the Company for the past 16 years. The Company is to be congratulated upon its most excellent showing. It has come through the investigation triumphantly, and as far as the Company's interests are concerned the Royal Commission's dealing with it is the best advertisement it has ever had. Its investments have been highly profitable and perfectly safe. It is not always the case that companies do not in their annual statements reveal their real strength. It is, however, the case with the Sun Life of Canada for they have a Contingent Fund of over $3,000,000 which they do not include in their actual assets.

It was shown that "no director has ever obtained any financial profit or advantage of any kind out of the Company by means of sales, loans or any such arrangement of any kind whatever directly or indirectly." Another interesting feature that was brought out was that the Sun Life of Canada lives up to the estimates it gives to policyholders. The average amount paid to policyholders has been about 87 per cent. of the estimate. This is an unparalleled record. Statements were filed with the Commissioners showing that this is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every Deferred Profit policy on the books.

And still another important point was brought out. The directors reduced the proportion of profits accruing to the shareholders from 20 per cent. (the original ratio) to 5 per cent., so that the policyholders now get 95 per cent. of the profits and the shareholders only 5 per cent. The investigation was so satisfactory that Commissioner Kent at the closing hours of the last session speaking on the suggestion of voting power being given to policyholders said "It seems to me that in the conduct of the Sun Life business there is nothing to be desired as far as the present generation is concerned. If you were immortal I would not say anything further about it. If, by sound judgment, hard work and close discrimination you have put the Sun Life on the pinnacle of a successful Company, another management with other attributes might just as easily squander it. . . The directors have done their duty nobly; there is no complaint to be made against them, or any one of them. Who can say whether the future management will continue the present high standard of your company?"

We wish to offer the Company our hearty congratulations on their most excellent showing and would request all our readers to carefully read the statement that appears in another part of this paper.

Mr. Regan's Friend Plays Today

The many friends of Mr. A. M. Regan, the popular clerk of the National Hotel, will be interested to learn that Mr. Neil Twomey, star in the "Wayward Son" Company that plays today at the local opera house, is a friend of the former. Mr. Regan and Mr. Twomey were classmates at St. Michael's College, Toronto. Mr. Twomey is one of the leading successes of the American stage today, and an actor with a limitless future before him.

G.T.P. Railway Files Route Plans Which Takes It Through the Yellowhead Pass.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company has submitted plans to the Department of Railways showing the proposed route of the line from Edmonton westward through the Rockies to its intended terminus at Kaien Island, near Port Simpson. This route may will come up for the approval of the Minister of Railways in a few days.

It shows that after a survey of the available passes through the Rockies the G.T.P. has chosen the Yellowhead Pass, which is regarded as the easiest and most direct line from Edmonton. This means, of course that the new transcontinental line will not go as far north as the Peace River country, following the location that was originally proposed. It may be, however, that the Government would prefer to have a more northerly route adopted than that through the Yellowhead, in which case further surveys may be necessary.

PASS WIDE ENOUGH FOR ALL.

It has been understood for some time past that the Canadian Northern's extension to the Pacific Coast would traverse the Yellowhead. At the present time the rival companies are at work locating their lines through the same pass. Engineers familiar with the locality, however, assert that the valley is wide enough to accommodate half a dozen roads, and possibly the day is coming when it will be actually used by that many.

The Canadian Post-Office Department is now in communication with the postal authorities in Washington for the purpose of securing a better interpretation in both countries of what is known as second-class matter, that is to say, newspapers and periodicals sent out from their offices of publication to regular subscribers. The Canadian Postal Department last winter took action to refuse admission at second-class matter rates to a number of American publications which had no title to transmission in the Dominion on these favorable terms. The Postmaster-General of Canada has exercised a strict care in seeing that the low rate of postage is not given to publications of our own that could not qualify therefore under the denomination contained in the Post-Office Act. It is hoped that the authorities at Ottawa and Washington will be able to agree upon a definition which will shut out no worthy publications from the privilege, and yet at the same time see that it is extended to no others.

CHEAPER PARCEL RATES

It is stated that one feature of the Post-office Act that is promised for the present session of parliament may be a provision by which the parcel carrying branch of the Canadian postal service will be considerably extended, thus affording, in all probability, a cheaper means of transmitting this class of matter from place to place than is now provided by the express companies.

Fish Spawn From Belleville

A Belleville despatch says that Wm. Pill, of the Dominion fish hatcheries, who has been in that city securing white fish spawn for the hatchery, has sent away twenty-five million eggs, which he says are the finest specimens he has ever seen in fifteen years' experience. They are "stripped" from about 3,000 fish taken in the Bay of Quinte here. These are the first white fish spawn taken from these waters; but, next year, the Government expects to take fifty million. They will be used to stock Lakes Huron, Erie, Ontario and other fresh water lakes in the Dominion.

ROYAL Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.
Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.
No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs Emma Daigle, of Moncton, N. B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for woman's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, gave me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U. S. A., and

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

Senator Whyte, of Maryland, is very fearful of the future of the United States. He said in a speech a few days ago:

The elasticity of the executive and legislative authority in widening and extending the police and other powers of the federal government is disturbing the peace of all thoughtful men. The domineering influence of the federal government has become oppressive at home and abroad. Our colonial policy over possessions acquired by the sword is at war with the fundamental principles for which the revolutionary heroes shed their blood.

On the other hand, the wielder of the "big stick," not only over the heads of the plain people, but over the crumbs of the judiciary, is driving the country into imperialism, and on the other hand orators of a high order of eloquence are leading the electors into the dangerous bog of socialism.

This is certainly not a very favorable outlook, if it presents the case truly, and there is a great deal of in what the senator says. Our neighbors are discovering that there is not a very great deal of difference in human nature on the two sides of the Atlantic or between what is said to be and what it now is. The Spanish war is likely to prove a very costly mistake. The constitution of the United States does not contemplate the ownership by the nation of colonial possessions, or indeed of any territory whatever which could not reasonably be expected at some early future date to form an integral part of the republic. The possessions over seas which the United States has acquired are Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Panama and Porto Rico, with the prospect of Cuba being added to the list. As Alaska will be developed and settled by people from the United States, no difficulties are likely to arise in connection with it; but the other countries mentioned have been a source of difficulty already, and most inevitably be more troublesome in the future. One of the unwritten laws of the United States was that the standing army should be small. A large army was felt to be a menace to republican institutions. When the war of secession took place an immense number of men were under arms and when peace came they were rapidly disbanded. Upon nothing did the people of that country felicitate themselves more or more justly than upon the wonderful manner in which their armed hosts returned to the avocations of peace. From that time until the war with Spain the army was kept at a low figure. Since then it has been increased; and we now see the republic maintaining its authority by military power in the Philippines, Porto Rico and Panama, and asserting it by the same means in Cuba.

President Roosevelt is an excellent man, of strong character and great ability. He is trusted by the people as no other man, since Lincoln, has been trusted. He is worthy of all confidence. But let it be supposed that he should be succeeded by a man of the type of Hearst, the man who more than any other was responsible for the war with Spain, the man who said to one of his staff: "You furnish the pictures and I will furnish the war." Or let it be supposed that Mr. Roosevelt is succeeded by a man of good intentions yet lacking his sagacity and commanding influence. In either of these cases there might be serious danger ahead for the republic. It is a very remarkable thing that the people of the United States seem to be losing, if not confidence in themselves, at least a sense of responsibility. They are turning more and more to one man for guidance. They are so busy making money that they have not time to look after the affairs of government. They have allowed this to fall into the hands of political bosses, who are making a muddle of it. There is a chance that they may grow tired of boss rule, and gladly entrust their affairs to one man. This was the way the republics of old drifted into imperialism, and history has a fashion of repeating itself. It is as true now as when it was first said that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

French Authorities Encounter Opposition

Paris, Nov. 23.—Inventories of hundreds of churches were taken early yesterday morning before an alarm of the presence of soldiers and authorities could be given. At other churches there was considerable opposition. At the Seminary of Aleon the bishop barred the door in person, and was ejected, and at Armentieres, Department of the Nord, chairs bound together with barbed wire formed a breastwork, and the congregation filled the church, and sang the "Carmagnole," while the inventory was being taken. Firemen, with ladders assisted the authorities to enter the Church of St. Jean at Amiens, and at other churches axes were used to batter in the doors. At Pignan sulphure was shovelled into the building from the vestry and the roof, driving the troops out to where the crowd shouted maledictions and threw flower pots and stones. A charge of infantry cleared the church, but when the firemen went to flood it they found that the water mains had been plugged.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneezing stage." Prevention dissipates all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventics are thoroughly safe for children, and as effectual for adults. Sold and recommended by J. D. Tully.

A "Pacifier" Shot.

Tiflis, Nov. 23.—General Gorochtkapoff, ex-governor of Kelsnasthpol, who was mortally wounded here yesterday by an unknown man, is the most conspicuous victim of the revolutionists since the assassination of General Min. He ranked with Generals Alikhanoff and Bauer as the three great pacificators of the Caucasus. During the Russo-Turkish war in Yelisabetpol Province last summer Gorochtkapoff was sent into the district of Shusa, where the Tartars and Armenians were conducting a war of extermination. He was given practically unlimited power to restore order and used artillery and infantry with great vigor, bombarding the Tartar quarter of Shusa for several days.

San Francisco Relief

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The California Promotion Committee says concerning the relief fund for San Francisco, "More than $6,000,000 contributed to San Francisco came in small sums, ranging from ten cents up to thousands of dollars. Of the entire amount sent only two sums went astray, one a package of currency containing $1,085.50, from Marshlight, sent through the bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles by express and the other a package of two hundred dollars, sent by mail from Baltimore.

—Mr. Hall and Mr. Breckenridge are paying 35 cents per bushel for oats and 82 cents for No. 1 peas. Wheat remains at 70 cents per bushel.

—Mr Wm. Wright arrived home from Manitoba, where he spent the last three months. Mr. Wright reports the crops good on the west, more especially the wheat crop.

—Mr. John Lonergan, who had the misfortune to get his arm broken some time ago, is able to be out again. Mr Lonergan says he could hear the bones knitting together when it had been broken about seven days.

—The committee of the County Council, composed of Messrs. Johnson, Buck, Carey, Stenson and Mahoney, visited Evans' bridge on Monday last and disposed of the timber and flooring of the old structure. Mr. Belcher, County Engineer, also inspected the bridge and reported everything satisfactory.

—The North Star hunting party arrived home on Friday, 13th inst., it being the fifth successful season for the party. In the four preceding years they did not have a manager well qualified and experienced in the deer hunting sport. This season Mr. Stephen Murphy assumed full control of the party and kept the men in their places while traveling through the pines and also acted in the capacity of cook.

The Engineering Magazine.

The Engineering Magazine for December gives the leading place to O. M. Becker's article on Modern Adaptations of the Apprenticeship System. The topic is one of great and increasing interest, under existing industrial conditions, and the information given concerning the methods and experience of many leading firms is of real importance and value. Henry W. Jacobs' study of Organization and Economy in the Railway Machine Shop has a like claim on the attention of the advanced works manager; both are fully and effectively illustrated. A. E. Dixon continues his reviews of accepted practice in the Planning and Construction of the Power Plant and his illustrations tell a story as significant as his text. Other features of the issue in which the pictures are most effective in illustrating the letter-press are an account of the new tin region of the York peninsula, by Frank L. Hess, the official of the U. S. Geological Survey who examined the region, and an analysis of the Peruvian Water Powers and their Possibilities, by Emilio Guarini, professor of engineering in the Lima University. Reginald Pelham Bolton, the well-known expert, discusses the Prevention of Elevator Accidents in a manner likely to suggest much needed reforms in methods of inspection and regulation, and Edwin J. Trindle, concludes his very valuable synopsis of patent law with an abstract of the Patent Relations of Employer and Employee. The Engineering Magazine, New York.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

Mr. Isaac Brock, 117 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 117 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 117 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 117 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm, and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,

Isaac Brock,

When old age comes, it brings with it catarrhal diseases. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people. This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to many old people.

WEDDING STATIONERY

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS are always in order. The season for the final result of being a disciple of Cupid finds expression in the Hymeneal ceremony at the altar—that occasion when "two hearts that beat as one" are joined together—pronounced one.

For this auspicious occasion the printing must be chastely dignified—must be appropriate in appearance to the one time of life when everything "best" is donned—when happiness reigns supremely.

Marriage Announcements

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces (excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

gave a loud "Sh-h-h." Running feet fell silently and halted; words begun with a shout ended in a whisper. A boy making caricatures at the blackboard dropped his chalk that now fell noisily. A whisper, heavy with awe and expectation, flew hissing from lip to lip, "The teacher!" There came a trampling in the vestibule, the door latch jumped with a loud rattle, and in came Sidney Trove. All eyes were turned upon him. A look of rectitude, lordlike and too good to be true, came over many faces.

"Good morning," said the young man, removing his cap, coat and overshoes. Some nodded, dumb with timidity. Only a few little ones had the bravery to speak up, as they gave back the words in a tone that would have fitted a golden text. He came to the roaring stove and stood a moment, warming his hands. A group of the big boys were in a corner whispering. Two were sturdy and quite six feet tall—the Beach boys.

"Big as a bull moose," one whispered.

"An' stouter," said another.

The teacher took a pencil from his pocket and tapped the desk.

"Please take your seats," said he.

All obeyed. Then he went around with the roll and took their names, of which there were thirty-four.

"I believe I know your name," said Trove, smiling, as he came to Polly Vaughn.

"I believe you do," said she, glancing up at him, with half a smile and a little move in her lips that seemed to ask, "How could you forget me?"

Then the teacher, knowing the peril of her eyes, became very dignified as he glanced over the books she had brought to school. He knew it was going to be a hard day. For a little he wondered if he had not been foolish, after all, in trying a job so difficult and so perilous. If he should be thrown out of school he felt sure it would ruin him—he could never look Polly in the face again. As he turned to begin the work of teaching it seemed to him a case of do or die, and he felt the strength of an ox in his heavy muscles.

The big boys had settled themselves in a back corner side by side, a situation too favorable for mischief. He asked them to take other seats. They complied sullenly and with hesitation. He looked over books, organized the school in classes and started one of them on its way. It was the primer class, including a half dozen very small boys and girls. They shouted each word in the reading lesson, labored in silence with another and gave voice again with unabated energy. In their pursuit of learning they bayed like hounds. Their work began upon this ancient and informing legend, written to indicate the shout and skip of the youthful student:

The—sun—is—up—and—it—is—day—day?—day.

"You're afraid," the teacher began after a little. "Come up here close to me."

They came to his chair and stood about him. Some were confident; others hung back suspicious and untamed.

"We're going to be friends," said he in a low, gentle voice. He took from his pocket a lot of cards and gave one to each.

"Here's a story," he continued. "See; I put it in plain print for you with pen and ink. It's all about a bear and a boy, and is in ten parts. Here's the first chapter. Take it home with you tonight"—

He stopped suddenly. He had turned in his chair and could see none of the boys. He did not move, but slowly took off a pair of glasses he had been wearing.

"Joe Beach," said he coolly, "come out here on the floor."

There was a moment of dead silence. That big youth, the terror of Linley school, was now red and dumb with amazement. His deviltry had begun, but how had the teacher seen it with his back turned?

"I'll think it over," said the boy sullenly.

The teacher laid down his book calmly, walked to the seat of the young rebel, took him by the collar and the back of the neck, tore him out of the place where his hands and feet were clinging like the roots of a tree, dragged him roughly to the aisle and over the floor space, taking part of the seat along, and stood him to the wall with a bang that shook the windows. There was no halting—it was all over in half a minute.

"You'll please remain there," said he coolly, "until I tell you to sit down."

He turned his back on the bully, walked slowly to his chair and opened his book again.

"Take it home with you tonight," said he, continuing his talk to the primer class. "Spell it over, so you won't have to stop long between words. All who read it well tomorrow will get another chapter."

They began to study at home. Wonder grew, and pleasure came with labor as the tale went on.

He dismissed the primer readers, calling the first class in geography. As they took their places he repaired the broken seat, a part of which had been torn off the nails. The fallen rebel stood leaning, his back to the school. He had expected help, but the reserve force had failed him.

"Joe Beach, you may take your seat," said the teacher in a kind of parenthetical tone.

"Geography starts at home," he continued, beginning the recitation. "Who can tell me where in the Linley schoolhouse?"

The teacher tore him out of the place.

A dozen hands went up.

"You tell," said he to one.

"It's here," was the answer.

"Where's here?"

A boy looked thoughtful.

"Nex' t' Joe Linley's cow pastur'," he ventured presently.

"Will you tell us?" the teacher asked, looking at a bright eyed girl.

"In Faraway, N. Y.," said she glibly.

"Tom Linley, I'll take that," said the teacher in a lazy tone. He was looking down at his book. Where he sat, facing the class, he could see none of the boys without turning. But he had not turned. To the wonder of all, up he spoke as Tom Linley was handing a slip of paper to Joe Beach. There was a little pause. The young man hesitated, rose and walked nervously down the aisle.

"Thank you," said the teacher as he took the message and flung it on the fire unread. "Faraway, N. Y.," he continued on his way to the blackboard as if nothing had happened.

He drew a circle, indicating the four points of the compass on it. Then he mapped the town of Faraway and others east, west, north and south of it. So he made a map of the county and bade them copy it. Around the county in succeeding lessons he built a map of the state. Others in the middle group were added, the structure growing day by day until they had mapped the hemisphere.

At the Linley schoolhouse something had happened. Cunning no sooner showed its head than it was bruised like a serpent, brawny muscles had been easily outdone, boldness had grown timid, conceit had begun to ebb. A serious look had settled upon all faces. Every scholar had learned one thing, learned it well and quickly—it was to be no playroom.

There was a recess of one hour at noon. All went for their dinner pails and sat quietly, eating bread and butter, followed by doughnuts, apples and pie.

The young men had walked to the road. Nothing had been said. They drew near each other. Tom Linley looked up at Joe Beach. It was a face one might have seen a cloud of sympathy that had its silver lining of amusement.

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralised in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in this field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,000 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p. turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible. Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a mild, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,000 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 26 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,000 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodsell, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to taunt or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

THE MAGIC DIAL.

A Puzzling Feat That Seems Akin to Mind Reading.

Ask any of your playmates to think of some hour of the day. Tell him to deduct it from 20 and remember the remainder. You produce your big clock dial and inform him that you are going to count around on the dial and that when you have counted the number corresponding with the remainder that he must remember, he must stop you.

Suppose he thought of 5 o'clock. Five taken from 20 leaves 15 remainder. You now count promiscuously (mentally, not orally), pointing at each count with a pencil to one of the hours on the dial (which must be provided in advance and is made by cutting out a circle of cardboard and marking on it with ink the twelve figures of the clock face).

Be sure when you make the eighth count to point to the "12" and thence in regular rotation backward toward the left. When you come to the figure "5" you will be stopped, as this will be the fifteenth count, corresponding to the remainder, 15, which he was to remember. You will thus know that 5 o'clock was the hour thought of.

If this trick be repeated more than two or three times it is well to vary the number from which the deduction is to be made. Thus instead of deducting, as in the foregoing example, 5 from 20, the person addressed may be told to deduct the hour thought of from 18, but as 18 is only six hours more than 12 you must be sure to make your sixth (not the eighth) promiscuous count be at the figure "12" on the dial.

In the first example, with 20, the eighth count was made at "12" because 20 is eight more than 12. If 22 be the number adopted the tenth count must be made on figure "12," 22 being 10 more than 12, and so on with any other number.

When your friends see you are able to tell the time they thought of from different numbers to be deducted from, then they will be more mystified than ever and will become convinced you are a real mind reader if you don't let them into the secret.

THE FUNNY FROG.

How Would You Like to Be In His Bed All Winter Long?

Among the many creatures that sleep in the winter are the frogs, with their very long hindlegs, short forelegs and with big black eyes on each side of their very big mouths.

When the cold days come and the water begins to freeze in the pond the frogs know that it is time to go to bed for the winter. Down they go and their families with them to the bottom. Then they begin to dig with their long hind feet into the soft mud. They work themselves down into their beds backward until at last they are covered under the mud, all except the tips of their noses.

There they go to sleep. After awhile they have an ice spread over them, and they can sleep safely all winter. They do not get hungry all this time.

When spring comes and the sun grows bright and warm and Jack Frost carries away their covering, old father frog begins to push his nose up out of the mud until his ears are uncovered. Then he nudges mother frog. "Wake up!" he says. "Don't you hear everybody busy up there?" And, oh, how sleepy she is, poor thing! But he had tried the water and found it warm, and they must not rest any longer.

Conundrums.

What is it that has neither flesh nor blood, yet has four fingers and a thumb? A glove.

What is it that no one wishes to have and yet when he has it does not wish to lose it? A bald head.

Why is a historical event like a parcel untied and tied again? Because it is recorded.

A Spoiled Story.

Young Tommy was a reckless chap
As ever you did spy.
He crept into the pantry once
And ate a pot of lye—
No, no; I mean a lot of pie!

The pie did not agree with Tom.
So very large a piece.
He felt so ill he hastened off
To find a pot of grease—
Dear me, I mean a grot of peace!

He wept with pain and doubled up
As tight as any clam.
"Oh, dear, I feel as bad as when
I ate that jot of lamb—
No, no; I mean that lot of jam!"

This story gets so mixed at times
Under my very eyes,
I'll stop. So far what I have said
Seems like a lack of pies—
Dear me, I mean a pack of lies!
—J. P. Benedict in St. Nicholas.

New York, Nov. 23.—John Howley shot himself with a revolver in his room at the Everett House some time during Tuesday night or yesterday. His nephew, Edward Howley, of Montreal, who had come to take him to Canada to undergo an operation for cancer of the lip, found the body last night. Howley was 63 years old, and for several years had suffered cancer in business he was an insurance adjuster.

A NERVY TRIP.

Western Exploring Party Find James Bay Territory Splendid For Development—Excellent Fur Season.

An exploring party to the far north consisting of Leonard H. Nord, Samuel Swanson and H. J. Boe of Minneapolis, Minn., and E. A. Osborne, editor of The Fort Francis Times, have just returned from a three months' expedition to Hudson Bay and the northeast coast of James Bay.

The party entered the Northwest territory at Missanabie, Ont., about the middle of May and with Indian guides canoed up the Mission River to Moose Factory. One hundred and fifty miles north of the point of entry to the wilderness, they crossed the survey of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. From Moose Factory post they sailed round the southerly end of James Bay, touching at Rupert House, and then followed the northeastern coast to East Main, where they embarked on a perilous canoe voyage with six Indian guides through the cataracts and rapids of the East Main River. In all 14 portages were made, varying in distances, and 42 rapid shoots were indulged in, some of which were exciting to the danger point. One experience while shooting a particularly swift rapids was for a time harrowing. The Indian in the rear of the big 30-foot canoe accidentally caught the blade of his paddle in a hidden crevice, where it stuck, and in an instant the canoe had swerved on a rocky pivot and, dancing in the tumultuous current, began to pound severely. At once the six Indians set up a panicky hubbub, all commanding and impugning each other simultaneously. Drifting from the first danger the boat was carried out of its course and in immediate jeopardy of being whirled over a cataract. The strength of the crew, however, proved adequate to resist the current and worked it to the shore.

As far north as St. George the party noted big fields of rich timothy and clover hay and prosperous vegetable gardens. The greater territory of land traversed between Missanabie and Moose Factory they found to be of rich soil, thoroughly compatible with agricultural requirements.

Far up the northeast coast of James Bay, 200 miles from Gasoot Shoals, where the Hudson Bay steamer Lady Head was wrecked in 1904, losing her $340,000 cargo of furs, the party found the "figure head" of that ship. It was a beautifully carved, gold-trapped, wooden image of a lady, emblematic of the ship's name. Mr. Osborne brought the figurehead home with him.

At Richmond Gulf the party met with Stephen F. M. Tasker and Mrs. Tasker, who, it is believed, are in the north in the interest of an eastern periodical. The Tasker party had with them as guide Joseph Iserhoff, who was one of Mrs. Hubbard's guides during her search for her husband, who met a tragic death in the north while on the famous Hubbard-Wallace Arctic expedition. The Taskers intended going over the Divide, where they would strike the Leaf River, explore that and follow it to Fort Chimo, where they expected to catch a Hudson Bay steamer for some Atlantic port. The captain of the steamer Discovery, the party say, opined that Taskers would not succeed in catching a steamer and would have to winter in the frozen north.

George Elson, one of the Wallace-Hubbard guides, served with the American-Canadian party just returned.

The party say the Hudson Bay officials informed them that this year's supply of furs, which reached the northern factors in June exceeded in quantity and quality any catch for a number of years. Fishing with line and net is reported excellent, while whale, white porpoise, seals, polar bears and other northern game, were seen. The caribou are said to be leaving the East Main country and trekking to Labrador, and the Esquimaux are following them to their new rendezvous.

Two Esquimaux dogs, three months old, were brought back, and also a kayakac (model bark canoe). The party were fully convinced that with the advent of railroad facilities to the southern extremities of James Bay, a wonderful country will be rapidly developed, which will prove productive beyond the most sanguine hopes of the adventurer or capitalist. The climate to James Bay is reasonable to cultivated agricultural products, and the soil and subsoil suitable for all purposes and can be cleared at a minimum cost.

On the north coast, however, the long winter had begun to presage its coming by increasing chilly nights and days, while the gloomy icebergs gave forebodings of growth. The party, while on one of their tours, became imprisoned between two giant icefloes, but fortunately succeeded in escaping before the tide began to flow.

The Anglican Grand Old Man.

Canada is not lacking in her grand old men. There is Archbishop Bond, of Montreal, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, who on Sept. 10 celebrated his ninety-first birthday, in spite of his four score and eleven years Dr. Bond is in appearance much younger, and he has a remarkably strong and resonant voice, one that many men of fifty might envy. His sermon on his ninetieth birthday during the meeting of the General Synod in Quebec last year, was one of the features of the gathering. This year a delegation of the whole of the clergy of Montreal waited upon him, and presented him with an address congratulating him upon his birthday and assuring him of their continued loyalty, esteem and devotion. Telegrams and letters were received from all over Canada. He is one of Canada's remarkable men, and he occupies a secure position in the hearts of Church people in Canada.

Born in Canada.

William Diller Matthew, palaeontologist, although a resident of New York, was born at St. John, N. B., Feb. 19, 1871. He was educated at the public schools of Brooklyn and St. John, the University of New Brunswick and Columbia University, from which institution he graduated in 1893. He is associate curator of the American Museum of National History, a fellow of the New York Academy of Sciences and of other scientific organizations. In religion he is an Episcopalian; in politics a Democrat.

RAILWAY REGULATIONS.

Mr. E. H. Harriman Criticed Government Regulation—Secretary of State Root's Reply.

Kansas City, Nov. 21.—At the Commercial Club banquet last night E. H. Harriman criticised Government regulations of railroads, and Secretary of State Root vigorously replied.

Mr Herriman said: President Roosevelt said that the executive and legislative departments of the government should be given additional power to deal with public organizations. It is impossible for a railway company or large organization to carry on its business properly if the people are constantly criticising and suspecting.

Turning to Secretary Root, Mr. Harriman said, "It is often important to a city or country whether we develop a territory or leave it dormant. Often we cannot give development a start because of the action of certain people for political prestige."

Secretary Root said: "I believe that the just means of regulating traffic and railway affairs is through the railways themselves. A wise law would be one that would force the railroads to combine in keeping the law—a law that would prevent the railroads from breaking the law. It is necessary, it is essential to freedom and independence, that the railroads should be held under control to prevent discrimination. The slight advantage that the railroads would gain by more power—the power that Mr. Harriman asks for—would be so greatly offset by the evil that such a proposition would not be considered for a moment."

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION.

The Severe Probing But Revealed Greater Strength—$3,000,000 Better Off Than It Claimed to Be—Investments Absolutely Secure and Highly Profitable—Mr. Kent's Remarks.

Now that the chaff of trifling details has blown away, the management of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada desire to draw attention to the really important facts which the investigation by the Royal Commission has brought out.

LARGE PROFITS ON INVESTMENTS.

The most striking feature of the evidence was unquestionably the immediately profitable character of the investments. During the past few years the Company has realized a net profit after deducting all losses, not only of principal, but of interest, and after liberally writing down any securities at all doubtful, of over $1,000,000 in hard cash. In addition, the present balance value of the securities still owned is about $1,000,000 in excess of their ledger value. Still further, the Company has a contingent fund, consisting chiefly of stocks obtained in years gone by as bonused in connection with bond purchases, which, though held in the Company's books at a nominal value of $1 for each block, have an approximate value of $1,000,000, and that value is increasing steadily. The Company's policy is to hold these securities as a contingent fund, and to only include them in the published list as each block becomes interest bearing, or is sold. In the meantime policyholders have the advantage of the immense additional security thus provided, and may also reasonably expect to have their profits much increased from this source in years to come.

SAFETY THE FIRST CONSIDERATION.

Although the Company has thus made enormous profits, these profits have not been made from speculative securities. The Company carefully avoids such. The profits are the result of a policy of not waiting for investments to come to the Company, but of deliberately looking around and selecting those that are safest and best, and then making use of the company's ability to purchase large blocks (its assets are now $24,000,000) to obtain inside terms, thus cutting out the middle men. Absolute safety is always the first consideration, and profit is essentially secondary. Actual illustrations are, however, more convincing than general statements, and as some attention was given to our investments in the Illinois Traction Company, these may be taken as examples.

ILLINOIS TRACTION COMPANY.

The first investment of the Company in Illinois Traction securities was the purchase of two-thirds of the bonds of the Danville, Urbana & Champaign Railway. These were secured by a first mortgage on a new interurban line connecting Danville with the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign, and by a further lien on the public utilities of the three cities, comprising the street railways, electric light and gas plants of each. Were these bonds absolutely safe? The audited net earnings for the previous year of the properties by which they were secured, after deducting every charge of every kind that would rank ahead of the interest on the new bonds, was $146,700. The total interest charge of the new bonds, including the amount required to complete the interurban, was $61,000. The existing net earnings were therefore already more than two and one-half times the interest charge upon the new bonds. This was without any addition from natural increase, or from the new line. The replacement value of the property was moreover estimated at $1,500,000 in excess of all bonds. Was there any risk in making such a purchase? Although no increase in earnings was needed to make the bonds abundantly safe, the new interurban line has in reality proved highly profitable, and the earnings of the city properties have also steadily increased, so that the surplus, which was two and one-half times the interest charge when the bonds were purchased, is now about $370,000, or seven times the interest charge. The bonds were shortly afterwards sold at an advance in price, without any stock bonus, to an American banking firm, who in turn retailed them at a still higher price to the public among the purchasers being two of the largest and best American Insurance Companies, which each took a block of $100,000. The security for these bonds is absolute. Better cannot be obtained. Did the fact that the Sun Company made a bargain by which it obtained some bonus stock, which would ordinarily have gone to other parties, in any way lessen that security?

DECATUR RAILWAY & LIGHT CO.

The second purchase of Illinois Traction securities consisted of the bonds of the Decatur Railway and Light Company, which carried a mortgage upon the street railway, electric light and gas properties of the City of Decatur. The audited available net earnings of these properties, without any addition for normal increase of earnings on new property, were over $47,000, to cover an interest charge of $19,000 on the new bonds, or more than 2½ for each $1 required. In addition there was the guarantee of the Illinois Traction Co., whose surplus earnings from other properties already amounted to $170,000, or ½ further guarantee equal to the entire interest charge, making, with the Decatur earnings, six times the entire interest charge on the new bonds. Where can safer or better bonds be obtained? Was there anything speculative about them? These, too, have since all been sold at an advance in price, the Sun Company retaining the stock bonus.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TRACTION COMPANY.

This was the third purchase. These bonds were secured by first mortgage upon a new interurban line between Decatur and Springfield, the capital of the state. Connecting two such cities, the success of the line was assured from the start. The bonds were, however, also guaranteed by the Illinois Traction Co., which then had a surplus of $163,000, available from its other properties for the payment of this interest. As the risk incurred in making this advance upon the new road when finished would be only small, the money it was already assured two and a half times over, even if the new line earned nothing. It did, however, earn its own entire interest charges in the first eight months of its first year of complete operation, so this instead of having to call upon the guarantee of the parent company, it earned a surplus of fifty per cent. These bonds, too, were all purchased shortly afterwards by a firm of bankers at an advance in price, without any stock bonus.

Further illustrations could be given, but these cases, which were specially investigated, are enough to show the very high quality of the bonds in which the Sun Life has invested.

The value of the guarantee of the Illinois Traction Co. to any bond may be judged from the fact that its annual gross revenue now exceeds $3,000,000, and that it has a surplus of $1,000,000 above the total interest charges upon all the bonds of the system. After paying 6 per cent dividends upon its preferred stock, it is earning about 9 per cent. upon its common stock, this 9 per cent. however, not being paid in cash, but being used for extensions and other capital expenditure, which increase the value of the property. There are over seven hundred shareholders, and the market value of the preferred and common stocks is about $7,000,000. While the first issue of this preferred stock had some water in it, large amounts have since been issued a $71 1-2 and 9% for cash, so that about $1,000,000 of actual hard cash has been paid in upon the preferred stock, and about $1,200,000 more of value has been put into it in the form of surplus earnings used for extension. The stock, therefore, has a very solid cash basis. The franchises are long and favorable, and are perpetual for more than two-thirds of the mileage.

The question was asked how long I would take to dispose of the Illinois Traction securities. The company's entire holding could easily be disposed of at a handsome profit within two days. Any person, however, who observes the phenomenal growth of the earnings must realize that the common stock, at least, will not attain its full value for years, and to sell now would merely be to divert into the pockets of brokers immense amount which would otherwise go to the policyholders.

BENEFIT TO POLICYHOLDERS.

The large profits have enabled the Company to forestall the requirements of the law and at once place the reserves upon all its policies upon a 3 1-2 per cent., basis a step calling for about $1,200,000. Even by this severe standard it had at 31st December last a surplus over all liabilities and capital stock of $1,795,698.59. This sum has since been largely increased. This does not include the contingent fund of over $3,000,000. The Company has also been enabled to increase the rate of profit paid to policyholders year after year, and it expects to still further increase it.

WRITING DOWN SECURITIES.

The Company has been criticized for writing down its securities before losses actually happened, simply because it feared that loss might perhaps arise. The management claim, however, that this is the only proper course, and that any other would be highly objectionable. If the manager of a bank or loan company were to refrain from writing down securities, merely because losses had not yet actually materialized, he would be condemned as issuing misleading statements. The management consider that they deserve credit instead of censure for the course they took. As regards the so-called writing up, the facts are merely that when large blocks of Illinois Traction preferred and other securities were sufficiently ripe to be transferred from the contingent account to the active list, the management had to face the question whether the entire value of these stocks should be added to the surplus, or whether they should be used in part to write down other securities not quite so good. It was decided to substitute these new securities in part for some others that, while not bad, were not entirely satisfactory. Had this not been done, the nominal surplus of the Company would have been increased by about $700,000. In the opinion of the management this course was conservative and proper.

Incidentally, most of the securities then written down have since so improved that comparatively little loss is now expected. The actual losses incurred by the Company have in fact been very trifling when compared with the profits, thus affording a further testimony to the high quality of the securities.

DIRECTORS HAVE NOT PROFITED.

No director has ever obtained any financial profits or advantage of any kind out of the Company, by means of sales, loans, or any such arrangement of any kind whatever, directly or indirectly. The charter prohibits directors and officers from borrowing from the Company, and this has been literally lived up to. Directors have been permitted to purchase securities for themselves on precisely the same terms as they were purchasing them for the Company, but that did not injure the policyholders, and it is even desirable that directors should show their faith in the investments into which they put the Company's money by taking some of the same for themselves. While this has been done, however, they have paid for such investments absolutely with their own money and the Company has not assisted them in financing in any way.

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS.

Over 700 deferred profit policies have matured and in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amount originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the term has been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid has been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use are lower than the former ones, and premiums are higher, so that present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were filed showing that $1.61 is on hand for every $1.60 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books.

STOCKHOLDERS.

The directors have reduced the proportion of profits accruing to shareholders from 20 per cent., which was the original ratio, and is still usual with British Companies, to only 10 per cent. When the capital was increased in 1901, the new stock was issued at 300 per cent. of the paid-up value, and the dividends of 15 per cent. which have since been paid, therefore [illegible] the stockholders only 5 per cent. on the amount paid [illegible]. At the many current [illegible] this [illegible] capital [illegible] policyholders nothing.

The [illegible] generally accepted [illegible] Mr. Kent's appreciative remarks at the closing session, in which he stated in connection with his suggestion that voting power might be given to policyholders that it seems to me that in the conduct of the Sun Life business there is nothing to be desired as far as the present generation is concerned. If you were immortal I would not say anything further about it. It is by sound judgment, hard work and just discrimination you have put the Sun Life on the pinnacle of a successful Company, another management with other attributes might just as easily squander it. . . . The directors have done their duty nobly; there is no complaint to be made against them or any one of them. Who can say whether the future management will continue the present high standard of your Company?"

While the directors and management deeply regret that they do not see the question of voting by policyholders in the same light as Mr. Kent, nevertheless such remarks, coming from one of the commissioners, are intensely appreciated.

A STUNNING COSTUME.

Very Chic For Women With Well Put Up Figures.

Since stripes are so much affected this fall, nothing could be better for this dainty morning costume than French cashmere in biscuit color marked with hair lines of dark brown. The blouse is laid in tucks, the tucks being so arranged that the background is most prominent, with the stripes forming a piping, as it were. Each tuck is trimmed with groups of French knots in dark brown silk worked in parallel lines, though separated by three inch spaces. The round neck is stitched with shaped bits of brown taffeta bound with the cashmere, and there is also a girdle of the silk. Puffed sleeves passing the elbows are gathered into simple puffs of silk bound with the dress material and finished with ruffles of soft plaited batiste.

The skirt is plaited and finished with bias bands stitched about the hem and over the hips in tailor fashion. The suit is simple and inexpensive and represents one of the most pleasing of fall modes. Nearly all of the fabrics used for such dresses are lighter than would usually be considered compatible with the time of year for which they are intended, but it is the purpose of the arbiters of fashion to steer clear of styles conforming with rules and usages, and the manufacturers of autumn fabrics have been entirely in accord with them on this point. Dame Fashion intends to push into favor some rather radical modes this year, according to present plans, but they will be accepted because they will be new and away from regulation lines.

Boxing the Ears.

A reprehensible practice not unknown to cross and worried mothers is the ready punishment of boxing children's ears, all ignorant of the danger of such a habit. There are several obvious things fraught with danger to the ear, such as picking with a pin, but people don't think, not having the matter explained, why a blow on the side of the head is such a bad thing.

The reason why children's ears should not be boxed is that the passage of the ear is closed by a thin membrane, especially adapted so that it is influenced by every impulse of air, and with nothing but the air to support it internally. What, then, can be more likely to injure this membrane than a sudden and forcible compression of the air in front of it? If any one designed to overstretch or break the membrane he could scarcely devise a more efficient means than bringing the hand suddenly down upon the passage of the ear, thus driving the air violently before it with no possibility for its escape but by the membrane giving way. Many children are made deaf in this way.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. ANNA C. FALL.

One of the Cleverest of Boston's Women Lawyers.

Mrs. Anna C. Fall of Malden is one of the cleverest of Boston's bright coterie of women lawyers. Mrs. Fall, indeed, was among the very first women to practice law in Boston. She graduated from the Boston university law school in 1891 and tried her first case in November of that year, it being the first jury case tried by a woman in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Fall is the author of a pathetic little story, "The Tragedy of a Widow's Third," which proved a strong argument in favor of increasing the widow's share of her husband's property when the matter was being agitated in the legislature some years ago.

For nine years this bright little woman was a member of the Malden school board, where her influence was very valuable.

So successful has Mrs. Fall been in her chosen occupation that her daughter is following in her footsteps and is a student at the Boston university law school.—Boston Traveler.

Care of the Piano.

A piano should be tuned at regular intervals, preferably after the beginning of each season. It becomes out of tune as much by change of temperature as by use.

Too much stress cannot be placed upon the selection of a tuner, as an incompetent tuner can do great damage and will usually magnify a slight trouble in order to justify a high price. It is best never to engage an unknown tuner, or if he is engaged be careful to examine his references and be satisfied that he is reliable and experienced.

The jingling or singing sound at times noticeable when the piano is played frequently is due to what is called "sympathetic vibration." This is produced by an ordinary article in the room vibrating in sympathy with some particular note in the piano. To ascertain the cause of this vibration the key which seems to produce the difficulty should be struck by one person and another should go about the room listening carefully, and thus the article which vibrates can be discovered and the cause removed.

Any hard substance, no matter how small, when dropped inside of a piano will cause a rattle or jarring noise.

If a pedal should squeak remove the bottom panel of the piano and apply a little black lead, powdered from a pencil, at the part where friction exists.

Cleaning the case may be accomplished by wetting a piece of canton flannel and dropping upon it a few drops of ordinary olive oil. Rub a small portion of the piano at a time, wiping it off thoroughly with a dry piece of canton flannel. Afterward rub with a soft, clean chamois skin or another piece of clean canton flannel, always taking care to rub with the grain of the wood and occasionally to breathe on it in order to remove every particle of oily substance.

Sanitation in the Country House.

The general problem of good water and safe sewage appeals to every owner of a country house. The best soil for these purposes is a sandy one, and wherever a rocky or clayey soil gives possibility of a fissure which might connect water and drainage expert examination should be called in. The individual plant for sewage disposal may often be a well and a cesspool, the cesspool, once a bogy to sanitarians, being now justified by the septic tank and the sand filter, both of which principles are employed in its construction. Two points must be recognized here: Such a covering of the well that the grave danger of surface pollution may be avoided, for it is most essential that no pollution should be washed through covering boards; also the direction of drainage, which is generally toward the nearest water course, must be such that the water supply may not be below the point of sewage disposal. With these simple precautions of soil, covering of well and proper location of water and drainage, the isolated country house owner may feel secure.—Hollis Godfrey in Atlantic.

The Linen Closet.

The woman who can set a whole closet aside for her linens and can have that closet shelved to her fancy is a fortunate individual indeed, for there's never a woman living who doesn't like linens kept just so.

Each kind should have its separate shelf, which should be covered with clean white paper, or, better still, with the pads made of dimity or of cheesecloth lined with perfumed wadding. Lavender is the most pleasant perfume to use for linens, especially the lavender flowers, sprinkled thickly in the padding and perhaps sewed up in little flat bags as well, which are laid here and there among pillow cases and sheets. No other perfume has quite so clean and fresh a quality about it for the purpose. Sheets and pillow cases alike should be marked with indelible everything, giving each set some distinguishing mark, so that they are kept together and meet the same amount of wear and tear. A change for each bed in the usual allowance.

Refurbished Bedstead.

One might term a bedstead recently evolved by an ingenious housewife a hybrid, yet it might be said in its favor that it combines the advantages of appearance of the mahogany four poster with the hygienic merits of the metal bed. This is accomplished by using the four posts of the mahogany bed with the springs and frame of the metal bed. A dimity tester and valance with a colonial spread entirely concealed the metal portion in the daytime, and its possessor says she prefers it to the entire mahogany bed. In explanation it might be said that the mahogany bedstead used was bought for a song at a sale, as the only good thing about it was the four fine posts.

How to Dry the Hair.

Some children catch cold very easily after having their hair washed. In order to dry it quickly and prevent this use for the final rinsing quite hot water in which a few drops of alcohol have been added. Then rub the hair well with alcohol and wring it out as dry as possible. Next take two or three towels, divide the hair and wipe each strand separately. Let the child sit in a warm room or, if possible, in the sun. Fan the hair and wipe each strand separately, and it soon will be perfectly dry.

Kitchen Rugs.

Very neat and serviceable rugs for use in the kitchen can be made from old trousers legs and heavy dress materials which are past redemption as wearing apparel. Wash the material and cut it in strips about two inches wide. Sew the strips together, making three lengths, which braid together tightly. Make the center of the rug of a heavy piece of material or a scrap of carpet, cut oval or round, and sew the braided strip round and round until the rug is the desired size.

Effective Table Square.

A very effective table square was made at small cost from unbleached linen toweling twenty inches wide. Two lengths of linen were used and a line of heavy linen lace insertion was used to join the pieces. Narrow linen lace to match edged the square, and small round medallions of lace were set in at eight corners of the cloth.

A Test of Housekeeping.

As good a test of the right sort of housekeeper as the old time one of looking in corners and under beds for dust is that of passing a cloth over the tops of doors and windows. Your true housewife will look to it that they are dusted as regularly as the furniture is and every sweeping day will see them wiped off with a damp rag.

Plaiting a Skirt.

Plaits that are to be stitched only a certain numbers of inches from the waist line should be graduated from the front to the back and the depth of the plaits marked by a colored thread. The plaits, however, should be basted to the foot of the skirt and pressed carefully [illegible] length.

Household Safes.

The fashion of small safes concealed in unlikely places in such a popular one that any piece of furniture may now be used to baffle burglars. The latest is a linen chest, a substantial thing of oak or cedar, which contrives to hide a safe. The safe is fire as well as burglar proof.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 250,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 35 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 25 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

A Woman's Kidneys

What Doctors Notice and What They Don't

Disease in the kidneys is one of the last ailments for which a doctor looks when treating women. This is a great mistake.

Women are very prone to kidney trouble and in fact many physicians attribute a woman's languor and ill-health to a derangement of the genital organs, when it's simply plain kidney disease, and nothing else.

Many so supposed female complaints are either kidney or bladder diseases.

Sick kidneys of course make associate organs sick also.

The result is back pains, bearing down sensations, utter weariness and headache.

But Dr. Hamilton's Pills go right to the spot.

They put life into the kidney that makes a worn out woman feel like new.

Indirectly the blood and nervous centers are assisted by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result is a proper performance of the function and a painless fulfilment of nature's command.

Thus it is that a woman can gain much happiness and abundant good healthy by the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From her home near Portland, Ont., Mrs. A. B. Coburn writes:

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidney and bowels and cured all my suffering; today I am perfectly well."

You can rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills with implicit confidence; their effect is wonderful. Sold by All dealers. Price 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Warm Praise For the I. C. R.

"Lady Gay" in Toronto Saturday Night Writes of a Trip to The East.

"Lady Gay" in the Toronto Saturday Night has this to say about the I.C.R.:

One of the happiest memories of a summer holiday in Eastern Canada is the trip from Montreal to Sydney or Halifax by the Intercolonial Railway. In robust health, or in semi-invalidism, one may enjoy this perfect route with pleasure, and too much cannot be said of the excellence of the roadbed, the comfort of the cars or the kindness and civility of conductors and porters. I am writing rather feelingly, and not in the mechanical tone suspected by the public, for I travelled East last summer by this line, when, under some circumstances, travel would have been almost impossible. Everything that could be done to sustain and cheer was done for me by everyone connected with the train. Conductor Gravel and his porter, Pinheiro, a West Indian, who has been a lifetime in such service, shall never be forgotten for their goodness and solicitude, and I must not omit the genial chap in charge of the dining car, who certainly did not let me starve in solitary grandeur in my enforced horizontal position. It is easy to make one's way, when in health and surrounded by friends and attendants, but the test of the good will, comfort and capacity of a railway is one's remembrance of a long journey alone, ill and dependent on the care of officials, which apparently is perfect, on the line from Montreal to the sea. It is scarcely necessary to enumerate the charms of the journey, when one is well and about. The beautiful little glimpses of the habitant country, the quaint folk and little towns and churches, the view of Quebec sitting stately across the river and seen to great advantage as one passes, the lovely lakes away down east, the rushing salmon streams and bustling Bills, the wonderful sunset at the Canso ferry, the scene of beauty, I always anticipate all day; the peep at Gaspe with its great boulders and broad stream when the early hour gets coming west, the succession of dear little watering places, where one's friends are abiding, and, finally, the dear old Halifax city, or the Sydney "jumping-off place." I know little of other Canadian roads, their beauties of their charm, beyond the immediate vicinity of Toronto, but I have an exceedingly warm spot in my heart for the Intercolonial, since last summer's experience.

Millbrook Takes Star for Balloon

The Millbrook Reporter says: The bright object, which we have been seeing in the west just after dark, and which was supposed to be a balloon over Cleveland, turns out to be a star. A gentleman from Oshawa, wrote to an authority in Detroit, about the matter, received the answer that it was the star Arcturus mentioned in "Job 38, 32." It is distinguished and also called Alpha Bootis: "It is very bright, and is thought to be double or triple (note expression 'this sone' in the above text), but the telescope so far has not revealed that it has any parallax It is one of a constellation of forty-five, and it is these, probably that the scripture refers to. It was seen by Martin in March, 1635, for more than half an hour, after sunrise. The ancients called it the rat star. It is also said to be a fixed star, but it has an argular motion."

"What Shall We Eat?"

Every day the same old question, "What shall we eat for breakfast, for luncheon, for dinner" assails with monotonous regularity the patient housewife, who seeks to provide good living, for the family in agreeable variety at a moderate cost. The Chicago Record-Herald has gone far toward solving the problem by devoting space to three departments on this all important topic in its various issues, "Meals For a Day," which appears daily, gives the daily menu and the necessary recipes. Housewives everywhere are invited to participate in the contest and weekly prizes are offered for the best menus. Marion Harland's Sunday page gives weekly a list of selected recipes which if clipped and pasted in a scrapbook make a most valuable collection "Martha's Management," which appears on Monday is filled with good advice and helpful hints to the housewife."

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Para, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to lie heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

To gain knowledge of your own body—in sickness and health—send for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Another Dummer Presentation.

On Friday, a week ago yesterday, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams, assembled at their home in Dummerm, about two miles east of Norwood, to wish them good speed previous to their departure to the township of Smith. The company comprised fully 150 persons, and the evening was made most interesting by the presentation of a handsome parlor suite, beautifully upholstered in plush. The gift was accompanied by an appreciative address, which was read by Mr. Fred McConnell.

Mr. Adams has resided in this neighborhood continuously for nearly forty years, with the exception of two years spent in Northumberland county

Next Ambassador to the U. S.

TO SUCCEED SIR M. M. DURAND

Should Be a Popular Man

British Press is Earnestly Disoussing Appointment to the Washington Vacany.

London, Nov. 25.—Perhaps never before in the history of British journalism have American topics occupied as much space as at present.

Just now the leading subject of discussion in the English press is the selection of a successor to Sir Mortimer M. Durand as British ambassador at Washington, which is brought in under some form or other in nearly all the comment on imperial affairs.

Many of the editorial writers agree with Sir Mortimer, that Washington is "the most important diplomatic post in the world." One of the principal weekly reviews, the Outlook, makes this subject the leading feature of its issue, and gives up more than a page to it.

The Outlook says the British embassy at Washington has lost completely the political and social ascendancy it enjoyed under Lord Pauncefote. The blame for this is not Sir Mortimer's, who commands universal respect, but he was translated from a sphere which he filled with first distinction to an environment where it was practically impossible for a diplomat of his traditions to become acclimatized.

There has been no misunderstanding between the United States and Great Britain, but there has been some cessation of a complete understanding. What is now needed is a man as little like a professional diplomat as can be imagined, and resembling, as nearly as possible, American representatives such as Towell, Choate and Reid, who have been the "most effective ambassadors in the world because there has been no airs of mandarin or formalism or convention about them."

ALMOST AN ENGLISHMEN.

Continuing, the Outlook says the place formerly occupied by the British ambassador in Washington has been taken by Baron Speck Von Sternberg, "who combines every advantage for the post. The German ambassador is almost an Englishman, he was born in Yorkshire, and might possibly have become a British subject at one time, and he swings our language as diplomatically as ourselves. His success has been as brilliant as the failure of the theatrical diplomat, like Count Cassini of Russia, has been dismal."

Continuing, the Outlook praises M. Jusserand, the French representative at Washington, whom it describes as a "more fascinating critic and historian of English letters than any other writer now living."

While lauding James Bryce's accomplishments, the paper says it believes his selection to fill the Washington post would be "nothing less than a disaster at the present phase of Anglo-American relations," and calls for a very unconventional appointment, in utter disregard of precedent.

The paper also says,

"It would be an astonishing proof of national weakness if we are unable to find one ambassador, at least, able to make himself as popular with the Americans as all American ambassadors are with us."

Incidentally the Outlook declares that President Roosevelt's personality is a dominating influence upon the American nation and that it will remain dominant, even if he is not chosen for a third term."

Inspector Fitzgerald Makes a Seizure

Acting on the strength of a letter received by Deputy Game Warden F. Fitzgerald, that illegal trapping of muskrats was being practised here Omemee, that officer, a few days ago made a big haul in Emily township when he seized about one hundred muskrat pelts. The open season for taking the muskrat is between January 15 and May 1st, so that those in possession of the skins had clearly broken the game laws.

In Omemee village he found one of the offenders. This man had about twenty-five skins in his possession which he gave up to the game warden and to avoid being prosecuted, paid a fine.

The second offender on Indian living near Omemee, had about 75 pelts in his possession. When the warden informed him that he would have to give them up he became "surly," intimating that he would resist by force and one of his daughters backed him up by seizing the poker. Mr. Fitzgerald, who was accompanied by his brother, however, carried off the pelts. An action was taken out again the Indian in the county police court of Victoria county. The offender was to have appeared before County Magistrate Moore at Lindsay on Friday, but acting on good advice the Indian paid a fine, and settled the matter before it reached open court.

The pelts seized have been sent to the provincial headquarters of the game department at Toronto.

Mr. Fitzgerald deserves credit for the good work he has done.

The Creditors of Count Boni.

Paris, November 24.—The hearing of the case of the creditors of Count Boni de Castellane was resumed yesterday, before the tribunal of First Instance. Maitre Jacobson, for M. Ziegler, one of the largest creditors, indignantly denied that his client was a usurer. Counsel asserted that it had been the practice of the Castellanes ever since their marriage to appeal to him to extricate them from financial difficulties.

Mr. W. J. McCallum Makes Improvements

Mr. Wm. McCallum the enterprising George street caterer, has placed in his restaurant two very handsome urns for tea and coffee. These are nickle plated and stand about four feet high. Each is furnished with a hot water tap and gauge and a tea or coffee tap and gauge. The water holders for these urns are made of porcelain enamel and are easily kept clean. Between the tea holder and the urn are about two inches of space and about four inches at the bottom. This space is filled with hot water and allows the tea and coffee to be kept hot and yet not permitting the tea or coffee to boil.

This new outfit was first used on Saturday and proved very satisfactory.

Murder in a Lumber Camp

Man Named Clarke Killed and Body Shipped Home.

Saint Charles de Bellechasse, November 24.—The news of a murder in a lumber camp has just been brought here by Mr. Joseph Vermette, of St. Camille, who has just returned from the Billy Jacks lumber camp. It serves as an explanation of rumors which have been given credence to within the last few days.

The story is that an Englishman by the name of Clark, known in the camp as a dangerous man, was killed some days ago by one of his countrymen whom he had been provoking for some time past.

The man is said to have been discharged by Messrs. Morrison, who also have a lumber camp, on account of his bad behaviour.

Clark is said to be a resident of St. Georges de Beauce and the man who relates the story says that after the murder, Clark's body was sent to that place in a common dry goods box.

The authorities are evidently ignorant of the crime, but an investigation is expected soon.

Murdered Dozen New Born Babes

Woman Lodged in Tombs Under Accusation of a Terrible Crime

New York, November 24.—Horrified by the alleged business of their mother, the two daughters of Mrs. Wilhelmina Eckhardt, midwife, of 198 East Ninety-third street, are said to have given police information which has landed her in the Tombs without bail, and the authorities say she may have to face the charge of murdering a dozen new born babies and destroying their bodies in her kitchen stove. The daughters of Mrs. Eckhardt are Mrs. Wilhelmina Ihrig, of 236 East Ninety-ninth street, and Mrs. Marie Shock, of Worcester, Mass.

It is said they gave a clue to John S. Cooper, attorney of the County Medical Society, which was followed by Assistant District Attorney Pinchot, and led to a raid on the house of the woman by detectives and police. Twelve infants were burned within the last four months.

Countess de Castellane Will Return.

New York, November 24.—Mr and Mrs. Frank J Gould sailed for Europe yesterday. Mr. Gould announced, just before sailing, that his sister, Anna, former Countess de Castellane, will return to this country with them at the end of January. Mr. Gould said: "We intend to bring back my sister, but I do not know if the French courts will allow the children to accompany their mother."

DELIRIOUS IN FOREST CABIN

Vancouver Man's Terrible Adventures While on a Hunting Trip in Western Wilds.

TYPHOID PROSTRATED HIM

Couldn't Taste Food for Days, But Finally Rallied, and Reached Civilization and the Doctor.

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—All alone in a cabin, surrounded by a thick forest, where, perhaps, no other human foot had ever penetrated, and the piteous howling of the wolves alone broke the awful silence, Mr. J. M. O'Neill lay for days that seemed centuries, suffering with typhoid fever, with no one but himself to prepare his food and keep his fire alight.

For nearly fourteen days Mr. O'Neill was scarcely able to leave his bed, so weak and sick was he; but a fire had to be kept going, and something had to be cooked in order that he might keep himself alive. Two or three days passed without his eating a bite of anything or kindling a fire, which increased his suffering. The food he had would have been good enough for one enjoying ordinary health, but for one so low as he was it felt like risking his life to attempt it.

Mr O'Neill came down on the steamer Comosun the other night from Port Essington. He had been working with a survey party all summer in the Bulkley valley, and when the work was done for the year he remained behind to spend a week or two hunting, while the other men took the steamer down to Port Essington en route south.

Leaving the valley for the high lands Mr. O'Neill struck out. The first night was spent in the open, and the following day he started to build a cabin. Having all the necessary equipment, he soon had a temporary abode, which he finished by working a few hours each morning and evening. The days were beautiful and success always rewarded his trip from camp for game. The nights, however, were cold and damp, and sleeping in the open air had given him a cold, from which he was taken ill.

This made the completion of his cabin imperative, and extra hard work was done to put it in decent shape But he kept getting worse; his appetite was failing, and his strength was slowly giving way. He gathered as much wood as possible for burning purposes, and two big carcasses of deer were hung outside his cabin. Suddenly he was taken seriously ill, and for two days he never put a morsel of food near his mouth. He grew worse, and something had to be done. Twelve more days were spent in the cabin, and at the end of that time he had considerably improved. Losing no time, he made for the nearest habitation, and, after travelling all day, reached a farmer's house. The following day he was taken to Wilder mere, where he was placed under a doctor's care, and only then did he realize the nature of his sickness.

Music at St. John's Church

Yesterday at matins, Miss Bowers sang Gordon Temple's setting of "There is a green hill," in good voice and tasteful expression. At evensong, which was fully choral, Mr. Freeland sang Hoden's beautiful arrangement of "Nearer my God to Thee," during the offertory. Mr. Freeland is an experienced singer, possessed of a baritone voice so completely under control, that most difficult intervals are sung with the greatest ease and marked effect. The beautiful accompaniment was so skilfully woven in on the organ, as to suggest affinity between singer and instrument. We bid Mr. Freeland heartily welcome to our city, and congratulate Mr. Devey on persuading him to assist with his fine voice in church music.

HOCKEY.

The first game of hockey ever played on roller skates in Peterborough, will be seen at the Charlotte street roller rink on Wednesday night when two picked teams from the Peterborough Hockey Club will meet. From all indications the rink will hold one of the largest crowds in its history on that evening as in addition to the match there will be skating contests for ladies, gentlemen and boys, and skating will be allowed until eleven o'clock. The entertainment is in aid of the hockey club and should be well worth seeing.

Charles Edward Fulford's Will

DISPOSING OF $300,000, CONTAINS

Many Extraordinary Bequests

Property in England of Great Value Variously and Strangely Disposed of.

London, Nov. 26.—Charles Edward Fulford, of Brockville, Ont., Canada, patent medicine manufacturer, of the Williams' Pink Pills Company and the Bile Beans Manufacturing Company, who died at Pennant Hills, Sydney, N.S.W., on August 26 last, aged 56 years, nephew of Senator, the Hon. George Taylor Fulford, who was connected with the same companies, and who died last year leaving estate sworn for probate at over £1,300,000, all estate in the United Kingdom of the gross value of £67,187 10s., of which the net personality has been sworn at £61,936 1s. 5d.

Probate of his will, dated December 9th last, has been granted to his brother, Mr. Frank Harris Fulford, of Leeds; Mr. John William Ridgeway, of Leeds; and Mr. F. W. Jones of Epping, W.

The testator, after several bequests directed that his interest, as a patent medicine vendor be converted into a joint stock company, registered according to the English law, and of the shares in the company when so formed he left 7 1-2 per cent. to his brother Frank Harris Fulford, five per cent. to his sister, Mrs. Carrie Eastman Ridgeway, and

2 1-2 per cent. of the shares to Algie Hurst of Leeds, England, conditional upon his purchasing another 2 1-2 per cent. of the said shares, and these shares are to be held in trust for him for his benefit if he remains in the service of the company for ten years, after which they are to be his absolute property.

1 1-2 per cent. of the said shares to Frank Inchbold, of Leeds, (Bile Beans Manufacturing Company) upon like conditions and provisions.

1-4 per cent. of the said shares to Boyer, of the Bile Beans Manufacturing Company, Leeds, upon the conditions.

One-half per cent. of the said shares to C. E. McArthur, of the Bile Beans Manufacturing Company, at Capetown, upon like conditions, and in addition 5 per cent. of the profits earned in South Africa.

One-half per cent. of the said shares to H. O. Rogers, of Sydney, N.S.A., upon like conditions, and five per cent of the net profits earned in the Australian branch of the business.

One half per cent. to F. Denison, of Brockville, Ont., upon like condition, and 5 per cent. of the net profits earned on the business in Canada and Newfoundland.

30 per cent. of the said shares to Dr. Barnardo's Homes conditional upon the said homes retaining these shares as one of their permanent investments, and they are not to part with the said shares.

The residue of his property he left upon trust to pay £500 per annum to John H. Fulford of Brockville, and to hand one-third of the balance upon trust for the testator's widow for widowhood, or £300 per annum on remarriage, and subject thereto, he left the whole of his property to his children in equal shares, on attaining the age of 25 years, but prior to that certain proportions of the children's prospective share, as regards the income, may be applied for their education and upbringing.

It is not possible yet to say what the capital value of the bequest to Dr. Barnardo's Homes may amount to, but it will certainly be in excess of £10,000, and will probably be very much more.

Man Found Frozen Fast in the Ice

Unknown Man Discovered in Dying Condition at Bruce Mines—Is Now Dead.

Bruce Mines, Ont., Nov. 26.—An unknown man about 40 or 45 years of age, who had been noticed around the village and vicinity for the last three or four days, was found yesterday morning by Mr. Thomas Fraser on the roadside near the C.P.R. crossing, a mile and a half north of the town. He was chilled stiff, his hair had frozen fast, and the ice had to be broken before he could be removed. He was taken to Mr. Joseph Peterpaugh's home, a short distance away, cared for, and Dr. Downing telephoned for. All possible was done for the unfortunate man, but he never regained consciousness, and finally passed away early this morning. The municipality of Plummer, which cared for him, are preparing the remains for interment in Coudslee cemetery.

It is said the man claimed to have a brother in Quebec, who is a manufacturer, but no one knows the name, and nothing on the man was found to identify him in the least. But the general keep of the poor man bespoke of more than usual refinement of the average penniless stranger.

He was short and of light build, and wore a mouse, which partly covered some growth in the right corner of the mouth.

America Railway to Build to Canada

Little Reason to Doubt That Minnesota Line Will Extend into Dominion in Spite of Denial.

Big Falls, Minn., Nov. 26.—There seems no possible room for doubt that the Minnesota and International Railway will, within six months, be extended to the Canadian border. This has been denied officially in the past, but circumstantial corroboration of the truth of the report is at hand. A party of engineers in charge of George Huss has arrived here, and a camp has been located at Bear River. Thence the party will make a permanent survey to Little Forks. The old survey of the line will be followed to Bear Creek. The contractor who has undertaken the work of grading has made a careful examination of the whole line, and asserts the work of clearing the right of way will be expedited.

Huss and his surveyors have been over the line to International Falls on the Canadian border.

Russian Reactionaries Threaten Massacres

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.—Threats of the reactionary parties that Jewish massacres will be organized if the rights of the Jews are enlarged are steadily becoming more definite.

The Central Council of the League of the Russian People, claiming to represent 200 branches, with 30,000,000 members, has issued a declaration disclaiming responsibility for the "outrages which may result from the just indignation produced by the enlargement of Jewish rights," and has published the text of two hundred despatches of protest sent to the emperor from local organizations, of which the following is a sample phrase:

"It is dangerous further to test the gentleness and patience of the peaceful Russian population, which may be forced, in its defence against the Jews, to overstep the limits of law and order and resort to violence."

GIRLS DECOYED TO AMERICA

Under Promises of Wages That Are Not Forthcoming.

Manchester, Nov. 26.—A Manchester operative returning from work about three weeks ago found a hastily scribbled note left by his sixteen-year-old daughter, an attractive looking mill girl, wishing him "Goodbye" and saying she had gone to America. Thunderstruck the man took passage by the next vessel. At New York, however, the immigration officers refused him permission to land because he had a weak heart, and after being detained some days at Ellis Island depot, he learned that he was to be sent back as physically unfit, the story that he was in search of his daughter, being treated as a fable.

Returning home, he placed the case before the Manchester branch of the Women's Emigration Association, who say they have had cases before them of girls tempted to America on the promise of high wages, but that in most cases it is a cruel form of swindling.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ASKED TO REJECT BILL

Over a Hundred Noncomformist Members Want Education Bill Rejected.

London, Nov. 24.—On the ground that it contained the spirit of home rule, the House of Lords last evening struck out the clause in the education bill empowering the establishment of a central educational council for Wales. The bill was then passed through its committee stage, after having occupied fifteen days in its discussion, or longer than any other previous measure in the House of Lords.

As amended by the Upper House, the bill is wholly unacceptable to the Government and the majority of the House of Commons, who contend that it has become frankly denominational, since it requires that unless religious instruction be given daily, schools will be recognized as public elementary schools. The Nonconformists are so incensed at the House of Lord's amendments that over a hundred Nonconformist members of Parliament have already signed a memorial asking the Government to promptly reject all the amendments of the Upper House. This would mean a deadlock and an inevitable conflict between the two houses, which the moderates on both sides are anxious to avert. Strong efforts are being made in influential moderate quarters to arrange some workable compromise, and with this object in view a deputation of prominent persons interested in the education question yesterday waited on the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth Palace.

The primate, in a long reply, professed himself anxious for a settlement on large and generous grounds all around, and said he was prepared to agree to compromise in the case of many of the objections and difficulties rather than have the controversy continue. Whether a settlement was practicable rested elsewhere than with him, but that it might be brought about was his most earnest wish, and he believed the deputation could do much to further that consummation.

Cream Puffs Poison 100 ---Police After Reason

Buffalo People Who Indulge in the Confection Have a Narrow Escape.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 24.—Between 80 and 100 persons living in various sections of Buffalo were poisoned by eating cream puffs yesterday and Tuesday. According to reports this morning none will die, although a number are still very ill.

The police and the health department both are working on the case to place the responsibility for the sale of the cream puffs. It is supposed they contained formaldehyde, or that the poisoning was from ptomaine in the filling of the puffs.

It has not been decided yet if any arrests will be made.

Sold Claim for Quarter Million.

Hamilton, November 24.—Major E. W. B. Morrison, of the Ottawa Citizen, has sold his mining claims in Cobalt to a Toronto syndicate, for $250,000. The property, which has not been developed, is near the McKinley-Darragh and Silver Queen mines. Mr. William Southam, of this city, is interested in the deal.

DO NOT BE A BURDEN

Some Good Advice to Readers of The Times.

A weak stomach and its resulting ills are not natural. With proper care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, the very worst cases of indigestion or stomach trouble can be completely cured.

It is a sin to deprive oneself of enjoyment in life and become a burden to others through indigestion.

The backaches, headaches, distress after eating, loss of appetite, gulping up of undigested food and gases are not natural. Mi-o-na stomach tablets used for a few days before meals will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress or resulting sickness.

The directions for taking Mi-o-na emphasize the difference between this remedy and the ordinary medicine that is given for indigestion. Mi-o-na is to be used before meals, strengthening the digestive system for the food when is to be eaten, while the ordinary remedy is taken after meals, and simply digests the food without strengthening the stomach.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Lumber Cut in New Brunswick

Nearly Double the Cut of Last Year—Scarcity of Labor the Approaching Season.

Fredericton, N. B., November 24.—A statement issued today shows that lumber rafting operations on the St. John River, during the past season, have almost doubled that of 1905, when seven million feet of logs were rafted; 13,184,180 feet of logs were rafted this year, showing one of the largest seasons in the lumber business, and in the past few years. Operations for the coming season are now well under way but owing to scarcity of labor, the cut for next season will be smaller than is the wish of operators who are paying higher wages in this territory than ever in the history of the lumber industry in New Brunswick.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs Emma Daigle, of Moncton, N. B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep flatly forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, gave me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. U. S. A., and SPREADING.

New Zealand and Germany have old-age pension systems which work well, and now there is serious talk in England of instituting such a system. Replying to a deputation of members of the House of Commons from the Liberal and Labor parties, Premier Campbell-Bannerman said old-age pensions would be taken up as soon as time and money permitted. He expressed himself as opposed to the "contributory scheme," because it involved inquisitorial machinery. Old-age pensions, he continued, far from sapping independence and undermining thrift, would do just the opposite. Any scheme ought to be universal and must be put into effect by the State, which alone had the means of carrying it out. Speaking to the same deputation, Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said there was nothing nearer to his heart than to be able to submit a financial plan for such pensions. He favored one altogether dissociated with the poor law, and assured the deputation that the government regarded this question as one of extreme urgency.

A remarkable celebration took place in the Jewish congregation at Pressburg, Hungary, on October 24, when the members commemorated the 100th anniversary of the induction of Moses Sofer as rabbi of the congregation. The remarkable feature is found in the fact that in the century the same family has furnished all the occupants of the place. Moses died in 1839, and was succeeded by his son Samuel, who died in 1871, and was in time succeeded by his son Bernard. The present incumbent (Bernard) has been too ill for some time to attend to the duties of the office, and his son has been appointed as substitute.

James Bryce to be the U.S. Ambassador

London, Nov. 23.—An interesting rumor was current in the lobby of the House of Commons last night to the effect that James Bryce, the author of "The American Commonwealth," and now Chief Secretary for Ireland, is likely to be selected to fill the vacant Ambassadorship at Washington. No confirmation of this rumor can be obtained, and it is believed that the Government has not yet even decided the matter.

It is felt that Mr. Bryce, as a statesman and litterateur of high distinction, is eminently fitted to meet the requirements of the occasion.

If Mr. Bryce should take the position Winston Churchill will become Irish Secretary.

Want to Shut Out Power from Canada

Buffalo Citizens Petition Against Allowing Canadian Companies to Spoil Niagara Falls Beauty.

Buffalo, Nov. 23.—Petitions, having for their object a request to Secretary of War Taft to refuse further applications from Canadian power companies to transmit power into the United States, are being circulated in Buffalo and elsewhere, having behind them Dr. Matthew D. Mann, one of Buffalo's leading physicians and citizens, and several others who have interested themselves in the matter through a fear that the beauty of the Falls is to be destroyed.

The petitions, among other things recite that part of the press has been muzzled, and will not give an opportunity for a public discussion of the question, and, therefore, petitions have been resorted to. It was under these circumstances that a Buffalo newspaper requested Dr. Mann to give an authorized interview, setting forth the arguments against granting further permits.

It is Dr. Mann's contention that Secretary of War Taft should refuse further permits to Canadian companies to transmit power to the United States, acting under the power now conferred upon him. As Dr. Mann points out, the American companies are restricted in the amount of power they may generate, but no such restriction is laid on the Canadian companies. A sufficient check may, however, be put upon them by restricting their output in this country, as Canada itself cannot use enough power to appreciably diminish the beauty of the Falls.

A hearing on the matter is to be held at Washington by Secretary Taft on Monday next.

CANADIAN GOLD DEPOSITS

Mr. Morningstar, of Buffalo, on the Wonderful Wealth of the Rainy River District.

A short time ago we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was in town on a brief visit. Mr. Morningstar had with him a most wonderful collection of gold-bearing ore, taken from the Rainy River District, and an inspection of it was an eye-opener as to the remarkable resources of our country. Mr. Morningstar, himself, is interested in a mining property in that district, known as the Minnehaha mining property, and many of his samples were taken from this property, while others were taken from the Laurention Mine, located some distance to the south. One would almost feel inclined to class Mr. Morningstar as unduly enthusiastic, were it not that his statements of the enormous wealth of the district are backed up by such rich specimens as he exhibited, and nothing seemed left for us to do but to accept his statements at their face value and rejoice in being citizens of a country so rich in mineral deposits.

From an article in the Buffalo Evening News of August 8th, on the wealth of this district, we make the following extracts:

"To 99 out of 100 average Americans, that part of Ontario, lying between Lake Superior and the Lake of the Woods, including the Upper and Lower Manitou, Wabigoon, and other lakes, is terra incognitia. Few have ever been through that portion of Canada, and the public attention has not been generally directed that way. But all this is changing. The mining possibilities of that region are just beginning to be known. Already it is known that there veins of wonderfully rich free-milling ore, assays of which reach up into figures that the miners actually dare not make public for fear of exciting disbelief. Take for example, the Laurention Mine, in the Manitou Valley, which is owned by Anthony Blum, of Boston; when they reached but 125 ft. deep in the main shaft, they struck ore so rich with gold that miners, working in the shafts, were able to bring away quartz samples worth as high as one hundred dollars to the dinner pail-ful. At 180 ft assays run away up into the hundreds and even the thousands of dollars per ton of free-milling ore. At the 200 ft. level, the ore was even richer, and this property is reckoned as being worth easily millions of dollars, and the half has not been told." The article then passes on to the Minnehaha property, in which Mr. Morningstar is interested. It says: "Hon. Louis Fechter and other Buffalonians associated with him, have a fine showing in the Minnehaha property, with a lead averaging 6 to 7 feet wide with exceedingly good values. It is understood that they are making preparations to carry on a campaign of energetic mining."

The work of development commenced last June. Among the samples Mr Morningstar showed us, was a half-pint flask filled with selected quartz. The gold in the quartz was worth about $40. Others were pieces which he took out of the Minnehaha property which assayed at such a high figure, that he forbade our publishing it for fear both we and he would loose our reputations for veracity. Another was a sample of almost pure gold from this district which Mr. Morningstar bought from a prospector as a curiosity. Such samples as these, however, are not what he relies on as the main source of wealth of the property, but upon the general run of gold-bearing rock, much of which shows no sign of the precious metal to the eye, even with the aid of a magnifying glass, but which will wash out $200 to $300 to the ton, and the ore can be profitably worked as low as $5 to the ton. The Laurention Mine, while possessing such remarkable wealth, did not show such good returns at which the Minnehaha is being worked as the latter does. Mr. Morningstar is sanguine of great results.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Stipery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Sheep Laboratories, from this ingredients and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible. Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a bald, bold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 2,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power, with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is, from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to be—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

President
John Tilly, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President
Edgar E. Barr, Springfield, Mass.
Treasurer
Samuel Porter, Florence, Mass.
Secretary
Leo H. Porter, Northampton, Mass.
General Manager
John Boyd, Loomis, Wash.
Director
F. E. Goodall, Spokane, Wash.

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—but, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to boast or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

Let us have your request for this information.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their Holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 3½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

"Powerful?" Tom inquired soberly.

"What?" said Joe.

"Powerful?" Tom repeated.

"Powerful! Jimmy crimps!" said Joe significantly.

"Why didn't ye kick him?"

"Kick him?"

"Yes."

"Kick him?"

"Kick him."

"Huh—dunno!" said Joe, with a look of sadness turning into contempt.

"Scairt?" the other inquired.

"Scairt? Na-a-w," said Joe scornfully.

"What was ye, then?"

"Parr'lyzed—seems so."

There was an outbreak of laughter.

"You was goin' t' help," said Joe, addressing Tom Linley.

A moment of silence followed.

"You was goin' t' help," the fallen bully repeated, with large emphasis on the pronoun.

"Help?" Tom inquired, sparring for wind, as it were.

"Yes, help."

"You was licked 'fore I had time."

"Didn't last—that's what's the matter—didn't dust," said big Joe, with a tone of irreparable injury.

"Wouldn't 'a' been nigh ye fer a million dollars," said Tom soberly.

"Why not?"

"'Twan't safe; that's why."

"'Frald o' him, ye coward!"

"No; 'frald o' you."

"Why?"

"'Cos if one o' yer feet had hit a feller when ye come up ag'in that wall," Tom answered slowly, "there wouldn't 'a' been nuthin' left uv him."

All laughed loudly.

Then there was another silence. Joe broke it after a moment of deep thought.

"Like t' know how he seen me," said he.

"'Tis cur'us," said another.

"Guess he's one o' them preformers like they have at the circus," was the opinion of Sam Beach. "See one take a pig out o' his hat las' summer."

"Tain't fair an' square," said Tom Linley; "not just eggsac'ly."

"Gosh! B'lieve I'll run away," said Joe after a pause. "Ain't no fun here for me."

"Better not," said Archer Town; "not 'f ye know when yer well off."

"Why not?"

"Waal, he'd see ye wherever ye was an' do suthin' to ye," said Archer. "Prob'ly he's heard all we been sayin' here."

"Waal, I ain't said nuthin' I'm 'shamed of," said Sam Beach thoughtfully.

A bell rang, and all hurried to the schoolhouse. The afternoon was uneventful. Those rough edged, brawny fellows had become serious. Hope had died in their breasts, and now they looked as if they had come to its funeral. They began to examine their books as one looks at a bitter draft before drinking it. In every subject the teacher took a new way not likely to be hard upon tender feet. For each lesson he had a method of his own. He angled for the interest of the class and caught it. With some a term of school had been as a long sickness, lengthened by the medicine of books and the surgery of the beech rod. They had resented it with ingenious devilry. The confusion of the teacher and some incidental fun were its only compensations. The young man gave his best thought to the correction of this mental attitude. Four o'clock came at last. The work of the day was over. Weary with its tension, all sat waiting the teacher's word. For a little he stood facing them.

"Tom Lluley and Joe Beach," said he in a low voice, "will you wait a moment after the others have gone? School's dismissed."

There was a rush of feet and a rattle of dinner pails. All were eager to get home with the story of that day save the two it had brought to shame. They sat quietly as the others went away. A deep silence fell in that little room. Of a sudden it had become a lonely place.

The teacher damped the fire and put on his overshoes.

"Boys," said he, drawing a big silver watch, "bear that watch ticking. It tells the flight of seconds. You are—eighteen, did you say? They turn boys into oxen here in this country; just a thing of bone and muscle, living to sweat and lift and groan. Maybe I can save you, but there's not a minute to lose. With you it all depends on this term of school. When it's done you'll either be ox or driver. Play checkers?"

Tom nodded.

"I'll come over some evening and we'll have a game. Good night."

CHAPTER XIV.

THAT first week Sidney Trove went to board at the home of "the two old maids," a stone house on Jericho road, with a front door rusting on idle hinges and blinds ever drawn. It was a hundred feet or more from the highway, and in summer there were flowers along the path from its little gate and vines climbing to the upper windows. In winter its garden was buried deep under the snow. One family—the Vaughns—came once in awhile to see "the two old maids." Few others ever saw them save from afar. A dressmaker came once a year and made gowns for them that were carefully hung in closets, but never worn. To many of their neighbors they were as dead as if they had been long in their graves. Tales of their economy, of their odd habits, of their past, went over hill and dale to far places. They had never boarded the teacher and were put in a panic when the trustee came to speak of it.

"He's a grand young man," said he; "good company, and you'll enjoy it."

They looked soberly at each other. According to tradition, one was fifty-four, the other fifty-five years of age. An exclamation broke from the lips of one. It sounded like the letter "y" whispered quickly.

"Y!" the other answered.

"It might make a match," said Mr. Blount, the trustee, smiling.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Sin Against Health

Why the Usefulness of All Organs is Destroyed by Costiveness.

Most important to health and comfort is the proper action of the bowels.

By nature these organs are intended for the removal of the waste particles of matter which accumulate in the system.

Retain these wastes and you poison the blood, ruin digestion, prey on nervousness and anaemia.

Habitual constipation is best overcome by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which establish regularity that is exactly consistent with nature.

Not a drastic purgative—not even a pain or sensation of grip, because Dr. Hamilton's Pills are vegetable and free from irritating widely advertised remedies.

In every case Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure and bring sure relief from headache, biliousness and other manifestations of constipation.

Jas. McConnell, of Walkerton, writes; "Since I was comparatively a young man I have not enjoyed real good health.

"My appetite was good and strength kept up, yet I knew something was wrong.

"Frequently I took bilious attacks and violent headaches. My stomach was disordered, skin was murky, under my eyes were heavy dark rings.

"Last winter I read through the Poison's almanac and decided my trouble was constipation. I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and can hardly tell the help they have been. I am now as fresh, strong and well as a boy."

Just try the wonderful magic of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Poison & Co., Hartford, Conn. U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

HARMFUL STOMACH DOSING

No Need of it When Hyomei is Used to Cure Catarrh.

Physicians and scientists agree that the less medicine one swallows, the better. It is in keeping with this idea that Hyomei is recommended by leading physicians throughout this and other catarrhal sections.

When this treatment is used in catarrhal troubles, there is no stomach dosing, for the medicine is taken in with the air you breathe, and goes right to the spot where the catarrhal germs are present, healing the inflamed and irritated mucous membrane, killing the disease germs and entering the blood with the oxygen, driving all catarrhal germs from the system.

Do not try to cure catarrh of the head by putting medicine into your stomach—this is neither a scientific nor common-sense treatment. Breathe the healing balsams of Hyomei and in a few days you will notice relief, and its continued use will result in a complete and lasting cure.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Local Rugby Expert's Family

The Buffalo Courier in a recent issue containing an interesting article on the Rugby prowess of the Poe family, one of the members of which Mr. Arthur Poe is a resident of Peterborough, at the present time, and during this season spent considerable time in coaching the Rugby team of that town in the Ontario Union. The Courier says;

By far the greatest family of football players were the well-known Poe boys who brought honors to Princeton for many years. This great Nassau recruiting field was the family of John P. Poe, of Baltimore, who himself graduated from Princeton in 6154. Descendants of the pete Edgar Allan Poe, the six boys made football history.

S. Johnson Poe, the oldest of the boys, played his game for the Tigers in 1882 and 1883, was a brilliant open field runner, and started the pace for spectacular playing that his younger brothers kept up.

Edgar Allan Poe, second to appear on the Princeton field, was the finest light weight of his day. He was subquarter in '89.

Jos. P. Poe, jr., was the third of the great sextet. He was a brilliant enough dodger and tackler to be the star of the orange and black eleven of '91 and '92. He could make a running dive 15 feet and land his man, and the momentum he gained this way made a dead stop as good as a 200-pound lineman.

Nelson Poe was Princeton '97. He played as a Tiger in '94, '95, and '96.

The best known and most spectacular of the Poes, was Arthur Poe, '00, now a resident of Peterborough. He played his great games in '98 and '99, and both years by individual work won the eastern championship for his team. This has been won before by a single star play, but never in the history of the war of shoe leather on spheroids has one man been able to win two championships in such a manner. On November 12, 1898, in the game with Yale by a brilliant dodging run in the open field he carried the ball ninety-eight yards for the winning touchdown. In '99 he practically repeated the performance. Again in the deciding game of the eastern championship series again against Yale, he broke loose round the Eli end and scored on a long run in the last two minutes of play.

The baby of this football family was Gresham Poe. Gresham was known through his college career for the same brilliancy of play which his brothers had exhibited.

Next Friday, Nov. 30th, will be St. Andrew's day, and a special union service in commemoration of the occasion will be held in All Saints church at eight o'clock. The members of the three local chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, will take part. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will preach the sermon.

Mr. James A. Tully Returns.

Mr. James A. Tully has returned from a trip to North Bay, Sudbury, Manitouwaning, Manitoulin Islands, and Sault Ste Marie, in the interests of the Oddfellows' Relief Association. He accompanied Grand Master W. S. Johnston, of Toronto, and a flourishing I.O.O.F. lodge was installed at Manitouwaning.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Para, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I could eat would seem to lie heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

Local Foreman In New Graft

It seems that the foreman, or rather ex-foreman in a local industry has been working a system of frenzied finance that entitles him to run for office in the Grafters' Union. This foreman worked a little scheme that for simplicity and low cunning took the cake and incidentally, the cook.

He simply added a few hours overtime daily to the time-sheet crediting an illiterate employee with overtime not put in. When the men were paid off he drew the employee's wages, paid him what he had actually earned and pocketed the balance. He is not foreman now.

Ice Gone Out of Rice Lake

The steamer Monarch arrived in port from Rice Lake on Saturday with a good load of passengers and freight. Capt McAllister noted on Saturday that there was no ice in either the lake or river on his trip Saturday.

Mr. McAllister remarked that next Saturday, if the weather permits he will run a special trip from the Lake ports.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worried or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

BRITISH INSURANCE EXPERT

Some Leaks in Canadian Business

GIVES VALUABLE POINTERS

Last Session of Insurance Commission Brings Out Some Interesting Evidence---Government Could at Least Sell Annuities.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Mr. A. McDougall manager of the Pelican and British Empire Mutal Life Insurance Co., was the last witness examined before the Insurance Commission before closing its public sessions on Saturday. Although the public sessions are closed, the commission will receive suggestions during the next ten days.

Mr McDougall submitted to the commission a carefully prepared memorandum, in which he urged the inadvisability of any insurance company, being allowed to put forward estimates of probable results when soliciting business. Estimates, he said, were in the nature of a barnacle on the business, befouling the structure, leading to misrepresentation more or less gross, and seldom bona fide.

TOO LIMITED FOR FUTURE

In reply to Mr. Langmuir, Mr. McDougall said he thought the existing restrictions on investments did not unreasonably or unduly limit the sphere of investment, but, having regard to the future, for which legislation was contemplated, they were, he thought, entirely too limited. Call loans ought to be prohibited as investments for insurance funds. Speaking generally, he would widen materially the territorial area of investments. He advised that in future three classes of insurance companies receive official recognition, viz.; domestic, British and foreign, instead of only Canadian and foreign, as at present.

To the fact that the management of the business of insurance companies in Canada, is not always in the hands of experts as in Great Britain, is due the heavy excess of expenses in conducting life insurance business in Canada. In this way Mr. McDougall estimated that no less a sum than $3,000,000 per annum is spent by the Canadian companies beyond the outlay provided for in the premium rates, and this has to be made good out of other sources, which otherwise would be available for profit to the policyholders.

STATE COULD INSURE.

He saw no difficulty at all in the State furnishing life insurance to the extent at least of granting annuities. He thought there were too many companies in Canada now per capita of population.

"Regarding his own company's business, he said Canadian rates were as a rule lower than the British, but they gave their policyholders an option of paying the higher rate, thus securing substantial bonuses.

The late Walter Barwick, K.C., and Judge Macdougall were mentioned by Mr. McDougall as instances. The former's estate, in return for total payments of about $200 on his four policies, received in bonus some $800, and Judge Macdougall, for a merely nominal payment of something like $5 per thousand, also received a large bonus.

Looks All Closed on Trent Valley Canal

Today there was no navigation through any of the locks on the Trent canal yesterday, these locks all being closed for the season. The bridge across the river at the locks below the Little Lake, was closed Saturday, as it is the swing bridge at Hastings. The returns of the lockmasters at the various locks will be made to the superintendent's office in the course of a few days.

NO COFFEE

The Doctor Said.

Coffee slavery is not much different from alcohol or any other drug. Although many people don't realize that coffee contains a poisonous, habit forming drug—caffeine.

They get into the habit of using coffee, and no wonder, when some writers for respectable magazines and papers speak of coffee as "harmless."

Of course it doesn't paralyze one in a short time like alcohol, or put one to sleep like morphine, but it slowly acts on the heart, kidneys and nerves, and soon forms a drug-habit, just the same, and one that is the cause of many overlooked ailments.

"I wish to state for the benefit of other coffee slaves," writes a Vt. young lady, "What Postum Food Coffee has done for me.

"Up to a year ago I thought I could not eat my breakfast if I did not have at least 3 cups of coffee, and sometimes during the day, if very tired, I would have another cup.

"I was annoyed with indigestion, heart trouble, bad feeling in my head, and sleeplessness. Our family doctor, whom I consulted, asked me if I drank coffee. I said I did and could not get along without it.

"He told me it was the direct cause of my ailments, and advised me to drink Postum. I had no faith in it, but finally tried it. The first cup was not boiled long enough and was distasteful, and I vowed I would not drink any more.

"But after a neighbor told me to cook it longer I found Postum was much superior in flavor to my coffee. I am no longer nervous, my stomach troubles have ceased, my heart action is fine, and from 108 lbs. weight when I began Postum, I now weigh 138 lbs. I give all the credit to Postum as I did not change my other diet in any way." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Mr. Bert Rose of King street, will henceforth perform the duties of Grand Trunk Ticket Agent in place of Mr. D. J. DeVine, who left yesterday to assume a similar position in the union station at Toronto. Mr. Rose entered on his duties yesterday. At the freight office here he has been almost two years, and during the past six months or more was assistant to the Grand Trunk agent in Lakefield, from where he comes as local ticket agent.

Mr. DeVine, who has been in Peterborough for the past three or four years as ticket agent, reported for duty at noon yesterday at the union station.

Mr. Joseph Yelland Gets Large 'Lunge

Mr. Joseph Yelland, the government contractor from Stony Lake, relates his recent experience with a monster lunge, which he captured a few days ago, whilst his men were working on a wharf at Mr. Buck's cottage, near the Dummer shore, and while paddling across to the cottage he threw out the trawling lines. His propelling power was a bushy tree in the bow of the canoe, as a heavy fair wind was blowing across the lake. The bait was very soon grabbed by a huge fish.

To land this veteran of the deep, he was forced to paddle to shore, where he pulled up his lengthy prize. The fish measured three feet seven inches in length, and when weighed at Mr Julian, turned the scales at 21 1-2 pounds.

English Girl Weds Spanish Matador

Idol of Spain Captured by Daughter of Wealthy Britisher, Who Admired His Daring.

London, Nov. 26.—One of Spain's most famous toreadors, Rafeal Gonzalez—familiarly known as "Machaquito," or "The Little Hammer"—has just been married at Carthagena to Miss Clementson, the daughter of a wealthy British resident.

Half the women in Spain are enamoured of the young Englishman, for Machaquito is the idol of the whole nation. He was one of the most daring of the matadors who appeared at the great Coronation bullfight.

After making his appearance in the arena and saluting King Alfonso and Queen Victoria he gravely marked out a ring with his sword and stepped inside it. A roar of applause went up from the vast audience, for the act signified that Machaquito would not retreat from that spot until either he or the bull was killed. Without stepping from the ring he fought off the charges of the bull until his sword had reached its heart.

It was at a bullfight that Miss Clementson first saw Machaquito, and then, carried away by his courage, she threw her bouquet to him. The matador picked it up, kissed it, and the courtship began from that day. For the Coronation bullfight Machaquito received £300 in addition to innumerable gifts of jewelry, and his revenue at a low estimate, amounts to £10,000 a year.

Woodmens' Finances are O.K.

Mr. Al. Huskill, clerk of the Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World, has received a letter from C. C. Hodgins, M.P.P., of Lucan, the Head Consul Commander of the Order, in which some interesting information is given concerning the appearance of the Order before the Royal Insurance Commission. The letter was read at the regular meeting of the Camp, which was held last night.

The letter states that there is no ground for apprehension and that the standing and finances of the Order are today in a healthier state than at any previous time in its history.

Preventics, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneezing stage." Council in Com. of the Whole

Last night the council met in Committee of the Whole. Among other things dealt with were the bylaws which are to be presented to the people on municipal election day. There are a number of these, including the Collegiate Institute bylaw, the Smith street bridge, etc. Mayor Beal, when asked yesterday if the offer of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., to dispose of their plant to the city would be taken up at last night's session, replied that he did not think so, although it might be discussed by the committee.

A full report of proceedings appears in other columns of this issue.

FIND BLOODSTAINED SADDLE

Police Believe That Wealthy Philadelphian Has Been Murdered.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 26.—A bloodstained saddle belonging to J. S. Dale, the wealthy young Philadelphia who disappeared Aug. 23 in the Bella Coola Valley, has been found, and the provincial police detailed to investigate the mystery believe the young man was foully dealt with. According to passengers who arrived on the Amur the saddle was found near a trail leading from where Dale lived with Martin, the man about whom several peculiar stories have been told, and who asserts that Dale went off alone into the hills.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

Breathe Hyomei and Get Relief and Cure. Sold Under Guarantee.

If you have catarrh, with offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, coughing, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, huskiness, discharge from the nose, tickling and dropping at the back of the throat, especially at night, coughing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

Its healing medication will give relief in a few days and its continued use will completely drive all catarrhal germs from the system.

Hyomei contains Nature's healing oils and balsams, the germ-killing properties of the pine forests, and goes with the air you breathe to the most remote cells of the respiratory organs, searching out and killing all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing any irritation there may be in the mucous membrane. It is easy and pleasant to use Hyomei, pleasanter than most of the stomach dosing, as the healing air is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, which can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, and carries medication to just the stop where relief is needed.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

THREATEN ARREST TO LABOR AGENT

Frederick Fay Ordered to Leave Hamilton But Refused to Get Out

WASHINGTON APPEALED TO

Protection Will be Asked From the United States Federal Government by International Union.

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—A sensational episode occurred Sunday afternoon in the lobby of the Waldorf Hotel, Sheriff Middleton and Chief of Police Smith entered and ordered Fred Fay, the international officer of the Union, to leave the country. "Your presence," said the sheriff, "is not required, you have no business here, and we tell you to leave immediately."

Mr Fay could not get from them a statement of their authority, but he therefore declined to leave.

Mr Fay declares that Saturday night's trouble was not participated in by union men. The American consul has informed Mr. Fay that he cannot be sent out of the country. The mayor denies specific knowledge of the act, and says that legal process would be necessary to deport Fay.

UNION PRESIDENT COMING.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The United States Government here has been asked to furnish protection for a labor leader engaged in conducting a strike in another country.

The appeal came yesterday from Frederick Fay, who is leading the street car strike in Hamilton, Ont. After the serious riots last Saturday night in Hamilton, in which many persons were injured, the Canadian authorities ordered Fay to leave the country at once. Fay declined to go, and, instead, sent a telegram to Chicago, asking for aid. The message was received by President William D. Mahon, head of the Street Car Men's Union in the United States, who immediately sent the following reply:

"Demand protection of United States Consul at Hamilton, and stay where you are."

APPEAL TO WASHINGTON.

Mr. Mahon last night said efforts would be made today to have the matter taken up at Washington, and an international question made of the situation, which is without parallel, so far as known.

It is said Fay will be instructed to insist on his rights as a citizen of the United States. The chief of police of Hamilton, and Sheriff Middleton, it is said, both have served notice on the strike leader that 24 hours will be given him to slip over the border if the order is met with refusal the authorities threaten to throw Fay into jail.

Mr. Mahon himself will leave tonight for Hamilton, and it is said thus will place himself practically in the same position as Fay, since he is the head of the street car men's organization.

City Board of Works In Short Session

Hunter Street, at Post Office, to Be Repaired—The Extension of George Street.

The Board of Works met last night, with Chairman Ald Hicks in the chair.

All the members were present.

GEORGE STREET EXTENSION.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks,—That the treasurer be authorized to issue checks in tender for property necessary to George street extension, in accordance with the valuator's valuation.—Carried.

Ald Johnston asked that north side of Hunter street, from Water street west, at post office, be repaired at once. This was acquiesced in.

ERIE COBALT GETS CONTROL OF VALUABLE BEAVER PROPERTIES

New Equipment for Pushing Work Will Be Installed at Once.

Since the very recent announcement that the Erie Cobalt Silver Mining Company, Limited, had secured the controlling interest in the valuable Beaver Cobalt properties, and that 300,000 shares of stock were for sale at par value of $1.00 per share, subscriptions have been fast coming in to the Erie Company's transfer agents, the Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King street west, Toronto. This was naturally expected for several reasons. By the new deal the Erie Company has a capital of $1,000,000, with new title clear to sixty acres in Coleman Township and forty acres in Lorraine Township. And these properties, as it appears, have been shown to contain decidedly remarkable deposits of silver and cobalt. The new directors, who are acknowledged businessmen of first-rate standing, and who have had the direction of important mining concerns, have begun operations already toward active mining. The properties, as it happens, are well developed. And the directors have on the way a complete and up-to-date equipment of mining machinery. This will be installed within the next few days. Thus the mines will be actively shipping before January—in fact, a quantity of ore is already bagged and ready for shipment. Subscription lists for stock absolutely close at 12 o'clock on Saturday, December 1st. All applications must be accompanied by post-office or express order, or marked cheque in full, payable to J. H. Jewell and Company, and mailed or delivered to Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King street west, Toronto, Ont.

Disguised as Army Girl Shoots Three Men

New York, Nov. 26.—Miss Orillia Schneider, office a German sister of charity, who while disguised as a Salvation Army girl shot three men on Thursday at 59th street and Madison avenue, was arraigned in police court Saturday, and held without bail for further examination.

It was said in court that Paul Sheean, a Columbia student, 20 years old, one of the men who was shot, is in a critical condition as a result of his wounds. Otto H. Doge, an attorney, and Dr. Frederick Nierhoff, the other men who were shot by Miss Schneider, were in court to appear against her.

Miss Schneider had nothing to say when arrested.

A BOMB TO ADVERTISE HIM

Constantinople Official's Way of Gaining Imperial Favor.

Constantinople, Nov. 26.—It became known today that the bomb in the Pera quarter of Constantinople, Nov. 22, was a second attempt alleged to blow up Fehmi Pasha, chief of the secret police of the palace.

The bomb exploded near his carriage while Fehmi Pasha was driving through the main streets of the Pera quarter. Two spectators were injured. The police claim that they have arrested the man who threw the bomb, and say that he is an Armenian, but there is much skepticism as to whether the explosion were not engineered by Fehmi Pasha himself, with the view of impressing the Sultan with his importance as chief of the palace police and securing a continuation of imperial favors.

"SOAP TRUST" MELTS

Trade and Public in Great Britain Didn't Favor It.

Liverpool, Nov. 26.—The working arrangement entered into on October 1, between the leading soap manufacturers of the United Kingdom, popularly known as the "Soap Trust," has been terminated here on the ground that the combine had been received with great disfavor by the trade and public.

A Very Handsome Hall Clock.

Mr. Frank Clarke, the George street jeweller, yesterday received and placed on exhibition in his sale rooms, what is possibly the handsomest hall clock in Peterborough. This clock stands seven feet in height, and is after the old Dutch design. It is made of handsome weathered oak and glass, so that the solid brass weights and pendulum are visible. The hands and hour numbers are also of solid brass. The clock is wound up by one pull of a brass chain, and then runs for eight days. This is a handsome piece of furniture well worth a visit to see.

A DOCTOR'S TRIALS

He Sometimes Gets Sick Like Other People.

Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do.

No one knows this better than the hardworking, conscientious family doctor. He has troubles of his own—often gets caught in the rain or snow, and loses so much sleep he sometimes gets out of sorts. An overworked Ohio doctor tells his experience:

"About three years ago as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely, and I was little better than a physical wreck.

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and lack of nerve force for continued mental application.

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak, with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring.

"Some Grape-Nuts and cut bananas came for my lunch one day and pleased me particularly with the result. I got more satisfaction from it than from anything I had eaten for months, and on further investigation and use, adopted Grape-Nuts for my morning and evening meals, served usually with cream and a sprinkle of salt or sugar.

"My improvement was rapid and permanent in weight as well as in physical and mental endurance. In a word, I am filled with the joy of living again, and continue the daily use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and often for the evening meal.

"The little pamphlet, 'The Road to Wellville,' found in pkgs., is invariably saved and handed to some needy patient along with the indicated remedy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."

A NIGHT OF MANY BY-LAWS

Representing Thousands of Dollars

AT CITY HALL COM. ROOMS

New Smith St. Bridge Will not Be Built for Year or Two---Present Structure to Be Repaired---P. L. & P. Co's Proposition to Be Looked Into.

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night to consider what bylaws should be voted on at the municipal elections on January 7th.

There were present, his Worship Mayor Henry Beal, and Aldermen McIntyre, Johnston, Tovey, Graham, Duncan, McWilliams, Ball, Adams, Elliott, Mason and Hicks.

Street Commissioner Harry Evans was present, as also was City Solicitor K. H. D. Hill, and City Engineer T. A. S. Hay.

The deliberations of the city fathers resulted as follows:

By-laws to Be Voted on.

The Rapid Tool Company's bylaw.

The Drainage bylaw.

The Collegiate Institute bylaw, asking an additional $21,000.

Bylaw to provide for permanent work at Dalhousie, King, Reid and Brock streets bridges.

Bylaw to provide for constructing 12-inch pipe sewer from Smith to Aylmer streets.

By-laws in Abeyance.

The Coates bylaw.

The C.G.E. Company's bylaw.

The new Smith street bridge bylaw.

Ald McWilliams pointed out that it looks as though the Coates bylaw will not be in shape for submitting to the people on election day. If such is the case it would be advisable to couple the Electric Works proposition with that of the Coates concern. Still if it is possible it would be better from a standpoint of getting to the polls a large number of voters, to submit these bylaws on the municipal election day. Should this not be feasible, he would suggest that the other five bylaws be voted on at a later date than January. This scheme would avoid a congestion at the polls, which Ald. McWilliams was afraid would occur should these seven bylaws be submitted to the people on municipal election day.

Smith Street Bridge.

Ald. Hicks offered that it might be wise to hold the new Smith street bridge bylaw a year or two. The bridge could be repaired at a cost of $1000, an amount less than the interest on a new bridge would be. The new structure would cost $42,200 and could not be undertaken in a year when so many big schemes are not before the public. Ald. Hicks thought the people would back him in this proposition, as the present bridge, when repaired would last a couple of years, and the cost of such repairs would be less than the interest on the cost of a new bridge. This would effect a saving to the public, as such interest would come out of the city's revenue. In the meantime satisfactory traffic would also be assured the public until such a time when so many big money propositions are not before the public.

The engineer reported that the west span of the present bridge needs immediate attention, at a cost of a little less than the expenditure recently made on the east span, $600. Ald. Hicks said the interest on debentures amounting to $37,200 for the new structure would be $1480, and if the repairs to the present bridge did not exceed this sum, the town would not be at any loss in postponing the erection of a new bridge a year or two and undertaking repairs.

Ald Wilson submitted that the piers should be thoroughly examined, as it would be unwise to expend money on the superstructure unless the foundation is substantial.

To the mayor, Mr. May replied that about $1600 has been spent on this bridge the past three years. He was in hopes that the interest on the proposed cost of the new bridge would pay for repairs that would render the bridge available for traffic for two years.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That the engineer be instructed to report whether the piers and superstructure can be repaired for less than $1500, and that the bylaw for a new bridge be withdrawn.—Carried.

Light and Power Proposition.

The proposition of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., to give the city an opportunity of purchasing their business at its original cost price was next taken up.

Ald McWilliams said he was in favor of municipal ownership, and would oppose any measure which would give away any more rights on the city's streets, and he thought the majority of the Council Board agreed with him on such a policy. The company offer two things—gas and light,—and there seems to be no difficulties in the way of acquiring the gas business. As to the light and power business, the acquisition and operation of the same would bring the city up against the Commee Act, which prohibits a city corporation from entering into competition with private companies. Then the Peterborough Light and Power Co. agree to sell the city 500 horse power for manufacturing purposes at $15 per horse power for three years only. This proposition is no good, as at the end of three years the city would in their need for power be at the mercy of some other power company. He proposed that this whole question be gone into carefully by a committee, before the council set therein.

Ald Adams replied that the Peterborough Light and Power Company evidently are in earnest as to selling their business, and unless the city take it up some one else will. He feared that the legal difficulties alluded to by Ald. McWilliams, be removed by the hydro-electric commission which, under such conditions as mentioned, would provide the city with power, either by expropriation or otherwise.

Nothing can be done until the proposition is investigated to arrive at the company's rock bottom price for their business, present revenue therefrom. The city must act quickly in the way of getting power, as the location of two big industries rest thereon.

Ald Hicks agreed with Ald. Adams, and moved, seconded by Ald Johnston,—That the mayor, Ald. McWilliams, Mason and Adams, be a committee to secure further information regarding the Peterborough Light & Power Company's proposition.—Carried.

Voters Will Be Kept Busy.

The question of what by-laws should be submitted to the people at the municipal elections was here taken up.

The Rapid Tool Company's bylaw passed the committee without question.

Ald. Elliott said that he understood that the school Board are not anxious to submit the Collegiate Institute bylaw at the coming elections.

Ald McWilliams offered that the city solicitor should be instructed to prepare a bylaw to the people asking for an additional $21,000 with which to erect the new Collegiate Institute. This bylaw to be ready for the council on Monday night, and if the Board don't want it submitted now let them put in an appearance then and say so. If nothing is heard from the Board to the contrary, then let the bylaw be submitted at the municipal elections. Ald. McWilliams moved in this direction, and his motion carried.

The drainage bylaw providing for diverting the stream in ward five and that on Aylmer street, and also to provide for paying for the Park St. drain by a general tax next time up.

Ald Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Adams,—That this bylaw be submitted at the coming elections.

Ald. Mason moved in amendment that the bylaw be left over until a later date, in order to ascertain what the Grand Trunk people are willing to do in the matter of the Aylmer street drain, regarding which it has not yet been decided by which street this drain is to be diverted. There will be trouble should it be diverted to the river by Edinburgh street.

Ald Mason secured no seconder to his amendment, and the motion carried.

Ald Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That a bylaw be prepared to provide for raising a sufficient sum with which to concrete deck Dalhousie and Reid streets bridges, and to build concrete abutments and tops to King and Brock streets bridges.—Carried.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That a bylaw be prepared and submitted for constructing a 12-inch pipe sewer from Smith to Aylmer street, alongside the G.T.R. track.

Ballots on One Paper.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. McWilliams,—That the clerk be instructed to put the ballots for all the bylaws to be submitted on Jan. 7th, on one paper, providing the same can be legally done.—Carried.

Ald. Duncan drew attention to the electric lamp on King street, at the creek, which has not burnt since being put up.—Fire, Water and Light Committee will look after this.

Ald McWilliams also drew attention to the work done by the Gas Company, on Hunter street west. No pretence whatever has been made by the company to put this roadway in good condition. Board of Works will see to this.

The committee then adjourned.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

THE TURF.

Yesterday afternoon the Peterborough Turf Club held a meeting in the Ontario Bank Chambers with Mr. R. Munroe in the chair. Five of the nine directors only were present. The meeting was called to ascertain whether a winter meet in this city, was feasible. However, when the subject of finance, the main element in such affairs was broached, the money was not forthcoming, so it was decided to let the lease holders pay the rent of the Driving Park for the remainder of the lease, i.e., one year, and then presumably let them do as they individually think best as to races. Mr. A. Rountree, secretary of the club, tendered his resignation, and no successor was nominated.

It looks as though the local Turf Club is moribund, which seems a pity in the interests of sport.

Two picked teams of the senior Hockey Club, will meet in roller skates at the Charlotte street rink tomorrow night. The hockey club has secured the rink for the evening, and there should be one of the biggest crowds of the season present. In addition to the game there will be skating contests for both ladies and gentlemen. The band will be present.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used-up Condition.

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

COUNUY HOUSE OF REFUGE.

The County Council, in response to Act of Parliament, have built a House of Refuge, thereby carrying party into effect the object of such legislation. The house is nearing completion and is expected in a short time to be ready for inmates.

Necessarily the Council, at its closing session, will have to adopt a system of maintenance and pass bylaws to that effect, and it is to be hoped that they will still carry into effect the object of the Government, namely, extend relief where relief is necessary. To carry the intention of such legislation into effect properly the only system is the maintenance of the institution by general tax. If the poorer municipalities are forced to support their own poor, why build the house at all? It has been stated before: would it be proper for each Township to build her own bridges, or would it be proper for the poor man to pay for the public school education of his own children or the actual cost of educating them?

There is not the slightest doubt but that the Council will well consider the matter before taking action. A discrimination of any kind would not be a philanthropic nor statesmanlike act. Make the institution one of charity, supported by the County as a whole, and ratepayers living in an unfortunate district will not be called upon to pay more than the assessed value their property calls for.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION DAY.

In a number of Ontario cities there is a move being made in the direction of holding the ensuing municipal elections on New Year's day, instead of on the first Monday in January, as at present. In Toronto the necessary legislation has passed the Council to provide for this change, which appeals to the reason of so large a number of people throughout the Province as an exceedingly proper as well as a very expedient thing to do.

To hold the municipal elections as at present on the first Monday of January would make the date the 7th of the month, or one week after the passing of the year 1906. It would be much better for the new Council to be elected on the first day of the year and pass out of existance with the birth of the following year.

Moreover, the first Monday in January is a working day, and a great many workingmen feel that they cannot afford the loss of time necessitated by leaving their employment long enough to make their ballots, while in other cases business interests may make it imperative that a number of the voters be away from home on that day, thus depriving a number of the voters be away from home on that day, thus depriving a certain percentage of franchise holders of the privilege of exercising the rights of citizenship, and making it at the same time more difficult to elect to position of civic trust and responsibility men of the best calibre.

New Year's day is always a public holiday, and is an occasion which most people observe at home. Comparatively few voters would be out of the city, on that day, and it would be fairly easy to poll a large vote in the mayoralty, aldermanic and other elections, thus obtaining a fair expression of the electorate, and giving the successful candidates a definite assurance that they really represent the wishes of the majority of the people.

In these and other respects New Year's day seems to have very decided advantages over the first Monday in January as municipal election day, and it is sincerely hoped that it will appeal to our City Council as it has done to the Mayor and City Council of Toronto, and other cities in this Province, in such a way that legislation will be enacted at the next meeting of the people's representatives to provide for the holding of the municipal elections on New Year's day, 1907.

Primitive Wales.

It is an interesting fact, and one showing how little have been the surface changes wrought in agricultural Wales, that a well defined Roman road exists to this day in the very heart of Llandrindod and, with a few breaks, can be traced to the outskirts of Magos, a couple of miles away.

Antarctic Penguins.

In the antarctic penguins are the most important animals. They afford abundant oil for lamps.

Corn Tassel.

The corn tassel is symbolic of riches, though the low price of the product during the last few years has deprived the symbol of much of its former significance.

Three Eyed Spiders.

There are a great many spiders, especially among the tropical varieties, which have three eyes, one on each side of the head and the third exactly in the center of the "forehead." This middle or third eye is always the largest.

Chinese Coffins.

Chinese coffins are made of timber eight inches to ten inches thick. It is calculated, therefore, that over 8,000,000 feet of timber is utilized yearly for coffins in China.

Myrtle.

The myrtle plant has always been regarded as an emblem of love. Among the Greeks and Romans it was planted in cemeteries.

The Telephone.

June 25, 1876, at the Centennial exhibition in Philadelphia, the telephone was for the first time exhibited to the public. A few months before Alexander Graham Bell had perfected his invention, but it was not until a month after the opening of the Centennial that it occurred to him to exhibit the wonder working device at the great fair.

Parthian Kings.

For over 400 years every Parthian king bore the name of Arsaces in addition to his own.

Anthropology.

The first anthropological society, for the study of mankind considered with reference to the animal history of the race, was founded in London in 1863.

Banished From Russia Under Threats of Death

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.—Calderbank, the English engineer at the Nevsky thread mills, has received a second threatening letter containing the following sentence; "For the last time, go in peace or you know the fate awaiting you." By arrangement with the directors of the company, Mr. Calderbank is taking a long period of leave, and starts for England today via Helsingfors. Mr. Caldwell, who is a Manchester man, has been in St. Petersburg 14 years, and is exceedingly popular with the men of his own department, who express great regret at his departure. Another Englishman in the service of the Nevsky thread mills, Mr. Mellor of Stockport, is leaving St. Petersburg permanently for the same reason, after 18 years' residence here.

1st - Sixty six mining claims.
2nd - A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
3rd - 5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
4th - A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plants.

Invest in something tangible. Have real assets back of your money.

You can't make a winning on a paid, hold prospect. But there is a period midway between the prospect and the producing mine when profit for the investor is certain.

That is the status today of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company, and although this is merely an introduction—an invitation, a challenge to investigate—we want to portray the salient facts; we want to lay before you the INCENTIVE for the investment of such capital as you may wish to place into an enterprise that is real and that is destined to be a big producer; or, really as in this case, a series of producers.

In the beginning, we want you to understand that this is a BIG thing. It is not a desert group of claims, isolated from water and timber, removed from cheap supplies, and given to exploiting the "possibility" of locating some ledge in which an ore shoot may be found. It is a proposition with a main crosscut tunnel in 4,000 feet, with laterals, and drifts amounting to 5,600 feet, with a long covered flume for the purpose of conducting water with a great HEAD to a power plant complete and OPERATING. This is a story only for investors who are conservative enough to want something REAL, something that exists—and who, at the same time, want a liberal chance to make their money increase many times.

The properties of the Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company consist of 66 full lode mining claims, located near the town of Loomis, Okanogan county, Washington, about 12 miles south of the boundary line between that state and British Columbia. During high water, steamers are run on the Okanogan river to within 28 miles of the property. A new line of railway, on which the steel is now being laid at the rate of one mile each day, will be completed to within 12 miles of the property before October 1st. This company owns an extensive water power—with all rights, securing the water from Toats Coulee creek, about two miles west of their mines, piping it to the company's plant, which is completed in detail, having a large turbine and the necessary electric equipment to develop and transmit this extensive and valuable power.

How different this is from the scheme of the desert mine, where the problem of water alone makes the cost of mining and treatment five times what it ought to re—so that we can, at our properties, do as much with $10 ore as they can do with $40 to $50 ore.

There are numerous veins—many already cut by this great crosscut tunnel. Because of the heavy transportation work this tunnel will have to do; it is being driven 9 by 9 in the clear, which will admit of a heavy double track sufficient to transport hundreds of tons of ore and waste daily. This will dispense with the expense of pumps and hoists, although many of the veins have already been extensively explored in surface workings, consisting of trenches, open cuts and shafts. Over 3,000 feet of this surface work has already been accomplished in addition to the inside development.

Think of one and one-half square miles of this productive land! Think of the possibilities contained in the veins! Think of the total of more than 9,600 feet of actual development! Figure it on the lowest basis you care to, and then understand the amount of money that has preceded yours. That is the way to invest, and the only way business men will invest. You have development, acreage, power plant, water power—everything that one could ask for as SECURITY for your investment.

For years, investment papers have been telling you to look to the SAFETY of your invested capital. This, they have told you, was the criterion to profit. And now—here is a proposition with more dollars already invested in it, and standing back of your dollars, than your money and the money of all other investors will amount to. That is real security—not the printed kind that deals wholly with prospective values. The worth of a thing is not theoretical, but practical, and here you have the tangible before you.

In driving the large crosscut tunnel, 28 veins have been encountered, and drifts have been run on eleven of these. We have no average assays of hundreds of dollars a ton, but the averages we publish will be borne out in actual operations in our properties. They range from $15 to $50 a ton. Some run much higher, but the average is safe. We also have considerable ore that will maintain an average of $10 a ton. With ENOUGH of this, we cannot help making money for our stockholders. And we have the quantity, beyond question.

Our directorate is composed of business and mining men. They are as follows:

John Tully, Holyoke, Mass.
Vice President
F. G. Burnham, Holyoke, Mass.
Second Vice President

All we ask you to do is to investigate.

What we have said is open to a most searching inquiry. We want you to look into the proposition—out, for your sake, to do it as soon as possible.

The stock we are offering will not be before you long. You have heard that story before, we know, but this is a plain statement, made not to tout or bluff, but in earnest.

You will find a blank in this advertisement for the purpose of facilitating your inquiry. We shall be glad to send you illustrations, facts, figures. We want to show you every point, from the business view. We want you to look into the characters of the men as well as into the physical proposition of the enterprise.

We have ample advertising matter, engineers' reports, etc., to enable you to conduct a thorough, satisfactory investigation.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15.0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY.

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

"Y! Samuel Blount!" said the younger one, coming near and smiting him playfully on the elbow. "You stop!"

Miss Letitia began laughing silently. They never laughed aloud.

"If he didn't murder us," said Miss S'mantha doubtfully.

"Nonsense," said the trustee. "I'll answer for him."

"Can't tell what men'll do," she persisted weakly. "When I was in Albany with Alma Haskins a man came 'long an' tried to pass the time o' day with us. We jes' looked t'other way an' didn't preten' to hear him. It's awful to think what might 'a' happened."

She wiped invisible tears with an embroidered handkerchief. The dear lady had spent a good part of her life thinking of that narrow escape.

"If he wa'n't too particular," said Miss Letitia, who had been laughing at this maiden fear of her sister.

"If he would mind his business we—we might take him for one week," said Miss S'mantha. She glanced inquiringly at her sister.

Letitia and S'mantha Tower, "the two old maids," had but one near relative, Ezra Tower, a brother, of the same neighborhood.

There were two kinds of people in Faraway, those that Ezra Tower spoke to and those he didn't. The latter were of the majority. As a forswearer of communication he was unrivaled. His imagination was a very slaughter house, in which all who crossed him were slain. If they were passing he looked the other way and never even saw them again. Since the probate of his father's will both sisters were of the number never spoken to. He was a thin, tall, sullen, dry and dusty man. Dressed for church of a Sunday, he looked as if he had been stored a year in some neglected cellar. His broadcloth had a dingy aspect, his hair and beard and eyebrows the hue of a cobweb. He had a voice slow and rusty, a look arid and unfruitful. Indeed, it seemed as if the fires of hate and envy had burned him out.

The two old maids, feeling the disgrace of it and fearing more, ceased to visit their neighbors or even to pass their own gate. Poor Miss S'mantha fell into the deadly mire of hypochondria. She often thought herself very ill and sent abroad for every medicine advertised in the county paper. She had ever a faint look and a thin, sickly voice. She had the man fear—a deep distrust of men—never ceasing to be on her guard. In girlhood she had been to Albany. Its splendor and the reckless conduct of one Alma Haskins, companion of her travels, had been ever since a day-long perennial topic of her conversation. Miss Letitia was more amiable. She had a playful, cheery heart in her, a mincing and precise manner and a sweet voice. What with the cleaning, dusting and preserving they were ever busy. A fly, driven hither and thither, fell of exhaustion if not disabled with a broom. They were two weeks getting ready for the teacher. When at last he came that afternoon supper was ready, and they were nearly worn out.

"Here he is!" one whispered suddenly from a window. Then, with a last poke at her hair, Miss Letitia admitted the teacher. They spoke their greeting in a half whisper and stood near, waiting timidly for his coat and cap.

"No, thank you," said he, taking them to a nail. "I can do my own hanging, as the man said when he committed suicide."

Miss S'mantha looked suspicious and walked to the other side of the stove. Impressed by the silence of the room, much exaggerated by the ticking of the clock, Sidney Trove sat a moment looking around him. Daylight had begun to grow dim. The table, with its cover of white linen, was a thing to give one joy. A ruby tower of jelly, a snowy summit of frosted cake, a red pond of preserved berries, a mound of chicken pie and a corduroy marsh of mince, steaming volcanoes of new biscuit and a great heap of apple fritters lay in a setting of blue china. They stood a moment by the stove—the two sisters—both trembling in this unusual publicity. Miss Letitia had her hand upon the teapot.

"Our tea is ready," said she presently, advancing to the table. She spoke in a low, gentle tone.

"This is grand!" said he, sitting down with them. "I tell you we'll have fun before I leave here."

They looked up at him and then at each other, Letitia laughing silently, S'mantha suspicious. For many years fun had been a thing far from their thought.

"Play checkers?" he inquired.

"Afraid we couldn't," said Miss Letitia, answering for both.

"Old Sledge?"

She shook her head, smiling.

"I don't wish to lead you into recklessness," the teacher remarked, "but I'm sure you wouldn't mind being happy."

Miss S'mantha had a startled look.

"In—in a—proper way," he added. "Let's be joyful. Perhaps we could play 'I spy.'"

"Y!" they both exclaimed, laughing silently.

"Never ate chicken pie like that," he added in all sincerity. "If I were a poet I'd indite an ode 'written after eating some of the excellent chicken pie of the Misses Tower.' I'm going to have some like it on my farm."

In reaching to help himself he touched the teapot, withdrawing his hand quickly.

"Burn ye?" said Miss S'mantha.

"Yes, but I like it," said he, a bit embarrassed. "I often go and—put my

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While AFTER TREATMENT at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz yein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralised in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Local Patient Recovers From Tetanus

Although perhaps not generally known "tetanus" or lockjaw is one of the most painful diseases known and treated by materia medica. This disease, caused by a germ or microbe entering the human system and circulation by a wound, particularly when caused by any rusty metal such as rusty iron of any kind, used to be considered, after full development, as practically incurable, and the patient, whose interior muscles, as well as those approaching the epidermis, were tortured almost beyond belief, was simply given over to the merciful death. This traumatic wound when inflicted by the tentanus bacteria, simply meant suffer beyond the reach of morphine or such pain allaying drugs, until death mercifully terminated the patient's sufferings.

Some two weeks and a half ago, Mr. John Harris 24 Aylmer street, who is employed at the Shovel Works, ran a nail into his finger, which was subsequently followed by considerable pain. He consulted a doctor, who treated the wound. Ten days after the accident, symptoms of lockjaw developed, and for more than a week his jaw has been closed tightly, so that he has been fed on liquid nourishment during that time, through the openings between teeth which had been extricated.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Harris has shown signs of an improvement, his jaws relaxing, and about one o'clock yesterday morning his jaws opened, and the chances for his recovery are said to be excellent.

He has been in the hospital for about a week and much credit is due the hospital staff for the care they have taken of the patient.

—Lindsay Post, Mr. J. W. Brightman, former president of the Peterborough Curling Club, was in town yesterday, a guest at the Simpson House.—Mrs. Zeufeldt, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhys Williams have returned, after attending the wedding of Miss Maxwell and Mr. Long, of Peterborough

—Mr. Sullivan, of Montreal, representing the Dominion Bridge Company, is busy getting the lift lock into shape for the winter. Mr. Sullivan will start a large staff of men to work this morning on the structure, and it is expected that it will be two or three weeks before the work is completed. Mr. Sullivan will be a guest of the Albion Hotel during his stay in the city.

Mr. Hetherington's Funeral Today

This afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. W. J. Hetherington will take place from the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Baxter, 291 Stewart street, to the Little Lake cemetery, and will be in charge of the Sons of England.

The late Mr. Hetherington, who passed away Sunday morning at the Nicholls Hospital, at the age of 42 years, had very many warm friends in the city. He was taken ill with pneumonia last week, and on Tuesday taken to the hospital.

He was born in Cumberland County, England, and came to Canada in the year 1882. For the past 16 years he has been employed at the Munro House, and was there until he left for the hospital last week. He has a number of relatives in this city.

The new Pure Food and Drug Law will mark it on the label of every Cough Cure containing Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupifying or poisonous drug. But it passes Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure as made for 20 years, entirely free. Dr. Shoop all along has bitterly opposed the use of all opiates or narcotics. Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is absolutely safe even for the youngest babe—and it cures, it does not simply suppress. Get a safe and reliable Cough Cure. By simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's. Let the law be your protection. We cheerfully recommend and sell it, J. D. Tully.

Two Hotel Licenses Transferred.

The Board of License Commissioners met last night in Dr. Morrison's office, when there were present, Dr. Morrison, chairman, Kendry, LeBrun and License Inspector Jos. Stewart. It was moved and carried that the application for a transfer of the license of the Royal Hotel, from Jas. Flynn to James Kelly, be granted; and that the application of Steve. Holland, proprietor of the American Hotel, to David Flynn, of the east ward, be also granted. The Board then adjourned.

Rev. Mr. Robinson Referred to.

The Hamilton Times says: Mr. J. H. Robinson has received word this morning, that his brother, Rev. F. A. Robinson, had been inducted into the Presbytery ministry a few days ago at Stirling. Mr. Robertson is naturally proud of the success Rev. F. A has obtained from the time he entered the study of the ministry. The Stirling papers describe Mr. Robinson, as a very forceful speaker, who, at the same time, clothes his speech in the best of language.

Evangelistic Services Continued.

The special evangelistic services in the Charlotte street Methodist church, will be continued during this week. Last night the Epworth League had charge of the meeting, and tonight the preacher will be Rev. Dr. Orothers, and, following that, the pastor expects to be able to continue the work He has been incapicited for work the greater part of last week, but expects to be sufficiently recovered to be able to again take up the work

Mr. D. Holt Takes a Position.

Mr. David Holt, who for a number of years has been foreman of the wood department of the C. C. E. Works, has resigned his position to accept a better one with another company. Mr. Holt has a great many friends in the city who, while they will regret his removal from the city, will congratulate him upon his promotion, which he well deserves.

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M.D., of Bennet Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M.D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M.D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Grover Cox, of New York; Dr. Barnhouse, of Jefferson Medical College of Pa., and scores of others equally eminent.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion and corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up disagreeable and weakening drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women. Bear in mind, it is not a patent nor even a secret medicine, but the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated physician of large experience in the cure of women's peculiar ailments, who frankly and confidingly takes his patients into his full confidence by telling them just what his "Prescription" is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for women's special maladies and sold through druggists, can it be said that the maker is not afraid to deal thus frankly, openly and honorably, by telling every patient using the same know exactly what she is taking.

A CORRECTION

No Truth in Report Regarding Canoe Company.

Yesterday Col. J. Z. Rogers, of the Peterborough Canoe Company, called on The Times, and complained of an item which appeared in these columns to the effect that his company is prepared to sell out. The gallant colonel appeared to be considerably disturbed over the rumor, which he characterized as absolutely without foundation. The Times, therefore, makes the correct, and at the same time offers an apology for giving it publicity.

McGill Case Adjourned a Day:

CROWN ATTORNEY INDIGNANT

Better Not Happen Again---Mr. Cookburn Pleaded Not Guilty and Asked Trial by Magistrate---Dispose of McGill Case First.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—County Crown Attorney Corley was highly indignant yesterday morning, when the charge against of theft against Charles McGill, former general manager of the Ontario Bank, was called, and it was found that the books and cheques, necessary to the introduction of evidence, were not on hand.

"We have been very good to the bank in this respect," he said: "that we have permitted them to remove the books. Another repitition of this sort of thing and that privilege will be refused."

Mr. A. E. Ames was on hand, and was in the witness box for a few minutes, but no additional facts of value were elicited.

Mr. McKay, who appeared for Mr. McGill, complained about the adjournment until today, but, under the circumstances, he recognized it to be unavoidable.

In response to an inquiry, Mr. Corley intimated that the commission to investigate the books in the brokers offices in New York would doubtless leave for that city next week.

CASE AGAINST MR. COCKBURN.

Magistrate Denison announced that the case against Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, president of the bank, would have to be adjourned again for a week; would have to be adjourned, in fact, until the had disposed of the case against Mr. McGill "I want to get through with the one case before I go on with the other," he said.

"We will plead not guilty," said Mr. Frank Arnoldi, K.C., "and will elect to be tried by your worship."

"When I get through with the one case I will go on with the other," continued the Magistrate. "I do not wish to hear anything about the other now."

"I do not see," said Mr. Arnoldi, "what the commission to New York has to do with the charge against my client. The evidence it may secure will have no bearing on Mr. Cockburn's position."

Mr. Corley thought that every entry in the books might become evidence in the Cockburn case.

"It seems to me," remarked the magistrate, "that if the evidence procurable in New York turns out to substantiate the evidence taken here, and it is more clearly shown that there was an intention to deceive, the outcome of the commission would have a very distinct bearing on the charge against Mr. Cockburn, for the reason that he signed these erroneous returns to the Government."

"We may have to show," intimated Mr Corley, "that the statements were wilfully false."

"If you think you can do that," observed the magistrate, "I think you should apply for the commission at once."

MUST TRACE EVERY DOLLAR.

"Well," rejoined Mr. Corley, "at present it is very largely a fishing expedition."

"I will tell you candidly," pursued Magistrate Denison, "the reason I want a commission is not for the purpose of proving that the statements to the Government were false, but to show where they manoys went, and, if they unappropriated illegally, to show what portion of them, if any, went into the hands of the defendant."

"We must find what became of every dollar of the money," said Mr. Corley, "before this case can be permitted to leave the hands of your worship."

British manufacturers, looking for Canadian locations, and if others will follow.

Mr P. G. Preen, manager of the Brinton Carpet Company's works, here yesterday said that it would be advantageous to all the different interests for the three carpet factories to be located in one city. If the Crossley people intended to locate in Canada he hoped that they would come to Peterborough.

Bold Robber Held Up 20 Passengers

Captured by the Conductor Who Displayed Remarkable Nerve.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 27.—Between Slater and Armstrong, Mo., a distance of 21 miles, early today, a masked man, single handed, robbed twenty passengers in three cars of the fast eastbound combination Chicago and Alton-Chicago Burlington and Quincy passenger train. After half an hour's work he obtained approximately $2,000, besides several watches and other pieces of jewelry. The man finally was overpowered by Conductor Heywood, who knocked a revolver from the robber's hand and forced him to the car floor. The robber was bound, made to disgorge and four hours after the robbery was committed, was placed in jail.

The robber, who said his name was Truehart, and that he came from California, was recognized by the engineer as the same man who, on November 6 last, in an exactly similar manner and in the same part of the road, went through the rear sleeper of an east-bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Overland Limited, which on this division runs over The Alton tracks.

Truehart called the passengers cowards, and declared the conductor to be the only nervy one among them

The old shed "no rink this winter" has been using every fall for several years, but there has always been a rink just the same. Anyway, it would take more than no rink to keep the Fenelon Falls boys from playing hockey. With a lake each side of them and anynumber of rain barrels at their back doors, they can play hockey on anything in the shape of ice.

100 LETTERS IN WATER TANK

Were Found Hidden in Lavatory of a Toronto Hotel Yesterday Morning

APPARENTLY MAIL ROBBERY

Were Addressed to Various Places in Ontario and Came From Various Places

Toronto, Nov. 28.—John F. Faudenizer, a porter at the Iroquois Hotel, yesterday morning noticed that one of the tanks in the public lavatory would not work, and discovered that about a hundred letters and post cards had been placed in it. On spreading these out they were found to be apparently the results of a mail robbery, as they were addressed to different persons in different parts of the Province, and had been sent from various points. Every letter had been torn open, and in some cases the letter had not been returned to the envelope. A considerable number of them were addressed to banks in Hamilton.

SOME OF THE ADDRESSES.

One from the Sovereign Bank here to the Traders Bank, Hamilton, contained a bank settlement check for $25. Another a bank check upon the Bank of Toronto, Elmvale, Ont., to the Bank of British North America, Hamilton. Among the other letters were ones addressed to Bank of Nova Scotia, Hamilton, from Flesherton; Bank of British North America, Hamilton; Traders Bank, Hamilton; Mr. McCann, baggage master, Allandale; Miss M. Leroy, 10 Front Street east, Toronto, postmarked Saskatoon, Sask.

A number for Mr. W. Leroy, Allandale; Mr. D. R. Currie, Stony Creek; Spring Brewing Co., Hamilton; Sawyer, Massey Co., Hamilton; Miss Coombs, Brantford; Federal Life Co., Hamilton; Heintzman and Co., Toronto Junction; Mrs. A. Mason, Tillsonburg; Mr. J. Golden, Brantford; Mr. Frank Faulkner, Brantford; Mrs. Henry Coles, Brantford; Mrs. J. H. Cheever, Brantford; Miss Gladys Baker, Brantford; Mr. E. Hudry, Brantford, and many others on which it was almost impossible to make out the addresses, on account of their exceeding dampness.

The letters appeared to be of various dates, but all seemed to be dated some time in November, and in fact, as far as could be deciphered one was dated the 26th.

DETECTIVES CALLED IN.

Mr. Faudenizer stated that he was sure they had been deposited in the tank either late Monday or early yesterday morning, as the tank was all right Monday night. The detective department were at once notified, and Detectives Archibald and Twigg arrived on the scene. The hotel people have not the slightest suspicion as to who could have deposited them in the tank, as it might easily have been done by some person not staying at the hotel. In fact, as it was the public lavatory, the chances are that it was done by some one simply calling in for a few minutes, and then leaving. In any event, there seems to be no clue as yet.

The letters are being carefully dried, and the detectives hope that further examination may lead to something.

NOT FROM TORONTO MAILS.

Postmaster Patteson and Superintendent Ross, were surprised to learn of the find, of which they had had no previous intimation. On being told of the varying addresses and points of departure of the letters, the conclusion was arrived at that they could not have been part of a mail which would pass through Toronto, but must have been brought in from a point outside, but so far no robbery had been reported. In fact, the whole affair appears to be shrouded in mystery, as it is difficult to understand how letters addressed to Hamilton, Toronto, and Allandale from such points as Flesherton and Saskatoon could be in the same mail. It has, of course, been impossible so far to find out whether any of the letters had contained post office orders or other negotiable documents. As for the bank checks, they were evidently thrown aside as being impossible to negotiate.

NORTH OF ALLANDALE.

The latest indications tend to show that the letters were scattered at some point on the line north of Allandale, where the mail for Hamilton and Brantford would be transhipped. The mail trains from that direction would arrive in Toronto either at 3.15 or 8.30 yesterday afternoon.

Inquiries at the Sovereign Bank brought out the fact that the bank settlement check in favor of Traders Bank, Hamilton, would probably be from one of their northern branches at Burk's Falls, Thessalon, or South River.

Detective Archibald has been placed in charge of the case.

A Wedding in the Cathedral

Yesterday morning in St. Peter's cathedral in the presence of a large number of friends and acquaintances, with Rev. Father Galvin officiating, Miss Monica Burns was joined in marriage to Mr. Wm. J. Whaley. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Burns, while Mr. Fred Whaley acted as best man. The bride was dressed in navy blue ladies' cloth with pale blue hat to match.

After the service at the church, Mr. and Mrs. Whaley returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a suitable dejeuner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Whaley left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for Toronto, and other western points to spend their honeymoon.

Lashed to the Wheel for Days

Brought the Struggling Vessel Around and Held Her There for 48 Hours.

Machias, Maine, Nov. 28.—To the heroic fortitude of the captain's wife, Mrs. Frank McGuire, who stood lashed to the wheel from Sunday, November 11 till the following Wednesday, is due largely the safety of the schooner Bill, Maine, steamer Goldhunter, which worked her way into this harbor Monday, eleven days overdue from Portland.

The Goldhunter, with Captain McGuire, his wife and one man, left Portland on Saturday the 10th. On Sunday afternoon a sudden gust of wind split the mainsail of the vessel and carried away the jibs. The little schooner became unmanageable. While her husband and his one man labored for hours to get their little rag of sail set, Mrs. Maguire, lashed to the wheel, aided as well as she could by what little steering was possible on the almost helpless craft. Finally the foresail was rigged, double reefed, and while the two men slept exhausted to the mast, Mrs. McGuire brought the vessel around head up to the wind and held her there for 48 hours. It was impossible to cook food or even to heat any coffee. Kept up only by excitement and pluck the captain's wife clung to her post through the height of the gale, while Captain McGuire and his man attended to their little atormeail, which continuously broke from its insecure fastenings. It was not till Wednesday that Mrs. McGuire left her post.

Loses His Hand at Quaker Oats Company

A deplorable accident occurred yesterday evening at the Quaker Oats Company's mill, by which Mr. Harry McKewen, who resides at 20 Waterford street, lost his left hand. It appears that Mr. McKewen in some way had his hand caught in the machinery and drawn in between the rollers, crushing it so badly that amputation was necessary. The operation was performed by Drs. Greer, McNulty and McCullough, at St. Joseph's hospital, the hand being taken off about half way between the wrist and the elbow. Mr. McKewen is doing as well as can be expected. Much sympathy will be felt for him in his severe affliction.

Former Local Man Now a Benedict

The following taken from a Welland paper is of interest, as the groom in the wedding noted is a former local citizen, having been agent here for the Rathbun Co. The notice in question says;

Miss Nellie Aurelia Hooker and Mr. Samuel H. J. Reid, sec.-treas. Ontario Portland Cement Co., Brantford, were married by Rev. Dr. Johnstone, at the residence of Mr. D. D. Hooker, at 12 o'clock noon on Monday. They will reside at 27 Pearl street, Brantford. The Press joins many friends in extending congratulations and good wishes.

New Spinning Mill to Be Erected

There is now good reason for believing that the Brinton Carpet Co. will, within the near future, erect a spinning plant which will be of the greatest importance to the farming community.

The proposed spinning plant will be erected on the west end of the present property, and will, it is expected be larger than the carpet factory itself. Mr. Preen, the local manager, has intimated that the building would be at least three stories high and would employ about as many hands as the weaving department.

This will certainly be a matter of great importance to this city and will be received with general interest by farmers of this district owing to its consequent demand for wool.

All Saints' Guild Hold a Meeting

Last night a meeting of the Men's Guild of All Saints' church, was held, when it was unanimously decided to hold a bachelors' social on Tuesday, Dec. 11th, which promises to be a most successful affair. Further announcement will be given later. Another matter that was gone into, was the forming of a men's club, and a committee was appointed to look into the matter.

STRIKE SITUATION DARKENS;

No Unconditional Arbitration:

OUTLOOK SEEMS HOPELESS

Hamilton Street Railway Union Declines to Let Strike-breakers Operate the Cars Until an Award is Made

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—The negotiations which were resumed yesterday afternoon between the Street Railway Co. and the union will likely be called off. The union declared this morning that a settlement on the grounds suggested by the aldermen was hopeless.

The civic officials propose that the Ontario Railway Board shall arbitrate unconditionally, strikebreakers to operate the cars until the award is made. This would be suicidal, the union says. It points out that the company would not let city clergy arbitrate, and refused a proposition to have the board arbitrate, and allow all the men to return to work immediately.

The officials of the union say the only reason they agreed to consider the proposition was because the aldermen urged that by no other means could the cars be prevented from running last night.

This averted bloodshed and the mob dispersed. A riot which will probably result in fatalities is almost sure to follow if cars are run to night. There is danger of the mob firing on the troops and the police, who will certainly retaliate with fatal results. President Mahon, of the International Union, will be here this afternoon, and the aldermen are hoping that he will be able to do something, although Mayor Biggar admits that it looks hopeless.

RESULT OF THE RIOT

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—James Lockhart is in a precarious condition at St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of a clubbing he received during the riot on Saturday night. His head and face were terribly cut. Mr. Lockhart's home is in this city, but he has been employed in Ingles in Toronto for about ten years.

Local Filtration Scheme Disoussed

Board of Trade Considers a Matter of Vital Importance to the City.

Last night a meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade was held, there being present amongst others, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles in the chair, Messrs. W. H. Moore, W. H. Hill, H. LeHeup, Ald. Johnston, E. Hadburn, M.P.P., W. Langford, V. Eastwood, F. Matthews, Jas. Kendry, Rev. J. C. Davidson, R. Martin, W. Eyres, Ald. E. F. Munson, Henderson, Larmonth, John Carnegie and others.

After a long discussion as to the advisability of getting a filtration plant for the city, in which several present took part, a report was read by the secretary, M. Quartermaine.

Mr. Kendry gave his experience of the local water supply, saying that he took three pails of mud out of his kitchen boiler. He then went on to remark on Mr. Moore's remarks as to the purity of Peterborough's water, saying that the water of Ireland, Mass., is pure because it is filtered at several hundred feet above that city, and no wood or other organic matter left in the water supply of that city. He thought it was not up to the city to wait until there is an epidemic of typhoid fever, but to head such off.

Mr. Eyres also noted the importance, as chairman of the Board of Health, of having the health of the city protected. He noted how he and Dr. Hingston had made a personal supervision from here to Lakefield on each cause of the river, noting the position of the water they found. The Board of Health will appoint an inspector if the council does not act in the matter. If the councillors will not act in the interests of the city's health, it is up to the voters to elect a council that will.

Mr. Moore said he ardently advocated a filtration system but, "where are you going to get the price $60,000?" He agreed with Mr. Eyres that in the meantime filth should be rigidly kept out of the upper waters supplying the local water works. He thought with the heavy penalties imposed by law for pollution of the water, then as Mr. Eyres had remarked, the water could, in the meantime be kept more pure.

Mr. Kendry thought such impure matter as may be put in on the upper lakes would be corrected practically previous to arrival here.

Mr. F. Matthews, chairman of the Water Commissioners, referred to the trouble and expense the Board had been at to get Mr. Hazen's report some time ago. He then read a report showing that the death rate of Peterborough was very low as compared with other Canadian cities. It costs 10 per cent. more to give filtered water than raw water.

The Board recommended that the City Council procure authority to charge a frontage tax of all properties fronting water mains.

That the city appoint an inspector to analyse all well water and all river water for drinking purposes.

That the matter of the installing of a filtration plant, receive the council's careful consideration.

It was moved by Rev. Canon Davidson and seconded by Mr. James Kendry, and heartily endorsed by all present.

Peterborough Man Arrested in Northwest

Battleford, Sask., Nov. 28.—James Kane, of Peterborough, Ont., was arrested near North Battleford by the R.N.W.M.P., for stealing a large sum of money from Mr. McNamara, a railroader. He is now in the barracks awaiting his trial.

STOMACH'S IMPORTANCE

How to Strengthen It so That It Will Act as It Should.

The stomach is the principal organ concerned in the digestion of food. If it is weak, inactive or out of order and unable to properly digest the food, the body will soon be in a state of semi-starvation.

Then, too, when the stomach is weak, the food is not properly digested and lies in it for hours, decomposing, fermenting, and forming poisonous gases and ptomaines that are absorbed into the blood, poisoning the system and impoverishing the blood.

To enjoy good health, it is absolutely necessary that the stomach and digestive organs should be strong, and no other remedy equals Mi-o-na in strengthening and giving tone to the whole digestive system.

Relief from the use of Mi-o-na is permanent and lasting. Use Mi-o-na for a few days, and the digestion will be good, the appetite keen, and there will be no nausea or distress after eating, no sleeplessness, no nervousness, and the headaches, backaches and disturbed heart action that are the direct result of a weakened stomach will soon be overcome.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the most known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth's Hygienic Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

The County Council Are Again Busy

Yesterday morning the warden of the county at the county council's session, noted that the present meeting would, possibly above all other matters, take up the matter of the House of Refuge question, passing by-laws governing it, and other matters in connection with the institute.

He also stated that a number of persons had spoken to him, concerning dogs allowed to run at large and he suggested that the council might consider it advisable to memorialize the legislature, asking that body to give the township municipalities greater power to deal with this question, which is becoming a most important one.

The members of the council present at the session during the afternoon, were Warden Johnston, Messrs Andrews, Carey, Monaghan, Shaw, Garbutt, Stinson, Moloney and Webster.

The meeting of the last meeting of the council were read and approved.

The council adjourned to go into committee work, and session of the council will be resumed this morning.

House of Refuge Nearly Completed

A meeting of the House of Refuge Committee of the County Council was held at Lakefield on Monday, after the members had inspected the new buildings, which will be completed in less than a month.

The official opening will probably take place about Christmas, but the date has not been arranged as yet.

The committee on Monday discussed a number of matters in connection with the building and its furnishings, but nothing definite was decided. The members were well pleased with the progress made.

The stocking of the farm was also discussed by the committee at the meeting, and it is probable that in the near future some stock will be purchased.

Mr. J. G. M. Wilson's Mother is Dead

Yesterday morning Mr. J. G. M. Wilson, foreman of the armature department of the C.G.E. Works, received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his mother, Mrs. Jane Wilson, had passed away Monday night at her home in Yarmouth, N.S. He left on the midnight C.P.R. train for the East. Mr. Wilson's many friends in this city will sympathize with him in his sad loss, he being the only relative of the deceased in Ontario.

Peterborough as a Carpet Center

Peterborough is rapidly forging to the front as a manufacturing center. Recently two factories for the manufacture of carpets have been practically secured for this city, one of them in operation, and the other assured, and it now seems certain that the announcement that the Crossley carpet works will locate their Canadian works here, will be made officially in the near future.

Senator Cox has been interesting himself in securing the works of this company for Peterborough, and on his recent visit here, is said to have remarked that the matter was practically settled, and that Messrs Crossley would come to Peterborough with their works. As to the location of the works, nothing has been decided yet, but it is probable that they will be to the north of the city, near the proposed site of the Coates works.

The Crossley Carpet Company are the largest exclusive carpet manufacturers in the world.

It is as yet premature to note what concessions will be demanded of the city for the location of this important work, still it is only reasonable to pre-suppose that Peterborough will have to pay something for so important an industry.

These two large firms locating here will undoubtedly influence other

Swam in Otonabee and Was Arrested

Yesterday Police Officers Newhall and McGinty, acting on a "hurry-up" call went to Water street, just to the rear of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company's plant, and took into "durance vile," an Englishman by the name of Lawrence Burton.

It seems that Burton has wheels buzzing in his top flat. According to reports received Burton has gone "religious mad," and thinks that his best chance for salvation is to abstain from participating in such mundane pleasures as eating. It is alleged that Burton has not eaten anything for over a week.

Yesterday he capped the climax by going down to the bank of the source of Peterborough's greatest wealth, the Otonabee river, supplying our power, and not content with viewing the beauties and advantages of this body of water, had to strip and jump into the same. Fortunately this (season to be considered) mild freak resulted in no damage being done, as Burton got home safely. However, other actions of his resulted in the police being called in with the result as noted, of Burton being arrested. He will appear before the magistrate this morning.

When Run-Down, "Draggy," Used-up

You Lack the Vigor, Courage and Staying Power that "Ferrozone" Can Supply.

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich, pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. At once you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to tone up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strengthening, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, joyful health when you take Ferrozone, of which Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowsman, Man., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the chains of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE WOES THAT KILL

A dispatch tells of a man in Pennsylvania who committed suicide because his son murdered his wife and mother-in-law and was hanged. Some are inclined to say that his suicide was justified by the circumstances, and if any reason is sufficient for one's taking his own life, this must certainly be. No more cruel and crushing calamity can come to any man than a son's turning out to be a murderer and being hanged.

There is deepest shame in it as well as the keenest sorrow the heart can know. It is also the most irremediable of all woes. A man may live to make amends for his own crimes and sins, but no man—not even a heart-broken father—can ever make amends for a murderer that has been hanged.

The most peculiar thing about this as a cause of suicide is, however, its rarity. Murders are common. Executions are frequent. Heart-searing suffering because of them is not by any means unusual. Few instances, though, can be recalled of victims of this greatest of human calamities resorting to suicide. It is seldom, indeed, that we hear of victims of any great calamities seeking relief in suicide.

It is strange how we bear up under the strain of very great sorrow, and how these actually give us new strength, not only to bear it, but to overcome it.

It is the little worries, the petty woes that break us down. We hear of suicide every day, because of temporary financial tangles, or lovers' quarrels, or trivial disappointments, or little ailments, but of self-destruction or the breaking of the spirit in the face of really great calamities there are few instances either in the press or in history.

Men and women innumerable have borne the greatest of human afflictions not only with serenity, but with increased strength and sweetness. It is of the hopelessly crippled that the world may learn cheerfulness, and to the hopelessly invalid we may look for patience. The human spirit, like steel, will bear enormous pressure, but it may soon be weakened and broken by the rust of little worries.

The New-York Tribune Farmer.

The Tribune Farmer has no superior anywhere in this wide world as a publication for farmers and their families. It does not, to be sure, tell how to extract green cheese from the moon, but everything worth knowing about the theory or practice of farming is treated by men recognized as experts in their various lines. But The Tribune Farmer does more than supply such valuable information. It keeps the farmer in touch with all the latest improvements by text and pictures; and pays special attention to the work being done at agricultural colleges all over the country. Besides this it has features to interest the women folk. The price is $1 a year. For a free sample copy send a postal card to The New-York Tribune, New York.

Fuel Situation in the West is Serious

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Telegrams received from all parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan on the fuel question show the most alarming conditions prevailing in the towns and rural districts. At Edgewood one car of coal has arrived in two months, and almost a riot prevailed. Farmers having come fifty miles to get a supply, some of them having burned articles of household furniture to keep their families from freezing and others reported not a pound of fuel in their homes.

In some places a small quantity of coal at sixteen per ton is to be had. What is worse, apparently, there is little hope of immediate relief, even if the strike were settled.

At Saskatchewan an appeal has been made to the Government to take over and operate the coal mines and to open new mines in the spring, operated by the Government for the people. At Battleford the municipality has sent a lengthy appeal direct to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, claiming the people are in danger of perishing of cold. The effect on immigration, it is feared, will be serious, as the American contingent will send the reports south to their friends. There is practically no coal to be had in the new Provinces, and very little wood.

More Money in Oil Than in Ores

Chance for a Ground Floor Investment in Good Oil Property.

It is generally known that more and greater fortunes have, within the past few years, been made in crude petroleum, or oil, than in gold or silver mines. Oil never greatly fluctuates in price or decreases in demand. In addition to its general use for illuminating purposes, the increasing use of its by-products always makes a ready market for this wonderful gift of mother nature.

The great point to be attained in buying oil stocks is to get in on the ground floor whilst prices are low and take advantage of the rise when properties become producing.

The Nevada Home Oil Company, incorporated under the laws of Arizona, which controls 13,760 acres of oil producing lands, is now offering 50,000 shares of treasury stock, of a par value of $1.00 each, at 5 cents per share. Not only has the company got oil producing property, but experts say that the company will soon get a light gravity oil that will sell, in its crude state, at $2.00 per barrel. Just as soon as the wells of this property begin to produce in paying quantities, their stock will at once jump to par, if not be at a premium. For full particulars address Lock Box 54, Las Vegas, Nevada.

... as a Critic.

Thomas A. Edison's latest discovery happens to be in the realm of aesthetics and criticism. "A few years ago," he said the other day, "when the talking machine business was still a dubious proposition, a list of the new records was often handed me for approval. After hearing them I would mark 'Good,' 'Fair' or 'Rotten' against the compositions, so as to class them for the trade. The 'rotten' records always made a hit with the public. Now all I have to do is to condemn a bit of music and the factory works overtime to supply the demand."

The Cigarette in the Orient.

Says a writer in the Peking and Tientsin Times: "The cigarette has caught the popular favor in the east and far east, being a smoke seemingly peculiarly adaptable to Asiatics. The long stemmed pipe is giving way everywhere to the cigarette. All classes of Chinese take to it, even rickshaw coolies, some brands of the cigarettes being so cheap that the beggars in Peking are seen often indulging in a quiet smoke."

Uncle Sam's Soldiers.

According to George B. Winter, the London military tailor who was engaged by the United States government to reorganize the uniforms of the American army, that army "contains the pick of American manhood. The soldiers are as hard as nails, lean and muscular. They are indeed a magnificent lot of athletes and are capable of standing any amount of hardship."

Everybody Going to Jail.

In 1850 the ratio of prison population was one in 3,443 inhabitants. In 1860 it was one in 1,647, in 1870 one in 1,171, in 1880 one in 853 and in 1890 one in 787. In other words, in the forty years from 1850 to 1890 the prison population increased nearly five times as fast as population.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

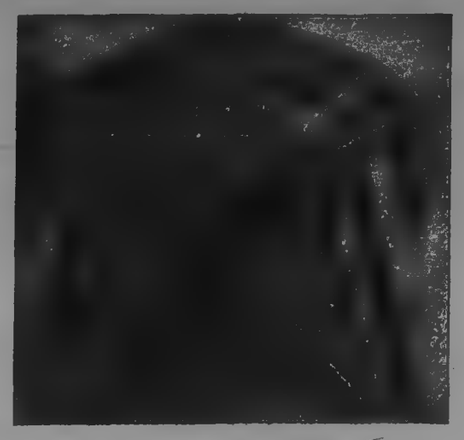
9,600 FEET

Sixty six mining claims.
A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
8,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plant.
Numerous Veins Explored.
A Big Industrial and Mining Proposition Combined.
A Strong Directorate.

This is real mining.

The Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company has 66 lode mining claims back of it on Palmer Mountain, near the Town of Loomis, Okanogan County, Washington—about 12 miles south of the boundary of British Columbia. A new railway line is nearly completed and will run within 12 miles of the property. Steamers ply on the Okanogan River to within 26 miles of our properties. There is water—not only for mining purposes, but with unlimited possibilities for power generation. There is timber, there are large, well defined veins proved at great depth—and there is development enough done to make this one of the biggest and best mining propositions in the country.



INTERIOR OF TUNNEL

We can do more with $10 ore on our properties than the desert miners can do with $40 or even higher grade ore. We can make money because we have the FACILITIES on our ground. Our ore can be mined, milled, cyanided and bullion produced for not exceeding $2.50 a ton.

Our immence crosscut bore—a picture of which we show herewith—is now in 4,000 feet, is 9 by 9 in the clear (as large as any of the big transportation and drainage tunnels), and is well timbered, equipped with track, ore cars and everything else essential. In the picture shown herewith, the large pipe running at the top of the right side of the tunnel, is for ventilation purposes and connects with a large, powerful blower.

Recent development on the mountain proves that we shall open up at tunnel level (2,500 feet beneath the surface) an enormous body of copper ore.

We have opened up much $10 ore, and we have a higher grade running up to $80 a ton. This is where the big profit comes from. In the nearly TWO MILES OF WORKINGS we have all the facilities for handling a very large production. Back of it all we have a capable mining and business management. We should be very glad to tell you the complete story. We can only hint at it here.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

hand on a hot teapot if I'm having too much fun."

They looked up at him, puzzled.

"Ever slide down hill?" he inquired, looking from one to the other after a bit of silence.

"Oh, not since we were little," said Miss Letitia, holding her biscuit daintily after taking a bite none too big for a bird to manage.

"Good fun," said he. "Whisk you back to childhood in a jiffy. Folks ought to slide down hill more'n they do. It isn't a good idea to be always climbing."

"'Fraid we couldn't stan' it," said Miss S'mantha tentatively. Under all her man fear and suspicion lay a furtive recklessness.

"Y, no!" the other whispered, laughing silently.

The pervading silence of that house came flooding in between sentences. For a moment Trove could hear only the gurgle of pouring tea and the faint rattle of china softly handled. When he felt as if the silence were drowning him he began again:

"Life is nothing but a school. I'm a teacher, and I deal in rules. If you want to kill misery load your gun with pleasure."

"Do you know of anything for indigestion?" said Miss S'mantha, charging her sickly voice with a firmness calculated to discourage any undue familiarity.

"Just the thing—a sure cure!" said he emphatically.

"Come high?" she inquired.

"No; it's cheap and plenty."

"Where do you send?"

"Oh," said he, "you will have to go after it!"

"What is it called?"

"Fun," said the teacher quickly, "and the place to find it is out of doors. It grows everywhere on my farm. I'd rather have a pair of skates than all the medicine this side of China."

She set down her teacup and looked up at him. She was beginning to think him a fairly safe and well behaved man, although she would have been more comfortable if he had been shut in a cage.

"If I had a pair o' skates," said she faintly, with a look of inquiry at her sister, "I dunno but I'd try 'em."

Miss Letitia began to laugh silently.

"I'd begin with overshoes," said the teacher. "A pair of overshoes and a walk on the crust every morning before breakfast; increase the dose gradually."

The two old maids were now more at ease with their guest. His kindly manner and plentiful good spirits had begun to warm and cheer them. Miss S'mantha even cherished a secret resolve to slide if the chance came.

After tea Sidney Trove, against their protest, began to help with the dishes. Miss S'mantha prudently managed to keep the stove between him and her. A fire and candles were burning in the parlor. He asked permission, however, to stay where he could talk with them. Tunk Hosely, the man of all work, came in for his supper. He was an odd character. Some, with a finger on their foreheads, confided the opinion that he was "a little off." All agreed he was no fool, in a tone that left it open to argument. He had a small figure and a big squint. His perpetual squint and bristly, short beard were a great injustice to him. They gave him a look severer than he deserved. A limp and leaning shoulder complete the inventory of external traits. Having eaten he set a candle in the old barn lantern.

Sidney Trove began to help with the dishes.

"Waal, mister," said he when all was ready, "come out an' look at my hoss."

The teacher went with him out under a sky bright with stars to the chill and gloomy stable.

"Look at me," said Tunk, holding up the lantern as he turned about. "Gosh all fishhooks, I'm a wreck!"

"What's the matter?" Sidney Trove inquired.

"All sunk in right here," Tunk answered impressively, his hand to his chest.

"How did it happen?"

"Kicked by a hoss; that's how it happened," was the significant answer. "Lord! I'm all shucked over to one side. Can't ye see it?"

"A list to starb'rd; that's what they call it, I believe," said the teacher.

"See how I limp." Tunk went on, striding to show his pace. "Ain't it awful?"

"How did that happen?"

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralized in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in this field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Proper Medicine For The Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling; Makes You Feel Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven off.

The sensible person sets on the foundations of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenient to take, just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unfailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills set you up in a few days.

From Okeboque Pt., N. S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if the chann of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the "Blues." I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcew knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Fallen Cable Causes Much Trouble

Yesterday morning much excitement was caused in front of the Munro House, Hunter street, by the accidental fall of a telephone cable. In process of erection, on the Ontario Power Company's wires, which cross Hunter street, in front of Hall & Hayes office. One of the wires broke, both ends falling to the ground and making short circuits.

Pedestrians were notified to keep at a distance from the live wires. A Dummer farmer in his wagon near the scene of the accident barely escaped being struck. The wire which fell in the Munro House yard alighted within a few feet of another man, standing close to a puddle of water, which absorbed the current.

The ground in the yard was scorched by this intense heat. The insulation was also almost all burned off.

Four cross wires were cut off at either sides of the streets, thus breaking circuits. The sudden overloading of the generating machines by reason of this short circuit, caused the coupling on one of the wheels to break, thus putting the generators out of business.

Last night the electric fluid was supplied by the Peterborough Light and Power Co., and it is expected that by tonight the repairs will have been effected.

New Proprietor of American House

As noted in yesterday's issue, on Monday evening the License Commissioners met and decided to transfer the license of Mr. Steve Holland, proprietor of the American House, to Mr. David Flynn. As is well known the license law requires that 14 days elapse between the transfer of a license and the actual taking possession by the new licensee. That all demands against a former proprietor may be satisfied.

Mr. Flynn will thus take possession of his recent purchase on or about the 10th of December.

Mr. Flynn, the new applicant for hotel patronage is well known in this city having been engaged in a large contracting business here for some years. Mr. Flynn when he takes hold of the new business will make many improvements in the present premises, including a general repapering, repainting and other alterations. Prominent among his contemplated improvements is a great change in the present system of lighting the hotel. Many windows will be changed and enlarged. Owing to Mr. Flynn's popularity in the city, and his determination to run the hotel on strictly first-class principles, there is no doubt but what he will receive a large patronage.

Smith Councillors to Meet Here.

Owing to a provision made in the municipal act at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, it is possible that Smith township council may hold their winter meetings in Peterborough. At present the council meets at Bridgenorth, but sometimes in the winter it is hard to reach that point, owing to the roads being blocked.

James Kelly Buys the Hotel Royal

On or about the 10th of December, Mr. James Kelly takes possession of the Hotel Royal, which as noted in yesterday's issue, he has purchased from Mr Flynn, the former proprietor.

Mr. Kelly is a young man well known in the city having for the past three years carried on a large teaming and cartage business.

Mr. Kelly will at once remodel the entire hotel, making many important changes, as well as repainting and repapering throughout. He is contemplating enlarging the present premises by extending the hotel to the south, i.e., by building on part of the present large yard room.

Owing to Mr. Kelly's large circle of acquaintances in the city, he will doubtless retain and possibly increase the large patronage already enjoyed by the Hotel Royal, Hunter street.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Simple Way to Overcome the Dangers of this Disagreeable Disease.

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, with many annoying symptoms. In this climate there are few who do not suffer from this disagreeable disease, often in a chronic and dangerous state.

Fortunately, within the last few years, a simple and reliable treatment for catarrhal troubles has been found—Hyomei, a combination of healing and germ-killing balsams, that, when breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaches the tiniest cells in the respiratory organs, carrying its healing and health-giving properties to every part where the catarrhal poison is present.

Used in this way, Hyomei kills all catarrhal germs, drives the poison from the system and heals all irritation that may be present in the mucous membrane.

If you have the ordinary catarrhal symptoms, such as offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, cough, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, sneezing, huskiness, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, coughing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we genuinely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for the symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Ald. Hicks for Mayor.

John Cochrane was yesterday morning admitted to bail by Magistrate Edgerson, on a $2000 bond of his own, and two sureties, each of $1000, granted by Messrs. James and Dickson Davidson. The case was enlarged until next Tuesday, when Cochrane's trial will be held. The seriousness of the offence charged accounts for the heavy bonds demanded.

Local Post Office is Inspected.

Mr H. Merrick, inspector of post-offices for this division, arrived in the city yesterday on his periodical visit of inspection, and while here will endeavor to arrive at a solution of the alleged difficulty in connection with the service of the local office. A number of complaints have been received, and Mr. Merrick will endeavor to bring matters to a satisfactory conclusion.

Cochrane Granted Bail.

A petition is now in circulation asking Ald. R. Hicks to stand as a candidate for the mayoralty. Mr. Hicks has made a most efficient and painstaking city father and will, if he consents to stand, poll a large vote for mayor.

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

Public Park at Havelock Ensured.

A vote on the proposal to purchase the public park was taken Monday at Havelock, and the ratepayers voted in favor of the by-law, which was carried by a majority of 28, the figures being, for the by-law, 103; against, 75. The price which will be paid for the land for the park will be $2,000, and it will be bought from Mr. Wm. Mathison. The intention of the council of that village is to spend considerable money in improvements to the property, a race track being one of the proposals.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIV. NO. 280 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29 1906 PRICE TWO CENTS

PROVINCE SAVED LARGE SUM

By Failure of Ex-Premier's Sale

OF MILLION T. & N. O. BONDS

Discovery of Correspondence by the Provincial Treasurer.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The public loan of $3,000,000 on the bonds of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway has been fully subscribed. The last cheques for $168,000 and $3,000, respectively, came in yesterday morning. This loan is at 3 1-2 per cent. interest, and has freedom from Provincial taxation, and succession duties, making its rates about equal to that which Hon. Col. Matheson floated in England through the Bank of Montreal. Only $109,000 was taken outside of Canada, nearly all being taken in Ontario. The amount in question was taken by an American insurance company, and placed on deposit at Ottawa.

The accrued interest on the amount paid since July 31 is more than enough to pay for the extensive advertising and the engraving of the bonds. The loan was floated direct by the Government, thus obviating the payment of any commission.

ROSS DELIBERATIONS REVEALED

With the completion of this public loan comes the startling and significant results of an investigation which has been conducted by the Provincial Treasurer, in pursuance of information which the flotation of the loan revealed. It goes to show that the Ross Government disposed of one million dollars of bonds for 91.31, after rejecting a bid at par for at least one considerable sum the previous day, and that Mr. Ross was only prevented from pulling through his closed contract at 91.31 by reason of the fears of certain members of his Cabinet. The information is particularly significant by reason of the fact that the ex-premier at the last legislative session introduced a resolution condemning Col. Matheson's sale at 96, over four and a half points better than that which the money had authorized and approved.

TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

"Since last session," said Hon. Col. Matheson yesterday in reference to the recently revealed documents, "I was informed that the former Railway Commission sold in September, 1905, with the official approval of Hon. Geo W. Ross as premier, one million dollars of 3 1-2 per cent. 50-year bonds.

"I could not at first locate the correspondence, but finally found it in the railway office. From it I found that $1,000,000 had been sold at 91.31, with the guarantee of the Province. This is a nearly five per cent. lower rate than Mr. Ross undertook to condemn last session.

"The parties who tendered were notified of the acceptance of their offer, but I understand that, subsequently, certain of Mr. Ross colleagues raised objection and the tenderers were persuaded to withdraw after being accepted.

NOT THE ONLY TENDER.

"I find that this was not the only nor the best tender received by the then Government. One man tendered for the small amount of $4,500 worth of bonds at par, and his offer was refused, while the very next day the offer for one million at 91.31 was accepted.

"This 91.31, is the rate at which 3 1-2 per cent. 30-year bonds have to be sold in order to pay purchasers 4 per cent."

The facts show that after breaking their sale—how this was done is not yet revealed—the Ross Government carried the bonds in the banks at about 5 per cent. interest until November, 1905, when Hon. Mr. Harcourt floated his first issue of Treasury bills in London, the first step in the now famous Coate & Co. leases.

In reference to the completed sale of the public bonds Col. Matheson pays tribute to assistance from the Canadian banks, and says the rapid manner in which the bonds were taken up indicates the existing confidence in the high credit of Ontario, and the faith of its people in the possibilities of the Province.

Dr. Bruce Smith on County Gaol

Appended below is the official report made regarding the county jail by Dr Bruce Smith, inspector, viz:

I made an official visit of inspection to Peterborough jail, Nov. 21 1906, when I found 12 male prisoners in custody, nine for vagrancy. Nearly all of these were old men who should never have been sent to jail, but should have been taken care of in a house of refuge. One prisoner was charged with pointing a revolver, and two were in custody for larceny.

On examination of the building I found the beds and bedding, corridors, cells, yards, closets, drainage and water power all quite satisfactory. Owing to structural defects, the ventilation is not as good as it should be.

The dietary is according to jail regulations, and the quality of the food supplied is good. The cost of rations is 9 3-4c. per day. The supplies are obtained by contract, and there were no complaints in regard to the quality of the food supplied. Thirty suits of clothing were found in good condition of repair.

The books are carefully kept and the entries were found up-to-date.

My visit of inspection impressed me favorably in regard to the discipline and management of this jail.

R. W. BRUCE SMITH.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

A lady living in Smith township near the city limits, has complained to the county police officials about her son, stating that he refuses to work, and his mother has to support him. She says that the young man stays out nearly all night and then he sleeps during the daytime. Unless he reforms he will likely get a job breaking stone or getting busy at the north end of a buck saw.

An arrest in yesterday's issue, Lawrence Burton, a half-fledged scion of Alburh, was arrested Sunday in Asnpe, after Larry had, considering perhaps that cleanliness is next door to Godliness plunged his nude personality into the cold embrace of the Otonabee's grasp.

The magistrate decided to give Burton an indefinite term in the county jail, where he will be well looked after, and in the meantime his father, Mr. Thomas Burton, is England, will be communicated with. The only relative he has in this country is a brother, who lives in the Northwest 100 miles from Red Deer.

Mr. Robert Riddell's Sale a Success

The sale of farm stock and implements, conducted by Mr. J H. Gardiner, the well known auctioneer, at Mr. Robert Riddell's, South Monaghan, was a great success. A large number of farmers from the surrounding country were present, and the bidding was spirited. Cows brought as high as $55 (registered), grade heifers $40, ewes per pair $19, and ewe lambs per pair $14.

Who Will Be Our Next Mayor?

The mayoralty of this city for the coming year is still in doubt as to candidates for this exalted office. His Worship Mayor Best will be in the field, if the influence of his many friends counts for anything. During the past few days many of the city's most prominent and representative citizens have been in consultation with the mayor in an effort to induce him to stand by the city for one more year.

Mayor Best's friends say that Mr. Best is the best mayor the city has had for some years, and that he is a man of ability and is in close touch with every phase of municipal business as he has been in the council for fourteen years.

His friends say that he is the one man who thoroughly understands the questions now before the public, and is best qualified to adjudicate on the same.

The Times has, within the last few days had many calls from leading citizens, who advocated Mr. Best being retained in his present position. This however, is a matter for the general public, and not a newspaper to consider and act on. With the growing importance of Peterborough it is up to our ratepayers to elect the man they think best qualified to fill the important position of Mayor of Peterborough.

Mr. M. Quinn of Keene Passed Away

On Tuesday night Mr. Martin Quinn, a well-known and respected resident of Keene, passed away. Deceased, who was 52 years of age, resided with his nephew, Richard Dorris, a few miles from Keene. He was in his usual good health until Tuesday evening, when he passed away at midnight from paralysis.

The late Mr. Quinn was born near Keene. He was unmarried, and is survived by two brothers, Richard, of Rochester, N.Y., and James, of Buffalo, and one sister, Mrs. Edward Dorris, of Keene. Deceased taught school for a number of years, and later practiced law in Toronto.

The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock from the late residence to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

VIRUS WAS CONTAMINATED

Experiments With Cholera Cure Proved Disastrous.

Manila, Nov. 28.—As a result of experiments with cholera virus at Bilibid Prison, ten prisoners out of 24 who were inoculated have died. The experiments are conducted by Dr. R. P. Strong, of the Bureau of Science. The death of the prisoners took place a few days after they were inoculated. It is feared by the investigators that the fatalities resulted from contamination of the virus with the bubonic plague virus. Cholera virus is in constant use here, and it has proved a success as previously. It has been used in Spain in thousands of cases, and with excellent results.

Governor-General Smith in a statement to the public, exonerated Dr. Strong, and declared that the Commission would take care of the families of the dead prisoners.

THE WAR BEGINS

Dominion Steel Directors Decide to Begin Legal Proceedings Against Dominion Coal Company.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—The directors of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, at a meeting here yesterday, authorized the management to take action against the Dominion Coal Company to recover the damage sustained by having to pay extra for their coal to other companies and by having a portion of their plant shut down.

A Sydney despatch says: The Nova Scotia Coal and Steel Company have decided to open up another colliery to be known as Sydney No. 4. They expect to have it in operation next year.

OUT OF SORTS

People Not Really Sick Are Often Most in Need of Care.

The people who actually are most in need of kind words and medical treatment are not those who are really sick, but just "out of sorts."

The old-time energy, force, strength and happy spirits are lacking, the physical and mental powers are lagging; there is poor appetite, and they cannot get the good out of the food they eat. In nine cases out of ten, this results directly from a weakened stomach, and no other treatment equals Mi-o-na to restore strength and health.

When the nerves and muscles are weak, if there is sleeplessness, irritability, and specks before the eyes, when the head aches and there is a dull pain in the back, and there's any distress and heariness in the stomach, dizziness, and sometimes nausea, the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets for a few days will make a world of improvement, and continued use for a reasonable time will restore perfect health.

These tablets are not mere digestives; they absolutely strengthen all the organs of digestion, so that there is good appetite, perfect digestion and strong nerves, when they are used.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

COL. TISDALE ASKS FOR OPEN VOTING

Another Suggestion is That the Briber Alone be Punished

ADDRESS DEBATE ENDS

Mr. Aylesworth Silent—Mr. Campbell's View of Election Corruption—West's Coal Shortage.

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The debate on the address is ended at last. The fashion of protracting it over several days is not particularly desirable, and this year's experience has not been particularly admirable. A vast quantity of accusations and counter-accusations of corruption have been hurled across the floor of the House, but they have lacked the point given by a debate specially devoted to that subject. Mr. Bourassa's arraignment of Mr. Aylesworth stands by itself; Mr. Aylesworth has not answered it, and thus lies under the grave imputation of saying things on the stump which he lacks courage to defend in the House.

CAMPBELL ON CORRUPTION.

Mr. Archie Campbell's speech, which opened the day Tuesday, was absurd and shameless. It was shameless because it was an out-and-out palliation or defence, sometimes the one, sometimes the other, of the various acts of corruption of which Liberals of late have been guilty. At the conclusion he offered the inevitable pious aspirations for deliverance from a corruption whose practitioners, when Liberal, he had been defending; and those aspirations rang with an unusually hollow sound. It was absurd because put so badly.

Mr. Andrew Broder followed with some corruption talk from the Conservative standpoint, done very well in its way.

PUNISH BRIBER ONLY.

Col. Tisdale also talked corruption, but was practical. He made three suggestions;

1. The briber alone should be punished. For reasons of expediency the recipient of the bribe should not be liable.

2. Mr. Butler's proposal for a public prosecutor should be tried, with, as a variation, a tribunal with summary powers.

3. Open voting should be restored. Col. Tisdale could see no danger of intimidation once more becoming a danger.

Dr. Stockton added to the practical suggestions put forward by the Opposition a fourth and fifth: That candidates should not have one nomination of deputy returning officers. That the election courts have machinery more simple, expeditious and certain.

Then the address was voted, and the debate ended.

Before adjournment the Premier and the leader of the Opposition had a short colloquy about the coal shortage in the West. Sir Wilfrid Laurier repeated the assurance that Mr. Mackenzie King was making progress towards a settlement. Mr. Borden was inclined to think that the Government might take charge of the mines. The prime minister saw practical difficulties, and also doubted the advisability of laying hands on people's property.

New Rules at the Local Opera House

The manager of the local opera house, is enforcing a new regulation. All persons who arrive after the curtain rises, will have to remain standing until the close of the first act. Certain patrons of the theater have been in the habit of coming in late, thus causing those present to lose the full import of what has gone before. The curtain rises at 8.20 each night, and any person or persons, not on time will henceforth have to remain standing.

BRINGING CLERGY TO CANADA

Archdeacon Lloyd Will Bring Fifty-Five Catechists and Five Ministers.

London, Nov. 28.—Archdeacon Lloyd addressing the Colonial Continental Church Society, said that his own work was in the great Northwest Territory, which was the last country in the world where a new English-speaking nation was likely to arise. He did not intend to return to Canada till he had secured fifty-five catechists and five clergymen to go back with him.

The Sikh Invasion Serious Matter

Indian Opinion of the Canadian Immigration.

London, November 29.—Anglo-Indians are inclined to take a serious view of the consequences of the invasion of British Columbia by Sikhs, of whom 3,582 already have arrived. Recent inquiries here indicate that the India Council who are advisers of John Morley as Secretary of State, have no knowledge of this invasion, though it is not doubted that Lord Minto and the Indian Government could on the initative of the India Council stop emigration by representing to the intending emigrants the unfitteness of British Columbia to their settlement in view of the fundamental difference in their social and religious habits.

Anglo-Indians agree that these Sikhs are magnificent men. Many have fought valorously for the Empire, and would be admirably suited for small farming of the character proposed in the newly irrigated Canadian Pacific lands east of the Rockies, but they are a most sensitive people, especially proud of their citizenship in the Empire, and the rebuffs they are now receiving at the hands of British Columbians, who do not understand them, must have the worst possible effect upon Indian opinion. It is suggested that the Canadian Pacific Company could create an excellent colony with them, but it is strongly urged in the general interests of the Empire that if Canada is unable to assimilate them the Canadian Government should immediately move the Indian Government to stop further emigration and to repatriate those now in British Columbia.

Correspondent Wants Horse Races

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I noticed in your paper of the day before yesterday, that the local Turf Club has had a meeting at which Mr. Arthur Rountree resigned his position as secretary of that club. Now, Mr. Rountree is known as a good sport and fond of racing. As he has decided to pull out of the game here I would like to see the local horsemen get together and do something.

In the days that Messrs. Connors, Cluman and others, ran the turf matters of this town, there was not the half dead interest in local racing that seems to be the thing now. In writing this letter I do not mean to say that the present officers of the Turf Club are not doing all they can. What I mean by this is would like to see is something done.

If a town of 15,000 people can't get up enough sporting spirit to have a race at least once a year there is something wrong with either the local sports or the way in which horse-racing is run here. Now that Mr. Rountree has resigned why can't Mr. Connors, Mr. Cluman or others who have had races here take hold of things and let us see a race this winter on the ice. There seems to be a mistake about the local track. This town as I understand matters is not blacklisted by the Association, as is thought by many people here. Why don't your paper work up the local sports and get some races going?

Yours truly,
HORSEMAN.

The County Council Held a Session

Both during the morning of yesterday and again at two p.m., the county council were busy in the court house. There were present Councillors Stinson, Moloney, Webster, Garbutt, Buck, Andrews, Shaw, Menzies, and Carey.

A deputation introduced by Mr. Maher, from the townships of Douro and Dummer, was heard, asking that the road between the townships from lot 6 to the Dummer road, be opened up. It was explained that the contract had been let for the clearing of the road. This would save from four to six miles on the road to Warsaw. It was noted that there is a bank at Warsaw, in addition to stores, blacksmith, etc.

Mr. Moloney rose and said this Dummer trouble had come up before. The road had been partly finished, and what the deputation wanted was a bridge across the river, which was some 60 feet wide. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The council then adjourned and went into committee.

A telegram from Dr. Bruce Smith was read saying he would be present and confer with the council during the evening.

OPIUM FIEND NOT WANTED

Ontario Government Will Try to Deport a Woman Immigrant.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—The deportation of two of Ontario's recent acquisitions from England, has been decided upon by Mr. Thomas Southworth, the Director of Colonization for Ontario, and he has secured the necessary order from the Dominion Government.

One of the ejected immigrants is a 17-year-old lad, a pickpocket, released from an English school of correction and sent to Canada in the hope of reform. He proved incorrigible, and soon turned up in the Sudbury police court on a charge of theft. He was sent to Toronto, where a society took him up. Their efforts were fruitless, hence his deportation.

Another case is that of a female opium fiend. She and her husband came from England 12 years ago and took up their home in Buffalo. She returned to England and then returned to Canada as an immigrant. The United States authorities will be communicated with and asked to take her. She is now in custody on a charge of vagrancy.

—Mr Murphy, of the Dominion Bridge Works, Montreal, who is in charge of the work on the lift lock, yesterday lost a grip from his buggy, while going over to the lift lock from the Oriental Hotel. The grip contained some valuable papers, and Mr. Murphy will give a suitable reward for the return of the same.

FROM STEAMER J. H. JONES

Storm on Lake Erie, Whalebaok Missing

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 29.—A gale which reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour raged on Lake Erie a greater part of yesterday and compelled even the big passenger boats to seek shelter. The City of Erie, which left Buffalo Monday night, did not arrive here till 11 o'clock Tuesday night, over 12 hours late.

Several vessels from the upper lake, which had been caught in the storm in that section, and about whose safety fears had been felt, came into port late yesterday. The only craft missing from here is the whaleback barge 118, bound from Conneaut with coal in tow of the steamer J.H. Eads, which broke away from the steamer 15 miles northwest of Fairport yesterday. The tug Monarch, which was bound from Conneaut to Toledo, with a scow, dropped her tow and she was sent to search for the missing whaleback. The latter, it is thought, will ride out the storm safely and will be found at anchor.

Lakefield Pastor is Honored

Venerable Archdeacon Warren of St. John's church, Lakefield, who leaves on Friday, Nov. 30th, for Toronto, has been made the recipient of many gifts from the various organizations in his congregation. The Bible class on Friday last, presented him with a beautiful gold-head walking stick; the Sunday school followed on Sunday with a toilet set for himself and a gold pen for Mrs. Warren. On Wednesday, the choir presented him with a silver-mounted umbrella. There is very general regret over his departure.

Maclaren Discharged.

Buckingham, Que., Nov. 29.—Mr. Albert Maclaren, who was charged with a criminal offence in bringing in detectives and armed men, was discharged by Judge Choquette yesterday. The trial of the six strikers, Charette, Clement, Hamelin, Groteau, Landrey and Bastien, and of Coroner Rodrigue, was finished, but no judgment was given.

SLEEP WALKING

Dangerous Habit Overcome by Change of Food.

The causes of sleep walking are various, but the sleep walker always has a disturbed nervous system.

Often improper food, by causing indigestion and thereby poisoning the nerves through the stomach, is a cause of this trouble.

"My daughter for five years was troubled with indigestion which resulted in extreme nervousness," writes an Ind. mother. "She would eat heartily of meat, vegetables and pastry for a time, and then become sluggish, lose her appetite, and get so nervous she could not attend to her school work.

"On such occasions the family doctor would call and by giving her medicine would fix her up for a while, only to have the old trouble come back in three or four weeks.

"She would walk in her sleep sometimes when her nerves were greatly disturbed by indigestion.

"For breakfast we usually had some kind of cereal and for a change got some Grape-Nuts. We all took to the new food, my daughter became so very of it she often made her breakfast on Grape-Nuts, exclusive of anything else—sometimes also for lunch.

"We soon noticed a marked change in her nerves, she ceased to walk in her sleep and had no trouble with her stomach. We were confident the Grape-Nuts had brought the happy change, and continued to use it, so that now after more than a year she is a rosy, robust girl full of animation, strong and well."

Two Boats in Good Condition in Possession of Ojibway's Chief

Owen Sound, Nov. 29.—There is now no doubt whatever that the steamer J. H. Jones has foundered with all on board. It was the steamer's last trip of the season, and she carried a very heavy load, including a deck-load of brick and machinery. At the last minute she loaded a quantity of coal oil. It is surmised that a sea burst in the shutters, or that the oil barrels rolled and burst out the sides, and before she could recover, buried her and battered her to pieces.

MISSIONARY TELLS OF WRECK

In a letter received by Mayor Joyce this morning, Rev. John Wilson, Methodist missionary and teacher of an Indian school, Christian Island, says:

"The chief of the Ojibway Indians of the island, Mr. J. Monague, has just informed me that there are quite evidences of shipwreck strewn all along the western shore of this island. There are two boats in good condition now in possession of the chief. Pieces of the cabin of the wrecked vessel are strewn along the shore or several miles. The wheel and wheelhouse are now in the vicinity o Salt Harbor, on the northwest portion o the island. The boats found bear the name 'J. H. Jones.'

"The chief informs me that a steam tug bearing that name was formerly owned at Wiarton, and had on several occasions been engaged by the Indians of Cape Croker to bring them to camp meeting on this island. The chief says that this tug has been accustomed to running from Wiarton to Owen Sound as one part of its general work.

"Life preservers are strewn along the shore, but no bodies and no clothing, except a couple of caps, have yet been seen."

There is but little hope that any of any of the crew or passengers escaped, for in the event, a bare chance at best, that any might reach Barrier Island, the cold and exposure would complete the work of the sea as there is no shelter of any kind on the island.

A report is current that the captain, chief engineer and one of the crew has been found, still alive, on Christian Island, but this is not confirmed.

Artie Edmunds Won Long Match

New York, Nov. 29.—In a private bout here last night, between Artie Edmunds, the little Toronto athlete and a Jap wrestler, who is said to be the king pin of all the Oriental grapplers in Gotham, the Canuck won out. It was a terrific struggle. The pair were on the mat over three hours. The Jap, who is one of the bone-breaking, strangling wrestlers from the land of the Chrysanthemum, was allowed to use any hold he could obtain upon the agile Canadian, and to facilitate matters and permit him to utilise some favorite holds, Edmunds wore a kimono with rope in the waist and throat.

Edmunds is a rough little customer when he gets under way, and the chances are that he handed the Jap a few strangles and twists peculiar to the Canadian Rugby game. Artie always could play "inside football," and the chances are that he handed out a few cunningly planted elbows and knees, which made the Jap think he had coupled up with a bucking broncho.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But It's Dangerous.

You have to work hard. This uses up lost of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The indefatigable investigators of the Department of Agriculture of the neighboring Republic have cautiously advanced several theories which arrest the thought and respectful attention. They relate to that baffling and abstruse problem, the protection of cows from flies. The scientists of the department do not rush forward with the cocksure proclamation that they have discovered a panacea—they are too well trained in the strategy of retreat for that. But they do advance, with plenty of ifs and buts, a few novel suggestions which are worthy of consideration by all human beings who are acquainted with cows and flies. The world seems to be trembling upon the brink of a great discovery.

The fact having been demonstrated that flies are a nuisance, and the opinion being expressed that they cause a diminution of the milk yield by their assiduous attentions, the council of savants of the Department of Agriculture discusses the various methods suggested for abating the nuisance. The first plan comes from Kansas. It provides for the incarceration of cows during the daytime and "allows grazing on the pasture only at night." The only objection to this obviously effective process is that "in many cases this arrangement is not possible." Taking a step further, therefore, on solid logical ground, the coterie of scientists concludes that "some fly repellant must be used." Then, with irresistible consequence, the question arises, What will repel flies from cows? The scientists tried a formula composed in part of resin, fish oil, laundry soap, etc., "applied with a brush." Exhaustive experiments with this concoction on cows of various colors, sizes and tempers proved that frequent application was necessary at first, but afterward not so often, "since the tips of the hair became coated with resin."

This settled the fly question, but it did not satisfy insatiate science. How does the resin armor affect the milk yield? was asked. The cows armored with resin were accordingly tested, and it was ascertained, greatly to the distress of the investigators, that the yield of milk was less than with unarmored cows. It is true that the cows stood "more quietly during milking," but for reasons which even science could not ignore the resin treatment was dropped before the cows ran dry.

Then science turned to kerosene emulsion. This stuff had killed San Jose scale, June bugs, ox warble, boll weevil and other enemies of the Department of Agriculture—why not flies on cows. A "specially constructed shed" was erected in Virginia, "where the movement of the animals could be regulated." On other words, science drove the cows into a corner and held them there with inexorable hand, while it turned upon them a hose "fitted with nozzles so as to throw the spray upon the animals from all directions." The report is silent as to the consequences, but it is perfectly evident that no self-respecting cow would submit to such treatment without making sure that the operator received his share of the spray. Science, of course, ignores such little incidents. The report merely observes that in the mixup of cattle, spray, nozzles and scientists, flies are slaughtered in large numbers. "The flies are killed," says the report, "during the passage of the animal through the spray." It is then announced with almost positive emphasis, that "very gratifying results were obtained."

The world moves. Science, thwarted, but undaunted, looks eager-eyed to the future. Sooner or later the great problem of protecting cows from flies during milking time must and will be solved.

CLIFF VINEYARDS.

The Farmer on the Rhine and the Difficulties He Surmounts.

Going down the Rhine you get a lesson in farming. If you wanted to buy a farm in America you would go out with a pick and spade and dig holes all over a 100 acre tract to make sure the soil was so and so and that there was not more than one stone to the rood. On these cliff vineyards along the Rhine it looks to you as if there was not more than a bushel of earth to the rood and that the rest was all stone.

In America you wouldn't buy a farm on the perpendicular surface of the Grand canyon, yet you imagine the bluffs of the Rhine seemed almost as impossible before the enterprising grapevines got a start there. There may be a few inches of space on the cliffs where some German has not made a terrace big enough for a bunch of grapes, but if any such spot has been overlooked you failed to discover it with your binoculars.

There are advantages in owning a vineyard on the Rhine. Next to the financial returns, the chief advantage lies in the glamour of romance that hangs over the bluffs. Frowning castles look down on you from the most inaccessible peaks.

"Who lives in that big brownstone house?" you ask a German passenger on your steamer as you round a bend.

"That is the castle of an old nobleman who kidnaped a beautiful maid and held her prisoner," you are informed. "When the knights of those days tried to rescue her, the old nobleman would simply drop a big stone or two upon them as they attempted to climb the cliff. One day while rolling a stone down upon a knight the nobleman fell off and was killed."

"And now," you observe, "I suppose the place is for rent. Do you know how much the administrator wants for it?"

Mrs. Craigie's Habits of Work.

It had been Mrs. Craigie's habit for many years to begin her work at 8 o'clock in the morning, no matter how late she had been up the night before. Off and on she wrote till 11:30, never being able to do more than half an hour's work at a time, a disability which makes the amount she produced the more amazing. After luncheon—even after a luncheon at the Carlton—she wrote again until it was time to pay calls and to talk at tea tables, as idly as if she had been idle all day, a feat of unbending which few women and fewer men can perform. But after dinner she was always tired. "At night," she confessed, "I never by any chance do anything. I cannot even write a post card then."

The O.H.A. received a request for admission from the Northern League, asking to be admitted on special terms. This was not in accordance with the policy of the O.H.A., which is equal rights to all teams. The Northern League clubs were offered admittance as individual clubs, the same as all other clubs, but have declined to come in on those terms. There are five clubs in the Northern League, and one town is already represented in the O.H.A., so that the league itself would barely make a district for the large association.

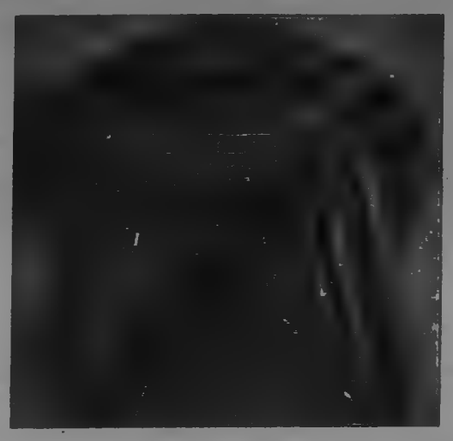
This is real mining.

The Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company has 66 lode mining claims back of it on Palmer Mountain, near the Town of Loomis, Okanogan County, Washington—about 12 miles south of the boundary of British Columbia. A new railway line is nearly completed and will run within 13 miles of the property. Steamers ply on the Okanogan River to within 22 miles of our properties. There is water—not only for mining purposes, but with unlimited possibilities for power generation. There is timber, there are large, well defined veins proved at great depth—and there is development enough done to make this one of the biggest and best mining propositions in the country.



INTERIOR OF TUNNEL

We can do more with $10 ore on our properties than the desert miners can do with $40 or even higher grade ore. We can make money because we have the FACILITIES on our ground. Our ore can be mined, milled, cyanided and bullion produced for not exceeding $2.50 a ton.

Our immence crosscut bore—a picture of which we show herewith—is now in 4,000 feet, is 9 by 9 in the clear (as large as any of the big transportation and drainage tunnels), and is well timbered, equipped with track, ore cars and everything else essential. In the picture shown herewith, the large pipe running at the top of the right side of the tunnel, is for ventilation purposes and connects with a large, powerful blower.

Recent development on the mountain proves that we shall open up at tunnel level (2,500 feet beneath the surface) an enormous body of copper ore.

We have opened up much $10 ore, and we have a higher grade running up to $50 a ton. This is where the big profit comes from. In the nearly TWO MILES OF WORKINGS we have all the facilities for handling a very large production. Back of it all we have a capable mining and business management. We should be very glad to tell you the complete story. We can only hint at it here.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,
Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT. 1905. BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"Sprung my ex," he answered, turning quickly, with a significant look; "thrown from a sulky in a hoss race an' sprung my ex. Lord! Can't ye see it?"

The teacher nodded, not knowing quite how to take him.

"Had my knee unset, too," he went on, lifting his knee as he turned the light upon it. "Jes' put yer finger there," said he, indicating a slight protuberance. "Lord, it's big as a hog spavin!"

He had planned to provoke a query, and it came.

"How did you get it?"

"Kicked ag'in," said Tunk sadly. "Heavens, I've had my share o' bangin'! Can't conquer a skittish hoss without sufferin' some—not allwus. Now, here's a hoss," he added as they walked to a stall. "He ain't much t' look at, but"—

He paused a moment as he neared the horse—a white and ancient palfrey. He stood thoughtfully on "cocked ankles," every leg in a bandage, tail and mane braided.

"Get up, Prince," Tunk shouted as he gave him a slap. Prince moved aside, betraying evidence of age and infirmity.

"But"— Tunk repeated, with emphasis.

"Ugly!" the teacher queried.

"Ugly!" said Tunk, as if the word were all too feeble for the fact in hand. "That's what he is! Look out! Don't get too nigh him! He ain't no conscience, that hoss ain't."

"Is he fast?"

"Greased lightnin'!" said Tunk, shaking his head. "Won twenty-seven races."

"You're a good deal of a horseman, I take it," said the teacher.

"Waal, some," said he, expectorating thoughtfully, "but I don't have no chance here. What d'ye 'spect of a man livin' with them of maids?"

He seemed to have more contempt than his words would carry.

"Every night they lock me upstairs," he continued, with a look of injury. "They ain't fit fer nobody t' live with. Ain't got no hoss but that dummed ol' plug."

He had forgotten his enthusiasm of the preceding moment. His intellect was incapable of [illegible]. Wherein Tunk was the prodigious liar man, memory the dwarf and Veracity the living skeleton. When Vanity rose to show himself the others left the stage.

Tunk's face had become suddenly thoughtful and morose. In truth, he was an arrant and amusing humbug. It has been said that children are all given to lying in some degree, but seeing the folly of it in good time, if, indeed, they are not convinced of its wickedness, train tongue and feeling into the way of truth. The respect for truth that is the beginning of wisdom had not come to Tunk. He continued to lie with the cheerful inconsistency of a child. The hero of his youth had been a certain driver of trotting horses who had a limp and a leaning shoulder. In Tunk the limp and the leaning shoulder were an attainment that had some of no sudden wrench. Such is the power of example, he admired, then imitated and at last acquired them. One cannot help thinking what graces of character and person a like persistency would have brought to him. But Tunk had equipped himself with horsy heroism, adorning it to his own fancy. He had never been kicked, he had never driven a race or been hurled from a sulky at full speed. Prince, that ancient palfrey, was the most harmless of all creatures and would long since have been put out of misery but for the tender consideration of his owners. And Tunk—well, they used to say of him that if he had been truthful he couldn't have been alive.

"Some time," Trove thought, "his folly may bring confusion upon wise heads."

CHAPTER XV.

SIDNEY TROVE sat talking a while with Miss Letitia. Miss Samantha, unable longer to bear the unusual strain of danger and publicity, went away to bed soon after supper. Tunk Mosely came in with a candle about 9.

"Waal, mister," said he, "you ready t' go t' bed?"

"I am," said Trove and followed him to the cold hospitality of the spare room, a place of peril, but beautifully clean. There was a neat rag carpet on the floor, immaculate tidies on the bureau and wash table and a spotless quilt of patchwork on the bed; but, like the dungeon of medieval times, it was a place for sighs and reflection, not for rest. Half an inch of frost on every window pane glistened in the dim light of the candle.

"As soon as they unlock my door I'll come an' let ye out in the mornin'," Tunk whispered.

"Are they going to lock me in?"

"Wouldn't wonder," said Tunk soberly. "What can ye 'spect from a couple o' dummed ol' maids like them?"

There was a note of long suffering in his half whispered tone.

"Good night, mister," said he, with a look of dejection. "Orter have a night-cap er ye'll git hoar frost on yer hair."

Trove was all a-shiver in the time it took him to undress, and his breath came out of him in spreading shafts of steam. Sheets of flannel and not less than half a dozen quilts and comfortables made a cover, under which the heat of his own blood warmed his body. He became uncomfortably aware of the presence of his head and face, however. He could hear stealthy

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

TEMISKAMING AND NORTHERN ONTARIO RAILWAY COMMISSION

TENDERS FOR MINING LEASES

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Mining Lease," will be received at the Office of the Commission, 25 Toronto street, Toronto, up to twelve o'clock noon, on Wednesday, the Nineteenth day of December, 1906, for mining leases for 999 years of the following portions of the right of way of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway:—

PARCEL 1. That portion of the right of way lying between Mileage 90 and Milage 95.

PARCEL 2. That portion of the right of way lying between Mileage 95 and the southerly limit of the lands described in the lease from the Commission to the Right of Way Mining Company, Limited, being Mileage 101.

PARCEL 3. That portion of the right of way lying between the northerly limit of the lands mentioned in the said lease to the Right of Way Mining Company, Limited, being Mileage 105 to 108.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank of Canada, payable to the order of the Chairman and the Secretary-Treasurer of the Commission, for the amount of the cash bonus (which must not be less than $1,000 per mile) tendered for such lease, must accompany each tender.

Forms of tender and of proposed leases (reserving a rental of $1 per annum plus 2½ per cent. of the gross value at the mouth of the mine of all ore mined) and full information and plans showing location in respect of each parcel may be examined at the said Toronto Office of the Commission.

The tenders must be made on the forms supplied by the Commission for the purpose, and signed with the actual signature of the parties tendering.

In the case of each parcel, the party whose tender is accepted be required to promptly execute a lease in form satisfactory to the Commission; failing which his deposit will be absolutely forfeited to the Commission.

The cheques sent in by unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them.

The Commission does not bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values it intensifies the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralised in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. H. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Physicians who have examined the formula of Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills say no medicine could be better.

Whether ill or not, thousands rely on Dr Hamilton's Pills which are truly marvelous in preventing sickness.

Begin Dr. Hamilton's Pills without delay You'll feel stronger, eat better, digest better, sleep sounder, and gain more in weight.

Mr. Ed. Maynard, an old resident of New Westminster, B.C., writes: "I don't say Dr. Hamilton's Pills will cure everything, but they made a quick job of building up my run-down system. I had kidney disease and constipation and was wholly unfitted for work. Pains shot through my limbs and lodged in my back. Headaches often made me desperate. I had no appetite, an awful color, and felt despondent. Sometimes I was a little rheumatic. After a few days I began to mend, and kept up Dr. Hamilton's Pills till I was restored to my present tip-top condition."

Former Local Pastor Referred to

The Ottawa Citizen referring to a former resident of Peterborough, says:

"Rev. Walter M. Loucks, the rector of St. Matthew's church of England, of this city, was born on February 24, 1869, at the rectory at Williamsburg. He is the son of Rev. Edward Loucks and Harriett Margaret Muckleston. He was educated at Trinity College school at Port Hope, and at the university of Trinity College, Toronto. He matriculated as second Dickson scholar in 1886, and in 1886 won the Wellington scholarship in classics, and the college scholarship in history. He graduated with the degree of B.A. in 1888, winning the jubilee scholarship in classics. He took a divinity course immediately afterwards, taking the degree of M.A., in 1890. He was ordained to the diaconate in 1891, and to the priesthood on February 28, 1893.

"He was assistant curate of St. John's church, Peterborough, from 1891 to 1893. From 1893 to 1902, he was curate of Christ's church cathedral of Ottawa, and was appointed rector of St. Matthew's church on October 1, 1902.

He was married in 1894 to Harriet Alice, eldest daughter of the late Wm. Pope, M.P., mayor of Berlin, Ont.

"Mr. Loucks is a member of the corporation of Trinity University of Toronto. He has always taken a deep interest in outdoor sports, especially bicycling and football. He is chaplain of the Rough Riders football club. He was one of the founders and first charter member of the Canadian Club of the city."

Why the Lights Went Out Tuesday.

Owing to the many complaints that reached The Times yesterday as to that answer to "Where was Moses when the light went out?" We might explain that Tuesday night's absence of light in very many places throughout the city was caused by a fuse blowing out at the Power House of the Peterborough Light & Power Company, and as a result, part of the city was in darkness for about ten minutes. Repairs were quickly made, and in ten minutes the light was once more on.

COFFEE SLAVES

Thousands of Persons Don't Known They are Miserable.

Most of our troubles come from what we eat and drink.

Even bad habits seem to become more respectable with age. The coffee habit has an ancient pedigree but it is none the less disastrous to many.

"During the five years before I was married," writes a Calif. school teacher, "I became a slave to coffee."

"I became a nervous wreck and my stomach was almost ruined. My food would not digest, I suffered great pain after eating, and could not sleep an entire night through. My whole system seemed to be poisoned.

"After my marriage I still used coffee and steadily grew worse. About 2 years ago my father who had been at a sanitarium where they used Postum food coffee, spoke so often and in such glowing terms of it, my husband and I decided to try it. I have been gradually but surely cured by its use and never felt so well in my life.

"We still use Postum, giving it to our two little boys who always beg for it, and we think the day's wrong if ly begun without it for breakfast.

"Am able to eat anything I like and can sleep soundly all the night through." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Local Prisoner Makes Threats

Thomas Weller, who is now a guest at Castle Nesbitt for having fired his revolver too freely in non-recreational love about a month ago, gets his liberty next week. However, if he is well able to furnish ample sureties to keep the peace, will be brief. It is stated that while in jail, he has threatened to secure a revolver and finish the work he attempted before. It is likely that he will be arrested as soon as he is released unless he can furnish sureties to keep the peace, and will be placed in jail again. He seems to have gone "batty" on this subject and not responsible for his actions.

The crown attorney is in communication with the government officials Ottawa, the object in view being to have Weller deported from the country as soon as possible.

DO NOT DOSE THE STOMACH

Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei, Sold Under Guarantee.

The only scientific and common sense way to treat catarrh of the nose and throat is by a local application that will kill the catarrhal germs.

Ordinary stomach dosing is worse than useless. Taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the head can have no good effect, and often leads to serious derangement of the digestive organs.

By breathing Hyomei three or four times daily through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its medicated, healing air penetrates to the most remote parts of the nose, throat and lungs, searches out and kills all catarrhal germs, and soothes and heals any irritation in the mucous membrane.

Our faith in the wonderful merit of Hyomei as a cure for catarrh is shown by the guarantee given with every Hyomei outfit that the money will be refunded unless the treatment gives satisfaction.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that money will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. J. H. Burnham on "Sir John A."

Tonight a smoking concert will be held in the Young Conservative club rooms, whereat Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., will preside. During the evening Mr. J. H. Burnham will give a most interesting address recalling incidents policy and memories of the late revered chieftain, the Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, once prime minister of Canada. Owing to Mr. Burnham's acknowledged deep acquaintance with the history of our grand Dominion, and with those who made history for Canada, there should be, and undoubtedly will be, a large audience to hear this talented author and historian's remarks. Every member of the hundreds belonging to the Conservative Club should make a point of turning out this evening.

Mr. Garbutt May Stand.

County Councillor Garbutt, of Smith, one of the most widely known men in the township, has not definitely decided whether he will run for reeve or not. Many of his friends have asked him to stand. He has only been in the county council for two years, but he was elected without soliciting a vote, and polled the largest number of votes that have been given one man during the ten years of the present system. He was made chairman of the Committee of Schools both years, and this year was chairman of the special House of Refuge Committee which involved much time and deep thought.

Mist to Coal Famine Sufferers.

A former Peterborough man writing from a Saskatchewan town, says that owing to scarcity of coal out there the people are burning up packing cases or any old thing that will create heat. It seems to us that we frequently hear that these western farmers have "money to burn." Why not try a few of fives and tens loan and use the packing cases to send the balance of their coin out.

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trial in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, since it is generally so easily removed by proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

CHARLES M'GILL STOLE IT SAYS POLICE MAGISTRATE

Banker's Action in Using Money in Speculation Was Theft.

GAMBLED IN THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Toronto, Nov. 30.—When the Ontario Bank case was resumed yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Denison the charge of theft of $136,000 against Charles McGill, late general manager, was again taken up.

W. R. Chenoweth, the transfer clerk in the head office, was the initial witness His evidence was practically a resume of that he gave in the original charge.

MONEY VANISHED.

The magistrate took up the books and traced various sums from the bank to Ames and Co of Toronto, Ouyler, Morgan and Co., and C. Head and Co of New York, which had been swallowed up in the Gotham financial vortex.

"You trace it to the hands of these people, and then it disappears. Isn't that the gist of it?" queried the magistrate.

"It looks that way."

The magistrate figured out the Ouyler, Morgan account, and found $226,000 missing.

"That has all disappeared?" asked the magistrate.

"Apparently so," replied Chenoweth.

Mr. Robert McKay, in cross-questioning, asked Mr. Chenoweth if he could tell whether or not the various sums they had been dealing with were loans to these stock broking firms, or represented stock broking transactions. Chenoweth said that he could not tell.

"No, nor whether the money was just turned over to this firm and pocketed," commented the magistrate.

A $3,000 CHECK.

Mr. Ernest S. Swallow, a teller at the Dominion Bank, identified a $3,000 check, signed C. McGill. On April 4, 1906, this check which was drawn on the Metropolitan Bank, was deposited to the credit of Marshall, Spader, and Company.

Geo. Lloyd, a teller at the Metropolitan Bank, said how on October 01, 1906, he had paid Mr. McGill $2,790 on a check drawn by A. E. Ames and Co, to the order of Chas. McGill

D. N. Gladman, the paying teller at the Yonge street branch of the Ontario Bank, who, a week ago, swore that he had paid Mr. McGill $1,000 in American money on April 11, 1906, on a check drawn by A. E. Ames and Co to Mr. McGill's order, now said he was not sure whether he paid it or not. Of another $2,300 check of October 10, 1906, drawn the same way, Mr. Gladman was equally uncertain.

SAYS THEFT WAS PROVEN.

While Mr. Corley was endeavoring to get a direct statement from Gladman, the magistrate interrupted Mr Corley to say that if it could be shown that Mr. McGill had taken certain large sums from the bank to gamble in the New York stock market without the knowledge and consent of the Board of Directors, then he was guilty of theft. That was appropriating money to his own use and was theft. He thought that such transaction had been proven.

Gladman said that he had frequently cashed checks of $2,000 and over for Mr McGill, giving him American currency for it.

Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Langton, Mr. Ames, and Mr. Braithwaite will be called at the next session. It will be three weeks before the commission can collect its New York evidence.

WHAT OTTAWA PRESS SAYS

Regarding the Scarlet Mysteries, Which will Appear in Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30th and Dec. 1st. Matinee Saturday Afternoon at 2.30

Those who love a little relaxation from ordinary daily duties, assembled last night at the Russel Theatre, had a revelation in the performance of the "Scarlet Mysteries" that surprised, pleased and instructed all. It was a princely entertainment; and showed all that refined vaudeville of the merriest kind does not require the American association in this art, of a lot of painted and powdered, leg-padded, high-kicking females. The "Mysteries" are all good looking young fellows from some of the best masters in the World's metropolis, and Mr. Edward Branscombe deserves much credit for the exceedingly clever artists that he has brought together.

Every number, musical, recitative, or dialogue—was full of fun—clever, clean and crisp; and the auditorium was in roars of laughter from the opening number till the grand final.

Each artist seemed to put his whole soul into his work; there was not the semblance of mechanical acting in the whole entertainment; and the Mysteries, though going through an exceedingly fatiguing role, responded to the continuous encores with a spirit, and a pleasure, that gave them the full sympathy of every one in the theatre. Their whole work showed to what a high pitch English vaudeville has reached in comparison with most of the stuff on the American stage today.

The clever English Combination give their last performance today: a matinee in the afternoon and again with an entire change of programme this evening.—Ottawa Evening Journal.

THE AMERICAN AGITATOR

A very ugly feature of the Hamilton strike is the appearance as the chief instigator and leader of the riot of an American agitator under the orders of a chief agitator on the other side of the line. What right have these men to be throwing their firebrands into a home of Canadian industry and filling with lawlessness and outrage a Canadian city? They are members of the labor party in the United States, which upholds the alien labor law and excludes the Canadian workmen from the great labor markets of this continent. Our unhappy labor disputes have given birth to a set of agitators who subsist by industrial war, with the leadership of which, if they can combine political influence and votes, they may look to political advancement. About the trouble and loss they may bring on Canada such men care not a straw.

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE LAID AGAINST SCHOOL

Former Master of Institute for Blind Makes Strong Statement

DRUNKENESS AND IMMORALITY CHARGED AGAINST PUPILS

Brantford, Nov 30.—Interesting evidence came out at the first session of the enquiry into the charges of laxity and incompetence against Herbert F. Gardiner, principal of the Ontario Institute for the Blind: J. Russell Snow of Toronto, is conducting the investigation for the Government, and W. S. Brewster, K.C., of Brantford, is Government counsel.

The only witness yesterday was Thomas Tyson, formerly trade instructor in the school, who laid the charges.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

The charges constitute eighteen specific complaints, among them that Mr Gardiner is not qualified by experience or study in work pertaining to the education of the blind; that under him discipline at the institute has lessened, pupils being allowed to visit the city free from restraint with the result that they have found their way into bars and cigar stores and have become disorderly and intoxicated; that male and female pupils are allowed to associate after nine o'clock, where formerly the doors were locked at that hour; that three pupils went to the city on Saturday afternoon and returned on Monday morning, having spent the time at a disorderly house; that the rule compelling attendance at divine service had been abolished, and failure to attend is the result; that the rule against smoking by pupils has been suspended; that the principal uses gross, vulgar, and improper language to pupils and others; that he is extravagant in conducting the institution; that he allowed the industrial work to become extinct; that nine pupils not entitled to vote were taken in hand by Reformers, who treated them and took them to the polls during school hours; that Mr. Gardiner allowed servants of the institution to take part in political work, to canvass voters, to take voters to the polls, and assist in canvassing and driving blind pupils about the city, and also canvassed some pupils himself, and that there is an entire lack of moral influence at the institution.

DRINKING AND SMOKING.

"Drunkenness," said the witness, "has been so frequent for the last two years that I have repeatedly spoken to Mr. Gardiner, saying eternal vigilance is the price of moral excellence, and to this he replied that boys would be boys, and he would not put a girl in a glass case to preserve her from evil."

No pupil was allowed outside after nine o'clock before, but Mr. Gardiner changed this, and many times the pupils came in at 9.45. One evening as the witness was out walking in the grounds rather late he recognized the voice of one of the pupils and heard a female voice. This was a place where no female was allowed, and the proceeding was very improper. Mr. Gardiner when spoken to about it looked angry, but said nothing. There were at that time no lights in that part of the grounds, and, as the doors were not locked, there was opportunity for the pupils of both sexes to go out, and he knew they did go out. Formerly smoking had been forbidden.

"How about it now?" witness was asked.

"Simply go as you please again. I one day counted twenty boys using tobacco at one time. I spoke to them, and one of them swore at me, and said; 'Mr. Gardiner has no use for you. Your days are numbered.'"

Witness frequently spoke to Mr. Gardiner, and said that formerly the practice was stopped as much as possible. Mr. Gardiner said that the older boys should have the use of tobacco, and they would use it anyway on the sly.

Splendid Chance for Lucrative Investment

One of the finest and most certain sources for investment recently offered those seeking a channel for a safe and profitable investment for for their funds, is that conveyed by the advertisement contained in the present issue, viz, the Salt Lake Public Service Company, of Salt Lake, Utah.

This is no prospectus or nuance, but the description of work already begun.

Construction work is now in progress and maps, photographs and engineering information, and also statements of power, lighting and heating contracts secured by agents of the company, now in the field, will be available, and supplied to their clients from time to time.

This company offers $1,500,000 of the 5 per cent. first mortgage, forty year gold bonds of the Salt Lake Public Service Company.

The bonds are sold at par and accrued interest, and are accompanied by an equal amount of stock of the same company as part of the same consideration.

The bonds bear 5 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, and are issued in denominations of $500 and $1,000.

F. B. Wemple and associates have made a most rigid examination into the affairs of this company during a recent visit to Salt Lake City, and recommend to investors a purchase in the securities of the Salt Lake Public Service Company.

It might be noted that the officers and executive of this company are all men of the highest financial standing.

Whilst during the first year the dividends pay 5 per cent. there is a gradual and guaranteed scale of advanced dividends which show yearly dividends of 12 per cent. on and after the 4th year, with from 5 to 11 per cent. in the preceding period.

For full particulars address F. B. Wemple & Associates, 1204-1205 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich.

New Men's Furnishing Store Open Today

This morning Messrs. Laidlaw & Oles, will open up the store at 140 Hunter street, recently occupied by Darnley the tailor.

Messrs. Laidlaw & Oles will as noted further on, during the beginning of next year open up a high grade gents furnishing store in these premises, will in the meantime sell out the present high grade and specially selected stock at prices that will demand attention.

On the 1st of January the store will be closed to the public when the contractors and their employes will have charge and make most important changes and improvements including the tearing out of the back and other partitions so as to give Messrs. Laidlaw and Oles a men's furnishings store 66x22 feet in size.

Both of the partners in this new establishment are experienced men in their business so that their patrons will have the benefit of their knowledge and secure the most up-to-date and fashionable goods at lowest possible prices. Messrs. Laidlaw & Oles will carry a complete stock of Fashion Craft clothing and all high grade gents furnishings.

This new firm hopes to have their new place, after the present goods are handed out at popular prices, open on or about March 1st.

Snow Ploughing is Dearer This Year

It seems that this winter the city will have to pay more for keeping its pavements passable than during the snowfalls of last year.

The price this year will be over $150 more than last year, but it is believed that the extra money spent will be more than repaid by the improved service No trouble has been spared this year to secure good men with good horses and the work will be under the supervision of the street commissioner and inspector, who will get out early in the morning and see that the contractors do likewise.

Protestant Church Union Feasible

Rev Dr. Crothers has received notification that the general committee on church union, of which he is a member, will meet in the Metropolitan Methodist church, Toronto, on Wednesday, December 12th This will be the third meeting of the committee.

It will be remembered that these meetings were productive of great results Representatives were present from the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches and it was found that the scheme of church union was most feasible and that it was quite probable these three great branches of the Protestant church could be federated and thus do much more effective work Committees were appointed to look after the different phases in connection with the federation movement.

Since the last meeting great progress has been made. It has been found that the scope for union is much broader than was first thought and when the committee meets in Toronto two weeks hence, representatives from the Church of England and the Baptist church will be represented.

At the annual convention of the Baptist churches of Ontario and Quebec held in Peterborough a few weeks ago, the question of church union was discussed and the unanimous opinion was expressed that union was most feasible.

Mr. Jeffries Position Was Sought For

Last night the committee on appointments of the Board of Education met and dealt with the applications that have been received in connection with the vacancy on the Collegiate Institute staff, caused by the resignation of Mr. J. Jeffries, and also the vacancy in the Central school caused by Miss Dalton's resignation.

Over a half dozen applications have been received for Mr. Jeffries' position, but it is said that only two or three of those applying had the required qualifications.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Easy Way to Get Full Value for Every Half Dollar You Spend

In your search for health, you who suffer with stomach trouble, do not try a remedy where the proprietor has not sufficient faith in its virtue to sell it under a guarantee that he money will be refunded unless it gives relief and cure.

It is in this way that Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold, with a positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded on demand if it does not cure indigestion, strengthen the whole digestive system and restore the health to those who use it.

If the head aches, if the back and side are painful, if there is distress and nausea after eating, if you are sleepless, nervous, and out of sorts, you can with perfect confidence get a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na, knowing that the remedy will cost you absolutely nothing unless it gives you freedom from all ills and pains and restores you to health.

No one thing is the cause of more suffering and pain than indigestion. Many cases of so-called kidney disease, heart trouble and nervousness are only different ways in which a weakened digestive system shows itself.

Use Mi-o-na stomach tablets and your ill-health will soon be gone, and you will forget that you have ever had indigestion or its resulting ills.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth Mycaal Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

Possible Demonstration of Eternal Life

Christian Scientist Say That Mrs. Eddy May Never Die.

New York, November 30.—That Mrs Eddy may never die, is the remarkable statement made by Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, one of Mrs. Eddy's most faithful students in New York, to a reporter who had occasion to interview her recently. In the course of his talk with the aged disciple of Christian Science, the reporter chanced to ask Mrs. Stetson her opinion of the recent visit of the reporters to Mrs. Eddy's home, after the claim had been made that the venerable leader of Christian Science was suffering from the last stages of cancer, and that another woman masqueraded as Mrs. Eddy drove about daily in the Eddy carriage, that Christian Scientists might continue to believe in her marvellous preservation.

Mrs. Stetson shook her head sadly. "A great deal of error has been published," she said, "but science has triumphed over it. Mrs. Eddy is in perfect health—she is without a wrinkle."

"I will not say that Mrs. Eddy must ever die. I believe she may give a demonstration of eternal life. Christ said to the Apostle after He rose from the dead: 'For lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.' And He was with them, only because of mortal mind they could not see Him. "I flatter myself that even I, the humblest of her students, may be permitted to make a demonstration. I know that if I have sufficient of God thought in me I will not die."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Ald. R. Hicks Out For Mayor

Ald. Robt. Hicks has allowed a Times representative to know that, owing to strong pressure brought to bear on him and at the solicitation of many leading citizens, he has consented to be a candidate for the office of Mayor of Peterborough for the year 1907.

Ald. Hicks has been a member of the council for three years and during that time has demonstrated the fact that he is possessed of great administrative ability. Last year he was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and during this year he has been chairman of the Board of Works, in both of which positions he has brought excellent business judgment to bear on the questions which have come up for consideration.

Miss Lizzie Anderson Now Mrs. J. H. George

On Wednesday evening the residence of Mr. Erastus Anderson, North Monaghan, was a gay scene of festivities when his daughter, Miss Lizzie, was united in marriage to Mr John H. George, baggage master at the G.T.R. station. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of Mark street Methodist church, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The bride's maid was Miss M. Anderson of the east ward, and the groom was assisted by Mr. James Anderson, brother of the bride. After the ceremony, a sumptuous dejeuner was partaken of.

Mr. and Mrs. George left on the nine o'clock G.T.R. train for a wedding trip to Montreal, and on their return will take up their residence on Aylmer street.

McGill Campus is Covered With Snow

Tigers and McGill May Have to Play Championship Game Next Saturday in the Snow.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—When the Hamilton Tigers play here Saturday they will have to go on a field that will be encompassed by six or eight inches of snow. Tuesday it snowed all day and froze at night, and continued snowing all day yesterday.

Mr. Gill's team has been working afternoons on the campus, and at night in the gymnasium. Hammy Gordon, the Montreal's quarter-back, and Percy Roberts, the Montreal scrimmage, have been induced to coach them in the Canadian championship rules, which are practically the same as the Quebec rules under which Montreal played during the past season. The betting here is eminently in favor of Hamilton.

Hamilton Cars Run Unmolested

Hamilton, Nov. 30. — Many prophesies were put to naught last night when the street railway cars ran unmolested Three cars were run until 10 p.m. They were "armored" affairs, and the three were heavily manned in preparation for trouble which never came. There were many people on the streets, but no disturbance. The military forces were kept out of sight, and their services were not required.

While some surprise was manifested in regard to the unexpected order prevailing, there were a number of contributory circumstances. It was generally known that a settlement was in progress. The disorderly element were alarmed by the two-year sentence imposed on rioter Thomas Garrett in the police court, and felt, moreover, that there were very few well-meaning citizens parading the streets last night behind whom the guilty ones could take shelter, as on Saturday. The announcement that the military forces had said farewell to blank cartridges also had a soothing effect.

Nothing definite as to the progress of settlement was obtainable last evening Ald. Stewart announced that the company would take the men back, and the men would submit to Railway Board arbitration, but that there was one point of difference—a new condition imposed by the men—which the company would not concede. Following upon this came a statement from International President Mahon that the men would not agree to unconditional arbitration at all.

An Italian Wedding Celebrated Here

Yesterday a wedding in the local Italian colony created some excitement among the residents here of that ancient and venerable European country.

The happy man was Mr. Leonardo Campanaro of Castellucci, Valmaggiore, and the bride, Miss Maria Nicola Luisa of Boseto, Valfortore, both in the province of Foggia, Italy. The wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral, and was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The groom has been a resident of Peterborough for the past three or four years, and intends settling down in a home he has purchased here. The bride, who is a relative of Mr Minocolo, was wooed and won in her native land some six months ago.

Suspect Foul Play In Little's Death

Walkerville, Ont., Nov. 30. —Some new phases which have come to light in the case of S. James Little, the mason found dead in the basement of Crown Inn., will be investigated at the coroner's inquest tonight Little was seen in Windsor last Thursday. He then had $30 in his possession. There were only 40 cents on the body when it was found. The post-mortem showed that the skull had been fractured. Dr. Jow's conclusion was that death was due to heart failure, which came on as Little was going down into the basement, and that his skull was fractured after death by the fall to the cement floor.

Jas. Lockhart Will Not Dies of Injuries

Toronto Man Who Was Hurt in Hamilton Riots—Father Went Up to See Him.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—James Lockhart of Toronto, was reported in Tuesday night's papers as dying in St. Joseph's hospital, Hamilton, as a result of being clubbed by a policeman. As a result his father went to Hamilton yesterday, and while he found his son badly injured, the hospital authorities say he will be out in a week's time.

Mr. Lockhart was passing along James street, and stopped to assist two women knocked down by the police. While lending assistance he was hit with the but end of a gun, knocked down, and trampled upon by a soldier's horse. He was taken to the hospital Saturday night, and was unconscious until Monday morning.

Drew The "Color" Line.

Toronto, Nov. 30.—For the first time in the history of the Division Court Judge Morson was yesterday morning called upon to settle the race question.

According to the story of A. P. Taylor, 14 Francis street, a distinction in the color line is drawn to become a skater at the Granite roller skating rink. The plaintiff is suing the management of the rink for $50, because his wife and son were not allowed to indulge in roller skating after they had purchased tickets at the office on a recent evening.

Mr. Taylord told his Honor yesterday morning that Mr. A. E. Richards, manager of the rink, had excused the action on the grounds that when the tickets were purchased by Mrs. Taylor and her child he "thought they were white."

The case was adjourned two weeks.

Turret-Crown Went Aground.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 30.—The Canadian steamer Turret Crown, bound for Duluth without cargo, missed the harbor of refuge at Grand Marais while trying to escape from the earth-wast gale and snow on Tuesday night. The steamer landed on a sandy bottom west of the harbor, and ran out three feet forward.

The life-savers went to the stranded ship and remained with the vessel during the night.

It is not leaking and can be readily released with good weather.

The Turret Crown is operated by Mr. D. B. Hanna of the Canadian Northern Railway Company. It was proceeding to Duluth without a cargo.

PALE AND ANXIOUS

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored, and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, of 434 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism, which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound, and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

HIS WIFE IN ASYLUM

And Nott is Living With Another Woman in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—When William Henry Nott, late of Liverpool, from the witness box in Judge Winchester's weekly criminal court, yesterday morning blandly admitted that he was living with a woman in Toronto while his real wife was confined to any asylum in the Old Country he got himself into serious trouble.

"I think this matter ought to be investigated," said Judge Winchester to Mr Monaghan, the acting Crown attorney.

Mr. Nott will probably be asked to explain his alleged dual life.

He had been called to the witness box in reference to his daughter, Alice Eva Nott, who was charged with theft of some goods from Mr. Walter Scott, her employer, of Gwillimbury. His honor decided that her father's home would not be the most desirable place to send the girl. She was remanded for a week.

BRINGING CLERGY TO CANADA

Archdeacon Lloyd Will Bring Fifty-Five Catechists and Five Ministers.

London, Nov. 28.—Archdeacon Lloyd addressing the Colonial Continental Church Society, said that his own work was in the great Northwest Territory, which was the last country in the world where a new English-speaking nation was likely to arise. He did not intend to return to Canada till he had secured fifty-five catechists and five clergymen to go back with him.

The Bohemian for December

For sheer cleverness, variety and quantity of interesting material, The Bohemian for December is a remarkable magazine. Among its short stories the most notably clever and amusing are, Roland Ashford Phillips's, "The Man and the Master Love," "Herbert Hawtrey," by Edward Marshall, and "Fancy's Elephant," by Elliott Walker. Every one of the seven or eight short stories is above the average of magazine fiction, and the first part of "The Magnet," by Adele Marie Shaw, grips the reader with a strongly sustained mystery.

David Warfield's "My Yesterdays," is another striking contribution to the series which The Bohemian has inaugurated. Among the humorous and personal history articles are "The Common-or-Garden Reporter," by Zoe Anderson Norris; "The Welsh Rabbit Family," by Miles Bradford, and "Peter Newell, the Boy Who Didn't Grow Up," by Jules E. Goodman.

The verse of the number is made notable by A. D. Runyon's "Songs of the Service," as well as by unusually varied poems by Curtis Hidden Page, R. S. Pickering, E. C. Hall, Bertrand W. Sinclair, and many others. The personal stories and portraits in "Here and There" are all very striking and clever, and the humor and satire by La Touche Hancock, Edgerton Eckert, Edward Marshall, Gerald Smith, William J. Lampton, Harvey Peake, and others, in "Bohemiana," are full of brightness and originality. The guides to new plays, books, and music, round out the number, and suggest a new name for The Bohemian—"A Guide to Everything New."

Col. Steel Will Not Come Back to Canada

London, Nov. 29.—Colonel Steele, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, said: "I have resigned the position I held on the staff of the South African Constabulary seven months ago, but was asked by the High Commissioner in South Africa to remain until the first of October, for the purpose of assisting him as inspector-general of that corps in some details of organization. I consented. When I had completed the work I again sent in my resignation. It was my intention on arrival here to report to the authorities for the purpose of being attached at Aldershot or to any arm of the service other than my own for a period of three months, and I would be there had it not been that my wife became dangerously ill on ship and is still so, and, therefore, I have been obliged to put off my visit to Aldershot until she is quite recovered. When asked of the likelihood of his rejoining the North-West Mounted Police, Col. Steele said that he was quite sure that there was no likelihood, nor had he even thought of or hinted such a thing.

"I entirely severed my connection with the force several years ago, and am now on its retired list."

HOLIDAYS IN MEXICO.

They Are Numerous, but Are Not All Local Celebrations.

The visitor in Mexico is apt to be surprised at the number of holidays celebrated here and made the occasion of rejoicing, with accompanying music and decoration, and is likely to think that the Mexican does nothing but celebrate.

With his religious and national feast days, the Mexican does have many holidays of more or less general importance, and when he is not celebrating these he may be celebrating the day of his patron saint or of that of some member of his family, so that it seems to require little inducement for him to celebrate. If a member of the family goes out of town for a few days or weeks, his return is celebrated in some mild way and his welcome home made pleasant.

But not all of the celebrations which take place in the capital are Mexican, as the foreign colonies contribute their share of feast days. The American celebrate their day of independence on the glorious Fourth of July, and ten days later the French celebrate the fall of the Bastille, and so it goes, the British celebrating the birthday of their king, the Italians the entry into Rome of the troops of united Italy, the Germans the birthday of the kaiser, the Swiss the day of the formation of the confederation. The Spanish celebrate the birthday of their king, and in September their feast of Corvodonga is important enough to last three days. No doubt there are other celebrations not so public or prominent, such as the Chinese New Year and others, but the above goes to show that not all the feasting in the capital is done by natives. An interesting point, however, is that foreigners who come to Mexico are soon the keenest for the coming of the various holidays, and Mexican religious or their own, are jealously demanded as leisure days from all houses of business or commerce.

August.

"August," the name of the month, is accented on the first syllable. "August," the adjective, is accented on the second syllable. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that, though both started from the Latin "augustus," they have arrived by different routes. The adjective is the French "auguste," while "August," commemorating the Roman emperor's title, is the French "août" and the middle English "augst" or "aust." "July" used to rhyme with "duly," even in Johnson's time, as it had done centuries earlier and as it does in southern Scotland to this day.

FISHED JEWELS OUT OF SEWER,

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Fishing jewelry out of a sewer was the task of Detectives Mackie and Kennedy yesterday afternoon.

They heard that Van Zant, Lindsay, and Bruce, the trio charged with housebreaking, had dropped, earrings, watches, brooches, and rings of considerable value in a sewer of the corner of Euclid avenue and London street. Securing a pail, the detectives got down on their knees and bailed the water out. A clothes pole aided them in their task. A quantity of jewelry was recovered.

Mrs. Phoebe Job goes with Detective Mackie to Buffalo, to make a round of the pawn shops in the hope of identifying some of the property alleged to have been stolen from her.

It is said that a quantity of the jewelry missing was taken to Buffalo by one of the trio and pawned there.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. By building its strongest—its others real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Bummers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience.

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

9,600 FEET

Sixty six mining claims.
A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plant.
Numerous Veins Explored.
A Big Industrial and Mining Proposition Combined.
A Strong Directorate.

This is real mining.

The Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company has 66 lode mining claims back of it on Palmer Mountain, near the Town of Loomis, Okanogan County, Washington—about 12 miles south of the boundary of British Columbia. A new railway line is nearly completed and will run within 12 miles of the property. Steamers ply on the Okanogan River to within 23 miles of our properties. There is water—not only for mining purposes, but with unlimited possibilities for power generation. There is timber, there are large, well defined veins proved at great depth—and there is development enough done to make this one of the biggest and best mining propositions in the country.

INTERIOR OF TUNNEL

We can do more with $10 ore on our properties than the desert miners can do with $40 or even higher grade ore. We can make money because we have the FACILITIES on our ground. Our ore can be mined, milled, cyanided and bullion produced for not exceeding $2.50 a ton.

Our immense crosscut bore—a picture of which we show herewith—is now in 4,000 feet, is 9 by 9 in the clear (as large as any of the big transportation and drainage tunnels), and is well timbered, equipped with track, ore cars and everything else essential. In the picture shown herewith, the large pipe running at the top of the right side of the tunnel, is for ventilation purposes and connects with a large, powerful blower.

Recent development on the mountain proves that we shall open up at tunnel level (2,500 feet beneath the surface) an enormous body of copper ore.

We have opened up much $10 ore, and we have a higher grade running up to $50 a ton. This is where the big profit comes from. In the nearly TWO MILES OF WORKINGS we have all the facilities for handling a very large production. Back of it all we have a capable mining and business management. We should be very glad to tell you the complete story. We can only hint at it here.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 200,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 240 per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 250 per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by custom mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

movements beyond the door and knew they were barricading it with furniture. Long before daylight a hurried removal of the barricade awoke him. Then he heard a rap at the door and the excited voice of Tunk.

"Say, mister, come here quick!" it called.

Sidney Trove leaped out of bed and into his trousers. He hurried through the dark parlor, feeling his way around a clump of chairs and stumbling over a sofa. The two old maids were at the kitchen door, both dressed, one holding a lighted candle. Tunk Hosely stood by the door, buttoning suspenders with one hand and holding a musket in the other. They were shivering and pale. The room was now cold.

"Hear that?" Tunk whispered, turning to the teacher.

They all listened, hearing a low, weird cry outside the door.

"Sounds t' me like a raccoon," Miss S'mantha whispered thoughtfully.

"Or a lamb," said Miss Letitia.

"Er a painter," Tunk ventured, his ear turning to catch the sound.

"Let's open the door," said Sidney Trove, advancing.

"Not me," said Tunk firmly, raising his gun.

Trove had not time to act before they heard a cry for help on the doorstep. It was the voice of a young girl. He opened the door, and there stood Mary Leblanc, a scholar of Linley school and the daughter of a poor Frenchman. She came in lugging a baby wrapped in a big shawl and both crying.

"Oh, Miss Tower," said she, "pa has come out o' the woods drunk an' has threatened to kill the baby! Ma wants to know if you'll keep it here tonight."

The two old maids wrung their hands with astonishment and only said "y!"

"Of course we'll keep it," said Trove as he took the baby.

"I must hurry back," said the girl, now turning with a look of relief.

Tunk shied off and began to build a fire. Miss S'mantha sat down weeping, the girl ran away in the darkness, and Trove put the baby in Miss Letitia's arms.

"I'll run over to Leblanc's cabin," said he, getting his cap and coat. "They're having trouble over there."

He left them and hurried off on his way to the little cabin.

Loud cries of the baby rang in that abode of silence. It began to kick and squirm with determined energy. Poor Miss Letitia had the very look of panic in her face. She clung to the fierce little creature, not knowing what to do. Miss S'mantha lay back in a fit of hysterics. Tunk advanced bravely, with brows knit, and stood looking down at the baby.

"Lord, this is awful!" said he. Then a thought struck him. "I'll git some milk," he shouted, running into the buttery.

The baby thrust the cup away, and it fell noisily, the milk streaming over a new rag carpet.

"It's sick. I'm sure it's sick," said Miss Letitia, her voice trembling. "S'mantha, can't you do something?"

Miss S'mantha calmed herself a little and drew near.

"Jar like a wil'cat," said Tunk thoughtfully. "Powerful, too," he added, with an effort to control one of the kicking legs.

"What shall we do?" asked Miss Letitia.

"My sister had a baby once," said Tunk, approaching it doubtfully, but with a studious look.

He made a few passes with his hand in front of the baby's face. Then he gave it a little poke in the ribs tentatively. The effect was like adding insult to injury.

"If 'twas mine," said Tunk, "which I'm glad it ain't, I'd rub a little o' that hoss liniment on his stummick."

The two old maids took the baby into their bedroom. It was an hour later when Trove came back. Tunk sat alone by the kitchen fire. There was yet a loud wail in the bedroom.

"What's the news?" said Tunk, who met him at the door.

"Drunk, that's all," said Trove. "I took this bottle, slung shot and bar of iron away from him. The woman thought I had better bring them with me and put them out of his way."

He laid them on the floor in a corner.

"I got him into bed," he continued, "and then hid the ax and came away. I guess they're all right now. When I left he had begun to snore."

"Waal, we ain't hit right," said Tunk, pointing to the room. "If you can conquer that thing you'll do well. Poor Miss Teeshy!" he added, shaking his head.

"What's the matter with her?" Trove inquired.

"Kicked in the stummick till she dunno where she is," said Tunk gloomily.

He pulled off his boots.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Land in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quarts.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 0x1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, on having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralised in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz not showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

Beware of Mercury

You May be Using this Harmful Drug and Not Know it.

A favorite method of administering this deleterious drug is in cathartic pills. Beware of "quick-result" articles, they may do more harm than good.

Drastic cathartics will weaken the strongest. With old people they are a positive menace to life.

Mercury in restore normal bowel action and greatly stimulate the liver is all that the wise physician recommends.

To keep the system pure and clean, nothing is so efficacious, as the vegetable pills of Dr. Hamilton, which are composed of such herbs as mandrake, butternut and dandelion; they contain not an atom of any substance that could injure even an infant.

By their certain action on the Liver Dr Hamilton's Pills cause bile to be secreted which forms the stimulus that moves the bowels; this is nature's own method and the best one.

Mr S. Hannby, of French River, Ont., writes as follows: "I was inclined to bilious attacks and frequently was too ill to work. Most remedies purged and weakened my bowels, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills greatly stimulated my liver, and by strengthening the stomach made a perfect cure. My health has been just splendid since I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Mr. D. Hall Receives Sad News.

Mr. David Hall, the Charlotte street tonsorial artist, yesterday received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that Mr. Leonard Milburn of Bromley, had passed away at noon yesterday. The late Mr. Milburn was an experienced stone cutter, and had very many warm friends, both in Lindsay and Peterborough. He was a cousin of Mrs. D. Hall of this city. The honorable arrangements are not yet ascertainable.

Jew Peddler Goes to the Wrong House

Yesterday afternoon the taxpayers of this city had their burden decreased by $30.

It seems that yesterday morning a gentleman of Hebraic persuasion came into the city from Toronto, and started to make his rounds. Unfortunately he soon was in trouble. Shortly after dinner he visited the chief of police's residence, trying to sell his goods, and was kept there until P. C. McGinty came from the police station and took him into custody. The Jew was well dressed and carried a leather suit case, containing his samples.

He offered to take out a license for six months, but that was against the law, and after a lengthy conversation with a Jewish friend of his on George street, he decided to take the license for a year, and handed over the thirty dollars to the city clerk.

LOCAL INCIDENTS

By The Times Man on the Street

—There was nothing doing in police circles yesterday.

—St. John's choir met for practice last night in St. John's Guild room.

—Unfurnished rooms to let, central location. Apply at Times office for address.

—The committee appointed to select skips for the curling club will meet on Monday night.

—For experienced nurse with good references, apply at 340 1-2 Water street, opposite market.

—Mr. Myers of Listowel, Ont., has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the Central Milling Co.

—The Brass Workers held an "at home" in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, yesterday evening.

—The Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church held a concert yesterday in the Ashburnham town hall.

—All Saints' church Girl's Guild will hold their annual bazaar in the school room on the afternoon and evening of Friday, December 14th.

—There was a most interesting meeting in connection with the Salvation Army last night. It was "Happy Couples" night, and there was plenty of music and singing.

—Ald. McWilliams is not yet definitely decided whether to be a candidate for mayor or not. Should Mr. McWilliams run there is no doubt but what he would poll a large vote.

—In the Charlotte street church, Peterborough, one collection a year is taken each year to provide money to purchase the season's coal supply. Quite a good idea. — Post Hope Guide.

—Dolls, games, picture books, and toys by the hundreds now ready for Christmas. Shop early and avoid the rush. Goods selected now will be reserved until later by making a small deposit. Times Bookstore.

—The anti-spitting bylaw in Ottawa is being enforced. It is being honored in the observance—as the police magistrate puts on fines. When is Kingston's anti-spitting bylaw to be enforced?—Kingston Whig.

—See The Times Bookstore north window display of twenty-five cent articles. Christmas presents of all descriptions for children. A small deposit on goods purchased now will reserve articles. Take advantage of this and have first choice.

—The Girls' Guild of All Saints' church will assist at a concert in St. John's church, Lakefield, on Wednesday, of next week. "The Ugliest of Seven," which was recently presented in All Saint's church here will form a feature of the entertainment.

—Mr. Kelly, the new proprietor of the Hotel Royal, yesterday completed a contract to draw five hundred cords of hard and soft wood from Clear Lake to Peterborough, for Mr. E. B. Rogers. This will involve Mr. Kelly's hiring a large number of teams as soon as sleighing sets in.

—Rev. John R. Webb, pastor of Point St. Charles Baptist church, Montreal, has written the flock committee that he accepts the call as pastor of Murray street Baptist church and will enter upon his new duties here at the beginning of the year. He succeeds Rev. F. J. Foote, who goes to Bolivia.

Mr. Burnham on "Sir John A."

Last night there was a large gathering at the rooms of the Young Conservative Club to hear Mr. J. H. Burnham, president of the club, give an address on "The Life and Work of Sir John A. Macdonald."

This was the first of a series of fortnightly addresses. No matter of what political persuasion, all were welcome at the meeting.

The entrance to the club rooms has been greatly improved. The name of the club has been neatly printed on the door and more electric lights installed, so that the entrance to the apartments might be more easily found.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., occupied the chair. Mr. Chandler, a recent arrival from England, contributed in fine tenor voice several ballads. Mr. H. Theobald gave several popular airs on the piano. Mr. O. G. Graham in his excellent style, gave some of his humorous stories, and Mr. Hughes rendered solos on his cornet.

Among others who contributed to the enjoyment of the meeting were Messrs Walter Stocker, and the baritone singer, Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Burnham's talk on Sir John A. Macdonald, was most interesting, and conducive to Canadian patriotism on the part of all who heard them. Mr. Burnham's treatment of his subject was not only a veritable history of Canada during the past generation, but was productive of a most compulsory belief in the political creed that Mr. Burnham so admirably promulgates.

Former Local Citizen Here.

Mr. Chas. Stanley of Rochester, N. Y., connected with the Goetzmann Piano Company, arrived in the city Wednesday night calling on his many friends here, and also visiting the Peterborough Music Company. He left on the noon train for Montreal. Mr. Stanley was formerly associated with the Stanley Piano Company of this city, and has many warm friends here.

Popular Ticket Agent is Gone

Mr. Lambert Wallis of the G. T. R. Ticket Office Succumbs to Typhoid.

Yesterday an air of gloom was observable throughout the whole length of the business part of George street, after the dire intelligence spread that Mr. Lambert Wallis had passed away. As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mr. Wallis was seized with typhoid fever last Saturday night. On Sunday Dr. Eastwood was called in and ordered that he be taken to Nicholls hospital. His condition became worse until Wednesday afternoon when it was noticed that he rested easier, and it was thought that he might continue to improve. During the night a change took place and Mr. Wallis passed away about ten o'clock yesterday morning. His father, Mr. Thomas Wallis, of Mount Albert, was telegraphed for, and was with his son during the last sad scene.

Mr. Wallis was one of the most popular young men in Peterborough, having been a resident of the city for the past fourteen years, and during which time was connected with the Grand Trunk Railway. The first twelve years he was ticket agent and telegraph operator at the station, and for the last two years had been chief clerk for Mr. Wm. Buston, city ticket agent. Mr. Buston feels the loss very keenly.

Mr. Wallis was born in York county near Newmarket, some 31 years ago. At about the age of 16 he entered the employ of the G.T.R. as operator at Uxbridge, and from there he was moved to Midland, and fourteen years ago to Peterborough. His father is left to mourn his loss.

The deceased was a prominent society man, being associated with the following orders, in which he took great interest,—Peterborough Lodge, No. 311, I.O.O.F.; Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 58; Cygnus Sanctorum, No. 24; Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 59, W.O.W.; Peterborough Lodge, No. 14, C.B.P.O.E.; Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. & A.M.; Corinthian Chapter, No. 36, Moore Preceptory, No. 13; Ramesis Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S.

The remains will leave the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Haskill, 270 King street, where Mr. Wallis boarded, this morning for the Grand Trunk station, and will be taken to Newmarket on the 8.30 train. The funeral will be held there Saturday morning at ten o'clock to the New market cemetery where the remains will be laid beside those of his mother.

Hastings Officers Enforce the Law

The Hastings Star says that young men have had a habit of coming into town Saturday evenings, and lounging on the corner of Bridge street, opposite the Clarendon House. Here they indulge in all kinds of scuffling and loud talk, much to the annoyance of residents of the village and particularly ladies. On Saturday night Constable Lynch walked up and tried to move them on, when one of the crowd, thinking he was a common pedestrian, scuffled Edward as well—and things began to happen. But not until the young man had lost his collar, tie and adjustable shirt front, and had his wrists in the handcuffs did he wake up to the fact that he was going up against the majesty of the law. After many tears and more promises he was allowed to go on his way again; to hang around corners no more. Constable Lynch has been bothered with this crowd for some time, and hanging on the corners must cease or the offenders will have to take their chances on appearing before the J.P.

Roller Skating Hockey Match.

On Wednesday night one of the most interesting hockey matches under new and startling conditions was played at the Charlotte street rink, an account of which was unfortunately crowded out of yesterday's issue. This was the first chance that hockey enthusiasts of this city had had of seeing hockey on roller skates and the innovation proved a decided success. The match was played with an ordinary rubber ball and under the same rules as ice hockey. The contesting teams were the Peterborough seniors and a picked team from the city league. The former were successful, winning by three goals to two.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. * * * It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in chronic intestinal dyspepsia, especially the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Robert A. Hare, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D. and Prof. John King, M. D., Authors of the American Dispensatory, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land.

Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One or two a dose.

The County Council in Further Session

Yesterday morning the County Council took up the matter of the rules and regulations for the House of Refuge. On Wednesday night Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, of Toronto, provincial inspector, as foretold in The Times, was present and addressed the committee of the whole upon the question, and his advice will be of considerabel value in assisting them to frame a constitution for the government of the House of Refuge at Lakefield.

On motion of Messrs. Andrews and Burk a deputation from Asphodel and other townships addressed the council re depth of water in Otonabee river south of the city.

The deputation consisted of Messrs. Devell, Hambridge, Matchett, Birdsall and Eyres.

The warden assured the deputation that the matter would be duly considered by the council.

"Savings"

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labors and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time"—that is the earning period—to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

ONE DOLLAR is sufficient to open a Savings Bank Account. Interest paid half-yearly, from date of Deposit to date of Withdrawal, at 3½ per cent per annum.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL XXXIV, NO. 282 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1 1906 PRICE TWO CENTS

EXPENDITURE FOR NEXT TWENTY-ONE MONTHS

Estimates Cover a Long Period Because of Fiscal Year Change

EXPENDITURE $105,689,619

A Large Sum of Money Will Be Spent on New Military Buildings.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—In connection with his budget speech yesterday, Mr. Fielding laid upon the table of the House a statement of the estimated expenditures and receipts for the coming year. These estimates cover a period of twenty-one months, because of the change that is to be made in the fiscal year.

The total estimated expenditure for the two periods amounts to $115,085,905.73 Of this $9,376,286.70 is for redemption of debt.

The expenditure on consolidated fund for the nine months of 1907 is $64,186,099.46, and for the fiscal year 1908, $45,224,845.72; the total capital expenditure for nine months, $18,419,765, and for 1908, $36,298,340.

RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

The amount asked for under the head of railways and canals during the year 1908, amounts to $32,953,340 of which $2,308,050 is allotted to the Intercolonial Railway, $401,410 to the Prince Edward Island Railway, $28,340,000 to the National Transcontinental Railway, and $1,883,880 to canals. For the nine months of 1907 $2,819,590 is asked for the Intercolonial Railway $185,500 for the Prince Edward Island Railway, $10,000,000 for the Transcontinental Railway, and for canals $1,296,475, the grand total for both periods being $46,295,900.

The estimated expenditure on rebuilding the concrete piers on the Murray Canal is $18,000 for 1906-07 and $55,000 for 1908; to build the retaining walls for the Welland Canal, $90,000 for 1906-07, and $70,000 for 1908, and the new entrance pier at Maitland, $30,000 for 1906-07, and $15,000 for 1908.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

For Toronto harbor improvements $100,000 will be voted. The expenditure on improvements to Quebec harbor for 1906-07 is estimated at $230,000; for 1908, $280,000. Harbor and River improvements at Port Arthur and Fort William $90,000 for 1906-07, and $500,000 for 1908. Improvements at St. Andrew's Rapids, Red River, $125,000 for 1906-07, and $200,000 for the year ending March 31, 1908.

Estimates for the new departmental buildings at Ottawa, amount to $500,000 for 1906-07, and $100,000 for 1907-08

MONEY FOR MILITIA.

Peterborough armories will have $30,000 spent on them, and varying sums are to be voted for the same purpose elsewhere. The items are as follows: Toronto military buildings, $222,000, addition to Hamilton drill hall, $10,000; Belleville armories, $30,000; Chatham armories, $19,000; Guelph armories, $50,000; Artillery Barracks, Kingston, $18,000; magazine and new stores building at London, $15,000, additional stores buildings at Ottawa, $7,000, St. Thomas drill hall, $3,000; Stratford armories, $5,000; Woodstock armories, $7,000.

Hamilton and McGill Teams are Now Ready

Montreal, Dec. 1.—The final game for the Canadian Rugby championship between McGill, champions of the College Union, and Hamilton, champions of Ontario, will be played this afternoon on the campus, which is being cleared of snow for the match.

Tigers and McGill will both show changes on the line-up, Stephen, the McGill captain, is likely to go from middle wing to center half, Harrington falling back to his last year's position at full-back, and Kendall, a former Ottawa player, replacing Stephens on the line.

The changes in the Hamilton team also originate in the back field. Tope's absence will result in Moore going to full-back, Ripley taking his place, while Orsi, a substitute, will fill the resulting vacancy in the scrimmage.

Hamilton will go into today's game with a decided advantage in weight. Taking the teams as they are now forecasted, the Tigers will total in weight 2,419 pounds, or nearly an average of 164. While McGill's total is 2,290 pounds, or an average of 164. Tigers will have the advantage in this respect in the scrimmage and on the wing line. The backs are more evenly matched than the scrimmage or wing line. The average in the scrimmage is; Tigers, 187; McGill, 171; and on the wing line, Tigers, 183; McGill, 165.

Crowd Thought Burns Had Won

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—The feeling here is that Tommy Burns, the Canadian boxer, should have received the decision over Jack O'Brien in their 20-round bout Wednesday night. When the end came it found the men in the center of the ring engaged in a terrible struggle. The whole upper parts of their bodies were covered with blood. When Referee Jim Jeffries held up the gloves of both fighters, a shout of disapproval went up from the Burns admirers, who believed their man had won. Burns, who fought like a bull-dog from the beginning to the end, was always on the aggressive, crowding his opponent to the ropes, and frequently rushing him about the ring almost in flight.

District Steam Heat Company Interviewed

Yesterday a Times representative interviewed Mr. Brintnell of the District Steam Heating Co., and was informed by this gentleman that the delay of their engineer to make a measurement of the streets of this city, and a consequent report of the cost of an installation of such a plant here has been occasioned by an extra rush of business in other cities which had a prior claim. Their engineer will not be able to get here for a few weeks yet.

The company's Lisle closed a $2,000,000 contract with the city of Buffalo, N.Y., which will be pushed to completion, at the earliest possible date. Large contracts are also under consideration for a number of other cities. However, if Peterborough grants the company a franchise in a reasonable time before spring, they will be able to install a local plant here. They only intend taking up four cities in Ontario next summer.

As soon as the company's engineer can possibly get here, his report concerning the cost, of installation, maintenance, heat per year and profits assured on the investment, will be given to the public.

Mayor Best May Consent to Run

It now seems that there is a growing possibility that Mayor Best may consent to become a candidate for re-election to the office of Peterborough's chief magistrate. The present mayor has many ardent admirers in town who have always admired his independent and dogged determination to uphold what he thought was in the interests of the city. There is no denying that neither cajolery nor abuse could ever move Mayor Best in the direction which was not generally the result of mature deliberation. His every firmness on his part has of course had the result of making him enemies in civic matters.

On the other hand some younger blood is noted as possibly to infuse into the management of our civic government. Ald. Hicks is out and does not deny the soft impeachment. The alderman has had an extended experience in our city matters and would doubtless devote a lot of his time to the government of our city.

Mr. McWilliams, a clever young lawyer, is still flirting with the nomination, but would if elected bring his legal training and high intellectual capabilities to bear on giving Peterborough a good clean rule.

So anxious are some of Mayor Best's friends to have him reconsider his original intention of retiring to private life, that yesterday a petition was circulated, asking him to stand for the office once more.

Splendid Chance for Lucrative Investment

One of the finest and most certain sources for investment recently offered those seeking a channel for a safe and profitable investment for their funds, is that conveyed by an advertisement contained in the present issue, viz. the Salt Lake Public Service Company, of Salt Lake, Utah.

This is no prospectus or nuisance, but the description of work already begun.

Construction work is now in progress and maps, photographs and engineering information, and also statements of power, lighting and heating contracts secured by agents of the company, now in the field, will clients from time to time.

This company offers $1,500,000 of the 5 per cent. first mortgage, forty year gold bonds of the Salt Lake Public Service Company.

The bonds are sold at par and accrued interest, and are accompanied by an equal amount of stock of the same company as part of the same consideration.

The bonds bear 5 per cent. interest payable semi-annually, and are issued in denominations of $500 and $1,000

F. B. Wemple and associates have made a most rigid examination into the affairs of this company during a recent visit to Salt Lake City, and recommend to investors a purchase in the securities of the Salt Lake Public Service Company.

It might be noted that the officers and executive of this company are all men of the highest financial standing.

Whilst during the first year the dividends pay 5 per cent. there is a gradual and guaranteed scale of advanced dividends which show yearly dividends of 12 per cent. on and after the 4th year, with from 5 to 11 per cent. in the preceding period.

For full particulars address F. B. Wemple & Associates, 1204-1205 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich.

It's Very Much The Same

With a Woman as With a Man

She has her ambitions, strivings, hopes, failures and successes in her own field of human activity very similar to the man in his.

At times both seem to be hampered and unable to make headway against some demon of ill luck that persistently interferes, times and again just when success seems clearly in view, a little way ahead.

Oft repeated disappointment sours some and makes others more determined than ever.

It is to the latter class this preachment is directed.

Think over the past failures and you will discover that they have been caused by lack of ability to accurately analyse and think out your course and draw correct conclusions in advance to show the way.

It's a matter of Brains, well nourished, strong active Brains, that are clean and not drugged.

Suppose you clean up the machinery and be ready to think successfully, for that will mean gain of money or fame whichever you are seeking.

Try leaving off the coffee for a while and see how much more accurately the Brain begins to work from a correct premise to a winning conclusion.

It will help mightily if you take on Postum Food Coffee for it contains certain elements which work to rebuild healthy soft gray matter in the brain cells, and after a little a distinct difference will be seen between your present power and that of the past. Try it.

EX-PUPIL'S EVIDENCE FAVORS PRINCIPAL

Brantford, Dec. 1.—All evidence in the Institute for the Blind inquiry yesterday morning related to the defence of Engineer McIntyre, who was charge with driving Liberal rigs at the last election, when he should have been on duty. He had witnesses to swear that he did not drive rigs, despite the fact that others the day before, had testified that he did.

The evidence of Claude Cormie, ex pupil, of Belleville, was favorable to Gardiner. He testified about the elections and discipline at the institute and alleged misdoings outside. At elections pupils registered without Gardiner's permission, but as they were bound to vote, he told them to do so early and in a manly way, without hanging around to be influenced. During the campaign he had allowed pupils to attend Conservative as well as Liberal political meetings. Cormie affirmed that the discipline, on the whole, was good.

Regarding outside experiences, he denied that the Saunders house, which he and others had visited, was disreputable. What drinking the pupils had done had been during their own hours, when they were privileged to be out, and for it Gardiner was not responsible.

The principal had often urged them to be straight, and absolutely forbade witness frequenting the Saunders house of alleged ill-repute.

Admits That He Robbed Mails

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Because Grand Trunk envelopes bearing the name of William J. Leroy, aged 23, 172 Strachan avenue, were found in mail bags stolen from the Grand Trunk train leaving Toronto at 12.01 p.m. on Nov. 18, and 25, Leroy was taken in custody on the charge of stealing the mail bags Thursday night.

Enquiry at the Union Station revealed the fact that Leroy had helped load the mail bags on the train. Leroy's room was searched, and a quantity of stolen letters found.

When Leroy learned that he was traced, he gave himself up at Dundas avenue police station. Leroy confessed that he had thrown one bag over a fence near Mimico. A number of the letters were found in a water tank in the Iroquois Hotel on Tuesday.

Leroy profited by money orders to the extent of between $50 and $75.

Leroy was employed on the G.T.R. as a brakeman between Allendale and Meaford.

Yesterday in the police court, D.O. Inspector Henderson laid two charges against the prisoner, one for stealing mail bags, and one for stealing mail. A charge of forging two money orders for $5 and $20, will also be laid.

Leroy pleaded guilty to both charges and was remanded for a week, when he will be brought up for sentence.

Keene Cheese Factory Elect Officers

At the annual meeting of the Keen cheese factory held on Thursday, Mr. N. G. Somerville, who is in charge of this work, addressed the patrons regarding the advantages of cow testing association, and explained very clearly how the scheme was carried out. The factorymen were so much impressed by the feasibility and many advantages of the proposition that before the meeting was over it was decided to form an association.

The following officers were elected:—

President—Joshua Smithson.

Vice-President—Jos. Taylor.

Secretary—W. A. Anderson.

Committee of Management—Peter Drummond, John Dickson, and W. T. Gather.

The association has over twenty members to start with and it is expected that the number will soon be doubled.

Former Local Man in Washington D. C.

Mr. S. S. Moore, formerly employed on a local contemporary, but now representing the Toronto News in Washington, D.C., reporting the proceedings of the American Civic Association, is making a great success. Arguments are being presented for and against the admission of electric power generated in Canada from the Niagara River as provided for under the Burton Bill passed at the recent session of Congress. The measure vests the secretary of war with the right of granting permits within certain limitations for the importation of power, and also for the diversion of water from the river on the American side of the stream.

Mr. S. J. Stubbs Succeeds Mr. Jeffries

New English Master for the Local Collegiate Institute.

The committee on appointments of the Board of Education, which was practically a committee of the whole Board, all the members being present but one, has recommended that Mr. S. J. Stubbs, of Smith's Falls, be the new English master at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, replacing Mr. Jeffries, who leaves for Toronto at the end of the year. Miss Coulton, who has resigned from the public school staff, will be replaced by Miss Mackenzie, of Listowel, who will resume her new duties at the close of the Christmas holidays.

These recommendations will be confirmed at the next regular session of the Board.

It might be noted that there were six applications for the position of English master at the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Stubbs was the unanimous choice of the Board. At present he is English and Classical master in the Smith Falls Collegiate Institute and comes highly recommended. He has held this position at Smith's Falls for seven years and has had great success in his work. He has excellent testimonials as to his ability as a teacher and personal worth. Mr. Stubbs is a graduate of Toronto University. He will commence his duties here at the commencement of the year. The salary will be $1,100 per year.

Miss Mackenzie also comes highly recommended.

THE CITY WARD SYSTEM OF ELECTION FOR ALDERMEN

Is Generally Conceded to Be Preferable to Election by General Vote

CITY CREMATORY NEEDED

To Burn Up Street and Domestic Garbage and Refuse.

Many prominent and deep-thinking citizens are these days expressing their opinion that the system of selecting Aldermen by a general vote has, after due trial, been found wanting. They argue, and rightly too, that the people, with very few exceptions, do not give due consideration to the whole ticket of aldermanic candidates, but simply mark their ballots for a few favorites and leave the remainder to the tender mercy of the other man. In this way many a strong man is overlooked, who, by the ward system, would stand pretty sure of election. This seems to be a generally admitted fact, and has deterred many desirable men from entering the field. Mayor Best, who has had considerable experience under both systems, while not absolutely committing himself in favor of returning to the Ward system of aldermanic elections, said he could not see that the city had reaped any advantage from the operation of the present system. And when one considers the situation this year, with at least five bylaws before the people, twelve aldermen to vote for, and a mayoralty contest thrown in, the gentlemen will not receive the same careful consideration as they would were each ward to vote on its own aldermen. The City of Toronto elects its aldermen by ward vote; were it otherwise, many strong candidates would be absolutely unknown in many wards outside their own. And will not similar conditions prevail in Peterborough, shortly, if not already evident. We have thrown off our swaddling clothes and assumed manhood apparel. Unlike ten years ago, one can now brush shoulders with a promising fellow citizen, and yet not even recognize him by name. It is quite possible for a desirable south end candidate to stand election, and be totally unknown to many northern electors; it is also more than probable that such a man would refuse nomination for this particular reason, and the Council Board suffer accordingly. One thing is certain: In a city like Peterborough of today a man's strength is best known and understood in his own ward, and this is exemplified at the polls, where, under the present system of election by general vote, hundreds of electors are unacquainted with the personality of sufficient candidates to mark their ballots intelligently for the full complement of aldermen required, while many others plump for a few of the desired twelve.

• • • •

THE MAYORALTY ELECTION.

Well, Ald. Hicks is out for Mayor, and many enquiries are heard as to Mayor Best's intentions. Up to quite recently it seemed to be pretty generally granted that the latter would retire at the end of his present term of office; but it wouldn't be safe to gamble that one will not see his name on the ballot papers on January 7th. And it is more than probable that there will be at least one other. One gentleman approached said he would want $10,000 a year to be Mayor of Peterborough; but others will do it for less.

• • • •

SANITARY MEASURES.

It is said that the Otonabee River is considerably polluted at Lakefield, and that such pollution is apt to find its way through our waterworks intake pipe. It's about time we had a Sanitary Inspector, and one that will do his duty without fear or favor at that. He could test the water, test the milk, see that the city is kept clean from refuse and garbage, and thus give one at least a fighting chance with insidious microbes. We commend the Board of Health for their proposed sanitary precautions. Ald. McIntyre for his milk inspection bylaw, and Ald. Elliott for his general city cleanliness measure. It's true, we have not experienced a serious epidemic yet; neither had the old City of London prior to its awful plague. The Board of Trade did a better act than it ever did when it took up the question of filtration for our waterworks system. We were congratulating ourselves that we used well water, until Mr. Eyres startled Peterborough with the assertion that even that is not safe. Then if, according to our health authorities, no water at present is safe from contamination unless boiled, the Water Commissioners should either instal a filtration system or retail the water to consumers already boiled.

• • • •

A PUBLIC CREMATORY.

By the bye, when installing a system of public scavenging, it might be well to establish a public crematory. That is about the only safe way in which to get rid of refuse, etc.

County Council Split.

Yesterday afternoon the County Council considered the question of raising the funds necessary for the maintenance of the House of Industry. At noon the members were evenly divided. Half were in favor of a general tax, each township being charged in proportion to assessment, while the other half advocated that each township pay for its own inmates.

NOW CONSUMPTION STARTS

Tired When You Wake—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out—Snap All Gone.

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start today. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and bounding, joyous health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Chesterby, Ont., proves this:

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

FIGHTING CONSUMPTION

"Whiskey and consumption follow the flag in the march of civilization." That is the declaration which was made by the president of the American International Congress on Tuberculosis, when he opened its annual session in New York last week.

Everybody knows he is right. Tuberculosis is a house disease and when savages give up their rough, outdoor life and pass a great part of their time between walls and under roofs it soon makes its appearance among them. Yet civilization will march on and houses will always be a part of it. But they need not necessarily be breeders of consumption. If they are kept clean, well ventilated and not too hot, the danger from that source is largely eliminated. The dweller in the healthful house, however, is not out of danger, as things are, because he may contract the disease from those who live in contaminated houses.

The slums of cities are great breeding places of tuberculosis, and municipal sanitation has not been developed to the point of working thoroughly and directly for its prevention.

Municipalities would do well not to confine their attentions to the dwelling places of the poor and the ignorant. According to the bacteriologists there are no more efficient gatherers and breeders of disease germs than churches, theatres, lodge rooms, public meeting halls and street cars. Here, as well as in the slums, is a field for anti-tubercular sanitation. From present indications, the efforts of those who are fighting the "white plague" will soon be directed along these lines.

Exposure of The Capitals

Lacrosse Players Were Paid for Their Services During Season of 1905.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The amateur standing of the Capital Lacrosse Club in 1905 came under the limelight before Judge O'Meara in the Division Court yesterday. Barney Quinn sued for $100 remuneration for services, not rendered, but which he was willing to render, that season. He entered the action against Mr. W. F. Powell, who did the negotiating for the club, but the judge howled out the action on the ground that there was no written contract binding Mr. Powell, and it was quite apparent that he acted for the club. Mr. William Foran, in his evidence, said the players were paid from $75 to $150 for the season's play. Barney Quinn was given a trial, but in the opinion of the executive and trainer, didn't make good and was paid off, in fact he didn't play in one match.

Quinn's evidence went to show that he was "too good" and that Montreal objected and that was the reason he was put off the team. He was given $5 for this practice he turned out for, and was paid by check signed by Mr. Tees and Mr. Foran. This the judge took to show that it was the club he was engaged for, and in the absence of a specific agreement dismissed the action.

A year ago last summer, when the C.A.A.U. was being roundly denounced by the lacrosse people, Capitals and Montreal had about decided to play professionals on their teams. Montreal had Dade and Finlayson, as Capitals got Barney Quinn out. Montreal took cold feet, however, when Capitals went down there to play them, and after a long discussion, during which several thousand people sat and wondered what all the delay was about, decided not to go back on the C.A.A.U. just then. Quinn was out on the field in uniform, but was called off, and that was the nearest he got to playing in a match. It was understood that he was to remain with the club and turn out for practice, but his presence was considered a detriment by some, so the executive let him out—hence Barney's soreness.

Suspect Foul Play In Little's Death

Walkerville, Ont., Nov. 30.—Some new phases which have come to light in the case of S. James Little, the seaman found dead in the basement of Crown Inn., will be investigated at the coroner's inquest tonight. Little was seen in Windsor last Thursday. He then had $60 in his possession. There were only 40 cents on the body when it was found. The post-mortem showed that the skull had been fractured. Dr. Gow's conclusion was that death was due to heart failure, which came on as Little was going down into the basement, and that his skull was fractured after death by the fall to the cement floor.

Turret-Crown Went Aground.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 30.—The Canadian steamer Turret Crown, bound for Duluth without cargo, missed the harbor of refuge at Grand Marais while trying to escape from the south-west gale and snow on Tuesday night. The steamer rolled on a sandy bottom west of the harbor, and ran out three feet forward.

The life-savers went to the stranded ship and remained with the vessel during the night.

It is not leaking and can be readily released with good weather.

The Turret Crown is operated by Mr. D. B. Hanna of the Canadian Northern Railway Company. It was proceeding to Duluth without a cargo.

The Christmas Canadian Magazine

The Christmas number of The Canadian Magazine will be at once recognized by the bright, seasonable front cover in colours, entitled "Our Lady of the Snows," by J. J. Grant. The drawing shows an attractive Canadian girl dressed in bright red, trimmed with ermine, gliding gleefully along with outstretched hands, from which the snowflakes run in reckless abandon. This picture is set upon an artistic design in red, yellow, green and black colouring, dainty decorative effect is obtained by a liberal use of maple leaves, and the Dominion coat of arms. "Our Lady of the Snows" won the fifty-dollar prize offered for the best cover design for Christmas.

A feature of the number that provides interesting reading matter for the Christmas season is an article by Jean Templer, entitled "Jerusalem and its Environments." It is profusely illustrated with reproductions of original photographs and drawings. The frontispiece is a reproduction of "The Communicants," a famous painting by Jules Breton and owned by Lord Strathcona. Another feature of the number is the first six articles on "Worry—the Disease of the Age," by the famous English writer, Dr. C. W. Saleeby.

There are many other attractive things, particularly "Old Christmas Customs in England" (illustrated), by Sarah A. Tooley; reproductions of R. Caton Woodville's famous illustrations, "The Dawn of Majuba Day," and "Maiwand Saving the Guns;" "Canadian Country Clubs" (illustrated); "The Making of Chocolates" (illustrated); "Plays of the Season," with portraits of leading players, by John E. Webber; and short stories by W. A. Fraser, Alice Jones and E. P. Medley.

A Disadvantage of Health.

A visitor among the poor of the east end of London found unexpected testimony to the disadvantages of health in one of his calls. Mrs. B. had a family of a dozen children, and, like most of her class, she had her tale of woe to tell. "How are the children, Mrs. B.?" inquired the caller. "All very well, indeed, sir; very well, indeed," was the answer. "You ought to be thankful, I'm sure, with so much sickness about." "Yes, sir; I suppose I ought to be thankful; but, I tell you, when they're well they eat an awful lot."

Java's Population.

Java is very thickly populated, and cultivation is pushed to an extraordinary distance up the steep slopes of the hills. The plain of Leles in the month of July "is one sea of ripe golden rice, with here and there a village of brown thatch roofs nestling in a grove of green cocoanut trees." In the middle of the island white chimneys of sugar mills peep above miles and miles of sugarcane fields.

Fire and Water.

Why does water put out fire? Water reduces the temperature of the flame below the point of ignition; therefore it cannot burn. Water does not smother the flames even when the burning brand is completely immersed in a tank of water, because the first contact puts out the fire—that is, reduces the temperature of the flame below the point of ignition.

Considerate.

Mrs. Dove—Henry, I think you are positively cruel. Here I've tried so hard to cook you a nice dinner and you haven't had a word to say to me about it. Mr. Dove—Darling, I love you too much for that. If I said what I thought, you'd never speak to me again.

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA DOES WONDERS

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventative and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company,
Columbus, Ohio.

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd.
August 20, 1903. Montreal.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.

Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system, it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write, as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 68 years old, Renoul Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Peruna not only promptly relieves coughs and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

Directions for taking the remedy will be found on each bottle, also in Dr. Hartman's book, called "The Ills of Life," which can be obtained from your druggist for the asking.

For special instructions write to Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

IN THE INTERESTS OF

Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives

The National Sanitarium Association of Canada has undertaken to publish a monthly magazine devoted to the Outdoor Treatment of Tuberculosis, and the inculcation of Hygienic Methods of Living for the people generally. The first number was issued in November, 1906.

All profits from this magazine — from subscriptions and advertising—will go to the maintenance of patients at the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.

Any one contributing one dollar a year, or more, to the funds of the Hospital will become a subscriber to CANADIAN OUT-DOOR LIFE for one year.

No Father, No Mother, No Home—Worse Than a Prisoner

GARFIELD BRACEY, BERLIN, ONT.: Enclosed please find doctor's certificate and examination papers. Hope you will secure me a place in your Sanatorium. You will notice that my circumstances is a hard one; no father, no mother, no home—worse than a prisoner. Nobody wants me on account of my disease. Hoping you will have the charity and consider my position, and give me a position at once in your Sanatorium, I ever pray.

An Orphan, without Home or Means

DR. A. E. HANNA, PERTH: I have a patient here, a young fellow in whom I am greatly interested. He has tuberculosis. He is a poor young fellow, an orphan, out of home, without any means. If we sent him up would you take him in and do the best you can for him? I know how difficult it is to accommodate all who require treatment, but this is a special case.

It is always encouraging to have a letter from friends who kindly contribute. For the convenience of those who have not time to write, the following blank may be used:

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you, and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up, the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear, the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. We invite all the afflicted to consult us confidentially and free of charge. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard-earned dollars. WE WILL CURE YOU OR NO PAY.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Bummers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dilirema at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While AFTER TREATMENT at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

9,600 FEET

Sixty six mining claims.
A crosscut tunnel now in 4,000 feet.
5,600 feet of drifts, shafts and laterals.
A complete 750 h.p turbine electric power plant.
Numerous Veins Explored.
A Big Industrial and Mining Proposition Combined.
A Strong Directorate.

This is real mining.

The Palmer Mountain Tunnel and Power Company has 66 lode mining claims back of it on Palmer Mountain, near the Town of Loomis, Okanogan County, Washington—about 12 miles south of the boundary of British Columbia. A new railway line is nearly completed and will run within 13 miles of the property. Steamers ply on the Okanogan River to within 32 miles of our properties. There is water—not only for mining purposes, but with unlimited possibilities for power generation. There is timber, there are large, well defined veins proved at great depth—and there is development enough done to make this one of the biggest and best mining propositions in the country.

INTERIOR OF TUNNEL

We can do more with $10 ore on our properties than the desert miners can do with $40 or even higher grade ore. We can make money because we have the FACILITIES on our ground. Our ore can be mined, milled, cyanided and bullion produced for not exceeding $2.50 a ton.

Our immence crosscut bore—a picture of which we show herewith—is now in 4,000 feet, is 9 by 9 in the clear (as large as any of the big transportation and drainage tunnels), and is well timbered, equipped with track, ore cars and everything else essential. In the picture shown herewith, the large pipe running at the top of the right side of the tunnel, is for ventilation purposes and connects with a large, powerful blower.

Recent development on the mountain proves that we shall open up at tunnel level (2,500 feet beneath the surface) an enormous body of copper ore.

We have opened up much $10 ore, and we have a higher grade running up to $50 a ton. This is where the big profit comes from. In the nearly TWO MILES OF WORKINGS we have all the facilities for handling a very large production. Back of it all we have a capable mining and business management. We should be very glad to tell you the complete story. We can only hint at it here.

Grand Trunk Pacific to Cross Mountain on an Easy Grade

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, since the approval of its route map from Edmonton to Prince Rupert, on the Pacific Coast, has submitted detailed plans to the Railway Commission of the route its line will take through the Yellowhead Pass. This shows that the line over the summit of the Rocky Mountain range at this point can be accomplished on a maximum grade of fourteenths per cent., which will be far and away the easiest grade on any of the roads leading to the Pacific slope. The G.T.P. confidently believe that they will be able to carry their line through to Prince Rupert without having to make anything heavier than the fourtenths of a foot rise in a hundred, with which they have surmounted the Yellowhead Pass. The details accompanying the location plans show also that, in order to accomplish this feat, the company has to undertake some heavy cuts, and some deep fillings to realize the magnificent route that Mr. Hays has in contemplation.

THE STORY OF LIGHT

EARLY SCONCES AND LANTERNS, CANDLESTICKS AND LAMPS.

Tragic Incident of the Ancient Custom of Carrying Flambeaus at Festivals—Origin of the Phrase, "Holding a Candle to You."

There was a panic of a curious origin about the beginning of the eleventh century. It was widely believed that the year 1000 would witness the end of the world, and this superstition caused a very general stagnation of industry and commerce. Such panics have occurred at irregular intervals ever since, the last one being within the memory of the present generation and inspired by Mother Shipton's prophecy:

The world to an end shall come
In eighteen hundred eighty-one.

However, as soon as people became convinced that the world was not really going to come to an end in the year 1000, they resumed their work and play, and the making of lamps and candlesticks, like other manufactures, entered upon an era of prosperity. Monasteries were famous schools for this work, as for all other forms of handicraft, and paid peculiar attention to the beautifying of lamps and candlesticks because of their usefulness in church services. During the eleventh century Dinant, in Belgium, became famous for its copper work, and some of the most beautiful chandeliers of this period were made there. At about this time the "couronne des lumieres," or circle of lights hung from the ceiling, became a common device for lighting a church, and some of these are exquisite works of art.

In this period, too, various devices for improving and shielding the light came into use. Our ancestors were very practical people, and if some of their utensils appear to us somewhat singular it is because we do not understand the purpose for which they were used. It is rare indeed to find any cumbersome addition to a lamp or candlestick which has not its use. The old time silversmiths and copper workers did not spend their strength on mere decoration.

The sconce and the lantern were in general use throughout the middle ages. The sconce was a light covered and guarded from the wind, lifted down by a handle, and distinct from the lantern, serving somewhat the same purpose, but hung by a chain.

Lanterns in the thirteenth century were made of gold, silver, copper or iron, according to the means of the owner. The light in them was shielded from the wind by thin sheets of horn. Lantern making was an important industry in Paris.

At this time, too, noblemen and rich merchants took to having luxurious little traveling equipments made for them, and among these were traveling candlesticks and wash basins in this fine enameled work, the secret of which is now lost.

The custom of having servants carry flambeaus at festivals also became general about this time, and a strange and tragic incident is connected with this fashion. At a ball given by Charles VI. the torches carried by some careless servants came too near the headdresses of certain persons dressed as savages and set them on fire. The unfortunate guests were burned to death, and the king at the sight lost his reason, a madness which had a serious effect on the history of France.

Magic lanterns were invented in the time of King Francis I. A device on a somewhat similar plan was used as a sign before shop doors to attract custom.

Lamps fell into disfavor at the beginning of the seventeenth century and were used only by the poor and in passages and stables where the smoke could evaporate and a great deal of light was needed. Candles had then reached their perfection and candlesticks their most exquisite form. A candlestick of crystal given by Louis XIV. to La Valliere is still in existence, and it was at this time also that the crystal pendants came into fashion.

Street illumination was not seriously attempted in Paris until about the middle of the seventeenth century. In the first years of that notable century the streets of Paris were dark. The rich were escorted by lackeys bearing torches, the middle class folk picked their way, lantern in hand, while the poor slid along, feeling their way by the walls. In his edict of September, 1667, the king provided that candles inclosed in a cage of glass should be hung by cords at the height of the first story of the house, three lanterns for every street, one at each end and one in the middle. At the sound of a bell, struck by a watchman, they were lighted.

Paris was, however, considerably in advance of other cities of the world at this time. In London link boys stood about in public places calling out in lugubrious tones, "Gentlemen, a light!"

The origin of the phrase "holding the candle to you" is somewhat doubtful, but some authorities trace it to the fact that, as the small light stand had not yet been devised, any one who desired to read in bed had to have a servant stand beside him to hold the candle. One cannot imagine that reading in bed under these circumstances would be very enjoyable, certainly not to one who had been accustomed to solitude and a gas jet easily turned on or off, but there is everything in habit.

Possible Demonstration of Eternal Life

Christian Scientist Say That Mrs. Eddy May Never Die.

New York, November 20.—That Mrs. Eddy may never die, is the remarkable statement made by Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, one of Mrs. Eddy's most faithful students in New York, to a reporter who had occasion to interview her recently. In the course of his talk with the aged disciple of Christian Science, the reporter chanced to ask Mrs. Stetson her opinion of the recent visit of the reporters to Mrs. Eddy's home, after the claim had been made that the venerable leader of Christian Science was suffering from the last stages of cancer, and that another woman masquerading as Mrs. Eddy drove about daily in the Eddy carriage, that Christian Scientists might continue to believe in her marvellous preservation.

Mrs. Stetson shook her head sadly. "A great deal of error has been published," she said, "but science has triumphed over it. Mrs. Eddy is in perfect health—she is without a wrinkle."

"I will not say that Mrs. Eddy must ever die. I believe she may give a demonstration of eternal life. Christ said to the Apostle after He rose from the dead: 'For lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.' And He was with them, only because of mortal mind they could not see Him.

"I flatter myself that even I, the humblest of her students, may be permitted to make a demonstration. I know that if I have sufficient of God thought in me I will not die."

Strength.

Strength is one of the distinguishing attributes of a healthy man. In one of the most beautiful poetic flights known to literature, the inspired singer finds no finer figure to express the sun's majestic rising than "rejoicing like a strong man to run a race."

Who has not known such a man, the picture of health, handy and athletic, suddenly begin to fail? At first he has a slight cough, which he laughs at. Presently the cough becomes deep seated. The scales tell him he is losing flesh. A little later and the lungs bleed. He grows weaker and more and more emaciated. Each day sees some circumscribing of his activities, until at last he does not leave the house, and friends shake their heads and say, "Poor fellow! Who would ever have believed it possible?"

But what are the doctors doing all this time? Doing their best probably, but usually doing no lasting good. The emaciation grows more marked, the weakness more apparent, until at last the sick man hears the sentence, "There's no hope."

It is just at this very point of hopelessness that the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proven the first step to health to many a sufferer. It cures the cough, stops the hemorrhage, heals the lungs, puts sound flesh upon the body, and sends the man back to the activities of life as strong as ever. It's a wonderful statement, but it is literally true, that "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured time and time again when all other means had absolutely failed to benefit.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is private and the confidences of the sick are guarded with professional privacy. The success of the methods and medicines of Dr. R. V. Pierce, may be inferred from the fact that of the thousands treated by him and his assistant staff of nearly a score of physicians ninety-eight per cent. have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"A SURE CURE."

"I beg to state that I have used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery since my correspondence with you, and find great improvement in my case," writes Mr. A. F. Novotny, of New York, N. Y., Box 1457. "I feel that I am in need of no more medical assistance. When I started to take your medicine I had a regular consumptive cough, of which I was afraid, and everybody cautioned and warned me concerning it. I was losing weight rapidly, was very pale and had no appetite whatever. Now my condition is changed entirely. I do not cough at all, have gained eight pounds in weight, have recovered my healthy color, and my appetite is enormous. I can recommend your medicine to everybody who may be in need of the same, as it is a sure cure, no humbug as are most other patent medicines, and is far superior to all similar medicines."

THE DOCTOR WAS WRONG.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaseville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. After that I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages and 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding or only 21 stamps if paper covers are desired. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

OUR ZINC COMPANY IS DIFFERENT

Holders of Preferred Stock have a priority lien upon all property until they have received in dividends the par value of their holdings.

Combines the safety of a government bond with the speculative element of a gold mine.

Capitalization is low, only $50,000.00; 300,000 shares are made preferred stock, and placed in the treasury by charter provision. This stock is protected to the complete exclusion of the common stock, until it has earned in dividends an amount equal to its par value.

Zinc mining is the safest, the cheapest, and the most profitable in the realm of mining.

The great Southwestern Lead and Zinc District is the greatest in the world. More than 500 paying mines are located in this district. The Empire Zinc Mine has paid dividends of 2½ per cent. The Enterprise Lead and Zinc Mine has paid 3½ per cent. and its stock is worth seven times its par value. The Northern Arkansas mineral region is a part of this famous District. The ores from Lawrence and adjoining Counties, Ark., were awarded the Bronze Medal at the late World's Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A. Some of these ores were taken from the land where is now located the group of New Era Mines belonging to our Association.

If you want to get in with a live company where things are moving, come with us. Write today. You must act quickly. It is the opinion, and believed by experts and miners, that within a few months our company will be paying large dividends. Development work now done has brought our miners into a zone which is yielding rich ore, and every indication points to an immense deposit of zinc.

We have the mines. We have the ore. We need a concentrating plant for the treatment of this ore. Were it not that we consider it better business policy to sell a block of preferred stock and purchase an equipment of machinery at once than to wait and have our ore treated by eastern mills, NOT ONE DOLLARS WORTH OF THIS STOCK WOULD BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

Write to us today for full information.

DARREL of THE BLESSED ISLES

By IRVING BACHELLER,

Author of "Eben Holden," "D'ri and I," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY

"If she don't go lame t'morrer I'll miss my guess," he added. "She looks a good deal like Deacon Haskins after he had milked the brindle cow."

He leaned back, one foot upon the stove hearth. Shrill cries rang in the old house.

"Pretty 'twould hev been a painter," said Tunk, sighing.

"Why so?"

"More used to 'em," said Tunk sadly. They listened a while longer without speaking.

"Ye can't drive it, ner coax it, ner scare it away, ner do nuthin' to it," said Tunk presently.

He rose and picked up the things Trove had brought with him. "I'll take these to the barn," said he. "They'd have a fit if they was t' see 'em. What be they?"

"I do not know what they are," said Trove.

"Waal!" said Tunk. "They're queer folks, them Frenchmen. This looks like an iron bar broke in two in the middle."

He got his lantern, picked up the bottle, the sling shot and the iron and went away to the barn.

Trove went to the bedroom door and rapped and was admitted. He went to work with the baby, and soon, to his joy, it lay asleep on the bed. Then he left the room on tiptoe and a bit weary.

"A very full day," he said to himself—"teacher, counselor, martyr, constable, nurse! I wonder what next?"

And as he went to his room he heard Miss Samantha say to her sister, "I'm thankful it's not a boy anyway."

CHAPTER XVI.

ALL were in their seats, and the teacher had called a class. Carit Homer came in.

"You're ten minutes late," said the teacher.

"I have fifteen cows to milk," the boy answered.

"Where do you live?"

"'Bout a mile from here on the Beach plains."

"What time do you begin milking?"

"'Bout 7 o'clock."

"I'll go tomorrow morning and help you," said the teacher. "We must be on time. That's a necessary law of the school."

At a quarter before 7 in the morning Sidney Trove presented himself at the Homers'. He had come to help with the milking, but found there were only five cows to milk.

"Too bad your father lost so many cows—all in a day," said he. "It's a great pity. Did you lose anything?"

"No, sir."

"Have you felt to see?"

The boy put his hand in his pocket.

"Not there—it's an inside pocket; way inside o' you. It's where you keep your honor and pride."

"Waal," said the boy, his tears starting, "I'm 'fraid I have."

"Enough said. Good morning," the teacher answered as he went away.

One morning a few days later the teacher opened his school with more remarks.

"The other day," said he, "I spoke of a thing it was very necessary for us to learn. What was it?"

"To obey," said a youngster.

"Obey what?" the teacher inquired.

"Law," somebody ventured.

"Correct. We're studying law, every one of us, the laws of grammar, of arithmetic, of reading, and so on. We are learning to obey them. Now I am going to ask you what is the greatest law in the world?"

There was a moment of silence. Then the teacher wrote these words in large letters on the blackboard, "Thou shalt not lie."

"There is the law of laws," said the teacher solemnly. "Better never have been born than not learn to obey it. If you always tell the truth you needn't worry about any other law. Words are like money—some are genuine, some are counterfeit. If a man had a bag of counterfeit money and kept passing it, in a little while nobody would take his money. I know a man who said he killed four bears at one shot. There's some that see too much when they're looking over their own gun barrels. Don't be one of that kind. Don't ever kill too many bears at a shot."

After that in the Linley district a man who lied was said to be killing too many bears at a shot.

Good thoughts spread with slow but sure contagion. There were some who understood the teacher. His words went home and far with them, even to their graves, and how much farther who can say? They went over the hills, indeed, to other neighborhoods, and here they are, still traveling, and going now, it may be, to the remotest corners of the earth. The big boys talked about this matter of lying and declared the teacher was right.

"There's Tunk Hosely," said Sam Price. "Nobody'd take his word fur nuthin'."

"'Less he was t' say he was a fool out an' out," another boy suggested.

"Dunno as I'd believe him then," said Sam, "fer I'd begin t' think he knew suthin'."

A little girl came in crying one day.

"What is the trouble?" said the teacher tenderly, as he leaned over and put his arm around her.

"My father is sick," said the child, sobbing.

"Very sick?" the teacher inquired.

For a moment she could not answer, but stood shaken with sobs.

"The doctor says he can't live," said she brokenly.

A solemn stillness fell in the little schoolroom. The teacher lifted the child and held her close to his broad breast a moment.

"Be brave, little girl," said he, patting her head gently. "Doctors don't always know. He may be better tomorrow."

He took the child to her seat and sat beside her and whispered a moment, his mouth close to her ear. And what he said none knew save the girl herself, who ceased to cry in a moment, but never ceased to remember it.

A long time he sat, with his arm around her, questioning the classes. He seemed to have taken his place between her and the dark shadow.

Joe Beach had been making poor headway in arithmetic.

"I'll come over this evening, and we'll see what's the trouble. It's all very easy," the teacher said.

He worked three hours with the young man that evening and filled him with high ambition after hauling him out of his difficulty.

But of all difficulties the teacher had to deal with, Polly Vaughn was the greatest. She was nearly perfect in all her studies, but a little mischievous and very dear to him. "Pretty"—that is one thing all said of her there in Faraway, and they said also with a bitter twang that she loved to lie abed and read novels. To Sidney Trove the word "pretty" was inadequate. As to lying abed and reading novels, he was free to say that he believed in it.

"We get very indignant about slavery in the south," he used to say, "but how about slavery on the northern farms? I know people who rise at cockcrow and strain their sinews in heavy toil the livelong day and spend the Sabbath trembling in the lonely shadow of the Valley of Death. I know a man who whipped his boy till he died because he ran away to go fishing. It's all slavery, pure and simple."

"In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread till thou return unto the ground," said Ezra Tower.

"If God said it, he made slaves of us all," said young Trove. "When I look around here and see people wasted to the bone with sweat and toil, too weary often to eat the bread they have earned; when I see their children dying of consumption from excess of labor and pork fat, I forget the slaves of man and think only of these wretched slaves of God."

But Polly was not of them the teacher pitied. She was a bit discontented, but surely she was cheerful and well fed. God gave her beauty, and the widow saw it and put her own strength between the curse and the child. Polly had her task every day, but Polly had her way also in too many things and became a bit selfish, as might have been expected. But there was something very sweet and fine about Polly. They were plain clothes she wore, but nobody save herself and mother gave them any thought. Who, seeing her big, laughing eyes, her finely modeled face, with cheeks pink and dimpled, her shapely, white teeth, her mass of dark hair, crowning a form tall and straight as an arrow, could see anything but the merry hearted Polly?

"Miss Vaughn, you will please remain a few moments after school," said the teacher one day near 4 o'clock. Twice she had been caught whispering that day with the young girl who sat behind her. Trove had looked down, stroking his little mustache thoughtfully, and made no remark. The girl had gone to work, then, her cheeks red with embarrassment.

"I wish you'd do me a favor, Miss Polly," said the teacher when they were alone.

She blushed deeply and sat looking down as she fussed with her handkerchief. She was a bit frightened by the serious air of that big young man.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $5.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 15 by 1500 feet. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

PLACER mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5 renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

CANADIAN GOLD FOR CANADIAN INVESTORS

Rich Gold Field in New Ontario

Some Remarkable Discoveries of Gold in Canada which May Equal the Famous South African Rand.

A new and wonderfully rich gold field is rapidly coming to public notice in New Ontario, of which one sees many newspaper notices lately, and which practical miners, who have carefully examined it, do not hesitate to say will prove to be another African Rand. Some of the richest quartz vein matter is found almost at the grass roots, which grows richer as depth is reached. The ore is free milling and is easily worked, so that the cost of mining is comparatively low, while the ore is exceptionally rich.

Hundreds of assays have been made and the results show a uniformity of richness that is remarkable. Miners know that where large numbers of assays show high gold values, it determines the fact that the values are there and the impregnation very uniform. Some assays have been exceptionally high, running up into the thousands of dollars per ton, and all the assays show the rock to be mineralised in richly paying quantities.

There are a number of properties in this section which already have demonstrated the richness of this ore, notably the Laurentian, owned principally by Anthony Blum, of Boston, reported in the press as being one of the richest gold mines yet discovered on this continent, the stock of which about a year ago was offered for thirty cents a share, but which now is not for sale at any price. The Minnehaha is another, though not so far developed as the Laurentian, gives promise of equal richness. Mr. B. J. Morningstar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has spent much time in the field, brought back with him a large quantity of this ore, and while in Peterborough recently, exhibited some samples of free gold ore, which were as rich as any ever taken out of a mine. He also had samples of quartz but showing any visible gold, and from but a few ounces he showed a handsome streak of gold in the bottom of the pan.

Canada is fast coming to the front rank as a mining country, and a large amount of American capital is being invested here daily. Cobalt has silver—the Rainey River has gold in wonderful quantities, and since last December the famous Laurentian Mine has astonished the world with the quantity and quality it has produced.

The Blind Historian.

William Hickling Prescott, who was born at Salem, Mass., on the 4th of May, 1796, was the son of a prosperous lawyer, entered Harvard college in 1811 and graduated in 1814. Early in his college career he had his left eye blinded by a piece of bread playfully thrown at him by a fellow student, and the other eye soon became sympathetically affected. He traveled in England, France and Italy and then devoted himself to severe study, but it was not till the beginning of 1826 that he found the work of his life within the range of Spanish history. Fortunately his means were ample, so that he was able to procure the services of assistants and to live amid conditions of comfort. By constant habit he gained the power of carrying a great deal in his memory, and after he had revolved the whole of a chapter in his mind he quickly transferred it to paper by means of his stylus and an ingenious writing case especially constructed for the blind. He published his "History of Ferdinand and Isabella" in 1838, which carried his name across the ocean to the old world. This was followed by his "History of the Conquest of Mexico" in 1843, and of "Peru" in 1847. These gave him a great reputation.

A Fruitarian Diet.

A fruitarian diet consists of the fruits of trees (like apples, oranges, bananas and olives), the fruits of bushes (like currants and raspberries), the fruits of plants (like strawberries and melon, lentils and beans and cucumbers), the fruits of grasses (like wheat and barley and maize and oats), the fruits of nut trees (from filbert to cocoanut), together with some earth fruits (like potatoes), and a modicum of vegetables and salads. To these may be added butter, milk, honey and cheese, although their production is not so free from risk of contamination and animal infection as is the case with the products of the vegetable kingdom and the world of fruits. Grown under healthy conditions, with diseased specimens easy to detect and remove, it is far more possible to live healthily and well upon a fruitarian dietary than upon the products of the slaughter house.

Making It Plain.

In the lower Amazon country the temperature ranges about 87 degrees in the shade all the year round, says the author of "Ten Thousand Miles In a Yacht." At Manaos, 1,000 miles up the river, the temperature is six or eight degrees higher. Thermometers are little used in that country and little understood. So when a yachtsman returned down river and was asked by an official at Para, "How is the temperature at Manaos?" his reply, "Eight degrees hotter than here," elicited a stare of noncomprehension.

"At Manaos," said the yachtsman in explanation, "I used to wilt six collars a day; here in Para I only need three a day."

This was perfectly clear to the Brazilian, whose face lighted with understanding.

To Clean Frames.

Don't attempt to clean picture frames covered with gold leaf, as the finest and most beautiful of all gold frames are. You can tell them by the way the gold, as you look at it closely, seems laid on here and there curling over so slightly away from the frame. Any sort of cleaning, except the most casual dusting, is bound to make the gold scale off in an unsightly fashion.

WOMAN'S WORLD

VOGUE POINTS.

High Buckles and Velvet Ribbon Trim Fall Gowns.

Even upon street frocks and apparently more appropriately so than upon the house gowns do velvet ribbons obtain as chief trimming adjuncts this fall. They appear in single rows in very wide widths or else in groupings of narrow ribbons, three to nine rows in each group.

A high buckle upon one broadcloth gown of royal blue color is the piece de resistance of the costume. It is diamond shaped, fully six inches wide and made of large blue brilliants set in silver rims placed in turn upon a dull black jetted band. Trimmings of blue velvet ribbon in groups of three rows each were very attractively arranged on skirt and jacket, but the feature of this costume which caught and held the eye was the buckle that, placed upon the front, reached nearly to the bust line.

Another novelty seen in a bronze green cloth costume was the mandolin shaped jacket. The skirt was modeled in overskirted effect obtained by four well cut gored flounces arranged to give a plaited effect in front. A tan crepe de chine blouse of the washable variety was covered by mandolin shaped crossed fronts held in place by black jet buttons set upon insets of white broadcloth. Three little curved sections of cloth barely covering the top of the arm passed for sleeves, illustrating again and even more forcibly the continuation of this fashion of short sleeves.

Dressy waists as well as entire costumes for autumn show short sleeves. Even those smart tailored flannel waists for autumn outing and sporting wear are shown with the short cuffed sleeve which characterised the summer "shirt." A dainty white flannel model is built with Gibson plaits and fullness opening over a tucked and shirred chemisette of white chiffon, a touch of dressiness afforded by ties of gold colored ribbons. The ends are weighted with two round green imitation jade balls, which fall from underneath a narrow square collar edged with gold soutache braid and embroidered with gold stars. The sleeves are quite simply designed and have natty little cuffs decorated to match the collar. A greater elaboration than we have seen for several seasons past will prevail, it is prophesied, upon the silk and crepe de chine waists that are to come later in the season; but, like the lone fisherman, we will wait with patience to see "what shall we see."

The hat illustrated is one of the smartest models for all round serviceable wear. It is a mushroom sailor carried out in short haired navy blue beaver. A chou of blue velvet and two stiff wings showing beautiful blendings of soft colors shading from blue to rosy pinks are placed at one side of the model.

The Ideal Hostess.

She must make you feel individually that you are the favored guest.

She must make you feel perfectly at home.

She must see everything, and yet possess the art to see nothing.

She must never look bored.

She must know how to get congenial people together.

She must know how to keep conversation always going.

She must never let any one be slighted or overlooked.

She must know when to ask the amateur musician to display his or her talents.

She must be perfectly unselfish about her own talents.

She must remember that nothing is so tiresome, so surely death to all enjoyment, as the feeling that one is being entertained.

How to Clean Rings.

A sharp pointed implement should never be employed to clean rings, as it loosens the stones. Soak them in liquid ammonia a whole day, and the dirt will float out. Afterward they should be polished with a soft cloth. It is a good plan to keep rings in sawdust, as it enables the gems to retain their brilliancy. Warm water and a little prepared chalk are all that are required to clean plain or chased rings.

Tit For Tat.

"If nature had made me an ostrich," said old Grouch, "I suppose I could eat your cooking."

"Wouldn't that be nice?" answered his imperturbable spouse. "Then I could get some feathers for my hat."

LITTLE NIPISSING

The Best in Cobalt is Not Too Good for You to Buy

All the large profits in Cobalt have been made on strictly inside properties. LITTLE NIPISSING SILVER COBALT MINING COMPANY, LIMITED (No Personal Liability), owns the famous J B. 2 property, comprising thirty-eight acres in the very heart and centre of the richest producing portion of the camp. It is surrounded on three sides by the original Nipissing, the McKinley-Darragh-Savage, the Temiskaming and Hudson Bay and Silver Queen propreties, and is believed to have the same system of veins. Authorized Capital only $650,000. Par Value of shares $1.00 each Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS ARE:

SEVRIN FERLAND, Cobalt, mining man, former part owner of the original Nipissing Mine, and part owner of the O'Brien Mine; P. J FINLAN, Cobalt, mining man and Mayor of Cobalt; ROBERT B, YOUNG, Toronto, of the Crown Bank of Canada; ATWELL FLEMING, Toronto, of the Atwell Fleming Printing Company; ROBERT RAY, Toronto.

BANKERS:

Bank of Montreal, Toronto; Imperial Bank, Cobalt, Ontario.

SOLICITORS:

Clark, McPherson, Campbell & Jarvis, Toronto.

This is a proposition of extraordinary merit and exceptional possibilities for large profits. It is in the same class as the properties that surround it, and is believed to be as good as any of these, and that an investment in the stock at the starting price will prove as profitable as did investments in its neighbors.

A Monster Musical Instrument.

The most gigantic harp ever constructed, as far as the record goes, was that made by Veritan, the provost of Burkli, near Basel, Switzerland, in 1787. That was a long while ago, but the fame of M. Veritan's gigantic harp was such that it is still occasionally mentioned by writers on the rare and the wonderful, just as the sea serpent, bloody rain, live mastodons, etc., are. M. Veritan's colossal musical instrument was 320 feet in length, and, on that account, was constructed in an open lot instead of in a harp factory. It was most simple in construction, consisting of fifteen wires strung tightly between two poles. These wires were of different sizes, the largest being one-sixth of an inch in diameter and the smallest one-twelfth of an inch. They were stretched north and south and inclined in such a manner as to form an angle of from twenty to thirty degrees with the horizon. This queer instrument was not intended as an exaggerated toy, but was constructed for the express purpose of foretelling changes in the weather, which were calculated by Professor Veritan according to the different tones the instrument made when the wind was blowing through it.

As You Please.

In the ancient times there lived a wonderfully wise man, of whom it was said that he could answer correctly any question put to him. There was one, however, who thought himself clever enough to outwit the sage. This man took a poor, captive bird and clasped it so closely in his hand that only the head and tail were visible.

"Tell me," said he to the renowned guesser of riddles, "is the bird which I hold in my hand alive or dead?"

If the answer were "Dead," thought this artful plotter, he would just open his hand and let the bird fly. If the answer were "Alive," he would with one little squeeze crush the poor bird to death.

But the wise man proved himself equal to the occasion and replied, "It is as you please."

Each one holds within his or her grasp the fair bird of life. Which is it to be? A blessing or a bane? It is "as you please."

Pressed to Death.

An English court has sentenced a woman to imprisonment because she refused to speak during a trial. The old penalty for remaining mute under similar conditions was being pressed to death. The form of sentence set forth "the prisoner shall be laid in some low, dark house, where he shall lie naked on the earth and one arm shall be drawn to one quarter of the house with a cord and the other arm to another quarter, and in the same manner let it be done with his legs, and let there be laid upon his body iron and stone, as much as he can bear—or more." There the man had to lie. On the following day he was given three morsels of bread without water, on the following water, but no bread. And this was his diet until he died.

Great Discovery.

The editor of a Kansas paper states that he once borrowed a Winchester rifle and started up the street a few days after to deliver the weapon to its owner. The delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath, and every one he met insisted on paying what he owed him. One man wiped out a debt of ten years' standing. On his return to his office he found a load of hay, fifteen bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of turnips that had been brought in. We would like to borrow a Winchester for a day or two —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

DO NOT BE A BURDEN

Some Good Advice to Readers of The Times.

A weak stomach and its resulting ills are not natural. With proper care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, the very worst cases of indigestion or stomach trouble can be completely cured.

It is a sin to deprive oneself of enjoyment in life and become a burden to others through indigestion.

The backaches, headaches, distress after eating, loss of appetite, gulping up of undigested food and gases are not natural. Mi-o-na stomach tablets used for a few days before meals will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress or resulting sickness.

The directions for taking Mi-o-na emphasize the difference between this remedy and the ordinary medicine that is given for indigestion. Mi-o-na is to be used before meals, strengthening the digestive system for the food which is to be eaten, while the ordinary remedy is taken after meals, and simply digests the food without strengthening the stomach.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Write today for a free sample package, and also give us your symptoms, and one of the best known stomach specialists will give your case his careful and personal attention without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

About Female Ailments

Not Hard to Cure if Properly and Promptly Treated.

Ask any intelligent physician what causes nine-tenths of all female disease, even including anaemia, nervousness and consumption.

Back comes the answer quick and sharp "Constipated Bowels."

There is scarcely a single female ailment that had not in its earlier stages symptoms of constipation.

How much better off the system is without the poisonous accummulations caused by constipation. How much clearer the complexion, how much fresher one feels when the system is pure and clean.

Think it over yourself.

Isn't it apparent that a bowel regulator and liver stimulant like Dr. Hamilton's Pills is sure to do good?

Gay spirits, good looks and happy health have returned to many a sick woman through Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Better get a few boxes today; purely vegetable, free from injurious ingredients, healthful and antiseptic. Dr. Hamilton's Pills will assist you in a thousand ways.

An delay is always dangerous, your plain duty is to follow the example of Mrs. F. Rowe, who sends the following letter from Gravels, Port Au Port, Newfoundland; "Four years ago I got kidney and bladder trouble. I thought it was 'female trouble' and treated it accordingly. Even my doctor in St. John said it was so.

"In reading about Dr. Hamilton's Pills I noticed symptoms like mine and I bought six boxes. These pills went right to work on my sick condition and helped me from the first. My supposed female trouble, which was bladder disease, was cured. My weight increased eight pounds and never before was I as well as today. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Lindsay G. T. R. Conductor Resigns.

Referring to a G.T.R. conductor known to many of our citizens the Lindsay Post says: Mr. Kelly has tendered his resignation to the G.T.R. in whose service he has been employed for a number of years, and left town this morning with Mrs. Kelly, for Belleville. During Mr. Kelly's residence in Lindsay his genial and kindly disposition has made for him many friends, who will regret his removal from town.

—Mr. M. O. Tooley, yesterday had one of Peterborough's newest productions placed in the Queen's Hotel in the shape of a large Dixon range in the kitchen. This range, supplied by Mr. Adam Hall is six feet long by four wide, and is the most modern and up-to-date stoves on the market.

—The council meeting on Monday will be the last regular meeting this year and it promises to be one of the most important. There will be a lot of reports to read as well as a long list of bylaws to put through to be ready for election day. It is necessary that every member of the council be present.

Former Norwood Man's Great Find

The Norwood Register says:

The site upon which Mr. W. Rutherford's summer house is situated among the Kootenay mountains, not far from the city of Nelson, B.C., has been found to contain a silver mine which is recognized as a valuable one. It appears that this mine was operated some years ago, but abandoned, the operators leaving about one hundred sacks of ore at the mouth of a tunnel, ready for shipment. This ore, it is believed, is worth as it stands, about $2,000. The find was made by a prospector a short time ago. Mr. Rutherford who resides in Nelson, carried on a drug and stationery business here for many years. He moved to Nelson about ten years ago.

Will Peterboro' Get Her Share?

It looks like Peterborough is getting the small end of the Dominion Government's appropriations. Hon. Mr. Fielding's estimates include the goodly sum of $105,689,519, and this city gets so far $30,000 for our new armory and $10,000 for dredging the Otonabee.

An Ottawa despatch says that the amount asked for under the head of railways and canals during the year 1906 amounts to $32,953,249 of which $2,308,050 is allotted to the Intercolonial Railway, $401,410 to the Prince Edward Island Railway, $28,200,000 to the National Transcontinental Railway, and $1,983,889 to canals and other appropriations for every old expenditure, but the Trent Valley canal. It is hardly fair however to grow despondent over Peterborough's seemingly inadequate share of the public money until Mr. Hall has had a chance to get in his work which will probably result in this city getting a share of the plums being shaken.

House of Refuge Committee to Meet.

The representatives of the County House of Refuge Committee will meet the public at the House of Refuge on Tuesday, Dec. 4th, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of receiving bids for the supply of gravel laid down on the premises. Gravel to be subject to the approval of the superintendent.

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. A. Madill, of Kingston, is a guest at the Oriental.

—Mr R. M. Henderson is in New York City on business.

—Mrs. W. Archer is visiting in Peterborough.—Millbrook Reporter.

—Mr. C. B. McAllister, of Brandon, Manm., is in the city for a few days on business.

—Miss Gertrude Young left last week to attend the Peterborough Business College.—Havelock Standard.

—Mr. G. A. Gillespie the well-known local cheese buyer, yesterday attended the annual meeting of the Selwyn cheese factory.

—Lindsay Post: Mr. W. Scott, of Peterborough, transacted business in town yesterday.—County Engineer Belcher, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday on business.

—Mr. T. W. Robinson has taken a position with the Davis-Thompson Co., as special agent for the well-known insurance and guarantee companies which this firm represents.

—Mr. Chas. E. Bell, inspector of the London Guarantee and Accident Co., Ltd., is in the city. Mr. Harry Phelan, local representative of this company, yesterday showed Mr. Bell the sights of our city.

—Messrs. C. J. Benson, F. A. Neale, Henry Angell and Wm. Lawson, left Thursday via the C.P.R. for St. John's, N.B., where they sailed on the C.P.R. steamer the Empress of Ireland, for Liverpool.

—Mr T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., received a telegram yesterday from Battleford, Sask., calling him to the bedside of his son, Mr. C. H. Bradburn. Mr. C. H. Bradburn is critically ill and his father left during the evening. His many friends here will regret to hear of his illness, and will hope to learn of his speedy recovery.

—Lakefield News. Miss Tanner is at present in Peterborough, visiting friends.—Mr. Jas. Shadgett of Peterborough, spent Tuesday in the village, visiting old friends.—Miss Alice Campbell of Peterborough, is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Watson.—Mrs. R. C. Strickland, and Miss Strickland, are at present in Peterborough, visiting friends.

Mr. Lane at Work Yesterday.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Lane, who whilst at work in Doen's bookstore on Thursday, had the misfortune to cut his wrist severely as he was hanging up some pictures, was out at work again yesterday. It might be noted that an artery was cut and a doctor had to be called in to stop the flow of blood.

HYOMEI CURES CATARRH

Costs Nothing Unless it Gives Relief—Sold Under Guarantee.

In many instances Hyomei has cured catarrh when the patient has suffered from childhood. Quite a few people in Peterborough, who have been unable for years to get a good night's sleep on account of the disagreeable tickling and dropping at the back of the throat, have obtained quick relief from a few treatments with Hyomei, and the continued use has made a complete and lasting cure.

There is no stomach dosing when one uses Hyomei. Simply breathe its medicated dealing through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and all catarrhal germs will be killed and the mucous membrance will be healed.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1, sufficient for at least two weeks treatment, making it one of the most economical methods of curing catarrh. If the outfit does not complete a cure, extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be bought for 50 cents. Remember that there is no risk in buying Hyomei. It costs nothing unless it cures.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give your case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

Peterborough to Elect E. O. D. A. Director

Yesterday Mr. W. Collins, the energetic secretary-treasurer of West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, called at The Times office and noted that since the printing of programs for the regular institute meetings, previously published in The Times it has been agreed by the Eastern Dairymen's Association to invite the dairymen of each district to attend a meeting of the Farmers' Institute, at a given point, to select a candidate for election on the Board of Directors, at the annual meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association to be held in January, 1907. Heretofore this district has not been directly represented by a local director on the Board, hence the importance of a large attendance. The subject of "Dairy Instruction and Sanitary Inspection of Factories and Creameries" will also be taken up by the delegates. All interested are invited to take part in the discussion. The meeting will be held in the City Council Chamber on Tuesday, December 4th, at 1.30 p.m.

C. G. E. Co. Employe Hurt Yesterday

Alfred Sanderson, 120 Chamberlain street, an employe of the Canadian General Electric Company, was painfully injured as the result of an accident, whilst at work there yesterday.

In some way an armature weighing several hundred pounds was allowed to drop on his left foot, crushing and bruising it badly. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Young, the company's physician.

5 PER CENT Forty Year Gold Bonds
OF THE Salt Lake
Public Service Company
Light Heat Power
Combining Electric Lighting—Steam Heating—and Water Power Development.
Capitalization, $3,000,000: Authorized Bond Issue $2,500,000
Interest payable semi-annually. Bonds of denomination of $500 and $1,000. Bonds are sold at par with accrued interest and carry a liberal stock bonus of fully paid and non-assessable stock in the Company.
These Bonds are secured by Deed of Trust to CAPITOL TRUST COMPANY of Columbus, Ohio. The Company conveys title to perpetual water rights situated fifteen miles from Salt Lake City, which will develop 5,000 net horse power at the minimum flow of the streams with a reservoir system to give continuity of service; franchises for light, heat and power in Salt Lake City, and adjacent territory all for a term of fifty years.
A large amount of the capacity of the hydro-electric plants, together with the 5,000 horse power auxiliary steam plant in Salt Lake City, has been contracted for and will be sold in large units to smelting and manufacturing interests, inter-urban railways, etc., by long-term contracts. The "Schott System" of central station heating is being installed in connection with the steam power plant in Salt Lake City. Market for power and steam heat is far in excess of the supply. The Board of Directors are prominent business men of Ohio and Utah.
The construction and management is under the direction of W. H. Schott of the "Schott Systems" of Chicago.
Engineers reports and information in detail will be furnished on application to our Detroit office or THE CAPITOL TRUST COMPANY of Columbus, Ohio, or by any of our representatives at any of our branch offices who are thoroughly familiar with the project from having made an examination on the ground.
The most rigid inquiry is solicited.

"Savings"
In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labors and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests to our minds to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time"—that is their earning period—to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.
ONE DOLLAR is sufficient to open a Savings Bank account. Interest paid half-yearly from date of Deposit to date of Withdrawal, at 3½ per cent per annum.
